Introduction

DEAR TEACHER,

We are writing to you to introduce the new edition of Focus, our five-level course for upper secondary students. As writers, it is always a privilege to be invited to 'have another go' and we are grateful to our publisher Pearson for giving us this opportunity. At the same time, we are particularly wary of introducing change for change's sake. 'If it ain't broke, don't fix it' is a maxim we set great store by. In our own classrooms, we are still using ideas and teaching techniques that we learnt early on in our careers. Why? Because they still work.

Consequently, the changes you will find in this new edition have been influenced by three important factors:

- 1) Your feedback, which we are happy to say has been overwhelmingly positive and extremely helpful in identifying areas to focus on.
- 2) Changing circumstances, where we have responded to the continuing evolution of some exams – for instance: a stronger focus on Use of English tasks.
- 3) New opportunities, in particular the strategic partnership between our publisher Pearson and the BBC. This has enabled us to include some delightful BBC clips in each unit, adding an exciting new dimension to the course.

All that said, we still believe that writing language learning materials is not an exact science. A 'one size fits all' set of materials just doesn't exist. It can't. There are too many variables:

- The students – number, age, personality, attitude, life and learning experience, home support, class dynamic ...
- The school – syllabus, timetable, policies, Ministry reforms, classroom environment, equipment ...

And most importantly, you:

- The teacher – your experience, your training, your beliefs, your motivation ...

So we accept that everybody's teaching context is unique and the perfect English course is an unattainable dream. However, our own experience in the classroom has taught us to value three things above all when using teaching and learning materials: reliability, flexibility and credibility.

Reliability

Quite simply, we want the materials to work. We don't want the course to let you down in the classroom. So we continue with our clean design, clear, easy-to-understand instructions and a wide variety of engaging topics, texts and tasks that have been combined in a logical way that will make sense to you and to your students. We are pragmatic. We've made it clear when a lesson starts and when a lesson ends. We don't want to give you any nasty surprises. We don't want to overcomplicate things. The less time you spend setting activities up, the more time your students spend practising the language. And maximising language practice time is key – particularly for the core skills. Students learn by doing. They learn reading by reading more; listening by listening more; writing by writing more; and speaking by speaking more. Let's give them more time to 'do'.

Needless to say, the course covers all the necessary language work appropriate for the level and follows the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR). We hope you will appreciate the stimulating and memorable way in which each carefully selected grammar structure and vocabulary item is presented. But we are well aware that presenting language is not even half the story. We have designed these materials so that they systematically recycle the language that has been presented. 'Use it or lose it' is our motto. You will discover that this course, with all its supporting print-based and digital materials, provides your students with the repeated exposure and practice they require. Reliability = trust. We are confident you will be able to trust Focus Second Edition.

Flexibility

One of the things we learnt early on in our careers is that you teach the students, not the lesson plan. There is no point in slavishly following a prescribed 'teaching path' through a set of materials if the students are not with you. Your ability to react to emerging classroom situations and adapt your lesson accordingly is a vital teaching skill. So while a course might provide you with a reliable framework that you feel comfortable with, you will always need options, you will always need variety, you will always need alternative ways of presenting and practising language. We strongly believe that a rigid unit structure does NOT have to be a teaching straitjacket. The lessons themselves are brimful of different ideas, task types and interesting information. Then the supplementary material we have developed, both print-based and digital, offers you almost limitless flexibility. You can give extra multiple choice grammar exercises, do a communicative A/B information-gap activity or watch a specially selected BBC clip. Flexibility = choice. We think you will appreciate the range of choice in Focus Second Edition.

Credibility

So, while we are sure that a reliable and flexible course will help you, it's this third characteristic that really counts. You have to believe in the materials. You have to understand and assess the broad educational and methodological principles that underpin our materials and decide: are the ideas and the approach credible? Do they reflect your own views of how languages are learned? We'd like to take this opportunity to summarise our thinking on this and explain what lies at the heart of Focus Second Edition. We can do this by grouping our thoughts under three words beginning with 'M': Motivation, Memory and Meaning.

Motivation

The American linguist and philosopher Noam Chomsky once said that almost everything in the education process was about getting the students' interest in what they're being taught. This is our starting point: students learn best when they are interested in the material. It's as simple as that. We may not have got it right every time for your particular teaching context, but our overriding concern has been to select topics, texts and tasks that engage students both emotionally and intellectually. You need to organise the learning around things your students can relate to – things that are part of their life experience or things that they aspire to. An engaged learner is a more successful learner. We think course materials can play a big part in this key area of engagement.

Memory

'Learning is remembering', or so the adage goes. With the pressure all teachers are under to cover the syllabus, complete the course and finish the book, we worry that not enough time is spent on recycling. Too much presentation, not enough practice. Systematic recycling of new language is a core feature of Focus Second Edition. There is a particular emphasis on vocabulary. The linguist David Wilkins noted back in the 1970s that while we can convey very little without grammar, we can convey nothing without vocabulary. Words are the basic building blocks of any language, but how many times do you need to see a new word before you truly acquire it? Ten? Twenty? Thirty times? It's definitely more than once! In the new Word Store sections, students using Focus Second Edition will devote valuable time to new vocabulary, as well as learning a variety of ways of recording it.

Meaning

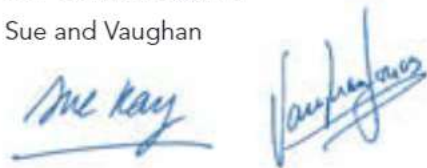

As the linguist and academic Rod Ellis reminds us, motivation in second language learning is derived from getting meanings across successfully. We are strongly opposed to mechanistic practice and drills where form dominates and meaning is irrelevant. If you ask your students to choose the correct quantifier in the question: How much/many petrol is there in the car? I'm sure most of them will correctly choose much. But they might also legitimately wonder whose car we are talking about. And then think, 'But I don't have a car. I've never bought petrol in my life. I can't even drive ...' Why not ask them to choose the correct quantifier in this question: How much/many water do you drink? Then, when they have chosen the correct quantifier, they can at least ask their partner the question. Information is exchanged; students practise their speaking; the exercise is meaningful, not meaningless. This is one tiny example of an approach to learning that we passionately believe in. Don't practice language for the sake of it. Language exists to make meanings, and our learning materials should reflect this.

These are some of the more important ideas that we hold dear. Over the years, they have influenced our teaching and our writing. Credibility = belief. We want you to believe in Focus Second Edition.

So, now it's over to you. We'd like to take this opportunity to wish you and your students every success.

Our warmest regards,

Sue and Vaughan

VOCABULARY LESSONS

Inspiring quotations to be used as conversation starters or to find out what students already know

The SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW boxes revise vocabulary students should already know, thus enabling all the students in the class to start at the same level

The WORD STORE booklet attached to the back of the Student's Book includes additional vocabulary exercises. Sections A, B and C accompany the Vocabulary lessons.

The collage features several educational resources:

- Planet Earth Video Worksheet: Includes a 'SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW' box with a '5.1 VOCABULARY' section and a 'TRUE OR FALSE?' section. It features a '5' in a circle and the BBC logo.
- Mysteries of the Ocean Video Worksheet: Includes a 'SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW' box with a '5.1 VOCABULARY' section and a 'TRUE OR FALSE?' section. It features a '5' in a circle and the BBC logo.
- WORD STORE 5A | Phrasal verbs: A booklet with exercises for phrasal verbs, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.
- WORD STORE 5B | Collocations: A booklet with exercises for collocations, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.
- WORD STORE 5C | Word families: A booklet with exercises for word families, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.
- WORD STORE 5D | Compound nouns: A booklet with exercises for compound nouns, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.
- WORD STORE 5E | Verb phrases: A booklet with exercises for verb phrases, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.
- WORD IN FOCUS | Grammar: A booklet with exercises for grammar, including a 'REMEMBER THIS' section.

Contextualised vocabulary presentation (listening or reading tasks)

Highlighted target vocabulary items

The BBC video is related to the unit topic, but it can be used at any point in the unit, e.g. as a starter or summary. Each video is accompanied by a video worksheet at the back of the Student's Book.

The video worksheet for 'Chameleons' includes the following sections:

- BEFORE YOU WATCH: A section with a '5.1 VOCABULARY' section and a 'TRUE OR FALSE?' section.
- WHILE YOU WATCH: A section with exercises for listening and reading tasks.
- AFTER YOU WATCH: A section with exercises for writing and speaking tasks.

GRAMMAR LESSONS

The grammar in each lesson is presented in context and highlighted, to make it easily identifiable.

The GRAMMAR FOCUS boxes with rules and structures

Personalised grammar activities

Focus Vlog videos presenting target grammar in context, with a corresponding video worksheet at the back of the book

The grammar animation videos can be used for presenting new structures, for reinforcement after the teacher has presented the grammar point or as a general tool for review.

The GRAMMAR AND USE OF ENGLISH REFERENCE AND PRACTICE can be used for review at the end of a Grammar lesson or during unit review. It can also be used by fast finishers or students who require extra practice. Each structure presented in Grammar lessons has its own section in GRAMMAR AND USE OF ENGLISH REFERENCE AND PRACTICE, which includes a detailed explanation of the structure and additional practice exercises.

LISTENING LESSONS

The listening lessons offer varied tasks and opportunities for students to practise listening skills with new vocabulary, as well as with graded exam-type tasks.

Exam-like listening tasks in the EXAM FOCUS

5.3 LISTENING

Multiple choice
I've understood the key points of a talk. I've identified a familiar topic.

1 SPRINKLE Read UK TODAY and choose the questions.

1. What are you up to these environmental weeks?
2. What do you think, turn off and do less or waste the resources?

UK TODAY

It's a good idea to turn off the lights when you leave a room. It's also a good idea to turn off the tap when you brush your teeth. These are simple things you can do to help the environment.

What are some 'green' things you can do?
+ turn off the lights
+ turn off the tap
+ use a reusable water bottle
+ use a reusable shopping bag
+ use a reusable coffee cup
+ use a reusable water bottle
+ use a reusable shopping bag
+ use a reusable coffee cup

2 SPRINKLE Look at the features in the box. Which would you expect an eco school to have? Use your dictionary if necessary.

1. solar panels
2. energy-saving light bulbs
3. recycling bins
4. water-saving taps
5. compost bins
6. vegetable gardens

3 SPRINKLE Listen to the programme and check your ideas in Exercise 2.

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

1. Listen and put the words in the box into groups A, B, or C depending on the stress.

environmental recycling responsible sustainable vegetable

A. environmental B. environmental C. environmental

2. Listen, check and repeat the words.

READING LESSONS

The Reading lessons feature a variety of reading texts, which also present factual information that is interesting and relevant to teenagers.

5.4 READING

Multiple choice
I've understood an extract from a travel book and some general advice.

1 SPRINKLE Imagine you are camping in your country.

1. What of the following might be a problem?
A. a backpack
B. a flashlight
C. a sleeping bag
D. a tent

2. What of the following might be useful?
A. a backpack
B. a flashlight
C. a sleeping bag
D. a tent

3. What other general problems or useful items can you think of?

2 SPRINKLE Read both texts. According to text 2, what did the camper in text 1 do wrong?

GRAM FOCUS | Multiple choice

1. Read texts 1 and 2 again. For questions 1-5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D.

1. can have to have with + noun
2. can have to have with because of sth

FOCUS ON LIFE SKILLS

Critical thinking + Communication + Awareness

1 In small groups, prepare a 'Health and Flower' questionnaire to research the habits of the students in your school. Then present your results to the class.

Step 1: To prepare, create a list of 10 health habits you want to research. Ask about the habits in this list.

Step 2: In your groups, prepare 10 questions to ask about each habit. Write them down on cards. You can use the cards to ask other students. Write down the results of your questionnaire. You can use the cards to ask other students. Write down the results of your questionnaire.

Step 3: In the questionnaire in your class, there were 100 students in total. How many students were there in your class? How many students were there in your class?

Step 4: When the questionnaire is complete, look at the results and draw conclusions. Do the students in your school have good or bad sleeping habits? Why? How can you help them to sleep better? Write down your conclusions and present them to the class. You can use the cards to ask other students. Write down the results of your questionnaire.

- Student's Book audio
- Word lists with audio
- Video

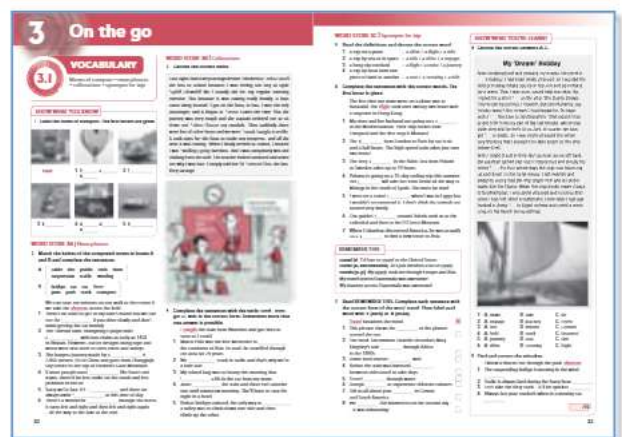

STUDENT'S BOOK and WORD STORE with ONLINE PRACTICE

This version of the Student's Book contains everything described above (Student's Book and WORD STORE, extra digital activities and resources, Pearson Practice English app) PLUS:

- Interactive Workbook with instant feedback
- Gradebook to review students' performance

WORKBOOK

- Mirrors the Student's Book unit structure and pagination
- REMEMBER THIS boxes drawing attention to tricky language
- REMEMBER BETTER boxes with tips on remembering new language
- Speaking Bank with useful phrases in the Speaking lessons
- Exam Speaking sections in each unit with speaking tasks in an exam format (Student A and Student B versions)
- Self-check after each unit with Vocabulary, Grammar and Use of English exercises
- Vocabulary Bank – a topic-based word list with vocabulary from all units, followed by exercises
- Focus 2 Grammar Review – grammar explanations and revision of the grammar taught in level 2.
- Grammar: Train and Try Again – additional grammar activities
- Writing Bank with phrases from the WRITING FOCUS boxes in the Student's Book
- Answer keys to the Self-check, Grammar: Train and Try Again and Focus 2 Grammar Review sections

TEACHER'S BOOK and WORD STORE

- Unit-by-unit Student's Book pages with overprinted answer key
- WORD STORE pages with overprinted answer key
- Ideas for extra activities and projects
- References to additional resources and the course assessment
- Teacher's Book pagination mirrors the Student's Book pagination
- Workbook answer key
- Culture notes
- Student's Book audioscript and videoscripts
- 51 photocopiable resources with instructions and answer key
- 3 Life skills photocopiable resources with instructions and answer key

Using videos in the classroom

There are four types of videos in Focus Second Edition:

1 BBC VIDEOS

These are short (2–3 minutes) video clips produced by the BBC. As an extension of the topics covered in all vocabulary lessons, the authentic, natural-language BBC videos give students an opportunity to hone their reception skills while further enhancing their vocabulary. Each video is accompanied by a Video worksheet for students to practice comprehension and use the extra vocabulary. For the Video worksheets, go to the back of the Student's Book. Students are also prompted to discuss the topics covered in the videos and relate them to their own experiences, improving their critical thinking skills.

You can use the BBC at the beginning or at any other time in the unit.

No. of videos: 8 (1 per unit)

2 FOCUS VLOGS (VOX POPS)

These short clips have been given the form of a vlog. Filmed on the streets of London, they feature real people answering questions that touch upon their lives and opinions, while following the topics and themes covered in the lesson they appear in. They present the target grammar structures in a real context in small, easy-to-manage chunks for the students to model their own speech on, helping them improve their productive accuracy. The vlogs feature unscripted, authentic, spontaneous speech of speakers of English from the UK as well as from other countries and as such, they expose students to real language they can encounter in their lives. Each vlog is accompanied by a Vlog worksheet at the back of the Student's Book.

You can use the vlogs at the end of the Grammar or Use of English lesson that they appear in.

No. of videos: 8 (1 per unit)

3 GRAMMAR ANIMATIONS

Each of these videos features two parts: an animated cartoon presenting the grammar structure in context and a teacher's explanation with the purpose of reinforcing students' understanding and learning of the structure. You can use all or only part of the video to help your students learn grammar in an engaging and attractive way.

Not being part of the lesson, these videos can be used independently as an introduction to the Grammar lesson, as its summary or even mid-lesson as an extra resource to facilitate students' learning.

No. of videos: 15

4 ROLE-PLAY VIDEOS

The function of these short videos is to present the key Speaking lesson language provided in the SPEAKING FOCUS box by showing it used in real-life situations. They enable students to not only learn, but acquire language by offering them visual clues such as location, body language and facial expressions, which help to improve students' communication skills in terms of both reception and speaking fluency. Each video has an A and B version for the students to role-play available on Pearson English Portal only.

Use the role-play videos at the end of the Speaking lessons.

No. of videos: 24

Overview of the Package

The Focus Second Edition Assessment Package provides a wide range of tests which can be used at different points in the course. Level 3 has:

- 1 Placement Test
- 16 A and B Grammar Quizzes
- 8 A and B Vocabulary Quizzes
- 8 A and B Use of English Quizzes
- 8 A and B Unit Tests
- 4 A and B Review Tests
- 1 A and B End-of-year Test

Assessment of learning or assessment for learning?

Any test can be used either as assessment of learning or assessment for learning. Assessment of learning usually takes place after the learning has happened and provides information about what the student is achieving by giving a mark or a grade. You can also use the tests as assessment for learning by providing specific feedback on students' strengths and weaknesses, and suggestions for improvement as part of the continual learning process.

It is a combination of both types of assessment which can provide powerful tools for helping your students' progress.

Marking Writing and Speaking tests

Writing and Speaking tests have detailed mark keys to help you mark consistently and give students meaningful feedback. If you have the mark scheme for the exam your students will ultimately take, you may prefer to refer to this.

Whichever mark scheme you use, it can be very useful to go through it with your students before they take the test so they know what they are going to be marked against. You can then refer back to these marking criteria in your feedback.

Versions of tests

Most tests, except Placement Test and Writing sections, have two versions: A and B. Versions A and B are designed to be at exactly the same level of difficulty and feature the same task types; however, the test items in each are different. For listening tests, the test items are different but the audio is the same in both A and B versions, making it easy to administer.

You can use the A/B tests in two ways:

- give half of the class A versions and half of the class B versions – this helps to deter cheating,
- give all students the A test and then use the B test either for students who missed the test or as a re-test or remedial work for students whose score shows they need a little more work on the unit objectives.

Exam preparation

As your students are going to be working towards their exam, the tests also provide regular opportunities for them to try exam-style tasks in a low-stakes test environment, which should help them feel more confident going into the final exam.

We would recommend using past papers or practice papers in addition as you get close to the date of the exam.

Expected outcomes

We would expect all students who have completed the instructional material to score at least 50 percent, and the best students to score 90–100 percent on any given test. We have deliberately included more challenging questions in each test so as to help you identify students performing above the level.

Tests on paper

The tests are provided in both PDF and editable format. We recommend using the PDF versions as they are. However, if you do need to edit the tests, this should be possible. When you are marking Listening and Reading tests, there is an extended answer key to help you explain why a question is right or wrong, or which part of the text an answer can be found in. There are also assessment criteria for Speaking and Writing tests.

Placement Test

The Focus Second Edition Placement Tests are designed to help the teacher to place students at the right level of the Focus Second Edition series. Each test contains 100 multiple-choice questions and is designed to last for an hour.

For placing students, we would suggest the following approach according to scores:

- 10 and under correct: Consider starting the student at the level below (2).
- 10–40 correct: Start the student at the expected level (3) and monitor progress to check whether remediation or extra support is required.
- 50–75 correct: Consider an extra oral interview to determine whether the student should start at the expected level (3) or could start at the level above (4) with extra support.
- More than 75 correct: Start the student at the level above (4).

Vocabulary Quizzes

There are eight A and B Vocabulary Quizzes, which test the vocabulary taught in each Vocabulary lesson in the Student's Book. Depending on the quiz, they should take between ten and twenty minutes each.

Grammar Quizzes

There are sixteen short A and B Grammar Quizzes (two per unit), which test the grammar taught in each Grammar lesson in the Student's Book. The Grammar Quizzes can be used at the end of a lesson, for homework, as a review at the beginning of the next lesson or later in the unit as quick revision.

Use of English Quizzes

There are eight A and B Use of English Quizzes, which test the structures taught in each Use of English lesson in the Student's Book. Depending on the quiz, they should take between ten and twenty minutes each.

Unit Tests

There are eight Unit Tests, which test the learning objectives from each unit. These should be administered after each respective unit review.

Each test has three parts: Vocabulary, Grammar and Use of English; Dictation, Listening and Reading; Writing. The Vocabulary, Grammar and Use of English part and Dictation, Listening and Reading part have A and B versions. There is only one version of the Writing task.

You can assign all or none of these, depending on the time available. If you are including the Listening test, it is best to do the listening first, and then students can do the other sections in their own time.

Review Tests

There are four Review Tests (one every two units). These are cumulative achievement tests, and so test the learning objectives from all units so far:

Review Test 1: Units 1–2

Review Test 2: Units 1–4

Review Test 3: Units 1–6

Review Test 4: Units 1–8

Depending on your school year, you may wish to do all of these or just some of them.

Each test has three parts: Vocabulary, Grammar, Use of English and Reading; Writing; Speaking. The Vocabulary, Grammar, Use of English and Reading part has A and B versions. There is only one version of the Writing task. Students do the Speaking tasks in pairs and there are separate materials for Students A and B, as well as the answer key which includes notes for the teacher with questions.

As with the Unit Tests, you can assign all or none of the parts of the test, depending on the time available.

End-of-year Test

The End-of-year Test provides a skills-based test covering learning objectives from the whole course.

The test has three parts: Listening, Use of English and Reading; Writing; Speaking. The Listening, Use of English and Reading part has A and B versions. There is only one version of the Writing task. Students do the Speaking tasks in pairs, and there are separate materials for Students A and B, as well as the answer key which includes notes for the teacher with questions.

You can assign all or none of the parts of the test, depending on the time available.

Assessment for Learning, GSE and 21st-century skills

ASSESSMENT FOR LEARNING

Focus Second Edition includes elements of Assessment for Learning methodology. The aim is to enhance learning by supporting students in understanding what they know and what they need to do next, making them active in their own learning. At the same time, using Assessment for Learning helps teachers to understand where their students are in their learning and make decisions about how to help students improve.

When we talk about Assessment for Learning, we're really talking about assessing students formatively, watching and listening to our students to see how far they understand and using this to help decide what we need to do next. This can be during any activity in class or using a test from the Assessment Package.

In Focus Second Edition, a handful of Assessment for Learning techniques and activities have been integrated into each unit to give students an awareness of what and how they are learning and give you, the teacher, lots of opportunities to assess how each student is doing.

Each unit starts with a thought-provoking quote linked to the topic of the unit to get students thinking about the theme as a whole, as well as help them remember any topic vocabulary that they already know. The SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW section at the start of the unit reinforces this and helps all students start from a confident beginning.

Throughout the unit, you can use class activities and/or the quizzes in the Assessment Package to check students' learning and deal with any misunderstandings or areas of weakness during the cycle of learning. Consider using the quizzes and other tests in alternative ways: have students work on them together or mark each other's papers. Ask them to highlight areas for revision or further work. Rather than marking papers right or wrong, indicate how many answers are wrong and ask students to work together to find the errors, using their classmates' feedback, the Internet, or reference books to help make the corrections.

In addition, the vocabulary and grammar lessons in the Workbook finish with SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT exercises which help students be aware of their own learning. The Self-check sections at the end of each Workbook unit give students an opportunity to revise the grammar and vocabulary from the unit and check their progress.

The GLOBAL SCALE OF ENGLISH

The Global Scale of English is a standardised, granular scale from 10 to 90, which measures English language proficiency. Unlike other benchmarks that describe attainment in broad bands, it identifies what a learner can do at each point on the scale across speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills. For instance, a person who has a speaking ability of 47 'can describe their dreams, hopes, and ambitions.'

The scale is designed to motivate learners by demonstrating incremental, step-by-step progress in their language ability. Teachers can use their knowledge of their students' Global Scale of English level to choose materials that are precisely matched to ability and learning goals.

The Global Scale of English serves as a standard against which English language courses and assessments worldwide can be benchmarked, offering a truly global and shared understanding of language proficiency levels.

Visit www.english.com/gse to learn more about the Global Scale of English.

21ST-CENTURY SKILLS

Focus Second Edition provides students with an opportunity to develop the skills they need to be successful in a 21st-century community, with its increased need for the efficient use of the information the students have learnt.

Discussion and role-play activities throughout the course encourage students to practise their communication and collaboration skills, which they develop further while working together on the projects found at the end of each unit (see the teacher's notes to the Focus Review sections). The projects are aimed at developing both students' personal skills and their creativity. The Focus Vlog videos expose students to various native and foreign accents of English as the speakers talk about their personal experience and the cultures of their home countries. Moreover, the Focus Vlog worksheets include the Focus on Life Skills sections with activities designed to develop creativity and teamwork as well as collaboration, communication and digital skills. The BBC videos featuring engaging stories from various cultures expand students' cultural awareness, encouraging them to discuss the ideas presented and to compare them with their own experiences, providing an opportunity to hone their critical thinking skills.

The Life skills photocopiable resources at the back of the Teacher's Book develop students' future career, social and personal development skills, focusing on such topics as: giving effective presentations, choosing a career, taking part in a debate, setting achievable goals and using online resources.

Mediation in Focus Second Edition

In 2017, the Council of Europe released the CEFR Companion Volume with New Descriptors – a set of new Can Do statements to complement the original 2001 publication. A key focus for this new set of descriptors is Mediation.

When most people think of Mediation, they either think about disputes (resolving conflict between two parties) or, in the context of language, they think of translation and interpreting. Both are true, but the term is used more broadly to cover spoken and written language functions in which the learner is conveying and interpreting meaning. Mediation descriptors may be new to the CEFR, but mediation itself is not new – within the same language (intralingual) or from one language to another (interlingual). It combines reception, production and interaction and is a common part of everyday language use – making communication possible between people who, for whatever reason, are unable to communicate successfully with each other: they may speak different languages and require a translation, they may not have the same subject knowledge information and need an explanation or simplification, they may not be of the same opinion and need someone to identify common ground. Mediation can also involve written texts – with the reader summarising, paraphrasing or interpreting the information for a different audience.

How is Mediation organised in the CEFR?

The scales (categories) for mediation are presented in three groups, reflecting the way in which mediation tends to occur.

1 Mediating a text consists of passing on to another person (in speech or writing) the content of a text which is, for various reasons, inaccessible to them. It includes:

- relaying specific information (e.g. listening to or reading something and then passing the information on to a third party). This may not be an explicit activity at the lower levels of the course, but this skill is practised whenever learners are asked to listen for information or scan the text and then tell the teacher/classmate what they have understood;
- explaining data (e.g. in graphs, diagrams, charts);
- processing text (e.g. summarising a text or set of texts, making a technical text understandable to a non-specialist, passing on key information from an announcement or set of instructions);
- translating a written text;
- note-taking (lectures, seminars, meetings);
- expressing a personal response to creative texts (including literature) (e.g. explaining why you like a story/film, interpreting a character's reactions, describing how a creative text makes you feel);
- analysis and criticism of creative texts (including literature) (e.g. critically evaluating the success of a creative text, comparing different approaches to a subject in different creative texts, explaining the techniques used by the author to create emotions, atmospheres).

2 Mediating concepts involves facilitating access to knowledge and concepts for others. It includes:

- collaborating in a group (e.g. asking for other people's opinions, inviting others into the discussion, saying why you agree or disagree with an opinion, asking questions to keep the discussion going, highlighting the main issues that need to be discussed);
- leading group work (e.g. allocating turns in a discussion, keeping the discussion on topic, asking questions to clarify meaning, asking others to explain their reasoning behind an opinion, encouraging others to elaborate on what they have said).

3 Mediating communication facilitates understanding and successful communication between users who may have individual, sociocultural, sociolinguistic or intellectual differences. It includes:

- facilitating pluricultural space (e.g. supporting inter-cultural exchanges, understanding cultural differences, demonstrating an understanding of different perspectives);
- acting as intermediary in informal situations (with friends and colleagues);
- facilitating communication in delicate situations and disagreements.

Where is Mediation in Focus Second Edition?

Plenty of Mediation activities can be found in Focus Second Edition – both for mediating the texts intralingually and interlingually. Look out for all open reading and listening comprehension tasks, translation and transformation tasks, gapped summaries, rewriting texts in a different register (formal/informal), picture description, speculating or drawing conclusions.

There are also numerous tasks which cater for mediating concepts and communication – look out for communicative pairwork or groupwork tasks, projects or problem-solving activities.

How to teach with projects

THE BENEFITS OF TEACHING WITH PROJECTS

The benefits

Projects help students to work together to produce a presentation, a poster, etc. in English. They usually require students to do research and present the information in a creative way. Projects in the English language classroom provide several benefits:

1 Authentic use of language

Students work on a task which requires them to use English authentically. Projects also often develop all four skills: reading, writing, listening and speaking.

2 Development of personal skills

Projects often require learners to collaborate, enabling them to develop skills such as the ability to cooperate, solve problems and communicate.

3 Development of autonomy

As project work involves students making decisions about how to achieve their learning objective, they are able to develop learner autonomy with support and guidance from their teacher.

4 Development of critical thinking skills

Students can develop information literacy and media literacy when doing research online, determining what information is useful, biased, false, etc. They can also develop critical thinking skills when analysing that information, evaluating it and deciding how to use it.

5 Development of creativity

Many projects require learners to be creative in some way. Creativity, along with collaboration, communication and critical thinking skills are considered to be key skills for 21st-century learning.

6 Increased motivation

Project work adds variety to lessons and gives students an opportunity to use English in contexts close to their lives. Students' motivation increases when they make their own decisions regarding what exactly their project will focus on and then have a chance to present it to others.

It is important to note that while project work provides many development opportunities, students are likely to need support in exploiting those opportunities, such as advice from their teacher on how to work independently or feedback on their communication skills.

HOW TO EXTEND FOCUS PROJECTS

The teacher's notes to each Focus Review lesson include a topic for a project. We encourage teachers to acquaint their students with the project at the beginning of the unit so that they can work on it over a longer period of time. Here is one of the topics from Focus 3 Second Edition:

Work in groups. Choose a style icon, e.g. James Dean or Marlon Brando. Do some research online and prepare a digital presentation about them. Then present it to your class.

To expand the project, students' work on it could be divided into a few stages:

1 In class: After the first lesson of the unit, students are given the topic of the project.

Homework: Each student researches a style icon.

2 In class: Students share their research with their groups and then select the style icon they are most interested in.

Homework: Students go away and do more research on the style icon they have selected. They take notes. They plan a presentation about it.

4 In class: Groups work together and give each other oral feedback and suggestions on their plans.

Homework: Then they prepare their presentations.

5 In class: Students present their work to the class. Then they vote on their favourite style icon and discuss why.

How to flip the classroom with Focus

The flipped classroom is an approach where classroom instruction is given to students at home via a video, tasks are usually given for homework and then completed in class with the teacher's support. Teachers who flip their classrooms believe that the approach allows students to become more independent in their learning: rather than receive information in the classroom, they take more control and ensure they learn outside the classroom. In class, students have time to ask the teacher questions if they still do not understand and they choose when they need support. This autonomy can motivate students and may result in a higher level of engagement. What is more, they gain more practice time and receive more feedback from the teacher on performance.

In English language learning, flipping the classroom means students listen to or read information about language at home before a lesson, leaving more time for practice of that language in the classroom. Alternatively, it could be information about an exam technique or how to write a specific type of text. Students can tackle the same tasks or collaborate in groups on different tasks to ensure they work at a level suitable for them.

In the lesson, the teacher begins by checking students' understanding of the material that was set as homework (video, reading, listening or a grammar explanation), then gives several practice tasks to complete. Finally, at the end of the lesson, students reflect on what they have learnt to help them identify progress and areas where they still need to improve. This reflection allows students to gain a greater understanding of their strengths and weaknesses, and encourages them to set achievable learning goals for future lessons.

Focus provides the following resources that will help flip the classroom:

VOCABULARY: SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW AND WORD LISTS

The teacher can start a unit by revising vocabulary students should already know. The SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW sections at the beginning of each Vocabulary lesson serve this purpose. In addition, in order to check students' knowledge of the unit vocabulary, identify the areas which need more focus and maximise student's exposure to the new words, the teacher can ask students to analyse the word lists at the end of each unit.

VIDEO

The teacher can ask students to watch any of the wide variety of videos at home. This allows the teacher to check understanding before the lesson and adjust their lesson plan if students have found the language particularly easy or difficult.

READING AND LISTENING TEXTS

The teacher can also set a reading text (and its recorded version) or a listening text in a lesson as homework for the next class. By doing this, the time in class can be spent on checking comprehension and actually discussing the text rather than reading it or listening to it for the first time, which usually takes a lot of time. Another advantage of this approach is that students' involvement with the text will be greater if they have seen it several times, which accelerates the learning process.

GRAMMAR AND USE OF ENGLISH REFERENCE AND PRACTICE

The Grammar and Use of English Reference and Practice section at the back of the Student's Book contains detailed information about the meaning, function and form of the target language, with examples and practice exercises. These can be used by the teacher in class when explaining language, but they can also be set as homework for students.

WORKBOOK SUPPORT

Similarly to the Student's Book, the Workbook contains SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW exercises in the Vocabulary lessons. Moreover, there are SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW exercises in the Grammar lessons too, which can be used as homework prior to the Grammar lesson to check what students already know. Alternatively, the Workbook exercises can be completed in class to provide as much practice as possible while the teacher is available to offer support and clarify any confusing aspects of the language.

ONLINE PRACTICE

Similarly to the printed Workbook, some of the exercises can be completed online prior to the lesson to maximise learning. This is particularly beneficial as the interactive Workbook exercises have an instant feedback functionality, which enables students to quickly check their answers.

EXTRA DIGITAL ACTIVITIES

The extra digital activities contain grammar, vocabulary and Use of English checkpoints which help students prepare for class tests, monitor their progress and check if they are ready for the exam(s). A teacher may choose to ask students to complete them before the class.

STYLE TRIAL QUIZ

Read the statements below and put

A = I agree B = it depends C = I disagree

- 1 People say I'm trendy.
- 2 I always use hair products (gel, hairspray, etc.) in the morning.
- 3 I get bored with my clothes quickly.
- 4 I love dressing up for parties.
- 5 I don't mind where my clothes come from – I just want to look good.
- 6 I'd never shave my head for charity.
- 7 I believe that wearing make-up is not only for women.
- 8 I'm interested in what's in fashion and what's out of fashion.

YOUR RESULTS:

MOSTLY As

You're a fashionista! You're a party animal and you like to be the centre of attention. You're trendy and you care about your appearance but be careful you don't come across as shallow or vain.

MOSTLY Bs

You might have some trendy items in your wardrobe, but in general you go for a casual look rather than a formal one. You're down-to-earth and have a carefree attitude to clothes. That's why you like practical clothes like sportswear. You feel comfortable in your own skin, and people like you because you're easy-going and you go with the flow.

MOSTLY Cs

You're not interested in following trends and you tend to be a little rebellious. You're against 'fast-fashion'* and you believe in buying good-quality clothes that last a long time. You like to know where your clothes are made, and you don't mind paying a bit more for ethical brands.

*fast fashion – inexpensive fashionable clothes that are sold for a short time and then replaced by newer collections.

GRAMMAR

Dynamic and state verbs

I can use dynamic and state verbs correctly.

- 1 SPEAKING Imagine you are going to a weekend music festival in the summer. Discuss what you would wear.
- 2 1.5 Read and listen to Jo Mack and answer the questions.

- 1 Who does she work for? 3 What is she doing there?
2 Where is she now?

Exercise 2

- 1 Hip magazine.
2 At the Coachella music festival in California.
3 She's speaking to people about what they're wearing and why.

HOW TO DRESS:

FESTIVAL FASHION

Welcome to our regular feature. This week we are looking at what people wear to music festivals.

Jo: Hi! I'm Jo Mack and I work as a fashion editor for Hip magazine. I think I must have the best job in the world because today I'm working at the Coachella music festival in California. The question I'm asking is 'What is the "Festival Look" this year?'. Ten thousand people are listening to music here and I believe the temperature is 32°. I know Radiohead are on later and I really want to watch them, but right now I'm speaking to people about what they're wearing and why.

- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and look at the verbs in blue in Exercise 2. Which verbs describe an action and which describe a state? Action: work, ask, listen, speak, wear
State: think, believe, know, want

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6.2

Dynamic and state verbs

- Most verbs have dynamic meanings. They describe actions: something 'happens'. You can use them with simple or continuous forms.

*I work as a fashion editor for Hip magazine.*

Today I'm working at the Coachella music festival.

- Some verbs have stative meanings. They describe states: nothing 'happens'. You cannot use them with continuous forms.

*I believe the temperature is 32°. (NOT I'm believing)*

Note:

A few verbs (e.g. think, have, look) have both dynamic and stative meanings. The meanings are different:

I think I must have the best job in the world.

(think = believe → stative)

I'm thinking about going to see them.

(think = consider → dynamic)

- 4 1.6 Read and listen to Jo's interview with Anna. Decide which of the underlined verb phrases are state verbs and which are dynamic verbs.

Jo: Hi! I'm reporting on festival fashion for Hip magazine. I like your hat.

Anna: Thanks. I don't usually wear hats. But it's really hot, so I'm wearing this baseball cap. It belongs to my brother. He doesn't need it because he isn't here today. He's revising for his exams!

Jo: Oh, that's a shame.

Anna: No, it's OK. My brother hates festivals.

He prefers listening to music at home. I really want to see Kings of Leon – I listen to their music all the time!

- 5 1.7 Complete Jo's interview with Tom with the correct Present Simple or Present Continuous form of the verbs in brackets. Then listen and check.

Jo: Hi! I'm reporting on festival fashion for Hip magazine. Are you enjoying (you/enjoy) the festival?

Tom: Yes, I 'm having (have) a really good time.

Jo: I 'love (love) your T-shirt.

Tom: Oh, thanks! It's my festival T-shirt!

Jo: Oh, it 'looks (look) great.

But why 'are you wearing (you/wear) jeans? It's so hot!

Tom: My legs are very skinny and so I 'never wear (never/wear) shorts, even in summer. In fact, I 'don't have (not have) any shorts!

Jo: So which bands 'do you want (you/want) to see today?

Tom: I 'like (like) Foo Fighters, but

I 'don't know (not know) when they're on.

I 'm looking (look) for a festival programme.

Jo: I have one here – oh, they 're playing (play) now.

Tom: Oh right – thanks! See you.

- 6 Look at Jo's interview with Tom again. Find two verbs with both dynamic and stative meanings and explain the differences in meaning.
- 7 Write true sentences about yourself with the affirmative or negative form of the verbs in brackets in an appropriate present tense.
- I (don't) need (need) a new pair of trainers.
 - I 'm (not) wearing (wear) my favourite T-shirt today.
 - I (don't) buy (buy) all my clothes online.
 - I (don't) like (like) shopping.
 - I (don't) think (think) most clothes are too expensive.
 - I 'm (not) thinking (think) of going shopping later.
- 8 SPEAKING Ask each other questions based on the sentences in Exercise 7.
- Do you need a new pair of trainers?*

LISTENING

True/False

I can understand the key points of a radio programme on a familiar topic.

A 'A friend is someone who knows everything about you and still likes you.'

B 'The best mirror you can have is an old friend.'

C 'There is nothing better than a friend, apart from a friend with chocolate.'

1 SPEAKING Read sayings A–C about friendship and discuss the questions.

- Which saying do you like best? Why?
- What qualities should a close friend have?
- How would you complete the sentence: 'A true friend ...'?

2 1.8 Listen to a radio programme about friendship. What do the numbers in the box refer to?

{ 2 16 17 5 or 6 313 3 or 4 }

3 SPEAKING Discuss how many friends you have. Talk about online friends, close friends and friends of the opposite sex.

EXAM FOCUS True/False

4 1.8 Listen to the radio programme again. Are statements 1–6 true (T) or false (F)?

- Jenny has a good relationship with all her online friends. F
- Jenny thinks it takes time to slowly find out about somebody. T
- Jenny says friends sometimes stop seeing each other when they've had an argument. T
- Fraser has similar interests to his close friends. T
- Fraser doesn't think a good friend is always reliable in a crisis. F
- Fraser socialises with both boys and girls. T

WORD STORE 1D Relationship phrases

5 1.9 Complete WORD STORE 1D with the phrases in green in Exercise 4. Then listen, check and repeat.

6 1.10 Listen to dialogues 1–4 and match them with descriptions a–e. There is one extra description.

1 d 2 a 3 e 4 c

- They get along really well together.
- They've lost touch.
- They're always there for each other.
- They've fallen out.
- They're getting to know each other.

7 Complete the questions with an appropriate verb from WORD STORE 1D.

- How easy was it to get to know your best friend?
- Why do you get along so well together?
- Have you ever fallen out?
- What sort of places do you usually hang out in?
- Will you always be there for your best friend?
- Do you think you'll ever lose touch with each other?

8 SPEAKING Think about your best friend. Ask and answer the questions in Exercise 7 with a partner.

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

9 1.11 Write the numbers in full. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 515 – five hundred and fifteen
- 214 – two hundred and fourteen
- 3,330 – three thousand, three hundred and thirty
- 901 – nine hundred and one
- 7,880 – seven thousand, eight hundred and eighty
- 4,416 – four thousand , four hundred and sixteen

10 Write down three long numbers. Dictate the numbers to your partner. Check that your partner has written the same numbers as you.

Exercise 2

- 2 – Two people
- 16 – Jenny's age according to the presenter
- 17 – Jenny's real age
- 5 or 6 – Jenny's close friends
- 313 – Jenny's online friends
- 3 or 4 – Fraser's friends of the opposite sex

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to bring in photos of fashion icons (people or iconic items of clothing). Explain the notion briefly if necessary.

READING

Note completion

I can identify key information in an extended article.

- 1 Choose a word from each box to describe the clothes you can see in the photos.

(blue white) + (cotton leather) + (jacket jeans)
(black) + (denim) + (T-shirt)

- 2 SPEAKING Do you wear any of the clothes in the photos? Why?/Why not?

*I wear jeans almost every day. They're comfortable and ...
I never wear leather, because I'm a vegan.*

- 3 Guess the answers to questions 1–5 below. Then read the article and check your ideas.

- 1 Why is a T-shirt called a T-shirt?
- 2 Which was the first profession to wear leather jackets?
- 3 How is the phrase 'blue jeans' connected to France?
- 4 When did young people start wearing jeans as fashion items?
- 5 Why are these clothes still popular with young people?

EXAM FOCUS Note completion

- 4 Read the article again. Complete the sentences with one or two words from the article.

- 1 Over 100 years ago underwear was made of wool.
- 2 The first leather jacket with a zip was created in 1928 in the United States.
- 3 Famous actors, such as James Dean, made T-shirts and leather jackets more popular.
- 4 Up until the 1970s, T-shirts were mainly for men.
- 5 Jeans are made of denim, a type of cotton.
- 6 Jeans used to be banned in schools.

- 5 Look at the strategies which can help you guess the meaning of unknown words. Then discuss the meaning of the words in blue in the text.

- 1 It looks like a word in my language.
- 2 It looks like a member of a word family I know.
- 3 It is made up of words I understand.
- 4 The context can give me clues.

- 6 1.13 Match the words in blue in the text with the definitions. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 a style worn by both men and women = unisex
- 2 items of clothing = garments
- 3 recognised by everyone = iconic
- 4 a person who makes clothes = tailor
- 5 clothing you wear next to your skin = underwear
- 6 material that clothes are made of = fabric

WORD STORE 1E Compound adjectives

- 7 1.14 Complete WORD STORE 1E with the underlined words in the article. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 8 Complete the message with the compound adjectives in WORD STORE 1E.

Hi Karen,

I'm going on a cycling weekend. As an experienced cyclist, what do you think I should wear?

Hi Sam,

Lucky you! Take at least two ¹ short-sleeved shirts or T-shirts and suntan lotion for your arms. You need a pair of ² hard-wearing shorts – cycling damages shorts quickly, so invest in good ones. Lots of people wear black ones but I prefer ³ brightly-coloured shorts and T-shirts so that car drivers can see you! A warm jacket – something that will keep you warm in the evening. A rain jacket that's made from ⁴ fast-drying fabric. There's some amazing ⁵ cutting-edge technology out there in new fabrics for sports clothes. Oh, and don't forget your sunglasses! Have fun.

- 9 How do you say these compound adjectives in your language? How many of them can you use to describe clothes in your wardrobe?

- 10 SPEAKING Look at the photo and discuss the questions:

- 1 Do you or anyone in your family own a hoodie?
- 2 When and why do you wear it?
- 3 What is the link between the hoodie and:
 - American footballers?
 - Break-dancers?
 - Graffiti artists?
 - Skate-boarders?
 - A high-profile social media boss?

- 11 1.15 Listen to a podcast called History of Streetwear: the Hoodie and check your ideas to question 3 in Exercise 10. Do you think the hoodie is now an 'icon of fashion'?

- 12 SPEAKING What's the oldest item of clothing in your wardrobe? Tell your partner its 'history'.

I have a vintage coat. My grandmother used to wear it when she was younger ...

ICONS

of fashion

1.12

We think we look so cool, so modern and just a little rebellious in our jeans, white T-shirt and black leather jacket. But we're not as original as we think we are – this look goes back to the 1970s, right? Well, no, not exactly – as a matter of fact, you can trace most of it back to 100 years ago.

- 5 Take the white T-shirt and leather jacket. Both started life in the military. The T-shirt (so-called because of its shape like a T) was in fact underwear. In the American Navy, it was worn under a uniform. Until the early 20th century, underwear was woollen, but a revolution in textile production produced cotton jersey, a fast-drying fabric which fits tightly to the body and kept sailors warm.
- 10 The short-sleeved T-shirt was born. Leather jackets were worn by fighter pilots in the First World War – they were hard-wearing, warm and fur-lined for maximum protection from the elements. Then, in 1928, an American raincoat company, Schott, designed the first leather motorcycle jacket with a zip.

- By the 1950s both garments had reached iconic status when famous actors
- 15 like Marlon Brando and James Dean wore them in films. Later, in the 1960s and 1970s, bands from the Beatles to the Ramones adopted the leather jacket, and it moved from motorcycle sports to teenage rebellion. In the 1970s T-shirts got a colourful update: brightly-coloured T-shirts were particularly popular as well as T-shirts with band logos and political slogans. Having started out as an
- 20 undergarment for men, T-shirts became unisex in the 1970s and have been part of everyone's wardrobe since then.

- You may think your fashionably distressed jeans are cutting-edge fashion items, but they can be traced even further back in history. In the 1800s denim, the material jeans are made of, was a kind of cotton made in Nîmes, France ('de
- 25 Nîmes'). The first blue denim trousers were worn by sailors in Genoa – 'Cênes' in French. 'Bleu de Cênes' became 'blue jeans'.

Marlon Brando

The Ramones

- Blue jeans as we know them originated during the 1849 Californian Gold Rush. They were
- 30 developed by German storekeeper Levi Strauss and Latvian tailor Jacob Davis. Levi Strauss never wore a pair of jeans himself – he was a wealthy businessman, and jeans were only worn by manual workers and cowboys. But then their popularity
- 35 spread after the Second World War. Young people started wearing jeans to imitate young Hollywood stars. However, they were associated with rebellious behaviour and were banned in schools.

- So each time you wear your jeans, white T-shirt
- 40 and black leather jacket, you're actually wearing 100 years of style history! The secret to their long life? They're comfortable, multi-purpose clothes made of natural materials that are easy to wear, keep you warm and give you a little attitude.
- 45 What's not to love?

GRAMMAR

Present Perfect Continuous

I can use the Present Perfect Continuous and Present Perfect Simple.

1 SPEAKING Look at the different versions of the Mona Lisa and discuss the questions.

- Which version do you like best? Why?
- What do you know about the original painting?

2 Read about the real Mona Lisa. Why does the curator think the Mona Lisa is smiling?

STOP ASKING SILLY QUESTIONS

My name is Henri Dubois. I've been working at the Louvre Museum in Paris for twenty-one years and I've been looking after the Mona Lisa for nearly ten. So, for the past ten years I've been watching people's faces when they first see the Mona Lisa. There's something very special about that painting. I've also been answering the same questions over and over again. They ask me, 'How long has she been hanging in the Louvre?' I always say the Mona Lisa has been in the Louvre since 1804. But it isn't quite true. The Mona Lisa hasn't been hanging in the Louvre since then because someone stole it in 1911. Fortunately the painting was returned two years later.

The other questions are impossible to answer. They ask me: 'Who was she? Why is she smiling?' Why? Because she's been listening to people's silly questions for over two hundred years! Stop asking questions and look at the painting – it's beautiful!

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then underline six more examples of the Present Perfect Continuous in the text.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 63

Present Perfect Continuous

You use the Present Perfect Continuous to talk about unfinished actions that started in the past and continue in time 'up-to-now'. Use for or since to say how long.

I've been working here for twenty-one years.

Present Perfect Continuous: has/have + been + -ing form

+ I've been working.

- He hasn't been working.

? Have you been working?
Yes, I have./No, I haven't.

Note: State verbs (be, have, know, etc.) do not take the continuous form.

The Mona Lisa has been in the Louvre since 1804.
(NOT has-been-being ...)

4 Complete the dialogue between the Manager (M), a guest (G) and the guest's son Jack (J). Use the Present Perfect Continuous.

M: I'm sorry, the museum is really busy today. How long ¹ _____ (wait)?

G: It's OK. We ² _____ (not wait) long. We ³ _____ (stand) in this queue for about twenty minutes.

M: Right. Well, I'll introduce you to Henri, our curator. He ⁴ _____ (work) here for over twenty years.

G: Thanks. My son, Jack, is very excited. He ⁵ _____ (learn) about Leonardo da Vinci at school.

M: Well, I'm sure Henri can answer any questions. He ⁶ _____ (look after) the Mona Lisa for ten years.

J: Er ... How long ⁷ _____ (the Mona Lisa/hang) in the Louvre?

5 Complete the sentences with the Present Perfect Simple or Continuous form of the verbs in brackets. Then add a time expression to make them true for you.

- I 've had (have) the same computer for 3 years.
- I 've been studying (study) English since _____.
- I 've been listening (listen) to the same music since _____.
- I 've been going (go) to the same hairdresser's for _____.
- I 've known (know) my oldest friend since _____.
- I 've been sitting (sit) in this chair since _____.

6 SPEAKING Write questions for the sentences in Exercise 5 beginning with How long have you ...? Then ask your partner.

How long have you had the same computer?

REMEMBER THIS

You use the Present Perfect Simple to talk about finished actions in time 'up-to-now'. You can say 'how many' but not 'when'.

Piotr has visited the Louvre seven times. He has visited twenty-seven other museums.

7 Choose the most appropriate Present Perfect form. Which sentences are true for you?

- I 've seen / I've been seeing the Mona Lisa twice.
- My mum has bought / has been buying a new car.
- It's snowed / It's been snowing since yesterday.
- I've learnt / I've been learning the piano for years.
- We have never been going / have never been abroad.
- I haven't eaten / haven't been eating lunch yet.

8 SPEAKING Write questions in the Present Perfect Simple or Continuous. Begin the questions with How long ...? or How many ...? Ask your partner.

- messages / receive / today?
- wear / the same watch?
- have / the same bag?
- foreign countries / visit?
- books / read / in the past three months?

USE OF ENGLISH

Word formation – common suffixes

I can form a range of nouns, verbs and adjectives using common suffixes.

- 1 SPEAKING Look at the photos and discuss which hairstyles you think are acceptable for school.

- 2 1.16 Listen to a phone-in about Martha's situation at school and answer the questions.

- What's Martha's problem at school?
She shaved her head.
- Why did she change her hairstyle?
To raise money for charity.
- How many callers thought the school was right? Two.
- How many callers thought the school was wrong? Four.

- 3 SPEAKING Discuss whether you think the school was right or wrong. How do you think your school would react?

- 4 1.16 Listen again and choose the correct option.

- The priority / obligation of the school is to educate / be respectful.
- The reason it's so successful / helpful is that it has rules and regulations / punishment.
- Your rules are pathetic / creative.
- The school should focus on her academic achievements / leadership.
- Schoolchildren must clarify / realise that their school has rules.
- I honestly / absolutely think that it's absolutely ridiculous / unacceptable to make such a fuss about a shaved head.

- 5 Look at the words in all the options in Exercise 4 again and decide what part of speech they are.

Nouns: priority, obligation, regulations, punishment, achievements, leadership

Verbs: educate, clarify, realise, be respectful

Adjectives: respectful, successful, helpful, pathetic, creative, academic, ridiculous, unacceptable

Adverbs: honestly, absolutely

- 6 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and complete the information with the words in the box.

(adjectives (x3) adverbs nouns verbs)

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Word formation – common suffixes

- Many different words are formed by adding suffixes to nouns, verbs and adjectives.

Forming ¹ nouns : -ance/-ence, -ion, -ity, -ment, -ship

Forming ² verbs : -ate, -en, -ify, -ise

Forming ³ adjectives : -able, -al, -ed, -ful, -ic, -ing, -ive, -less, -ous

- You can add prefixes un-, in-, im-, il-, ir-, dis- to some ⁴ adjectives to get the opposite meaning.

acceptable – unacceptable, respectful – disrespectful

- Note: You form most ⁵ adverbs by adding -ly, -y, -ily to ⁶ adjectives.

honest – honestly, absolute – absolutely, angry – angrily

- 7 Complete the table with appropriate forms.

NOUN	VERB	ADJECTIVE	ADVERB
1 creation	create	creative	creatively
2 education	educate	educational	educationally
3 ridicule	ridicule	ridiculous	ridiculously
4 achievement	achieve	achievable
5 success	succeed	successful	successfully
6 acceptance	accept	acceptable	acceptably

- 8 USE OF ENGLISH Complete the sentences with the correct form of the word in brackets.

- The main duty of a school is to educate its students. (education)
- It's ridiculous for schools to ban tattoos or piercings. (ridicule)
- You can't punish a student for shaving his or her head. (punishment)
- Female students worry more about their appearance than male students. (appear)
- The fewer regulations about what students can and can't wear, the better. (regulate)
- It's unacceptable for students to deliberately ignore sensible school rules. (accept)
- Academic performance is not linked to how the students look. (academy)

- 9 SPEAKING Discuss whether you agree or disagree with the statements in Exercise 8. Give reasons for your answers.

WRITING

Describing a person

I can write a personal email to describe a person.

- 1 SPEAKING Look at your partner for ten seconds. Then close your eyes and describe their appearance and clothing in as much detail as you can.
- 2 Below, Maggie describes her friend Claire. Before you read, make a list of the things you think she might include.
age, hair (length and colour), interests ...
- 3 Now read Maggie's message and see which things on your list in Exercise 2 she mentioned.

Hi Dominic,

Zara told me you are looking for a new singer for your band. Is that right? If so, I think my friend might be perfect.

Her name's Claire. The first thing you notice about her is that she

- 5 looks a little older than she is. She's our age, but she looks like she's already in her early twenties. She's very easy-going and I think she has a great sense of humour – we get on really well. She's also a very creative person and a fantastic singer. She plays the piano and writes her own songs and has even made a video to
- 10 go with one of them. She's into all sorts of music, from classical to rap and I think she's the kind of person who is open to new ideas. I think she'd make a great singer for the band.

She's also very pretty ;-). She's about medium height and slim, and she's got long, straight, dark hair. She dresses fashionably, though

- 15 usually in black. I think she looks kind of punky but in a good way.

On the negative side, she isn't exactly punctual and she can be a little moody at times. She tends to get upset if you criticise her. But hey, she's a creative!

Watch her video (attached) and let me know what you think.

- 20 Love Maggie x

Dominic is not online at the moment.
We'll deliver your message next time Dominic logs in.

12

- 4 SPEAKING Discuss whether you think you would get on well with Claire. Give reasons for your answers.
- 5 Complete the WRITING FOCUS with the words in purple in the message in Exercise 3.

WRITING FOCUS

Describing a person

- Give first impressions
The first thing you notice about her is that she looks older than she is.
- Mention age
*He's (about) my/your¹ our age.
He's in his teens/² early /mid-/late twenties.*
- Describe personality and interests
*He's a very easy-going/interesting, etc. person.
She has a great sense of humour.
She's the sort/type/kind of person³ who always remembers your birthday/loves kids.
She'd⁴ make a great teacher/doctor/friend.
He's⁵ into music/fashion/skateboarding.*
- Describe hair, eyes, skin and face
*He's got cool, short,⁶ dark hair.
She's got beautiful, long,⁷ straight, blond hair.
She's got a kind/friendly/unusual smile/face.*
- Mention height/build
*She's short/⁸ medium height/tall.
He's fairly well-built/⁹ slim.*
- Mention clothes
*She¹⁰ dresses casually/smartly/well/ in black.
He always wears casual/smart/scuffy/fashionable/stylish clothes.*

- 6 Complete the description with the words in the WRITING FOCUS. Do you know anybody like Martin? Tell your partner.

My friend Martin is the ¹ kind of person who can argue about anything. He always ² dresses smartly and he's a very interesting ³ person. But he's not always serious. He's ⁴ into music and dancing, and he has a great ⁵ sense of humour. He's ⁶ our age, but he looks older. He's got short ⁷ hair and a friendly ⁸ smile. I think he'd ⁹ make a good politician.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 4 Describing a person (15 min.) pp. 205–206, 221
- After ex. 4, write the following three questions on the board: What is she like? What does she look like? What does she like doing? Briefly check the difference in meaning and explain if necessary. Ask students to read the letter again quickly and answer the three questions about Claire.

- Students use the notes about someone they know to write their description in ex. 9.

WORKBOOK

pp. 12–13, including Show What You've Learnt and Show That You've Checked

NEXT CLASS

Students bring in photos of themselves and/or family members on different occasions, wearing different clothes.

- 7 Complete the LANGUAGE FOCUS with the underlined examples in the message in Exercise 3.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Tentative language: making language less negative or extreme.

• kind of/sort of

She looks kind of cool/unusual/mysterious/nervous/
1 punky .

• tend to be/get + adjective

She gets upset = She tends 2 to get upset .

• can be/could be + a little/a bit + adjective

His hair's too long = His hair could be a bit shorter.

She's moody. = She can be 3 a little moody .

• Negative adjective to positive adjective with always, exactly, particularly

He's lazy. = He isn't always hard-working.

He's mean. = He's not particularly generous.

She's always late. = She isn't 4 exactly punctual .

• Quantifiers/softeners

She's skinny. = She's a bit too slim.

He's tiny. = He's a little short.

She's old. = She looks 5 a little older .

- 8 Rewrite the sentences to make them less negative or extreme. Use the word in brackets.

- 1 Amanda's rude. Amanda isn't particularly polite . (polite)
- 2 Bryan's mean. Bryan isn't exactly generous/kind . (exactly)
- 3 Caroline's lazy. Caroline isn't always hard-working . (always)
- 4 David's loud. David could be a little quieter . (could)
- 5 Elena's insensitive. Elena can be a little insensitive . (can)
- 6 Freddie's untidy. Freddie tends to be untidy . (tends)

- 9 Choose one of the photos. Imagine he or she is your friend. Write a description including physical appearance, style and personality. The description should be exactly 50 words. Compare with your partner.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

- 10 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

A friend is going to visit the city where your cousin lives. Your cousin has agreed to show your friend around the city. They have never met before. Write an email to your cousin and:

- describe your friend's appearance,
- describe your friend's personality,
- mention some of your friend's interests,
- thank your cousin for agreeing to show your friend around.

1.8

SPEAKING

Describing a photo

I can describe a photo and speculate about the people in it.

- 1 Look at the adjective order key and put the clothes descriptions 1–5 in the right order. Is anybody in the class wearing one of these items?

Adjective order

Opinion	Size/ Age	Colour/ Pattern	Material	Make/ Type	Noun
a lovely	big old	brown	leather	flying	jacket

- 1 trainers / Nike / New New Nike trainers
 2 A / cotton / shirt / patterned A patterned cotton shirt
 3 jeans / blue / Fashionable / skinny
Fashionable blue skinny jeans
 4 leather / high-heeled / Black / boots
Black leather high-heeled boots
 5 A / striped / jumper / big / woollen
A big striped woollen jumper
- 2 SPEAKING Take it in turns to describe clothes in the class. Use at least two adjectives to describe each item. Guess who your partner is describing.
- 3 Look at photo A. Can you use any of the adjectives in Exercise 1 to describe the clothes?
a patterned cotton shirt; fashionable blue skinny jeans
- 4 1.17 How would you describe the situation in photo A? Think of two adjectives to describe how the woman is feeling. Then listen and check your ideas.
She's feeling bored. She isn't excited about buying clothes.

SPEAKING FOCUS

Beginning a description

Giving your opinion

I (don't) think .../I prefer .../Personally, .../In my opinion ...

- 5 1.17 Read the SPEAKING FOCUS and complete the description of photo A with one word in each gap. Then listen again and check.

The photo ¹ shows a man and a woman shopping together. It's ² hard to say exactly how old they are, but I ³ think they're in their twenties, and they're ⁴ probably a couple. The man's wearing a red top and grey jeans. The woman is sitting on a white chair and she ⁵ looks bored. On the floor, ⁶ next to her chair, there are several shopping bags. I'm not ⁷ sure what's in them, but I think they're probably clothes, and I ⁸ imagine they've been shopping for a few hours already.

It's hard to ⁹ make out exactly what kind of shop they are in, but it ¹⁰ seems to be a men's clothes shop. It looks as ¹¹ though they're near the changing rooms because there's a white curtain in the ¹² background. The man is holding up a shirt or a pair of trousers. He looks ¹³ as if he's thinking about trying it on. I ¹⁴ don't think the woman looks very interested. ¹⁵ Personally, I think she wants to go to a women's clothes shop.

- 6 SPEAKING Look at photo B. Then follow the instructions below to talk about it. Use the phrases in the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.
- Say what the photo shows.
 - Speculate about the people and the situation.
 - Take it in turns to describe the photo to your partner.
- 7 SPEAKING Ask and answer three more questions based on photos A and B.
- 1 How often do you go shopping?
 - 2 Who do you usually go with? Why?
 - 3 What are your favourite or least favourite shops? Why?

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

• Students use the photos they have brought after ex. 7. They take turns to describe them. They give as full descriptions as possible of the clothes, taking care with adjective order, and using the phrases from SPEAKING FOCUS.

• Students write a short description of one of their photos.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Write some of the words on the board without vowels – students write the full words, e.g. crfr (carefree), frndl (friendly), shllw (shallow). If you prefer, you can show the number of spaces, e.g. fr _ _ n d l _ (friendly).

• In teams, students write a list of as many clothes words as they can, including materials (leather, cotton, etc.). The team with the most words writes them on the board after e.g. 5 minutes. The other teams take it in turns to add any other words. The team with the most points wins. They get one point for each correct answer.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

- 1 Complete the sentences with the words in the box. There are two extra words.

(carefree centre denim faded rebellious skin vain vintage)

Fashion and the Human Form

In every period throughout history there have been specific ideas of what the perfect human body should look like. Different body types have gone ¹ _____ and out of fashion just like clothes and hairstyles, and these ideals led to the ² _____ of fashions. The ancient Greeks, who admired slim, athletic bodies, went for a casual look, with soft ³ _____ and comfortable shapes. In Britain, the Elizabethans preferred women's clothes which forced their bodies into totally unnatural shapes, causing a lot of discomfort. During the early 19th century, Europeans believed that the Greek look was the best, and women's clothes became much more comfortable, but this did not last. The Victorians thought that a very small waist made women attractive, and women wore such tight garments they sometimes caused actual injuries. Nowadays, some of the most ⁴ _____ designers make clothes that fit all shapes and sizes. But judging by all the diet plans, exercise programmes and plastic surgery procedures that are available, it seems that things ⁵ _____ much up to now.

Stella McCartney

When designer Stella McCartney arrived on the fashion scene, many people claimed her success was due to her famous name. Her father is, after all, Beatles legend Paul McCartney. This, however, is not true. For Stella, her achievements took hard work, determination and, of course, talent.

In 1995, after graduating from Central St Martins College of Art and Design in London, she enjoyed almost immediate success. Two short years later, at the age of twenty-six, she became the head designer at Chloé – a famous Parisian fashion house. After four highly successful years at Chloé, Stella launched her own fashion label and showed her first collection of cutting-edge designs in 2001.

Since then her company has been growing steadily. In that time, it has gained acceptance as a fashion company with a difference. When Stella was growing up on a farm, her parents taught her to respect animals, to be aware of nature, and to understand that human beings must get along well with other creatures. This down-to-earth approach has had a huge impact on her and, as a result, she believes in ethical fashion now. Ethical fashion covers issues such as working conditions, child labour, fair trade and responsible production that does not harm the environment.

As a lifelong vegetarian, Stella does not use any natural leather or fur in her designs. The fabric she prefers is organic cotton and she has been experimenting with eco-friendly materials and production processes. She always tries to find the most responsible production methods. Recently, Stella decided not to work with a fabrics factory because the process it used to colour the fabrics was very harmful to the environment. An entire river near the factory became red, making the water unsuitable for drinking or for use in agriculture.

Stella's ethical fashion also aims to help poor workers. For this reason, she has created a range of cloth bags together with the United Nations' International Trade Centre. The programme provides work for poor communities in Kenya, where the bags are created by hand. So far, 160 people in disadvantaged areas have been involved in the production. They are earning money, which has improved their lives.

Stella McCartney has an interesting philosophy. She believes designers should ask themselves how they make their clothes and accessories, where they make them, and what materials they use. Thinking about these questions makes designing more challenging and more interesting, but still allows designers to create luxurious, beautiful items that people want to buy. Stella McCartney is proof of that.

- 1 Stella McCartney worked at Chloé as the head designer.
- 2 She launched her own fashion company in 2001.
- 3 Stella cares about ethical issues in fashion, e.g. child labour or fair trade.
- 4 Her favourite material is organic cotton.
- 5 She did not want to cooperate with a fabrics factory which did not use eco-friendly production methods.
- 6 People from poor communities in Kenya are involved in making cloth bags for Stella.

SPEAKING

- 8 Look at the photos. They show people discussing what clothes to wear. In pairs, take turns to compare the photos and say why the people might have different opinions about the clothes.

- 9 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 What do you think the woman in photo A is telling the girl? What are the couple discussing in the second photo?
- 2 Do your parents ever comment on your clothes? Why?/Why not?
- 3 Do you find it easy to choose what clothes to wear? Do you often ask for advice when you go shopping?

- 10 Can you wear informal clothes everywhere? Discuss.

WRITING

- 11 Read the writing task and write an email.

Your friend from the UK has got a summer job for a teen magazine. He/she has to interview young people who are interested in fashion. Suggest somebody you know as a person to interview. In your email describe:

- this person's fashion interests,
- what he/she usually wears,
- his/her personality and confirm that he/she will agree to take part in the interview.

- 1 individual sports or team sports?
 - 2 indoor sports or outdoor sports?
 - 3 winter sports or summer sports?
 - 4 doing sport or watching sport?
 - 5 sport or no sport?

SPORTING QUESTIONS

Following news this week that the total number of teenagers taking up team sports has fallen, we're asking why so many people prefer individual sports. Sure, there are advantages: if you work out at the gym, you burn off calories and keep in shape and do it at a time that is convenient for you. But what about the friendship and the feeling of togetherness you get when you play for a team?

Are you a team player or do you prefer to do it alone? Here's what our readers said.

Jordan, 16

Not everyone has the confidence or the ability to participate in team sports. I'm 16 and I like taking on new challenges, but I'm not good enough to get into my school football team.

Jack, 17

When I play tennis, it's just me against my opponent – it's quite lonely without teammates. When I'm preparing for a competition I just see my coach. When I compete in a tournament and I beat an opponent, there's just my family to cheer me on. I love tennis, I love winning matches, but I miss the sense of belonging you get in a team.

Sherri, 16

I prefer team sports, but sometimes it's difficult when you let your team down. Last year, I had such a lot of school work that I had to drop out of my basketball team halfway through the season. I felt terrible.

Megan, 17

I do an individual sport, karate, but I feel part of a team and I'm motivated to score points for my club. I go in for competitions, and when I came first recently, I felt it was for the club, not for myself. With the trainers, other club members and supporters, it's like a big family.

WORD STORE 2A Phrasal verbs

- 5 1.18 Complete WORD STORE 2A with the base forms of the phrasal verbs in red in the blog. Then listen, check and repeat.

 - 2 What do you shout when you cheer your team on?
 - 3 Do you think a national team lets the country down when it loses?
 - 4 Have you ever had to drop out of a team for any reason?
 - 5 Which school team is it easiest to get into?
 - 6 Does your school go in for many inter-school competitions?
 - 7 What is the best type of exercise to burn off calories?

WORD STORE 2B Collocations

- 7 1.19 Complete WORD STORE 2B with the underlined words in the blog. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 8 1.20 Put the lines of one person's views about sport in the correct order. Then listen and check.
- 1 I'm not into competitive sport. I'll never break
 - 2 a goal! I like being healthy and keeping
 - 3 first. I've seen men cry when the opposing team scores
 - 4 a prize for sport. In fact, I usually come
 - 5 a world record, and I'm sure I'll never win
 - 6 last in races and if I'm in a team we always lose
 - 7 in shape. But I don't need to beat
 - 8 the match. I don't understand people who need to come
 - 9 my opponent – I'm happy just to take part.
- 9 SPEAKING Discuss which is more important: to win or to take part?

WORD STORE 2C People in sport

- 10 1.21 Match the pictures in WORD STORE 2C with the words in the box. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 11 Complete the sentences with the words in WORD STORE 2C.

GRAMMAR

Narrative tenses

I can describe a past event using the Past Simple, Perfect and Continuous.

1 Read Running Wild. Answer the questions.

- Had Chris Stewart run in Africa before? No.
- Why wasn't he running very fast?
Because he wanted to save energy.
- Why did a local runner overtake him at high speed?
Because a rhinoceros was chasing them.

RUNNING WILD

Chris Stewart and two other British athletes were competing in a 20-kilometre race in Kenya. They hadn't competed in Africa before, but Chris believed that it was important to save energy on a long-distance race so he wasn't running very fast. After three kilometres, he was leading when suddenly, a local runner overtook him at high speed. He knew his rival would get tired later in the race so he didn't speed up – but then he looked round and saw that a large rhinoceros had crashed through the trees next to the road and it was chasing after them ...

2 Look at the verb phrases in blue in the text. Put them in the correct category below.

- Past Simple: Chris believed
- Past Continuous: athletes were competing
- Past Perfect: They hadn't competed

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and complete it with the name of the appropriate tense.

From RAFA MY STORY

Chapter 1

The Silence of the Centre Court

Forty-five minutes before the game was scheduled to start I took a cold shower. Freezing cold water. I do this before every match. It's the point before the point of no return; the first step in the last phase of what I call my pre-game ritual.

5 Under the cold shower, I enter a new space in which I feel my power and resilience grow. I'm a different man when I emerge. I'm activated.

After Titi, my physical therapist, had bandaged my knee, I stood up, got dressed, went to a basin, and ran water
10 through my hair. Then I put on my bandanna. ¹ C There's a practical point to it: keeping my hair from falling over my eyes. But it's also another moment in the ritual, another decisive moment, like the cold shower, when I am aware that very soon I'll be entering battle.

15 An official in a blazer walked in and told us it was time. Now I was supposed to hand over my bag to a court attendant for him to carry it to my chair. ² E I don't like it. It's a break from my routine. I handed over my bag but took out one racket. I led the way out of the locker room, along corridors
20 with photographs of past champions and trophies behind glass frames, down some stairs and left and out into the cool

English July air and the magical green of the Centre Court.

I sat down, took off my white tracksuit top, and took 25 a sip from a bottle of water. Then from a second bottle. I repeat the sequence, every time, before a match begins, and at every break between games, until a match is over. A sip from one bottle, and then from another. And then I put the two bottles down at my feet, in front of my 30 chair to my left, one neatly behind the other, diagonally aimed at the court. ³ B It's a way of placing myself in a match, ordering my surroundings to match the order I seek in my head.

The last part of the ritual, as important as all the 35 preparations that went before, was to look up and search for my family members among the blur of the Centre Court crowd. I don't let them intrude on my thoughts during a match - I don't ever let myself smile during a match - but knowing they are there, as they always have 40 been, gives me the peace of mind on which my success as a player rests. I build a wall around myself when I play, but my family is the cement that holds the wall together.

Rafael Nadal was born in Spain in 1986. He began playing tennis at the age of three and turned professional at fifteen. Nadal has won seventeen Grand Slam titles including eleven French Opens and two Olympic gold medals. He beat Roger Federer in the longest final in Wimbledon history in 2008. He won Wimbledon again in 2010, and in 2011 he was named Laureus World Sportsman of the Year.

GRAMMAR

Verb patterns

I can use a range of verb patterns.

- 1 What does a sports psychologist do? Read the text and find out.

He/She helps athletes to prepare mentally for competitions.

THINK LIKE A WINNER

I'm a sports psychologist. I work with top athletes and I help them to prepare for important competitions. Of course, they need to prepare physically: they should get plenty of sleep, remember to drink lots of fluids and avoid drinking alcohol. That's the easy part! But after they've spent time preparing their body, I make them relax and prepare the mind. I focus on three areas: visualisation, positive thinking and relaxation.

- 2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Complete the examples with the phrases in blue in the text.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 67

Verb patterns

• verb + to infinitive

Of course, they need ¹ to prepare physically.

Examples: aim, arrange, attempt, can't afford, decide, expect, hope, intend, manage, offer, plan, refuse, remember, seem, tend, try, want

• verb + object + to infinitive

I help them ² to prepare for important competitions.

Examples: advise, allow, encourage, force, remind, teach, urge, warn (not)

• verb + -ing

But after they've spent time ³ preparing their body, I...

Examples: avoid, can't help, can't stand, don't mind, enjoy, fancy, finish, imagine, keep, miss, stop, waste time

• modal verb + infinitive without to

... they should ⁴ get plenty of sleep ...

Examples: can, could, might, should, would

• verb + object + infinitive without to

I make them ⁵ relax and prepare the mind.

Examples: make, let

- 3 1.31 Complete the text with the correct verb pattern using the words in brackets. Then listen and check.

Visualisation

Before an important event, I advise ¹ athletes to visit (athletes/visit) the stadium. This allows ² them to visualise (them/visualise) the day of the competition. They can ³ imagine (imagine) the smells and the sounds in the stadium, and they imagine ⁴ winning (win) the competition. Then, when the day of the competition arrives, they try ⁵ to recreate (recreate) the success they imagined.

Positive thinking

I encourage ⁶ athletes to talk (athletes/talk) to themselves before a big race. I force ⁷ them to concentrate (them/concentrate) on the times when they won. They need ⁸ to stay (stay) in the present and tell the negative voice in their head to stop ⁹ talking (talk). Good athletes want ¹⁰ to win (win), but top athletes expect ¹¹ to win (win). That's positive thinking!

Relaxation

Even top athletes can't help ¹² feeling (feel) nervous, especially when they find themselves standing next to last year's champion! I let ¹³ them talk (them/talk) to me about their worries, but on the day of the competition, negative thoughts are not allowed! It's a simple fact that if they manage ¹⁴ to control (control) their nerves, they tend ¹⁵ to do (do) better. Winning – it's all in the mind!

- 4 List some sports that you like watching or doing. In your opinion, which sports need more mental and which ones more physical preparation?

- 5 Write a second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use the words in brackets. Which sentences are true for you?

- I'm happy to lend money to my friends. (don't mind)
I don't mind lending money to my friends.
- I don't have enough money to buy new trainers. (can't afford)
- I would like to learn how to skate one day. (hope)
- My uncle showed me how to swim. (teach)
- I don't want to take up jogging. (not intend)
- My parents won't allow me to stay out all night with my friends. (let)

- 6 Complete the sentences to make them true for you. Write four true sentences and one false one.

- I can't stand + -ing
I can't stand watching sport on TV.
- I enjoyed + -ing
- I wasted a lot of time + -ing
- I spend a lot of time + -ing
- I've refused + to infinitive

- 7 SPEAKING Read your sentences. Guess which of your partner's sentences is false.

NEXT CLASS

- Ask students to prepare for a 10–20-minute Use of English Quiz: Assessment Package, Unit 2.6, Use of English.
- Ask students to list extreme sports.

A story

I can write a story with a simple linear sequence.

- 1 SPEAKING Look at photos A–F and match them with the extreme sports in the box. Then discuss the questions.

bungee jumping (E) mountain biking (B) rafting (C) rock climbing (A) snowboarding (D) water skiing (F)

- 1 What extreme sports have you tried?
- 2 What extreme sports would you like to try?
- 3 What extreme sports would you never like to try? Why?

- 2 Read the beginning of the story. What do you think went wrong?

There's a first time for everything!

I don't think many people have been in a situation like the one Lilly and I experienced last winter. We were learning to snowboard for the first time in the spectacular mountains of Austria. Of course, many things can go wrong when you're new to an extreme sport, but what happened to us was very unusual. The old saying, 'there's a first time for everything' is definitely true based on our experience!

- We'd booked lessons before we arrived, and were both feeling quite nervous as we took the lift up the mountain with Max, our enthusiastic instructor. 'Don't worry' he said, 'you might fall over a bit, but you'll love it!' The first lesson was really challenging and we fell over A LOT! By the end of the first day, we were completely exhausted but, as promised, we'd had a brilliant time and fallen totally in love with snowboarding.

- The following day, Max was demonstrating how to turn. As our eyes followed him down the slope, he suddenly disappeared. 'Where did he go?' I asked Lilly, as we headed for where he'd disappeared. We discovered Max at the bottom of a big hole. 'I think it's broken' he said holding his left leg. We called for help on his radio and twenty minutes later the three of us were in a helicopter heading for the medical centre.
- 25 I'm pretty sure we enjoyed the helicopter ride more than poor Max! The doctor confirmed that he had broken his leg. She said it was the first time she'd ever seen learners bring their instructor in for treatment.

- 3 Read the story and put the events a–g in chronological order (1–7).

- a They arrived in Austria
- b They rode in a helicopter
- c They radioed for help
- d They booked lessons
- e Max fell down a hole
- f They had their first lesson
- g They met Max

- 4 SPEAKING Discuss your own experiences of trying out a sport for the first time.

- 5 Read the advice for writing a story and complete the examples in the WRITING FOCUS with the words in purple from the story.

WRITING FOCUS

A story

• Beginning your story

- Use an opening sentence and interesting title that makes the reader want to read on.
- Set the scene for the story so the reader can imagine what might happen next.
- Finish the beginning section with a problem, or at a point which is exciting or interesting.

• Telling your story

- Use a range of different narrative tenses to tell the story.

Use the Past Continuous to set the scene.

We ¹ were both feeling quite nervous.

Use the Past Simple to describe the main events.

We ² took the lift up the mountain.

Use the Past Perfect to make it clear that one past action happened before another past action.

We ³ 'd booked lessons before we arrived.

- Use adverbs and strong adjectives to make the story exciting.

By the end of the first day, we were

⁴ completely exhausted.

- Use sequencers so the reader can follow the story.

⁵ Twenty minutes later the three of us were in a helicopter ...

- Use one or two short sentences for dramatic effect.

We discovered Max at the bottom of a big hole.

- Use some direct speech to make the story come alive.

'⁶ Where did he go?', I asked Lilly.

• Ending your story

- Think of an exciting, funny or unexpected ending to the story to help the reader remember it.

- 6 Find and underline more examples of the narrative tenses from the WRITING FOCUS in the story.

Exercise 6

Past Simple:

happened, was, arrived, took, said, fell over, were, followed, disappeared, headed, discovered, called, enjoyed, confirmed

Past Perfect:

'd booked, 'd had, we'd fallen, he'd disappeared had broken, had (ever) seen

Past Continuous:

were learning, were feeling, was demonstrating

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Ask students, in pairs, to read the text in ex. 2 again and decide the purpose of each paragraph, e.g. Paragraph 1: saying who is involved and where it happens, etc. Discuss briefly with the class and write an outline on the board if you like.

- Pairs brainstorm ideas for ex. 10 and make notes, making sure their notes include all the relevant information and any useful language, etc. Then they write the story together. Pairs exchange and correct the stories. Check with the class and go over any problems.

A

F

- 7 Complete the story with the correct narrative form of the verbs in brackets.

'3-2-1 bungee'!

I wanted to jump, but my legs wouldn't move.

I ¹ was visiting (visit) New Zealand when I ² decided (decide) to try bungee jumping. I ³ had never done (never do) it before, but felt quietly confident as I watched from the ground. An hour later though, as I stood on the edge of the bridge looking down, I ⁴ realised (realise) that all that confidence ⁵ had disappeared (disappear). 'Come on Dan! You can do it!' shouted the other jumpers. 'Three-two-one bungee!' ... Nothing. 'I ... I ... I'll have to get down' I said. And so I did, though not quite as planned.

As I turned to climb off the platform, I ⁶ stood (stand) on a rope and lost my balance. My cry of horror ⁷ became (become) a scream of pure joy as I fell towards the ground. That ⁸ was (be) the day I fell in love with bungee jumping.

- 8 Complete the LANGUAGE FOCUS with the underlined examples in the story in Exercise 2.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Linkers to describe events in a sequence

- Beginning: ¹ before we arrived/left/got there, (at) first, on the first morning/day
- Middle: then, later, the ² following morning/evening, after that/three days, on the third/fourth day
- End: eventually (meaning after a long time), finally, in the end
- Other: ³ by the end of the first day/lesson/journey/holiday

- 9 Choose the correct option.

The longest weekend of my life

Some weekends are special for the wrong reasons. Last weekend was one of them. ¹ After / Then very little training, my best friend and I attempted our first 100km walking race. ² Finally / On the first morning we fell out because he'd forgotten to pack the map. Luckily, we were able to borrow somebody's extra one. ³ After six hours / At first we reached the first rest stop. We'd fought most of the way about which was the fastest way to go. ⁴ Finally / By the end of the first day we'd walked forty-three kilometres and were not really speaking to each other anymore. ⁵ The following morning / The day before, we started walking again at 5 a.m. and I can honestly say I've never heard so much complaining in all my life! ⁶ Eventually / Before, we reached the finishing line after thirty-two hours of walking and an entire weekend of arguing. We haven't seen or spoken to each other since.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

- 10 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Write a story about trying a new sport or activity for the first time and:

- use the first sentence and title to catch the reader's attention.
- set the scene and mention the characters involved in the story.
- use a range of narrative tenses to tell the story.
- finish the story with something exciting, funny or unexpected.

2.8

SPEAKING

Asking for and giving an opinion
• agreeing and disagreeing

I can ask for, give, agree with and disagree with an opinion.

- 1 Look at the jobs in the box and number them from most (5) to least (1) important for society.

(an actor a farmer a football player a nurse a pilot a police officer a scientist a surgeon)

- 2  1.33 Read and listen to a conversation between a brother and sister and answer the questions.

- 1 What do they disagree about? How much footballers earn.
2 Who does their father agree with? Tom.
3 Who do you agree with?

- 3  1.33 Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to complete the phrases in the conversation. Then listen again and check.

Tom: Goal! Messi's just scored a fantastic goal! He's definitely the best footballer in the world!
Jan: Hm, I'm not ¹ so sure about that.
Tom: What do you know about football?
Jan: I know that some football players get millions of euros a month! If ² you ask me, they earn too much.
Tom: That's ³ not true. Only a few players earn that much and they deserve it.
Jan: No way! Football players don't save lives! Football's just a game!
Tom: Are ⁴ you kidding? It's the most popular game in the world.
Jan: That's true but they don't do anything important. They just kick a ball!
Tom: The ⁵ thing is, football players can only play when they're young so they have to earn a lot in a short time.
Jan: I'm ⁶ not convinced. I just don't think footballers are good role models.
Tom: I'm sorry, ⁷ I don't agree with you – they're great role models. They train really hard ...
Dad: Hey, what's going on in here? Calm down you two.
Jan: He thinks it's OK to pay Messi two million euros a month! What ⁸ do you think about that?
Dad: That's ridiculous.
Jan: You see!
Dad: To ⁹ be honest, I think he should get at least ten million!

SPEAKING FOCUS

Asking for someone's opinion

What do you think about ...?

Giving an opinion

I think .../I (just) don't think .../If you ask me .../
The thing is .../To be honest ...

Agreeing with an opinion

I agree./That's true./Absolutely!

Half agreeing with an opinion

I'm not so sure about that./I'm not convinced.

Disagreeing

That's not true./I'm sorry, I don't agree with you.

Disagreeing strongly

No way! (informal)/Are you kidding? (informal)
I'm afraid I completely disagree.

Note:

If you have no strong opinions, you can say:
Personally, I don't feel strongly one way or the other.

- 4  1.34 Read the opinions below and choose the appropriate responses in a and b. Then listen and check.

- 1 I think female athletes should earn the same salary as male athletes.
a I agree. / No way! All athletes should be paid equally.
b Absolutely. / I'm not convinced. Male athletes attract more spectators.
2 If you ask me, running is the best sport in the world.
a I'm afraid I completely disagree. / That's true. You can do it anywhere and any time.
b Absolutely. / That's not true. Playing team sports is much better.
3 In my opinion, golf is for old people. a I agree. / I'm not convinced. It's too slow for young people.
b Are you kidding? / I agree. My brother is twenty and he loves playing golf.
4 I think boxing should be banned. It's too dangerous.
a Absolutely. / No way! I think it's great.
b I'm sorry, I don't agree with you. / That's true. It's too violent.

- 5 SPEAKING Practise the dialogues in Exercise 4. Choose answer a or b according to your own opinion.

- 6 SPEAKING Discuss the topics below. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

- We should do more sport at school.
- Animals should not be used in sport.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• In groups, with books closed, students try to write a sports word for every letter of the alphabet, e.g. athletics, boxing, cycle race. Then teams call out their words for letter a. They get 1 point for each correct word that another team also has and 5 points for a correct word that no other team has. They go through the rest of the alphabet in the same way. The team with the most points wins.

• Divide students into teams. Call out a word for the first team and have them explain the meaning.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

1 Choose the correct option.

- The opponent / referee showed two red cards during the first half of the match.
- I'm confident England can win / beat almost any team they play against this season.
- Steven was sorry for letting / dropping the other players down when he missed the goal.
- Julie was so fast that she hit / broke the world record by five seconds.
- Giles is a popular trainer / spectator because he shows players how they can improve.
- I've decided not to come / go in for the basketball team this year, but I'll still play for fun.

2 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in capitals.

- In figure skating, constant repetition is the best way to learn difficult tricks. REPEAT
- You can activate your device by touching the screen and entering the password. ACTIVE
- That runner has such a powerful start that he seems to take off like a racing car. POWER
- You have to be decisive in a game like basketball because there is no time to stop and think. DECIDE
- Athletes need to show resilience when they are recovering from injuries and defeat. RESILIENT
- That player is so superstitious that he won't go on the field without wearing his 'lucky' ring. SUPERSTITION

3 Write sentences from the prompts. Use the Past Simple, Past Continuous or Past Perfect.

- The match / not / start / at 7 o'clock / because / it / snow.
- Ann / get / lots of / money / when / she / win / the tennis competition?
- John / buy / squash racket / even though / he / not / play / squash / before.
- you / play / golf / when / you / hurt / yourself?
- I / swim / calmly / when / suddenly / someone / jump / into the pool.
- When / Juliet / get home / Henry / already / go to / the match.

4 Choose the correct option.

- I don't think my parents will let me go / to go to the rugby match on my own.
- The doctor has advised me give up / to give up professional sport if I don't want to get injured seriously.
- Tim tends getting tired / to get tired easily, so he has to be very active to keep in shape.
- You really should stop wasting / to waste your time at table tennis practice.
- Everyone at the stadium expected their team winning / to win the match.
- I can't help laughing / to laugh when I see that video of me trying to learn to ski.

Olympic Opening Ceremonies

The Olympic Opening Ceremony is always a highlight of the games. Read on to find out how different countries have used the ceremony to promote their cultures.

The opening ceremony of the Sydney games in 2000 explored Australia's history from the earliest days of Aboriginal culture. ¹ C The show celebrated the great Australian landscape, the cities and the diversity of the people.

In 2004 the Olympics returned to their birthplace, and Greece presented a stunning picture of its history and achievements. ² E This vision symbolised Greece as a tiny country with far-reaching ideas that changed the world.

China's ceremony in 2008 definitely scored a goal. An awe-inspiring display by 15,000 performers was almost military in its exactness. ³ B For sheer size and precision, the Beijing ceremony seems impossible to beat.

Not surprisingly, the 2012 London ceremony was a total contrast. It replaced Chinese precision with British eccentricity and humour. Perhaps Queen Elizabeth II parachuting from a plane in the arms of James Bond seemed unrelated to the Olympic spirit, but it certainly made a statement about Britain!

- A While there were several mistakes during the show, on the whole it was an amazing display.
- B It is hard to imagine the training that had gone into keeping so many people in order.
- C It painted a picture of the energetic, multicultural country Australia has become.
- D Some Greek people thought hosting the Olympics was too expensive, but others saw big advantages.
- E As the centrepiece of the ceremony, the stadium floor filled with water and a young boy in a small boat sailed across it.

SPEAKING

- 9 Do the task in pairs.

Student A

Your school wants to organise a Family Sport Day. Your class is responsible for preparing a competition in any sport you choose. Start the conversation with Student B to discuss what you have to do. Topics you should mention:

- Awards
- Age groups
- Judges
- Type of sport

Student B

You're Student A's classmate. Your school wants to organise a Family Sport Day. Your class is responsible for preparing a competition in any sport you choose. Student A starts the conversation to discuss what you have to do. Use some or all of the following sentences:

- So, tell me, what kind of sports competition should we organise?
- I'm not sure it's a good idea.
- I think we need to organise the competition for different age groups.
- What exactly do you mean by (a small prize)?

WRITING

EXTREME JOURNEYS TO SCHOOL

For some students, the journey to school is just a stroll around the corner or a short drive and the biggest problems they face are getting stuck in traffic jams during rush hour or public transport delays. For others, getting to school involves crossing deserts, rivers or dangerous urban neighbourhoods. They have to travel long distances on foot, or by boat, bicycle, rickshaw or sledge.

Next time you miss the school bus and feel like complaining about your journey to school, think about these schoolchildren who don't have access to buses or even roads.

Travels in America blog

We arrived in Seattle on an overnight ¹flight from London and picked up a car at the airport. The car hire was just a short bus ²ride from the terminal, and we were on the road just one hour after landing. We were excited about the ³drive along the West Coast to San Francisco. The ⁴journey took around twelve hours. Once we got to San Francisco, we went on a ⁵tour of the city by cable car. That was my favourite thing about this trip, although the ⁶cruise around San Francisco Bay was amazing too – we sailed around the Bay for three hours and visited Fisherman's Wharf and its sea lion colony. On another day we went to Alcatraz island. It's just a short ⁷crossing by boat from the mainland.

- 13 SPEAKING Choose five words from WORD STORE 3C and write a question with each word. Then ask your partner.

GRAMMAR

Present and past speculation

I can use modal verbs to speculate about the present and the past.

1 Look at the pictures and complete the sentences.

- Picture C must be a lion because of the long hair around the head and neck.
- Picture A might be a puma or it could be a cheetah.
- Picture B can't be a tiger because the head is too small.

2 Look at the sentences you have completed in Exercise 1. Which sentence means:

- I'm sure it is ... 1
- I'm sure it isn't ... 3
- I think it's possible that it is ... 2

3 Read the short newspaper article. Are statements 1–3 true (T) or false (F)?

- The man is sure he saw a lion. F
- The woman is sure she heard a lion. T
- The police are sure a lion escaped from a zoo. F

On Sunday evening at 8 p.m. a holidaymaker was walking to his caravan with his eleven-year-old son when he believed he saw a lion. He told reporters, 'It was dark, but I could see a large animal. It can't have been a domestic animal – it was too big. I thought it might have been a lion. So we ran, very quickly!' The seaside resort was full of holidaymakers and at least ten people saw the animal. One woman said 'I heard a loud roar at 10 p.m. It must have been a lion. No other animal can roar like that.' Police have told everybody to stay inside as they believe a lion may have escaped from a nearby zoo.

4 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and complete the examples with the verb forms in blue in the article.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6.11

Present and past speculation

You can use modal verb structures to speculate about things.

- You use must when you are sure something is or was true.
Present: It must be a lion. Past: It must have been a lion.
- You use might, may or could when you think it's possible something is or was true.
Present: It might be a lion. Past: It might have been a lion.
- You use can't (or couldn't) when you are sure something isn't or wasn't true.
Present: It can't be a domestic animal.
Past: It can't have been a domestic animal.

Modal verb forms for speculation

Present: must/might/may/could/can't + infinitive

Past: must/might/may/could/can't + have + past participle

5 1.40 Rewrite the sentences using the words in brackets. Then listen to the interviews about the incident and check your sentences.

- I'm sure it's a lion. (must)
It must be a lion.
- It's possible it escaped from the zoo. (might)
It might have escaped from the zoo.
- Perhaps it is very hungry by now. (could)
It could be very hungry by now.
- It's possible it was somebody's pet. (could)
It could have been somebody's pet.
- Perhaps it grew too big. (may) It may have grown too big.
- I'm sure it isn't a lion. (can't) It can't be a lion.

6 1.41 What do you think really happened? Listen to the news report and check your ideas. What did the police conclude?
It must have been a large domesticated cat.

7 Complete the sentences with an appropriate modal structure and the verb in brackets.

- Dave can't have left yet, his coat is still here. (not yet leave)
- The traffic's really bad, I'm worried we might/may/could miss our train. (miss)
- They're not at home. They must/might/may/could have gone away for the weekend. (go)
- I can't find Jo. She must/might/may/could have gone home. (go)
- The plane landed over an hour ago. Bill can't still be in baggage reclaim. (still be)
- Buy a laptop? With my pocket money?! You can't be serious. (not be)

8 Choose a sentence below and write a dialogue including the sentence. Then act out your dialogue to the class.

- I must have left it in the shop.
 - You might have hurt yourself!
 - You must be joking!
 - I can't have left it/them at home.
 - There must be some mistake.
- A: Oh no!
B: What's wrong?
A: I can't find my wallet. I must have left it in the shop.
B: Oh dear. Never mind. Let's go back and look for it.

READING

Multiple choice

I can identify the key information in an extended article.

- SPEAKING Imagine you are going on a journey alone to a distant location. Discuss whether the following are advantages or disadvantages of travelling with a smartphone.
 - You don't need to carry flight/train/bus tickets.
 - You can text your parents as soon as you land at your destination.
 - You'll never get lost – you've got a map on your phone and GPS.
 - You can post selfies on social media and make everyone jealous.
 - You can show photos of your family and home to new friends.
 - You can stay in touch with new friends on social media.
 - You can keep up-to-date with everything that's going on at home.
- Below are some reasons for travelling. Can you think of any more? Add them to the list.
 - For a holiday
 - For a life-changing experience
 - To do voluntary work
- Read the article. Which of the reasons for travelling in Exercise 2 are mentioned? Are any other reasons given?
For a life-changing experience. To learn about different cultures.

EXAM FOCUS Multiple choice

- Read the article again. For questions 1–5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D.
 - William Sutcliffe believes that
 - A backpackers had worse travel experiences twenty years ago.
 - B young people worry about their hostel being comfortable.
 - C young people find it hard to leave their daily lives behind.
 - D travel was much easier in a pre-digital world.
 - Charlotte Johnstone
 - A went on the same journey as William Sutcliffe.
 - B found it hard to live in a foreign culture.
 - C learnt new things about the world thanks to her smartphone.
 - D experienced a different culture in spite of her smartphone.
 - Charlotte Johnstone believes that
 - A William Sutcliffe is wrong about the benefits of travel.
 - B the way we travel has changed the world.
 - C smartphones are an advantage in travel situations.
 - D teenagers in remote places don't use social media.
 - Charlotte Johnstone thinks that Millennials
 - A are less independent than their parents' generation.
 - B can be in touch with home and still enjoy experiences.
 - C want to have different experiences from those of their parents.
 - D have a hard time saving up for and planning a gap year trip.
 - In the article
 - A both writers disagree about the importance of travel.
 - B William Sutcliffe is critical of Millennials.
 - C Charlotte Johnson argues that smartphones haven't changed the way we travel.
 - D both writers think that if you have Wi-Fi, you can't have a life-changing experience.

- SPEAKING Think about the holidays and trips you go on. Discuss how they would be different without Wi-Fi. Would that be a problem for you?

WORD STORE 3E Negative adjectives

- 1.47 Complete WORD STORE 3E with the negative prefixes dis- or un-. Use the words in blue in the article to help you. Then listen, check and repeat.
- Choose the correct option. Use WORD STORE 3E to help you. Where would you expect to hear or see these announcements?
 - Passengers should make themselves familiar / unfamiliar with emergency procedures.
 - Due to poor weather conditions, delays may be avoidable / unavoidable.
 - The hotel would like to wish guests a pleasant / unpleasant stay.
 - Guests' digital devices should be connected / disconnected during a thunderstorm.
 - When driving abroad, you need to be informed / uninformed about the country's road laws.
- 1.48 Complete the verbs phrases with the words in the box. Use the underlined phrases in the article to help you. Then listen, check and repeat.

challenge cut yourself off from immerse yourself in withdraw money from take

- immerse yourself in a foreign culture
 - challenge your beliefs
 - cut yourself off from your family/home
 - take a gap year
 - withdraw money from a cash point
- SPEAKING Replace the underlined phrases with words or phrases with a similar meaning in Exercise 8. Which do you agree with? Discuss with a partner.
 - If you never go abroad, you never think critically about our own opinions.
 - It's impossible to stop communicating completely with home when you have unlimited access to the Internet.
 - I don't like being a tourist. It's better if you live with local people and experience their lifestyle.
 - Nobody gets money from a machine outside a bank or a shop these days. You just use your phone to pay for things.
 - Travelling abroad for a year before going to university is a waste of time and money.

Exercise 9

- challenge your beliefs
- cut yourself off from home
- immerse yourself in a foreign culture
- withdraws money from a cash point
- Taking a gap year

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- With books closed (before ex. 1) have students compare their lists in pairs. Check with the whole class whether anybody mentioned leaving their smartphone at home.
- After ex. 4, ask students to close their books and quickly give two arguments for/against and two facts they remember from the article, e.g. Charlotte Johnstone went to India and Zambia. William Sutcliffe thinks travel should be a deep experience.

Can travel still broaden the minds of the smartphone generation?

No

Travel writer William Sutcliffe believes that smartphones have changed backpacking in a bad way.

I believe that travel ought to be a profound experience. By cutting us off from everything that has previously been familiar to us, travel challenges our beliefs and makes us see the world in new ways. But when so many relationships and social support networks are carried out digitally, and with every backpacker hostel from Machu Picchu to Dharamsala offering Wi-Fi, it's actually impossible for Millennials* to cut themselves off from home. What has this done to the nature of travel?

A modern traveller will probably be more concerned about whether their room has Wi-Fi than whether it has a bathroom. To be disconnected is unthinkable. But this means that they have one foot firmly planted at home at all times. I don't think you can consider this way of travelling as a journey of self-discovery.

Yes

Charlotte Johnstone, a Millennial, argues that her smartphone did not get in the way of life-altering travel experiences.

I took my gap year a couple of years ago, and I'm really glad I did, because it changed my life. The time I spent in India and Zambia were the hardest and most rewarding of my life. Despite the fact that I had my smartphone in my pocket, I really felt that I had immersed myself in a foreign culture, and I learned a lot about myself and the world around me.

So I think Mr Sutcliffe is uninformed when he belittles the experience of today's travellers. Of course, the way we travel has changed; the world around us has changed. It's unavoidable. There are lots of pluses: you can call home when something happens, book plane tickets on your phone, withdraw money from a cash point, even find hidden temples on Google Maps. And don't think that teenagers in remote Sub-Saharan African villages don't have Facebook accounts – they do, and you can stay in touch long after you have left.

Staying connected doesn't detract from travelling – independence doesn't necessarily have to be solitary and young people don't need to be cut off from home to explore the wider world and appreciate their place in it. Just as much as our parents' generation did, we Millennials want to watch the sun rise, make friends with like-minded strangers as we dip our feet into the waters of a deserted beach after an unpleasant overnight journey on two different buses. The values and aspirations are the same.

We also have to address the same challenges. Saving up for, planning and executing a gap year trip is hard work. During the trip – even if you are only a text away from your friends at home – you still have to learn how to budget, problem-solve and develop people skills in order to survive.

I've made a promise to myself: if I have children, I shall never tell them 'it's not like it was in my day'.

*Millennial – someone born between 1980 and 2000

GRAMMAR

Used to and would

I can talk about past states and repeated actions using used to and would.

- 1 Are the statements about road travel in the 1960s true (T) or false (F)? Compare with a partner.
- Roads used to be quieter. T
 - People used to talk about traffic pollution. F
 - Cars didn't use to have seat belts. T
 - Children would play video games on long journeys. F
 - GPS didn't exist so people would follow maps. T
- 2 1.49 Listen to Zoe's grandfather talking about road travel when he was young. Check your ideas in Exercise 1.
- 3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and answer the questions.
- Which sentences in Exercise 1 describe past actions? 2, 4, 5
 - Which sentences in Exercise 1 describe past states? 1, 3

GRAMMAR FOCUS 12

Used to and would

- You can use used to + verb or would + verb to talk about regular past actions that don't happen any more.
Harry used to go to school by bus. He'd leave the house at 8 a.m.
- You can use used to + verb (NOT ~~would + verb~~) to talk about past states that are no longer true. (Usually with stative verbs: be, have, love, etc.)
Harry used to be a good student.

Note:

Don't use used to or would for single past actions.
In 1963 my granddad bought his first car. (NOT ~~used to buy~~ ... or ~~would buy~~ ...)

- 4 Rewrite the statements using would. If would is not possible, use used to.
- Air travel was cheaper than now.
Air travel used to be cheaper than now. F
 - Air travel was more comfortable. used to be T
 - The flight from London to New York took longer. would take F
 - People smoked on the plane. would smoke T
 - People wore their best clothes to travel by air. would wear T
 - Airports didn't have so many security checks. didn't use to have T

- 5 1.50 Which of the sentences in Exercise 4 do you think are true? Compare with a partner. Then listen and check.
- 6 1.51 Complete the text with the verbs in brackets.
- Use would + verb (where possible)
 - Use used to + verb (where would is not possible)
 - Use the Past Simple (where would or used to are not possible)

Then listen and check. Is the UK the only country where people drive on the left?

Left or right?

Today, 75% of cars drive on the right, but it ¹didn't always use to be (not always be) like that. In fact, everybody used to travel on the left! In Roman times, roads ²used to be (be) dangerous and travellers ³would carry (carry) swords in their right hands. Travellers on horses ⁴would ride (ride) on the left side of the road so that the right hand was free to use the sword. Then Napoleon ⁵changed (change) the rule. Why? Because he was a revolutionary! Before the French Revolution, the aristocracy ⁶would travel (travel) on the left and poor people ⁷would stay (stay) on the right. After the Revolution, the aristocracy joined the poor people on the right and driving on the right ⁸became (become) the new law. What about the rest of the world? China, Portugal, Sweden and parts of Canada used to drive on the left and only changed the law during the mid-twentieth century. More than fifty countries including the UK, Australia, Japan and India still drive on the left today.

- 7 Write six sentences about your life when you were ten. Use used to or would. Use the suggestions in the box or your own ideas.

clothes you wore	sports you did
food you liked/didn't like	things you read
music you listened to	your bedroom

I didn't use to like mushrooms or green beans.

- 8 Compare your sentences in Exercise 7. Did you use to be similar or different?

USE OF ENGLISH

Phrasal verbs

I can understand and use separable and inseparable phrasal verbs.

- 1 1.52 Listen to a photo of the Zapp family and listen to Jenny James talking about them. What do the numbers in the box refer to?

(2000 100 3 → 6 80 65)

- 2 1.52 SPEAKING Discuss the questions. Then listen again and check your ideas.

- 1 What did the couple walk away from to go travelling? Their day-to-day lives.
- 2 Where did they set off from? Argentina.
- 3 Why did they decide to carry on travelling? Because they met such great people.
- 4 What do they do when they run out of money? Work for a bit.
- 5 Who sometimes put them up? Local families.
- 6 Why did they put a tent up on the car roof? So the kids could sleep.
- 7 What did the car seats turn into? A bed for the parents.
- 8 What happened when the car broke down? People helped them.

- 3 SPEAKING Can you imagine your own family travelling around the world for seventeen years? Would it be a good experience for you and your siblings? Why?/Why not?

- 4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and complete the examples using the phrasal verbs in bold in Exercise 2.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Phrasal verbs – verb + particle(s)

When you are learning phrasal verbs you need to understand both the meaning and the grammar.

• Meaning

Sometimes the meaning is literal – they ¹ put a tent up (= construct or erect)

Sometimes the meaning is idiomatic – local people ² put them up (= let sb stay)

• Grammar

Some phrasal verbs are separable – they bring children up (= raise)

Some phrasal verbs are inseparable – the car seats ³ turn into a bed (= change)

• Separable phrasal verbs

If the object is a noun, it can come before or after the particle:

bring children up or bring up children

If the object is a pronoun it can only come before the particle:

bring them up but NOT bring-up them

The Zapp family

- 5 Match the phrasal verb dictionary entries in the box with definitions 1–7. How do dictionaries show whether phrasal verbs are separable or inseparable or don't take an object?

For separable phrasal verbs dictionaries put the sb/sth before the particle. For inseparable they put it after the particle.

(drop sb off hold sb up keep up with sb head for sth pick sb up pull-over turn up)

- 1 pull over = stop in a car by the side of the road
 - 2 drop sb off = take somebody in a car and leave them somewhere
 - 3 head for sth = go in the direction of somewhere
 - 4 hold sb up = delay somebody
 - 5 turn up = arrive at a place
 - 6 pick sb up = collect somebody, usually in a car
 - 7 keep up with sb = go at the same speed as somebody
- 6 USE OF ENGLISH Choose one word, A, B or C to complete both sentences.

- 1 I'll drop you _____ at the next bus stop.
Tell the driver where you want to get _____.
A over B off C in
- 2 This car has never broken _____ before.
She walked _____ the steps into the sunshine.
A up B along C down
- 3 When do you think they'll turn _____?
Mum's picking me _____ at midday.
A up B into C off
- 4 Can I try _____ your new motorbike?
Oh, no! We've run _____ of petrol.
A for B on C out
- 5 It's kind of them to put us _____.
I don't want to hold you _____ – I know you're in a hurry.
A away B up C over

- 7 Write one false and two true sentences about yourself. Use a different phrasal verb in each sentence. Then read out your three sentences. Your partner guesses which one is false.

Use of English page 140

Exercise 1

2000 – the year they started travelling

100 – the number of countries they have visited

3 → 6 – the number of people in the family

80 – the age of the car

WRITING

A personal email

I can write a personal email giving advice.

1 Match problems 1–3 to advice a–c.

- 1 Should I go to university in my hometown, or in another city? c
- 2 I want to ask Katie on a date, but I'm too shy. a
- 3 Mum's worried about me camping overnight at the music festival. b
- a If I were you I wouldn't ask her. She might say no.
- b Tell her there are six of us. We'll look after each other.
- c You should study at your local university and live with your parents.

2 SPEAKING Discuss how good the advice in Exercise 1 is. Think of an alternative solution for each problem.

3 Read Tim's message to his older brother Ben and answer the questions.

- 1 Which problem from Exercise 1 does Tim describe?
Problem 1
- 2 What advice would you give him?

4 Read Ben's reply. Did he mention any of the advice you thought of?

To: Tim
Subject: Re: How are you?

Hey little brother,

Having a great time back at uni. You should come and visit soon.

Congratulations on the offers – I'm really proud of you. 1 I understand what a difficult decision it is, but it's better than having no options! Can't believe you're going to uni already! Seems like five minutes ago we were playing Lego together!

2 Have you thought about making a list of the pluses and minuses? E.g. if you study at home and live with Mum and Dad (plus or minus? :-)), you won't have to do your own washing, cooking, etc. On the other hand, if you go to Edinburgh, you'll have to look after yourself, but you'll have your freedom. 3 If I were you, I'd find out more about the courses as well.

4 By the way, thanks for the mix – I played it at Scotty's party on Friday and everyone loved it. Great to have a DJ for a little brother :-)

I'm sure 5 everything will be OK.

Hope to see you soon,

B.

To: Ben
Subject: How are you?

Hi Ben,

How's life back at uni? Having fun? Working hard? :-)

I'm writing because I need your advice. I've been offered two places to study IT next year. One is here at the local university, and the other is all the way up in Edinburgh!

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 14

- Before ex. 1, ask students to discuss the place they'd like to study (hometown or another city) in small groups. Run a class vote to check which answer is most popular.

- Ask some comprehension questions about the messages, e.g. Which universities has Tim been offered a place at? Is Ben having a good time? What advice does he give? Do you agree?, etc.

WORKBOOK

pp. 40–41, including Show What You've Learnt and Show That You've Checked

5 Match the phrases in purple in the email (1–5) with phrases that have a similar meaning (a–e).

- a Incidentally, 4
- b I can see why you are confused 1
- c things will work out fine 5
- d Why don't you make ... 2
- e It's a good idea to ... 3

6 Read the WRITING FOCUS and check your answers in Exercise 5.

WRITING FOCUS

A personal email giving advice

- Start with general news and/or a reference to what your friend wrote in their last email.
- Express sympathy for your friend's situation
I understand what a difficult decision it is.
I can see why you're worried/unhappy.
- Offer advice by asking a question
Have you thought about ... (making a list)?
Why don't you ... (talk to your friend)?
- Offer advice by making a statement
If I were you, I'd ... (find out more).
It's a good idea to ... (read about it online/ask a teacher you get on well with).
(See also Giving advice SPEAKING FOCUS p. 42)
- Change the subject and say something positive or give more news
By the way, thanks for ...
Incidentally, did you hear that ...?
- Reassure your friend at the end of the email
I'm sure everything will be OK.
I'm sure things will work out fine.

7 Look at the underlined phrases in the email. What do you notice about them? Complete the LANGUAGE FOCUS with It, It's, I (x2) or I'm.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Ellipsis

- In informal English, you can leave words out. This is called ellipsis. You usually leave out subject pronouns and auxiliary verbs at the beginning of a clause when the meaning is obvious:
Having a great time ... = 1 I'm having a great time ...
Can't believe you're going to uni ... = 2 I can't believe you're going to uni ...
Seems like five minutes ago ... = 3 It seems like five minutes ago ...
Great to have a DJ for a little brother. = 4 It's great to have a DJ for a little brother.
Hope to see you soon. = 5 I hope to see you soon.
- You can also leave out repeated words:
Feeling a bit tired but I always am. = I'm feeling a bit tired but I'm always tired.

8 Make this email more informal by removing seven words or phrases.

To: Carla
Subject: How are you?

Hi Carla

Thanks for your email! I felt really sick last week but I'm getting better now thanks. Mum was worried, but she always is worried. I finally finished my essay, so that's good. My tutor was pleased! I can't believe it's nearly summer. I'm looking forward to being on holiday.

I'll see you next weekend,

9 Read the message from a friend and mark the advice X = bad idea, ✓ = it might work, ✓✓ = good idea. Compare your ideas with a partner.

How r u? I'm :-(((Mum doesn't want me to go to the festival next weekend. Says she's worried about us camping overnight there. She said she could come with us to make sure we are safe!!!! LOL! What can I say or do to stop her worrying?

- 1 Forget about the festival. Your mum is right.
- 2 Just go for the day and come home in the evening.
- 3 Promise her you'll call before you go to bed and first thing in the morning.
- 4 Remind her that my big brother is coming. He'll look after us.
- 5 Ask your mum to come with us. It'll be fun.
- 6 Tell her you're staying at my house.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

10 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in Exercise 9, the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Reply to the message in Exercise 9. Write a personal email and:

- express sympathy for your friend's situation,
- offer some advice,
- change the subject and give some positive news,
- reassure your friend at the end of the email.

Just a quick email to answer your message.

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to write a list of the five most important things to take on holiday with you, and reasons to justify their choices.

3.8

SPEAKING

Asking for and giving advice

I can ask for, give and accept advice.

- Imagine you are going to England to do an English course and you are going to stay with an English family for a month. Write a list of things you need to take with you. Compare your list with a partner.

- 2.1 Listen to Markus asking Sophie for advice about what to take to England and answer the questions.

- Which of the things on your list do they mention?
- Why does Sophie want Markus to remember his phone charger? So that he can take lots of photos.

- 2.1 Listen again and tick the expressions in the SPEAKING FOCUS that you hear. Which three expressions on the list are not used in the dialogue?

SPEAKING FOCUS

Asking for advice

- Can you do me a (big) favour?
- Can you give me some advice?
- Do you think I need ...?
- What do you think I should ...?

Giving advice

- The first thing you should do is ...
- If I were you, I'd/I wouldn't ...
- I think/don't think you should ...
- You need/don't need to ...
- You (really) ought to ...
- You must/mustn't ...
- The best thing would be to ...
- It's a good idea to ...
- Why don't you ...?

Accepting advice

- Good idea!
- Good thinking!
- That's really helpful.
- Oh, I didn't think of that!

- Imagine a friend from England wants to visit your country during the winter. Complete the advice with one or two words from the SPEAKING FOCUS.
 - The first thing you should do is book your flights.
 - If I were you, I'd pack lots of warm clothes.
 - You need/ought/don't need to bring a lot of formal clothes.
 - I think/don't think you should bring lots of cash.
 - You must remember to get some travel insurance.
 - You need/really ought to make sure you have a warm winter coat.

- SPEAKING Look at the photo and discuss the questions.

- Which form of transport do you prefer for long journeys?
- What's the longest journey you've ever made by car, train or bus?
- When did you last travel by bus?

- SPEAKING Discuss which ideas below are good and which are bad for a very long bus journey. Give reasons. Then complete the table.

a big coat water earphones for smartphone or iPod fizzy drinks a good book light, comfortable clothes a pillow snacks snow boots sunglasses tissues chocolate very warm clothes

	Good idea	Bad idea
Things to wear
Things to take

- SPEAKING Follow the instructions below to prepare a dialogue. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you. Then act it out to the class.

Student A: You're from England. You're going to travel to Student B's country by bus. You've never been on a long bus journey before. Ask Student B for advice about what to wear, what to take for the journey and what kind of presents to take for the family.

Student B: Student A is visiting you from England. He/She is going to travel to your country by bus. Give him/her some advice about what to wear, what to take for the journey and what kind of presents to bring for your family.

A: Hi Marcel. Can you do me a big favour? I need your help.

B: Yes, sure. What's the problem?

A: Well, you know I'm travelling to your country by bus. I've never been on a long bus journey before and I'm not sure what to take. Can you ...

A Holiday to Help Others

Last summer, my friend Kara and I had a unique opportunity. Instead of going on a package holiday as we ¹ _____ normally do, we decided to volunteer in Puerto Rico.

Our friends and parents said it could be dangerous as we had to ² _____ the continent and we knew little about the place. However, we were determined to go. We went to a travel ³ _____ who arranges holidays for volunteers and she organised everything.

We ended up in a mountain village in Puerto Rico which had been seriously damaged in a terrible storm. We stayed in a small hotel in the valley, so we had to cycle ⁴ _____ to the village every morning. The ride was hard and the work was even harder, but it was very satisfying.

A couple of evenings a week we ⁵ _____ a lift into the nearest town where we could have a delicious meal or go dancing with other volunteers. I have to say that Puerto Rican food might be the best I have ever tasted! We weren't ready to leave after two weeks, and our ⁶ _____ home was a sad one. After this experience, I will never go on an ordinary holiday again.

WRITING

8 Read the writing task and match parts 1–4 with sentences a–e. There is one extra sentence.

- If I were you, I'd find out if there are any organised trips for students.
- India must be a great place to visit in the summer.
- Congratulations on getting into university.
- Last summer, I convinced my parents to let me go to a concert in Paris alone.
- I can see why your parents don't want you to go to India on your own.

Your friend in Australia has been offered a place at university. Before she starts studying, she'd like to travel alone around an exotic country. Her parents do not want her to go.

Write an email to your friend and

- congratulate her on her place at university and say you hope she will enjoy it
- express your opinion on her parents' worries
- offer advice on her problem
- describe a problem you recently had and how you solved it.

SPEAKING

10 In pairs, roleplay a conversation.

Student A

Each year you go kayaking in the lake district in your country. You're talking to a friend from the UK and you would like to invite him/her to join you. Start the conversation and mention:

- Transport
- Other attractions
- Training before the trip
- Accommodation

Student B

You're a friend of Student B who each year goes kayaking in the lake district in his country, and has invited you to join him/her. Use some or all of the following sentences after Student A starts the conversation:

- Which part of the country will it be in? How can I get there from (the airport)?
- What interesting places are we going to visit?
- Do you have to be fit to take part?
- But I've never slept in a tent! Will you help me put it up?

11 Look at the photos. They show different holidays people like to go on. In pairs, follow these steps.

- Talk to each other about why people like to go on these holidays.
- Decide on the type of holiday the right weather is most important for.

12 Ask and answer the questions.

- Some people say it's better to learn a lot about places in your own country before travelling abroad. What do you think? Why?
- Do you think it's a good idea to plan a holiday in advance or decide what to do at the last moment? Why?
- Where would your ideal holiday be? Why?

Fruit and vegetables • describing food

• collocations

I can talk about food that I like and don't like.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 Choose the odd one out in each group. Add other items to each list.

1 You can boil ... potatoes, eggs, cheese, pasta.

2 You can chop ... onions, carrots, fruit, salt.

3 You can fry ... an omelette, soup, salmon, bacon.

4 You can mix ... a sauce, ingredients, spices, meat.

5 You can slice ... honey, bread, ham, cake.

2 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

1 Who is the best cook in your family?

2 What dishes can you cook?

STRANGE CELEBRITY DIETS

When I read about the weird and wacky diets of famous celebrities, I think that being in the public eye can make people a bit crazy. And it's nothing new - more than two centuries ago, the romantic poet Lord Byron wanted to be pale and thin, so he only ate stale, dry biscuits, soda water and potatoes covered in vinegar - yuck! So sour! No wonder he died at the age of thirty-six!

Here's my list of today's top five strangest celebrity diets.

10 #5 Once, when Beyoncé was preparing for a video shoot, she went on a detox. This involved living on lemon juice, sweetened with maple syrup and made a little less bland with cayenne pepper. Give that woman some chocolate cake!

#4 Gwyneth Paltrow, Jennifer Aniston and Reese Witherspoon choose the baby food diet which involves eating fourteen jars of baby food a day, and one low-calorie meal of lean meat or fish and green salad.

• Students divide the food words in ex. 5 and 7 into three categories to show the number of syllables in each word, and then underline the main stress, e.g. 1 syllable: raw, bland; 2 syllables: cabbage, spinach; 3 or more syllables: cauliflower, aubergine.

3 Read the blog post and discuss which celebrity diet you think is:

- the most appealing
- the easiest to do
- the least appealing.

4 Imagine you are doing the colour diet. Add the correct colour heading to each list of foods. Check meanings in your dictionary if necessary.

1 red	2 orange	3 green
cherries	apricots	avocados
chilli peppers	carrots	cabbage
radishes	pumpkin	spinach
4 yellow	5 white	6 purple
grapefruit	cauliflower	aubergines
pineapple	coconut	beetroot
sweetcorn	garlic	figs

#3 American singer Jennifer Hudson thinks the Cookie Diet™ is more fun – instead of breakfast, lunch and snacks, you have six biscuits. But these are not delicious, crunchy biscuits with milk chocolate on top. Dr Siegal, the inventor of the Cookie Diet, was careful to make his cookies taste good, but not too good.

#2 Katy Perry keeps in shape with the mushroom diet, but instead of enjoying a bowl of delicious mushroom soup, she swaps one meal a day with raw mushrooms for fourteen days at a time.

#1 - MY FAVOURITE! Christina Aguilera does the seven-day colour diet, eating food of a different colour every day for a week. Day one is white, but that means white fruit and vegetables, not white bread or white rice! This is followed by red, green, orange, purple, yellow and on the seventh day, all of the colours. This diet might encourage you to try new things, like deep-red cherries, ripe avocados or fresh figs, and you'd get plenty of vitamins. I think this is the only one I would actually try.

WORD STORE 4A Fruit and vegetables

5 2.3 Match the photos in WORD STORE 4A with the words in Exercise 4. Then listen, check and repeat.

6 SPEAKING Mark the items in WORD STORE 4A as follows:

✓ = 'I like this'

X = 'I don't like this'

? = 'I've never tried this'.

Compare with your partner. What other items can you add to each list?

A: I don't like radishes, what about you?

B: I don't think I've ever tried them. What do they taste like?

WORD STORE 4B Describing food

7 2.4 Complete WORD STORE 4B with the adjectives in red in the blog post. Then listen, check and repeat.

8 Complete the sentences with an appropriate adjective from WORD STORE 4B. Which sentences are true for you?

- Thai and Indian curries are too spicy for me. I know it's boring but I prefer bland food.
- My friend likes anything sweet: she particularly loves ice cream and chocolate.
- The taste of dark chocolate or strong coffee is too bitter for me.
- If we have any old, stale bread, we feed the birds.
- I've never tried sushi. I don't like the idea of eating raw fish.
- I can't eat salad if the dressing has a lot of vinegar. It's too sour for me.
- I don't like bananas that are too ripe. I prefer them to be white and firm.
- I only like lean meat so I cut off the fat and leave it on the side of my plate.

WORD STORE 4C Collocations

9 2.5 Complete WORD STORE 4C with the underlined examples in the blog post. Then ask and answer.

10 SPEAKING Complete the questions with appropriate collocations from WORD STORE 4C. Then ask your partner.

- Have you ever eaten _____?
- When was the last time you had _____?
- Which do you prefer: _____ or _____?
- In what kind of recipes do you use _____?
- Where would I find _____ in your kitchen?

11 SPEAKING You are going to write a menu for either the most delicious or the most disgusting meal you can imagine. Use the words in WORD STORE 4A, 4B, 4C and your own ideas.

- Think about some delicious or disgusting food.
- Use words from the lesson and your own ideas.
- Write a menu with a starter, a main course and a dessert.
- Who has the best or worst menu in the class?

47

- Students make two lists: Food I like/ Food I don't like.

GRAMMAR

Future forms

I can talk about the future using a range of future forms.

- 1 SPEAKING Read about the best restaurant experiences in London. Which one would you most like to visit and why?

BEST RESTAURANT EXPERIENCES IN LONDON

■ Circus restaurant

As you dine, performers entertain you.

■ Inamo

You place your order via a 3D menu and you choose a virtual tablecloth. You can even order a taxi home from your table.

■ Pitch black

You eat in the dark and the waiters are blind. They don't tell you what you're eating.

■ Oblix in The Shard

You get the best view in London from the thirty-second floor of The Shard.

Exercise 2

Charlie is going to Pitch Black.

Lianne is going to Circus restaurant.

- 2 2.6 Listen to Charlie and Lianne. Which restaurant is Charlie going to, and which one is Lianne going to?

- 3 2.6 Listen again and choose the correct future form.

- Are you doing anything special? Will / Shall I organise something?
- I'll go / I'm going there with my mum and dad next week.
- I'm eating / I'm going to eat as much as possible because my parents are paying.
- Soon you can't / won't be able to go to a restaurant without having an experience!
- It opens / will open at 6:30.
- It's a Saturday night so it is / it's going to be crowded.
- I'll message / I'm messaging you as soon as I leave / I'll leave the theatre.

48

- 4 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Match the rules with the examples in Exercise 3. Use one of the examples twice.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

Future forms

- You use the Present Simple to talk about a fixed future event on a timetable, a schedule or a programme. ¹ 5
- You use the Present Continuous to talk about a future arrangement. You often mention a time, a date or a place. ² 2
- You use be going to to talk about a future intention – something you have already decided to do ³ 3 or a future prediction based on what you can see or what you know. ⁴ 6
- You use will/won't to talk about a spontaneous decision when you react to circumstances ⁵ 7 or a future prediction based on your opinion. ⁶ 4
- You use shall (NOT with) for offers and suggestions. ⁷ 1

Note: When you talk about the future, you use the present tense after the conjunctions if, when, as soon as, unless, before and after. ⁸ 7

- 5 Complete the messages with appropriate future forms of the verbs in brackets.

Hi. I'm out of the theatre.

How was it?

Brilliant. You must see it and it's selling out fast.

I know. I've already decided I ¹ 'm going to get (get) tickets tomorrow.

You can go with Max and Jenny – they ² are going (go) next Thursday.

Oh right. I ³ 'll call (call) Max. Anyway, let's do something now.

⁴ Shall I come (I/come) and meet you?

Yes, okay. I ⁵ 'll go (go) and wait for you in the café next to the theatre. Hurry up – I think it ⁶ closes (close) at 11 o'clock.

Right. I ⁷ 'll be (be) there in twenty minutes.

- 6 Complete the sentences with appropriate future forms of the verbs in brackets. Then rewrite them to make them true for you.

- My local shop opens (open) at 6 a.m. tomorrow.
- I've decided that I 'm going to stop (stop) eating meat.
- I'm really hungry so when I get (get) home from school, I 'm going to have (have) a snack.
- It's my birthday on Saturday and I 'm meeting up (meet up) with my friends for a pizza.
- I think supermarkets will disappear (disappear) as more people shop online.
- I don't feel very well. I think I 'm going to be (be) sick!

- 7 SPEAKING Talk about the things below.

- Your plans or intentions for this evening.
- An arrangement you've made for the weekend.
- Ideas or plans you have for your next holiday.

LISTENING

Matching

I can understand the main points of a narrative about a familiar topic.

- SPEAKING Look at the photos in the leaflet and decide whether they show healthy or unhealthy diets.
- Take The Healthy Diet Test and compare your results with a partner.

The Healthy Diet Test

Remember, the more ticks you get, the healthier you are.

1 I don't eat too much salt (e.g. in crisps and fast food).

2 I don't eat too much sugar (e.g. in sweets and fizzy drinks).

3 I am not difficult or fussy - I like most things.

4 I have a balanced diet - I eat a variety of different kinds of fresh food.

5 I eat fish at least once a week.

6 I don't eat red meat more than three times a week.

7 I feel well - I have plenty of energy.

8 I look well - my skin and my hair look healthy.

- 2.7 Listen to a nutritionist giving advice. Which statement in The Healthy Diet Test does she not mention at all? Doesn't mention 6.

EXAM FOCUS Matching

- 2.8 Listen to four people talking about their diets. Match statements A-E with speakers 1-4. There is one extra statement.

Speaker 1: B Speaker 2: C Speaker 3: A Speaker 4: E

The speaker's diet ...

- A is based on fresh local produce.
- B doesn't involve any cooking.
- C used to include lots of sweet things.
- D is based on Mediterranean produce.
- E changed when he/she became a teenager.

- 2.8 Answer the questions. Is it speaker 1, 2, 3 or 4? Listen again and check.

- Who couldn't become a vegetarian? 3
- Who has a lot of energy? 1
- Who supports animal rights? 4
- Who rarely eats the same thing as his/her family? 1
- Who doesn't use animal products? 4
- Who has realised that his/her favourite food is unhealthy? 2

- SPEAKING Discuss the questions in Exercise 5 about your family and friends.

My sister is a vegan and supports animal rights. She never eats the same things as the rest of my family, because they all love meat.

WORD STORE 4D Collocations

- 2.9 Complete the collocations in WORD STORE 4D with diet, food, meal and snack. Then listen, check and repeat.

- You are going to find out how well you know your partner's attitude to food.

- Write three true sentences and one false one to describe your attitude to food.
- Begin your sentences with I ... or My ... and include the collocations in Exercise 7.
- Swap your sentences with a partner.
- Guess which sentence is false.

*I think I have a very balanced diet.
I often have a quick snack between meals.
I have a hot meal every lunchtime.*

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

- 2.10 Listen and repeat the words. Notice that the vowels in green have the same sound in each group.

1 coffee orange cauliflower

2 beef beans sardines

3 grapes cakes potato

4 banana avocado tomato

5 cabbage spinach lettuce

- 2.11 Add the words in the box to the correct group in Exercise 9. Then listen, check and repeat.

READING

Open-ended questions

I can identify the key information in an extended article.

1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY and discuss the questions.

- Which facts do you find most shocking?
- Do you think the situation is similar or different in your country?

UK TODAY

- £13bn of food is thrown away each year.
- 71 percent of food waste comes from households.
- More than 50 percent of household food waste could have been eaten.
- Average UK household loses £470 per year due to avoidable food waste.
- 32 percent of children regularly skip breakfast before school.

2 SPEAKING Read the title of the article, look at the photos and discuss what you think it's about. Then read the article and check your ideas.

3 Match headings a–f with paragraphs 1–4 in the article. There are two extra headings.

- Everyone is welcome in The Real Junk Food cafés. 2
- Food past its sell-by date is consumed by animals.
- Children are taught how to make positive changes at home. 4
- One man's mission is to end food waste by feeding people, not bins. 1
- Food served in The Real Junk Food cafés is checked by officials. 3
- A healthy Australian diet and lifestyle is the best solution.

EXAM FOCUS Open-ended questions

4 Read the article again and answer questions 1–5.

- How did Adam Smith get the idea to set up The Real Junk Food Project?
- What is the point of selling meals on a pay-as-you-feel basis?
- What kind of work can volunteers do for The Real Junk Food Project?
- How can customers be sure that it's safe to eat at The Real Junk Food cafés?
- What does the Fuel for School initiative teach children about food?

- SPEAKING Discuss whether you would consider eating or working in one of The Real Junk Food cafés. Give reasons for your answer.

WORD STORE 4E Collocations

- 2.13 Complete WORD STORE 4E with the examples in blue in the article. Then listen, check and repeat.

7 SPEAKING Complete the questions with an appropriate noun from WORD STORE 4E. Then discuss them with a partner.

- Have you ever thought about working in the voluntary sector ?
- Would you eat anything that was past its sell-by date ?
- Do you do anything at home to recycle household waste ?
- Would you like a job in the catering industry ?
- Could you do anything at school to reduce energy consumption ?
- Are you worried that food waste has reached record levels ?

8 2.14 The article talks about reducing leftovers. Listen to three people talking about their favourite leftovers recipes. Answer the questions:

- What is the main ingredient in all three? Stale bread
- Have you ever made any of these dishes?
- Which recipe do you like best?

- 2.14 Use the words in the box to complete the instructions for the first recipe in Exercise 8. Then put the instructions in the correct order. Listen again and check.

(boil chop mix pour put slice)

Bread and butter pudding

- Heat some milk in a small pan. Don't boil it. 4
- Put the slices of bread and butter in a dish with some dried fruit. 2
- Chop up some ripe bananas and put them in the dish. 3
- Slice the stale bread and put butter on it. 1
- Mix three eggs and three large spoons of sugar with the warm milk. 5
- Pour the mixture over the bread and fruit and cook in the oven for forty-five minutes. 6

10 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- What happens to leftovers in your home?
- What could your family, your school or your country do to cut down on food waste?

We don't have a lot of leftovers in my home. If there are any, my brother and his friends eat them.

Exercise 2

A project to recycle food that would otherwise go to waste and to educate schoolchildren about food.

Exercise 4

- When he was travelling in Australia and saw how much food is wasted.
- The point is that nobody is excluded.
- They can collect food, they can help with the washing up.
- The cafés are inspected regularly.
- It teaches them the value of food so they can tackle food waste in their own homes.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Before doing ex. 2, students compare their descriptions of the photo on p. 51. Then they discuss what they think the text will be about. Feedback with the class and encourage students to give reasons for their ideas.

- In pairs, students write more examples for the collocations in ex. 6 using their own ideas (e.g. toxic waste, service sector, earlier date) and a dictionary, if necessary, then compare with other pairs.

The Real Junk Food Project

1 d

Adam Smith is the founder of THE REAL JUNK FOOD PROJECT. He is passionate about collecting food that has been discarded by supermarkets, and transforming this wasted food into healthy nutritious meals.

- 5 Smith worked as a head chef for ten years and thought of the idea for The Real Junk Food Project when he was travelling in Australia and witnessed the scale of food waste in the agricultural sector and catering industry. The global statistics are shocking: roughly one third of
- 10 food produced in the world for human consumption every year gets lost or wasted. Over 800 million people in the world (that's one in every nine people on Earth) do not have enough food to lead a healthy, active life. Smith founded The Real Junk Project to fill the
- 15 gap between hunger and excess food, and to raise awareness about how much food goes to waste.

“ Over 800 million people in the world (that's one in every nine people on Earth) do not have enough food... ”

2 a

- Smith started the project and opened the first Real Junk Food café in his hometown Leeds in 2013. Since then, the concept has been exported as far away as
- 20 Los Angeles and Brazil, Warsaw and Zurich. The idea is simple: volunteers go out and collect food from various sources: farms, restaurants, factories and supermarkets. Meals are produced and sold in cafés on a 'pay-as-you-feel' (PAYF) basis so that nobody is excluded.
- 25 The cafés are for the community in general, not only for the poor. Those who can afford it pay what they think the meal is worth, while those who can't afford to buy meals from the café can earn their meals by volunteering – for instance, they can help with the
- 30 washing up.

3 e

- There is some controversy around the fact that some of the food served in The Real Junk Food cafés is past its sell-by date. Smith explains that chefs inspect the food and use their judgement to decide whether it is
- 35 safe to eat. The food is cooked in accordance with official government standards, and cafés are inspected regularly by the environmental health department. They've fed over 10,000 people and nobody's been ill yet! Anything that isn't fit for human consumption goes
- 40 to feed animals or as compost on vegetable gardens.

4 c

- Smith believes that change needs to happen immediately and on a local level. Too many people are completely uneducated about food, and this was the incentive for setting up an educational branch of
- 45 The Real Junk Food Project called Fuel for School. The initiative has two aims – to get breakfast to every hungry schoolchild in the country and secondly, to teach children the value of food so that they can reduce the amount of leftovers in their own homes. The idea
- 50 is that if children know what they're eating, where it's come from and how it's prepared, they develop an engagement with food and life skills for the future.

GRAMMAR

Future Continuous and Future Perfect

I can use the Future Perfect and Continuous to talk about future actions.

1 SPEAKING Look at the photo and read the advert. Then discuss the questions.

- 1 Would you like to go to Cook Camp? Why?/Why not?
- 2 How many things listed in the advert can you make?
- 3 Which dishes would you like to learn how to make?

teenage cook camp

In a few years, you will have graduated from school and will be living in a student house with other people your age.

► WILL YOU KNOW HOW TO FEED YOURSELF?

At Cook Camp we believe that basic cooking skills are an important life skill but many young people will be leaving school and home without them.

► JOIN OUR WEEKEND COOK CAMP NOW

By the end of the weekend, you'll have learnt how to make: a pasta sauce vegetable soup pizza cakes and biscuits three chicken dishes an apple pie and much, much more!

2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and underline examples of the Future Continuous and Future Perfect in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6.17

Future Continuous and Future Perfect

- You use the Future Continuous to talk about longer unfinished actions in progress at a time in the future.
In a few years, you will be living in a student house.

Future Continuous: will + be + -ing

+ I'll be working.

- She won't be working.

? Will they be working?

Yes, they will./No, they won't.

- You use the Future Perfect to talk about an action that will be completed before a certain time in the future.

By 9 a.m. they'll have had their breakfast.

Future Perfect: will + have + past participle

+ You'll have finished.

- He won't have finished.

? Will they have finished?

Yes, they will./No, they won't.

3 Look at tomorrow's schedule at Cook Camp. Choose the correct option.

- 1 At 6 a.m. they'll be getting up / have got up.
- 2 By 9 a.m. they'll be having / have had their breakfast.
- 3 In the morning they won't be working / have worked in the kitchen.
- 4 By 3 p.m. they'll be finishing / have finished lunch.
- 5 In the afternoon they'll be cooking / have cooked in the kitchen.
- 6 By 11 p.m. they'll be ready for bed. They will be having / have had a busy day!

Cook Camp day 1

6 a.m.	get up, breakfast
9 a.m.	field work: planting, gardening
12 p.m.	lunch
3 p.m.	kitchen basics: chopping, peeling, cleaning; talk by a guest speaker
6 p.m.	dinner
9 p.m.	film or games
11 p.m.	bed

4 Write your schedule for tomorrow. Use the Future Continuous.

At 7 a.m. I'll be having breakfast.

5 SPEAKING Ask each other about your schedules for tomorrow. How similar or different are they?

A: Will you be having breakfast at 7 a.m.?

B: No, I won't. I'll be ...

6 Use the prompts to write about things you will or won't have done by the end of today.

By the end of today ...

1 eat/pieces of fruit

By the end of the day, I'll have eaten three or four pieces of fruit.

2 drink/water drunk 6 go into/shops been into

3 cook/meals cooked 7 spend/money spent

4 receive/text messages received 8 do/homework done

5 speak to/people spoken to

7 Use the prompts in Exercise 6 to make questions with you.

1 How many pieces of fruit will you have eaten by the end of the day?

8 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions in Exercise 7.

Grammar page 142

Exercise 7

By the end of today, how ...

- 1 many pieces of fruit will you have eaten?
- 2 much water will you have drunk?
- 3 many meals will you have cooked?
- 4 many text messages will you have received?
- 5 many people will you have spoken to?
- 6 many shops will you have been into?

USE OF ENGLISH

Question tags

I can use a range of question tags.

- 1 SPEAKING Imagine you and your friends want to order a pizza delivery. Discuss the questions.
 - How do you order? With an app.
 - Who do you order from? Regal Pizzas
 - What type of pizzas do you order?
gluten-free Margherita, spicy sausage, normal Margherita
- 2 2.15 Listen to a conversation between three friends in Pizza Delivery Part 1. How do they answer the questions in Exercise 1?
- 3 2.15 Complete the example sentences in LANGUAGE FOCUS I with the correct auxiliary verb. Then listen again and check.

LANGUAGE FOCUS I

Question tags

- You use question tags to change affirmative or negative statements into questions.
- You form question tags with an auxiliary/modal verb + pronoun.

Positive statement + negative tag

You've got the Food Delivery App, ¹ haven't you?

We can use Regal Pizzas, ² can't we?

Negative statement + positive tag

I'm not the only one, ³ am I?

We haven't had pizza for ages, ⁴ have we?

Special cases

That's unusual, ⁵ isn't it?

Let's order some pizzas, ⁶ shall we?

- 4 2.16 Listen to Pizza Delivery Part 2. What is the problem? Wrong address
- 5 2.16 Read LANGUAGE FOCUS II and complete the exchanges from Pizza Delivery Part 2. Does the intonation rise or fall? Listen again and check.

LANGUAGE FOCUS II

Intonation and meaning in question tags

- Tags which have rising intonation ↑ mean 'Please answer my question – I don't know if my statement is true'.
- Tags which have falling intonation ↓ mean 'Please agree with my statement – I think my statement is true'.

- Hi, you ordered food, didn't you ?
- That's everything, isn't it ? – rising
- You are Mr and Mrs Whitecross, aren't you ? – rising
- We don't look like Mr and Mrs anybody, do we ? – rising
- And this isn't 102 Corn Street, is it ? – falling

6 Work with a partner.

- Add an appropriate tag to statements 1–5.
- Think about your partner and decide whether you think the statement is true or you have no idea.
- Use appropriate intonation to practise the questions tags.

- You don't have any special dietary needs, do you ?
- There's a restaurant near your house, isn't there ?
- You didn't go out for a meal last Saturday, did you ?
- Your mum can cook really well, can't she ?
- You'd like to have a snack right now, wouldn't you ?

7 USE OF ENGLISH Choose the correct question tag, A, B or C to complete Pizza Delivery Part 3.

Jess: Listen, I'm so hungry. We could just take the curries, ¹ _____

Delivery 1: Mr and Mrs Whitecross wouldn't be too happy, ² _____

Olly: They won't know, ³ _____

Maggie: No, that's just wrong. We can wait a bit longer, ⁴ _____. Listen, number 102 is across the road. You won't get lost again now, ⁵ _____

Delivery 1: I'll try not to. Thanks!

Delivery 2: Hello. This is 120 Corn street, ⁶ _____

All: Yes, it is.

Olly: Have you got our pizzas?

- A shall we? B could we? C couldn't we?
- A are they? B would they? C would he?
- A will they? B would they? C won't they?
- A shall we? B can we? C can't we?
- A do you? B won't you? C will you?
- A isn't it? B is this? C is it?

8 2.17 Listen and check your answers in Exercise 7.

- Work in groups of three. Write a conversation between three friends deciding on a food delivery order. Your conversation must include the question tags in the box.

WRITING

A formal email asking for information and clarification

I can write a formal email to request information.

X Manchester
School of Cookery

Dear Miss Read,

We are delighted to inform you that you have won first prize in our 'Ideal School Meals Competition'. The menu you suggested represents an ideal combination of healthy and exciting food. Your prize is a place on one of our 'Teen Cuisine' weekend cookery courses for teenagers at the Manchester School of Cookery. For more information, please contact Diane Walsh at d_walsh@cookeryschool.com and include details of any cookery experience you may have so that we can place you in the correct group.

Yours sincerely,

Diane Walsh

- 1 Read the letter. Is it formal or informal? Think of three questions you would ask about the prize mentioned in the letter. Formal
- 2 Read Mia's reply. Does she ask any of your questions in Exercise 1?

¹Hi Diane,

Thanks for your letter telling me that I have won the competition.

²I'm very happy and I ³can't wait for the 'Teen Cuisine' experience. I am ⁴getting in touch to ask for more information about the course. I have lots of questions that I want to ask.

First, what are the dates and times of the next course? Also, do I need to bring anything with me? I do not have my own special clothing or kitchen stuff.

You asked about cookery experience and in fact, I have never done a cookery course before. However, we did have some cookery lessons at school and I do quite a lot of cooking at home. You mentioned placing me in the correct group, but ⁵you didn't say which levels are available.

Thank you once again for choosing my menu as the winner. ⁶Write back and answer my questions soon.

Yours sincerely,

Mia Read

- 3 Parts of Mia's email are too informal. Match the words in purple in the email with the more suitable formal alternatives below.

- 1 equipment – stuff
- 2 informing – telling
- 3 would like – want
- 4 a number of – lots of
- 5 Thank you – Thanks
- 6 pleased – happy

- 4 Replace the underlined phrases in the email with the more formal alternatives below.

- a I hope to hear from you ... (6)
- b I am ... (2)
- c could you clarify ...? (5)
- d Dear Ms Walsh, (1)
- e contacting you ... (4)
- f I am looking forward to (3)

 - abbreviations: Thanks = Thank you
 - informal phrases: lots of = several, a number of
I can't wait for = ²I am looking forward to
 - contractions: I'm = ³I am
- In the first paragraph, refer to the letter/email/advert you are responding to and say why you are writing.
Thank you for your letter/email informing me that .../ regarding ...
I am ⁴contacting you to enquire about/ask for ...
- If something is unclear, ask for clarification.
⁵Could you clarify which levels are available?
Could you confirm/explain when/where/what/how/whether/if ...?
- In the final paragraph, mention that you would like a reply.
I look forward to receiving your reply soon.
⁶I hope to hear from you soon.
- Close the email politely.

7 Complete the LANGUAGE FOCUS with direct questions from Mia's email.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Indirect questions

You can use indirect questions to be more polite:

Direct: ¹What are the dates and times of the next course?

Indirect: Could you tell me what the dates and the times of the next course are?

Direct: ²Do I need to bring anything with me?

Indirect: I would also like to know whether I need to bring anything else.

Note: The word order in indirect questions is the same as in affirmative statements.

You use if/whether for yes/no questions. You don't use do, does or did.

8 Write indirect questions using the question beginnings in brackets.

- 1 What time do I have to arrive?
(Could you tell me ...)
- 2 Is the school near the station?
(Can you tell me ...)
- 3 How many students are there on the course?
(I would like to know ...)
- 4 Do you offer accommodation on campus?
(Could you tell me ...)
- 5 Do students get a certificate at the end?
(I would like to know ...)

9 Rewrite Mia's email request for further information using indirect questions where possible.

Dear Ms Walsh,

Thank you for your email and for sending details of the different kinds of accommodation on offer. I've thought about all the possibilities, and I've decided that I would like to stay with a host family, please. I've got a few questions about meals. Will I have breakfast and dinner with the host family or only breakfast? I am vegetarian so can the host family provide vegetarian meals?

As for the payment to the host family, do I have to pay in advance? And if so, can I do a bank transfer, or would they prefer cash?

I'd like to cycle to school from the host family, but that depends on the distance. How far is the host family from the school? Alternatively, is there is a bus?

I hope to hear from you soon.

Yours sincerely,

Mia Read

A famous chocolate company have chosen you as the winner of their online competition to suggest an interesting new flavour for their chocolate. The prize is a visit for you and a friend to their chocolate factory in Switzerland. Write an email and:

- thank the company for choosing your suggestion as the winner,
- say how you feel about the prize,
- ask about dates, travel arrangements and accommodation,
- ask for confirmation that your friend will also travel and stay for free.

Exercise 8

- 1 Could you tell me what time I have to arrive?
- 2 Can you tell me whether/if the school is near the station?
- 3 I would like to know how many students there are on the course.
- 4 Could you tell me whether/if you offer accommodation on campus?
- 5 I would like to know whether/if students get a certificate at the end.

SPEAKING

In a restaurant

I can use indirect questions in a simple conversation on a familiar topic.

- 1 SPEAKING Imagine you are in Mario's restaurant. Look at the lunch menu. What would you choose? What questions would you ask?

Mario's lunch menu

2 courses
€10

Main course

Pizza Margherita	Mario Special Pasta
Cheeseburger and chips	Soup of the day
Mario Special Salad

Dessert

Chocolate mousse
Fruit salad and ice cream
Cheese and biscuits

SPEAKING FOCUS

Ordering food

- Can I order, please?
- Do you have any vegetarian dishes?
- Can I have chips with that?
- Could I have the bill, please?

Asking for information with indirect questions

- Can you tell me what the soup is?
- Can you tell me what the Mario Special Salad is?
- Do you know what the pasta sauce is?
- I'd like to know if there are onions in it.

- 2 2.18 Listen to a conversation between Alex and a waiter. What are the problems? What solution do they find?

The customer is vegetarian and allergic to onions. The solution is a salad without chicken and chips.

- 3 2.18 Complete the conversation with phrases in the SPEAKING FOCUS. Listen again and check.

Alex: Excuse me – ¹Can I order, please? ?

Waiter: Certainly. What can I get you?

Alex: ²Can you tell me what the Mario Special Salad is?

Waiter: Sure. It's a salad with lettuce, red peppers and chicken.

Alex: Oh. ³Do you have any vegetarian dishes?

Waiter: Vegetarian? What about pasta?

Alex: ⁴Do you know what the pasta sauce is?

Waiter: Yes, it's a delicious salmon sauce.

Alex: Oh, I don't eat fish.

Waiter: You don't eat fish? Can I suggest a very good vegetarian restaurant, just five minutes from here?

Alex: No, it's OK. ⁵Can you tell me what the soup is?

Waiter: Ah, it's vegetable soup today! Would you like the soup?

Alex: Er maybe. But first ⁶I'd like to know if there are onions in it.

Waiter: Yes, it's a vegetable soup. There are onions in it. Is that a problem?

Alex: Yes, I'm sorry, but I'm allergic to onions.

Waiter: Right. How about the salad without chicken?

Alex: Yes, salad sounds good. ⁷Can I have chips with that?

Waiter: Yes, of course. Is that everything?

Alex: Yes, thanks.

...

Waiter: Would you like to see the dessert menu?

Alex: No thanks. ⁸Could I have the bill, please?

- 4 2.19 Listen to the end of the conversation. Why does the waiter change his attitude to Alex?

Because she is writing a review of this restaurant for her food blog.

- 5 SPEAKING Write indirect questions using the question beginnings in brackets. Then ask and answer the questions.

- What's your favourite fruit? (Can you tell me ...)
- Where's an Italian restaurant near your house? (Do you know ...)
- Is there anything you don't eat? (I'd like to know ...)
- Are you a good cook? (I'd like to know ...)
- Where can I get the best ice cream? (Can you tell me ...)
- Who's the fussiest eater you know? (Could you tell me ...)

- 6 Follow the instructions below to prepare a restaurant dialogue. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS and phrases in the dialogue in Exercise 3 to help you.

Student A: You are a customer in a restaurant. You're a vegetarian and you're allergic to eggs and mushrooms. You don't like peppers very much. Ask the waiter for information about: pizza, pasta, soup and salad. Explain why you can't eat some dishes.

Student B: You are a waiter. Take Student A's order. Answer Student A's questions about the dishes and make suggestions.

- pizza: ham, eggs, tomatoes, cheese
- pasta: prawn sauce
- soup: mushroom
- salad: chicken, green beans, lettuce, peppers

- 7 SPEAKING Practise the dialogue and act it out. Take it in turns to be A and B.

ROLE-PLAY 18 In a restaurant

18 Watch the video and practise. Then role-play your dialogue.

Exercise 5

- Can you tell me what your favourite fruit is?
- Do you know where an Italian restaurant near your house is?
- I'd like to know if there's anything you don't eat.
- I'd like to know if you're a good cook.
- Can you tell me where I can get the best ice cream?
- Could you tell me who the fussiest eater you know is?

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Ask pairs to write some gap-fill sentences to practise words from Unit 4, e.g. I have a _ diet. I don't eat meat. (vegetarian). I don't like cooked food, I prefer _ food. (raw). Pairs exchange and complete the sentences.

• Students work in teams. They prepare clues to words from the unit. Teams take it in turns to read out their clues for the others to guess, e.g. It's a vegetable. It's brown when it's cooked. You often eat it on pizza. (mushroom). It's the opposite of 'spicy'. (mild). To chop something up means to cut it into small pieces – true or false? (True).

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

- Complete the adjectives in the sentences. The first letter of each adjective is given.
 - Eating raw meat is not safe. Always make sure that it is cooked all the way through.
 - I find sparkling water more refreshing than normal water in hot weather.
 - We always use wholemeal bread for sandwiches because it is tastier than white bread.
 - I hate the bitter taste of coffee. I always drink it with milk.

NO MORE SHOPPING?

How to decide which service is best for you?

One of the hottest trends in the food industry is delivering boxes of fresh food to people's homes. The problem right now is the large number of new companies offering this type of service. In fact, there are so many new delivery services that it is increasingly hard to know which to choose.

Best for the enthusiastic cook who can't get to the shops.

One growing trend is delivering all the fresh ingredients you need to make a three-course meal. You'll receive the correct amount of ingredients and step-by-step instructions. For those who have little time for shopping but like to cook, this can be an ideal solution.

A positive move in several ways but with a risk.

Another option is to get a week's supply of local, organic vegetables, eggs and even meat delivered to your door. This is great for the environment, since no chemicals are used, little transport is needed and the food is good for you. The downside is that what they deliver sometimes depends on what is available, so you don't always get what you want. Even the freshest spinach leaves are no use if your family refuse to eat them.

A less frequent and longer-lasting option.

One other approach, which has been around longer, is having specific goods such as frozen food, dairy products or meat brought to your home. A company which delivers frozen vegetables and meat has been operating in the US for decades, and many households rely on the service. It is certainly convenient, and deliveries do not happen so often which is also a bonus.

- 1 What is the main problem with food box delivery services? There are too many services to choose from.
- 2 What is included in the three-course meal boxes? The correct amount of ingredients and step-by-step instructions.
- 3 What are the benefits of local vegetable boxes? They are great for the environment.
- 4 Why is frozen food delivery popular? It is convenient and deliveries do not happen often.
- 5 Which service would you choose for yourself and why?

SPEAKING

8 Look at the photos of some people eating out. In pairs, take turns to compare the photos and discuss where you would prefer to eat with your friends.

B

9 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 Why do you think the people in the first photo are buying food in the street instead of going to a restaurant?
- 2 How do you feel about throwing away food?
- 3 Would you like to work as a cook or a waiter? Why?/Why not?

WRITING

10 Read part of an email you have received from the people running a TV cookery competition and write your reply.

We are really glad that you are interested in entering the competition. Please email us and tell us about your cooking experience and any queries you might have about dates, what to bring with you, clothes to wear, etc.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Articles: no article, a/an or *theI can use the definite, indefinite and zero article.*1 SPEAKING Discuss questions 1–3. Then read the text and check your ideas.

- 1 What was the world population in 1900? What is it now? What will it be in 2050? 1.65 billion / 7 billion / 9.2 billion
- 2 What is the biggest change in where people live? More people live in cities than in the countryside.
- 3 What are 'megacities'? Cities with more than 10 million inhabitants.

The world's growing problem

A famous scientist said recently that there's a growing problem in the world, and the problem is people – there are just too many of us! Because of economic growth, food has improved, healthcare has improved and people are living longer. During the twentieth century, the population of the world grew from 1.65 billion to 6 billion. Today it is 7.6 billion and by 2050 it is predicted to reach 9.7 billion. For the first time in history, more people live in cities than in the countryside. Across the globe there are thirty-one megacities – cities with more than 10 million inhabitants – and by 2030 the United Nations predicts the total will be forty-one. Megacities are more common in Asia, particularly in India and China. The biggest megacity is still Tokyo with a population of 38,140,000.

LISTENING

Multiple choice

I can understand the key points of a radio interview on a familiar topic.

1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY and discuss the questions.

- 1 What are your top three environmental worries?
- 2 What do you recycle, turn off and do less to protect the environment?

UK TODAY

Did you know that two-thirds of British teenagers admit they can do more to protect the environment?

What are British teenagers' top three environmental worries?

- poor air quality
- global warming
- not enough recycling

What do British teenagers say they can do?

- recycle more
- turn off unnecessary lights
- spend less time in the shower

2 SPEAKING Look at the features in the box. Which would you expect an eco-school to have? Use your dictionary if necessary.

- solar panels
- no textbooks, only tablets
- Technology lessons on renewable energy
- low-energy light bulbs
- bicycle rack
- Science lessons on global warming
- a large car park
- recycling bins
- an organic vegetable garden

READING

Multiple choice

I can understand an extract from a travel book and some survival advice.

- 1 SPEAKING Imagine you are camping in a mountainous or forested region in your country.
- 1 Which of the following might be a problem?
- (ants bears bees bulls mosquitoes snakes wolves)
- 2 Which of the following might be useful?
- (a backpack a flashlight insect repellent a sharp knife nail clippers pepper spray a sleeping bag sunscreen)
- 3 What other potential problems or useful items can you think of?
- 2 Read both texts. According to Text 2, what did the campers in Text 1 do wrong?

EXAM FOCUS Multiple choice

- 3 Read Texts 1 and 2 again. For questions 1–5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D.

Text 1

- 1 Bill and Stephen went into their tents because
- A they'd finished all their food.
B tiny insects were annoying them.
C the weather made them sleepy.
D they wanted to get in their sleeping bags.
- 2 Bill woke up because
- A his friend was snoring loudly.
B he found a nest of ants in his tent.
C he heard something moving in the bushes.
D he'd left his backpack outside the tent.
- 3 Bill and Stephen
- A were equally alarmed about the noise.
B had heard a skunk in their camp.
C both saw the animal's eyes in the dark.
D were armed against animal attacks.

Text 2

- 4 If you meet a bear in the wild
- A turn around and walk away.
B shout and scream loudly.
C aim a gun at the bear's head.
D be ready to use pepper spray.
- 5 The text focuses on
- A useful ways of avoiding bears in the wild.
B the different weapons you can use against bears.
C avoiding and defending yourself against bears.
D territories where bear encounters are frequent.
- 4 2.30 Listen to the last part of the book extract (Text 1). What animal caused the disturbance?
A group of bears or other animals.

- 5 SPEAKING Describe a time when you had an unexpected encounter with an animal. What happened?

- 6 2.31 Complete the lists using the words in blue in the texts. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 a clearing 2 a path 3 a pond 4 a spring
5 a trail

Trees:

- 1 branches 2 leaves 3 roots 4 a trunk

Animals:

- 1 a bee 2 a fox 3 a hedgehog 4 a skunk
5 a squirrel

Hunting:

- 1 a predator 2 prey

- 7 Complete the email with words in Exercise 6.

We had a great weekend. We went camping in the forest. During the day we hiked a ¹ trail through the forest. We found a lovely ² clearing in the trees for a picnic. We were close to a ³ spring, so we refilled our water bottles. It was very peaceful but suddenly there was a loud noise of breaking ⁴ branches. I imagined a big hungry bear hunting its ⁵ prey, but then I remembered we weren't in bear territory! Maybe it was another hiker.

- 8 SPEAKING Describe one of the following activities to your partner. Use words from Exercise 6.

The last time I went ... a) camping ... b) for a picnic ...
c) for a walk in the woods ...

WORD STORE 5E Verb phrases

- 9 2.32 Complete WORD STORE 5E with the underlined verbs in the texts. Then listen, check and repeat.

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to do Show What You Know in the WB, p. 66.

Text 1  2.29

We hiked till five and camped beside a spring in a small, grassy clearing in the trees just off the trail. Because it was our first day back on the trail, we had plenty of food, including cheese and bread that had to be eaten before they went off or were shaken to bits in our backpacks, so we rather gorged ourselves, then sat around chatting lazily until numerous little flying insects drove us into our tents. It was perfect sleeping weather, cool enough to need a sleeping bag but warm enough that you could 10 sleep in your underwear, and I was looking forward to a long night's sleep – indeed was enjoying a long night's sleep – when, at some dark hour, there was a sound nearby that woke me up suddenly. Normally, I slept through everything – through thunderstorms, through 15 Katz's snoring – so something big enough to wake me was unusual. There was a sound of breaking branches, something heavy pushing through the trees, and then a kind of loud breathing noise.

I sat straight up. Every neuron in my brain was awake. 20 I reached for my knife, then realized I had left it in my backpack, just outside the tent. After many quiet nights, I was no longer worried about having to defend myself in the night. There was another noise, quite near.

'Stephen, you awake?' I whispered.

25 'Yup,' he replied in a tired but normal voice.

'What was that?'

'How should I know.'

'It sounded big.'

'Everything sounds big in the woods.'

30 This was true. Once a skunk had come through our camp and it had sounded like a stegosaurus. There was another noise and then the sound of drinking at the spring. It was having a drink, whatever it was.

I moved on my knees to the foot of the tent, carefully 35 opened the entrance and looked out, but it was pitch black. As quietly as I could, I brought in my backpack and with the light of a small flashlight searched through it for my knife. When I found it and opened it I was shocked at how small it looked. It was perfectly suitable for, say, 40 putting butter on pancakes, but useless for defending oneself against 400 pounds of hungry bear.

Carefully, very carefully, I climbed from the tent and put on the flashlight, which shone a disappointingly feeble light. Something about fifteen or twenty feet away looked 45 up at me. I couldn't see anything at all of its shape or size – only two shining eyes. It went silent, whatever it was, and stared back at me.

'Stephen,' I whispered at his tent, 'did you pack a knife?'

'No.'

50 'Have you got anything sharp at all?'

He thought for a moment. 'Nail clippers.'

Text 2

HOW TO SURVIVE A BEAR ATTACK

You're more likely to die from a bee sting than you are to be killed by a bear, but in the unlikely event of meeting a bear in the wild, here are a few tips.

5 The best way to survive a bear encounter is to never have one. This is not too difficult because most bears just want to be left alone.

Bears often want your food, so if you're camping in bear territory, make sure you store 10 your food carefully, at least 100 metres from your tent.

To avoid surprising a bear in the wild, make a noise as you walk, sing loudly, clap your hands.

Never get between a female bear and her cubs.

15 If you do come face to face with a bear, don't turn your back and run – you're acting like prey.

Stay calm and walk backwards and slowly take out your pepper spray – it's better than a gun.

If the bear runs towards you, aim the spray just 20 above the bear's head. It almost always works!

If the bear keeps coming towards you, lie down on your front with your hands over the back of your neck to protect it, and pretend to be dead. Don't move for at least twenty minutes.

GRAMMAR

Non-defining relative clauses

I can use non-defining relative clauses to add information.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- 1 What are your favourite/least favourite animals? Why?
- 2 What good or bad experiences have you had with animals?

2 Read Story 1. How did the elephant save the rancher's life?

It placed him under a tree, out of the sun, and guarded him.

Story 1

The elephant and the rancher

A rancher, who was working in the bush, came across a small herd of about twenty elephants. The leader of the herd, which is usually the largest, oldest and most aggressive female elephant, attacked him and he fell off his horse. Later, rescuers found the rancher, whose leg was broken. The same elephant was standing over him. The rancher told his rescuers that the elephant had lifted him with her trunk and placed him under a tree, where he was protected from the sun. For the rest of the day she watched over him, brushing him gently with her trunk every so often.

Exercise 6

- (2) ..., which was five metres long, ...
- (3) ..., who was surfing close by, ...
- (4) ..., whose right leg was now in the shark's mouth, ...
- (5) ..., which had been playing in the waves nearby.
- (6) ..., where surgeons managed to save his leg.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Cross out the four non-defining relative clauses in blue in the text. Does the story make sense without them? Yes.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6.22

Non-defining relative clauses

You use non-defining relative clauses to give extra information about the person or thing you are talking about. The sentence makes sense without it.

A rancher, who was working in the bush, came across a small herd ...

Note: Start and end a non-defining relative clause with a comma. Use relative pronouns who, which, where and whose but don't use that.

4 2.33 Complete Story 2 with relative clauses a–f. Then listen and check. How did the gorilla save the boy's life?

- a whose baby was still in her arms
- b which was called Binti Jua
- c who is now twenty-one years old
- d where he made a complete recovery
- e who was unconscious
- f where a female gorilla was feeding her baby

She saved his life by placing him near the door.

The gorilla and the toddler

An American boy, ¹ c, owes his life to a gorilla at Brookfield Zoo. When he was three years old his family took him to the zoo. He wanted a better view of the gorillas so he climbed a wall and fell six metres into the gorilla cage, ² f. The gorilla, ³ b, went over to the boy, ⁴ e. Then, the gorilla, ⁵ a, lifted the boy up gently and carried him to the door. The boy spent four days in hospital, ⁶ d. Binti Jua is still at Brookfield Zoo near Chicago.

5 Read the extra information 1–6 from Story 3. What do you think happened? Read the story and check your ideas.

- 1 Todd Endris lived next to the beach.
- 2 The shark was five metres long.
- 3 Todd's friend was surfing close by.
- 4 Todd's right leg was now in the shark's mouth.
- 5 Dolphins had been playing in the waves nearby.
- 6 Surgeons from the hospital managed to save his leg.

The surfer, the shark and the dolphins

It was a perfect day for surfing off the coast of California. Todd Endris, who lived next to the beach, was out on his surfboard. Without warning, something hit him from under the water. Todd knew immediately that it was a shark. He got back on his board but the shark (2) bit him on the back. Todd's friend (3) saw the huge shark and at first thought it was a whale. Todd (4) was kicking the shark with his free leg, and didn't see the dolphins (5). Suddenly, the shark let go of his leg. The dolphins had surrounded the injured surfer and were protecting him from the shark. Three friends helped Todd get back on his board and reach the beach. A helicopter transported him to hospital. (6) Six weeks later Todd was back in the water.

6 2.34 In pairs, rewrite the story including the extra information in Exercise 5.

- Find appropriate places in the text to add extra information 1–6.
- Rewrite the extra information as a suitable relative clause.
- Listen to the completed story and check your answers.

7 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- 1 Which of the stories do you like best?
- 2 Which wild animals are you most afraid of?

USE OF ENGLISH

Prepositions at the end of clauses

I can use prepositions at the end of clauses.

Exercise 2

Reporter 1 in California reporting on a forest fire.

Reporter 2 in Florida reporting on a hurricane.

Exercise 3

1 A tropical storm flattened the crops which people rely on.

2 What are the public services being criticised for?

3 These situations are very difficult to deal with.

4 The firefighters don't know which ones to focus on.

5 Which island is it heading for?

6 Some people don't have anybody they can stay with.

7 Who are those people getting help from?

Exercise 6

2 What type of music do you listen to?

3 What do you spend (most) money on?

4 What kind of company do you want to work for?

5 Who would you borrow money from?

6 Who did you have lunch with?

1 SPEAKING Look at the photos and discuss the questions.

- 1 What natural disasters do the photos illustrate?
The photos show: a tropical storm/typhoon, a volcanic eruption, a forest fire.
- 2 What other natural disasters can you name?
- 3 Which natural disasters are common in your country?
- 4 Have you ever experienced a natural disaster? What happened?

2 2.35 Listen to a radio programme called Violent Earth. Where are the two reporters and what natural disasters are they reporting on?

3 2.35 Put the words in the sentences and questions from the programme in the correct order. Then listen again and check. What type of word comes at the end of each sentence or question?

- 1 the crops / A tropical storm / which / on / flattened / rely / people
- 2 are / being criticised / What / for / the public services / ?
- 3 with / These situations / very difficult / to deal / are
- 4 The firefighters / which / don't know / on / ones / to focus
- 5 for / Which island / heading / it / is / ?
- 6 people / anybody / with / don't / Some / can / stay / they / have
- 7 those people / getting / Who / from / are / help / ?

4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and add two more examples from Exercise 3.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Prepositions at the end of clauses

- In relative clauses
Not everybody has somebody (who) they can stay with.
¹ A tropical storm flattened the crops which people rely on.
- In wh-questions
Who are those people getting help from?
² Which island is it heading for?
- In infinitive structures
These situations are very difficult to deal with.

5 Complete the sentences with your own ideas and the phrases in the box to make them true for you. Then compare them with a partner.

agree with believe in care about focus on happen to wait for

- 1 Animal welfare is something which I really care about.
- 2 ... is somebody who I nearly always agree with.
- 3 ... is something which I've never believed in.
- 4 ... is somebody who I always have to wait for.
- 5 ... is something which I find difficult to focus on.
- 6 ... is somebody who strange things always happen to!

6 SPEAKING Write questions for these answers using the verb in brackets and an appropriate preposition. Then ask each other the questions and give your own answers.

- 1 A: _____ (worry)? B: Global warming.
What sort of things do you worry about?
- 2 A: _____ (listen)? B: Heavy metal.
- 3 A: _____ (spend money)? B: Clothes.
- 4 A: _____ (want to work)? B: A technology company.
- 5 A: _____ (borrow money)? B: My sister.
- 6 A: _____ (have lunch)? B: My classmates.

7 USE OF ENGLISH Complete the text with one word in each gap.

The natural world is something I care ¹ about and one of the things I'm most worried about is the increase in the number of forest fires near where I live. It's not something you can ever get used ² to and it takes a long time for nature to recover ³ from the effects. I think the government needs to ⁴ focus on the causes of the fires. That's the first thing they should spend money ⁵ on.

WRITING

A 'for and against' essay

I can present and support arguments in a simple discursive essay.

- 1 SPEAKING Discuss which of these things it would be most difficult to live without.
(electricity medicine school shops running water)
- 2 Read the essay on contacting rainforest tribes and answer the questions.
 - 1 How many arguments for and against the topic does the writer give? two arguments for and two arguments against
 - 2 What is your personal opinion on the topic in the essay?

- 1 Nowadays, many of us live in a world of high technology and instant communication. For most people, it is hard to believe that, in places like the Amazonian rainforest, there are still tribes who have never had contact with the outside world. Some people think that we should make contact with such groups, but others believe they should be left alone.
- 2 On the one hand, there are several arguments for making contact. First of all, the people in these tribes could enjoy a better standard of living. For example, they could get access to electricity and running water. Furthermore, their young people could go to school and benefit from a modern education. They would probably be amazed to learn about modern technology and life in other parts of the world.
- 3 On the other hand, there are also many arguments against making contact. Firstly, after contact, many tribal people suffer and die from diseases that do not exist in the forests where they live. Next, history shows that they often join larger society at the lowest level. For instance, many become beggars or tourist 'attractions'.
- 4 To sum up, there are clearly strong arguments for and against making contact with rainforest tribes. Personally, I think they should be left alone to continue their traditional way of life until they choose to make contact with the outside world.

- 3 Look at the essay again. In which paragraphs does the writer:
 - a give a personal opinion? 4
 - b present arguments against the topic? 3
 - c introduce both sides of the issue? 1
 - d present arguments for the topic? 2
 - e make some general, historical or factual comments about the topic? 1
 - f make a statement summarising the main arguments? 4
 - g support arguments with examples 2, 3

68

- 4 Read the WRITING FOCUS and check your answers in Exercise 3.

WRITING FOCUS

A 'for and against' essay

- Paragraph 1 – Introduction
Begin with general comments or facts about the topic.
End with a statement that mentions both sides of the issue.
- Paragraph 2 – Arguments for Present two or three arguments for the topic.
Include some examples to support arguments.
- Paragraph 3 – Arguments against
Write a similar paragraph presenting and supporting arguments against the topic.
- Paragraph 4 – Conclusion
Make a summarising statement.
Add your personal opinion.

- 5 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and complete the examples with the linkers in purple in the essay.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Linkers

- List arguments: ¹ First of all, Firstly, Secondly, ² Furthermore, In addition, Finally
- Give examples: For example, ³ For instance
- Show contrast: However, ⁴ On the one hand, On the other hand
- Give a personal opinion: In my opinion, ⁵ Personally, I think
- Introduce a conclusion: In conclusion, ⁶ To sum up

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 25 A 'for and against' essay (15 min.) pp. 210, 246
- Ask students to read the essay again and write a plan, e.g. Paragraph 1: introduce the idea; Paragraph 2: arguments for (people in the tribes could enjoy better living standards, young people could get an education, etc.). Discuss with the class how the plan could be used for a 'for and against' essay.

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to bring in posters about environmental issues.

6 Read this short essay discussing tourism. Choose the correct linkers.

Tourist trap

As travel to remote and exotic locations becomes more affordable, there is a growing demand for trips to developing countries that haven't been considered as holiday destinations until now. This can have both positive and negative effects on the countries.

7 Add appropriate linkers to the social media post below.

My parents booked a holiday to a Caribbean island which has been badly damaged by a tropical storm. ¹*In my opinion*, they should have cancelled their holiday. ²*Personally*, I think it's wrong to relax on a beach while local people are rebuilding their homes. ³*Furthermore/In addition*, there may be a shortage of water and food, and tourists will make matters worse.

Some people disagree. ⁴*Firstly/First of all*, they say that those destinations may rely on tourism income.

⁵*For instance/For example* hotels, restaurants and taxi drivers will struggle to survive. ⁶*Secondly*, people want to go back to normal as soon as possible.

Some tourists may want to help. ⁷*However*, it's important that they do it through an organisation.

⁸*To sum up/Finally/In conclusion*, my parents should do some research before they go and find out what the local people think.

COMMENTS

I agree with you! Your parents should cancel their holiday and send the money to the people who have lost everything.

8 You are going to write an essay on the topic of keeping animals in zoos. Mark the arguments F (for) or A (against).

- 1 There are opportunities for research. (F)
- 2 The animals suffer from stress and depression. (A)
- 3 It is very difficult to recreate the animals' natural environments. (A)
- 4 Endangered species can be protected. (F)

9 Match the arguments in Exercise 8 with supporting examples below.

- a For instance, birds kept in zoos can never fly freely like wild birds. (3)
- b For example, we have learned more about genetics from studying zoo animals. (1)
- c For instance, some species which used to be wild are now only found in zoos. (4)
- d For example, some animals become stressed because of contact with zoo visitors. (2)

10 Write two more arguments for or against keeping animals in zoos. Write supporting examples.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

11 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in Exercises 8 and 9, and the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Write an essay in which you present arguments for and against keeping animals in zoos.

SPEAKING

Expressing and justifying an opinion

I can describe a picture and express and justify my opinion about it.

- 1 SPEAKING Look at the logos and discuss which one you would choose and why.

- 2 2.36 Listen to the head teacher and two students discussing the three logos. Which logo do they choose and why?

Logo 3 because glasses suggest learning and they need the words 'Eco School'.

- 3 2.36 Read the SPEAKING FOCUS and complete the dialogue with one word in each gap. Then listen again and check.

HT: So, what do you think of these three designs?

S1: Personally, I think they're all great.

The three logos focus ¹ on the environment. Logos 2 and 3 are attractive and amusing. But I think the best option would be logo number 1 ² because it has a serious message about learning.

S2: I agree, but the ³ problem with logo number 1 is that it doesn't mention 'Eco School'. Logo number 2 looks attractive, but it doesn't ⁴ illustrate school or learning. So ⁵ I'd choose number 3 because it's clever and simple.

S1: Personally, I wouldn't ⁶ go for number 3. I'd definitely ⁷ choose logo number 1 because it's ⁸ more effective ⁹ than the other two, and the message is clear. The words suggest that we are responsible for the future of the planet.

HT: ¹⁰ Out of these three logos, I'd choose logo number 3. I ¹¹ wouldn't choose the logo showing vegetables because it doesn't look serious. I like logo number 3 for two reasons. ¹² Firstly, because the glasses suggest learning and ¹³ secondly, because I think we need the words 'Eco School' in the logo. So let's go for number 3. I'll call the designer ...

Exercise 4

- Posters 1, 2 and 3 show the effects of global warming.
- Posters 1 and 3 are not as shocking as Poster 2.
- Poster 2 is effective but I prefer Poster 1.
- The problem with Poster 2 is that its meaning is not clear.
- The reason I don't like Poster 2 is because it's frightening.

SPEAKING FOCUS

Describing, comparing and contrasting pictures

The three pictures show/focus on/illustrate ...
Picture X is/looks interesting/attractive, but ...
Picture X is more ... than the other pictures.
Picture X isn't as ... as the other pictures.

Choosing one of the options and justifying the choice

I think the best option would be X because ...
I prefer/I'd go for/I'd (definitely) choose picture X because ...
I like the (first/second) picture best for two reasons. Firstly, because ... and secondly, because ...
Out of these three pictures, I'd choose picture X because ...

Explaining reasons for rejecting other options

The problem with picture X is that ...
Personally, I wouldn't go for X because ...
I wouldn't choose the picture showing ... because ...
The reason I don't like X is because ...

- 4 Rewrite the sentences about the posters below using the words in brackets. Which sentences do you agree with?

- Posters 1, 2 and 3 illustrate the effects of global warming. (show)
- Poster 2 is more shocking than Posters 1 and 3. (not as ... as)
- Poster 2 is effective but I like Poster 1 better. (prefer)
- The meaning of Poster 2 is not clear. (problem)
- I don't like Poster 2 because it's frightening. (reason)

- 5 SPEAKING You are organising a Stop global warming! campaign at school and need to choose a poster to advertise it. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

- Choose the poster in Exercise 4 which, in your opinion, is most appropriate and support your choice with some reasons.
- Explain why you have rejected other options.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Students work in pairs. They write anagrams for their partner, e.g. LWEHA (whale), MECIALT HACNEG (climate change), OLARS NESALP (solar panels). They can tell their partner the lesson number or topic to help them.

• Students prepare gap-fill sentences in pairs, e.g. A ___ island is a place where nobody lives. (desert), or ___ lightbulbs are good for the environment. (low-energy). They exchange with another pair and complete the sentences.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

- 1 Complete the sentences with the words in the box. There are two extra words.

(calm fast heavy long low remote strong)

- It is dangerous to swim here because of the strong current which could pull you out to sea.
- Going kayaking on such a fast-flowing river is exciting but it needs a lot of skill.
- North Keeling is such a remote island that few people have ever been there.
- The beach is so much bigger at low tide that it takes ages to walk down to the water.
- It was such a calm sea that our boat hardly moved up and down at all.

- 2 Choose the correct option.

- I can't believe you slept away / through / along the storm. The wind was really loud!
- It is important to develop returnable / renewable / reusable energy instead of depending on oil, gas and coal.
- It is obvious that climate turn / exchange / change is happening, but not everyone agrees on the cause.
- We were really scared when we went / came / turned face to face with a bear in the forest.
- Because of global heating / changing / warming, storms are becoming more frequent and dangerous.

- 3 Complete the sentences with a, an, the or Ø (no article).

- We were about to start our hike when we saw that a tree had fallen across the trail.
- In the 20th century, almost fifty percent of the global population lived in Ø cities.
- In fact, Ø scientists expect a major earthquake to hit Ø Los Angeles soon.
- There was no Ø running water in the village where my granddad lived as a child.
- Ø Europe isn't the largest continent in the world.

- 4 Add the information in brackets to the sentences using non-defining relative clauses.

- Tokyo is the capital of Japan. (It is a megacity.)
Tokyo, which is a megacity, is the capital of Japan.
- My friend Jenny knows a lot about environmental issues. (Her mother is a scientist.)
My friend Jenny, whose mother is a scientist, knows a lot about environmental issues.
- The company builds houses all over the country. (It has been accused of cutting down too many trees.)
The company, which has been accused of cutting down too many trees, builds houses all over the country.
- The tribal leader wants to teach his people about the outside world. (He studied in Paris.)
The tribal leader, who studied in Paris, wants to teach his people about the outside world.
- People in Liverpool are working to improve the environment. (Janet opened her shop there.)
People in Liverpool, where Janet opened her shop, are working to improve the environment.

USE OF ENGLISH

- 5 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets. Use up to six words in each gap and make any changes necessary.

- Some people claim that water shortage is something which we should worry about (which/we/should/worry), and I think they are right.
- The bald eagle, which is the national bird of (be/national/bird) the United States of America, is no longer on the list of endangered species.
- That environmental protester, who is now sitting (now/sit) in the biggest tree in the park, says he will come down when they promise not to cut it down.
- Instead of just complaining about damage to the environment, the issues (which) we need to focus on (we/need/focus) are preserving nature and using renewable energy.
- Several members of this group, whose purpose is (purpose/be) to stop cutting down trees in the area, have been arrested by the police.

- 6 Complete the text with the correct form of the words in brackets.

ECOLOGICAL TOUR

It may be true that travel can ¹ broaden (BROAD) the mind, but going on an ecological tour can ² deepen (DEEP) your knowledge in ways that simple tourism can't do. For example, I went on a tour of the Amazon River which taught me a lot about the damage we are doing to the planet. I also realised why some people have such ³ strong (STRENGTH) arguments for environmental protection. It was an amazing holiday and although we didn't travel the entire ⁴ length (LONG) of the Amazon, we saw trees of an amazing ⁵ height (HIGH) that may one day disappear from our planet. Because of the ⁶ width (WIDE) of the river it is sometimes called a sea and it is home to hundreds of plants, animals and fish. I can't imagine one day waking up and finding that all of this life is gone.

WRITING

8 Ask and answer the questions.

- What are the advantages of having a pet?
- What are the disadvantages of having a pet?

9 Read the exam task and plan your essay. In pairs, discuss your ideas.

People who want to adopt a pet from an animal shelter often have to prove they have the space and time to look after a new pet. Write an essay in which you present arguments for and against this rule.

10 Write the essay in Exercise 9.

SPEAKING

11 Ask and answer the questions.

- What can people do to protect animal rights better in your country?
- Some people say that animals should have the same rights as humans because they have emotions. Do you agree? Why?/Why not?
- What animals are the most popular pets and why?
- Why do you think some people keep exotic, and often dangerous, animals as pets?

13 Look at the diagram. It shows different ways to help animals. In pairs, follow these steps.

- Talk to each other about the advantages and disadvantages of these ways of helping animals.
- Decide which is the best way to help animals.

PROJECT

- How to teach with projects p. T19
- Work in groups. Look the word 'endemic' up in a dictionary. Then choose an endemic plant or animal species and do some research online into it. Prepare a digital presentation about the species and present it to your class.

- 2 2.42 Listen to Dr Maxwell's podcast and check your answers in Exercise 1.

- 3 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS I and answer the questions.

- Are the example sentences about real or imaginary situations? imaginary
- Are they about the present/future or the past? present/future
- Do you have to begin a conditional sentence with 'if'? no

GRAMMAR FOCUS I 6.25

Second Conditional

You use the Second Conditional to talk about the present or future result of an imaginary situation.

imaginary situation → result if + Past Simple, would('d)/wouldn't + verb

If I burnt my hand, I'd hold it under the cold water tap.
I'd put ice on the sting if I didn't have any tablets.

- 4 Complete the Second Conditional sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Which sentences are true for you?

- If I didn't feel (not feel) well at school, I 'd go (go) home.
- If I had (have) hay fever, I 'd get (get) some antihistamine tablets.
- I 'd take (take) a cold shower if I had (have) sunburn.

c

- a so hot.
b so clumsy.
c the doctor's phone number.
d come into the house.
e play loud music at night.

- 7 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS II and find another example of each use of wish/if only in Exercise 6.

GRAMMAR FOCUS II 6.25

wish/if only

- You can use wish/If only + Past Simple to say that you really want a present situation to be different.

I wish I wasn't so clumsy.

- You use wish/if only + would + verb to say that you want somebody's present behaviour to change.

If only the neighbours would be quiet.

Note:

If only is stronger than wish.

- 8 Write a second sentence to show that you would like the situation or behaviour to be different. Which wishes are true for you?

- I'm allergic to nuts.
I wish I wasn't allergic to nuts.
- I don't live near the beach.

LISTENING

Note completion

I can understand a news report and an informal conversation on a common topic.

1 Read UK TODAY and answer the questions.

- How much do UK charities raise every year?
- How many people donate money?
- What do people do to raise money?

2 SPEAKING Discuss which of the charities listed you would give money to.

UK TODAY

Did you know that people donate almost £10 billion to UK charities every year?

Who donates money?

- Over half the adult population.
- The average amount is £18.
- Over 25 percent of people donate online.

What sort of events raise the most money?

London Marathon

- 40,000 participants run a marathon around London.
- Over £890 million has been raised for various charities.

London to Brighton Cycle

- 25,000 participants ride about eighty-seven kilometres.
- The event has raised over £65 million for the British Heart Foundation.

Red Nose Day

- 7.5 million viewers watch a TV 'telethon' organised by British comedians.
- Over £1 billion has been raised so far.
- Money goes to help vulnerable people in the UK and Africa.

3 2.44 Listen to two dialogues and a news report. Answer the questions.

- Which event is Rob taking part in?
- What did Rob's grandfather die of?
- How is Rob training for the cycle?
- What does Rob's mother want to buy him?
- How old is the London to Brighton Cycle?
- How old do you have to be to do the London to Brighton Cycle?

EXAM FOCUS Note completion

4 2.44 Listen again to the three recordings. Complete the summary with up to three words in each gap.

Rob is preparing for the London to Brighton cycle ride. Last year his friend Anna raised ¹ £800 pounds for cancer research. Rob wants to raise money for the British Heart Foundation. Anna suggests setting up ² a webpage. She says it's a good idea to ask adults for sponsorship because they have ³ more money than people Rob and Anna's age. Rob's mother doesn't think his old ⁴ helmet is bright enough. She wants to buy him a new one. The cycle ride starts just after ⁵ 9 o'clock in the morning. It will take approximately ⁶ six hours for most people to reach the coast.

5 2.45 Put the sentences in an appropriate order to describe how Rob is going to raise money for charity. Then listen and check.

- Rob is taking part
- and asks his friends to sponsor
- the page with people who will donate money
- money for charity. He sets up a webpage
- online. The money goes straight to the charity.
- in a cycle race and he wants to raise

READING

Matching

I can scan several short, simple texts on the same topic to find specific information.

EXAM FOCUS Matching

3 Read again and match texts A–C with sentences 1–4. One text has two matching sentences.

This medical practitioner ...

- 1 was anxious that he/she would be unable to save his/her patient's life. B
- 2 would like to have more say in choosing who he/she treats. C
- 3 feels that it is his/her duty to deal with all sorts of different situations. A
- 4 knows that if he/she overreacts, it doesn't help anybody. C

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- 1 How many different jobs in the medical profession can you think of?
- 2 What kind of daily tasks do you think each job involves?
- 3 Do you know someone who works in medicine? Tell your partner about them.

2 Read about three medical practitioners. What examples do they give of things that give them job satisfaction?

Exercise 2

A Helping a seriously ill person on a flight.

B Seeing a six-month-old baby boy gain weight and survive.

C Delivering a baby.

Life in Medicine – Three Snapshots

3.1

If you like surprises, and can face dealing with accidents, injuries, births and deaths, medicine is for you. For those of you considering a career in medicine, three people give a snapshot of their medical life.

A Dr Richard Young told us about the more unusual and unexpected locations where he's used his medical skills.

'I'm a doctor, and I work in a doctor's surgery where I treat patients, write prescriptions, and generally help people recover from illnesses and injuries. But that's only part of the story!

- 5 I've given people first aid in public places several times – once I helped a man who collapsed in a park. Another time, a teenager was suffering from a nut allergy.

On flights, nervous passengers often have panic attacks and doctors are asked to calm them down. When I hear 10 "Is there a doctor on board?" I always offer my help. Once, on a flight from London to Los Angeles I helped a woman who was seriously ill. I spent the twelve-hour flight caring for her. I stayed with her after we landed until the ambulance arrived, which meant that I missed 15 my connecting flight, but I was happy to help. In my job, saving lives must come first, even when I'm off duty.'

B Some nurses choose to work in extreme conditions, like war zones. Senior nurse Sonia Costa spent two months in Yemen as part of a Doctors without Borders emergency team.

'I decided to work in Yemen because, as a result of war, there was a cholera epidemic and over 620,000 people were suffering from the disease. In places where there's no clean food or water, people catch diseases easily.

- 5 I worked on the children's ward and one of my patients was a six-month-old baby boy who was so ill that he looked like a two-week-old. Each morning, I arrived at the hospital, afraid that I may not see the child in his bed. But finally, he started gaining weight and when he was well enough to go 10 home, I was the happiest nurse in the hospital.'

*Doctors without Borders, also known as Médecins Sans Frontières, is an international organisation helping people in war zones and developing countries.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

• In pairs, students write more matching questions about the text. They exchange with another pair and answer the questions. Check with the whole class.

• Students work in pairs and role-play an interview. Student A is one of people A–C and Student B is a journalist. They talk about A's job.

4 3.2 Complete the collocations with a noun or adjective from the words in blue in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 a food/a nut allergy
- 2 a stable/a serious condition
- 3 a deep/a shaving cut
- 4 a flu/a cholera epidemic
- 5 a muscle/a stomach pain
- 6 a local/a doctor's surgery
- 7 a rescue/an emergency team
- 8 a maternity/a children's ward

C Unpredictability is a daily reality for paramedics. Sally James says there is no such thing as a typical day.

'I work a twelve-hour shift. I never know when I might have to try and save someone's life, but I stay calm, because if I panic, everybody else gets anxious too.'

Some days, nothing dramatic happens. The most common call is stomach pain, and we get a lot of non-emergency calls like toothaches or shaving cuts or people who say they've burned themselves on their hair straighteners, which is annoying, but we have to take them seriously. While we're dealing with these time wasters, we may get a call from someone who really needs us, but there's nothing we can do about it.

We're not doctors, but we're highly trained to deal with serious conditions like heart attacks. But my favourite thing is delivering a baby. If I can start my day by getting someone's heart beating again, and end it with childbirth, I'm happy.'

5 Use appropriate collocations in Exercise 4 to answer the comprehension questions. Then check your answers in the text.

- 1 Where does Dr Young usually treat patients?
In a doctor's surgery.
- 2 What did he once treat a teenager in a restaurant for?
A nut allergy.
- 3 Why did Sonia Costa decide to work in Yemen?
Because there was a cholera epidemic.
- 4 Which ward did she work on in the hospital?
The children's ward.
- 5 What is the most common call that Sally James deals with?
Non-emergency calls about toothaches and shaving cuts.
- 6 What sort of situations is she trained to deal with?
People with serious conditions.

6 SPEAKING Think of three questions to ask your partner using different collocations in Exercise 4. Ask and answer the questions.

*Have you got any food allergies?
Have you ever visited a maternity ward?*

7 SPEAKING Discuss the pros and cons of working as one of the medical professionals described in the text. What would be the best or worst thing? Think about the following:

- qualifications
- hours
- job satisfaction
- training
- salary

8 SPEAKING Would you consider a career in medicine? Why?/Why not?

WORD STORE 6E Health issues

9 3.3 Complete WORD STORE 6E with the underlined phrases in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

10 3.4 Put the sentences in an appropriate order to describe two funny experiences that Doctor Roberts has had. Then listen and check.

- 1 I'm Doctor Roberts and I'm proud to say I've saved
- 6 attack. She recovered quickly when I gave her
- 4 had some funny experiences. Once, I was on
- 7 first aid. Then she told me I looked like her third husband.
- 9 'Two' she replied! Last week, I was treating
- 2 lives and helped many people. I've even delivered
- 11 better, but the medicine tasted awful. I'd written
- 3 a baby on a flight to New York. But I've also
- 5 a bus when an elderly lady had a panic
- 8 I asked her how many husbands she'd had.
- 10 a patient for earache. Today she told me she felt much
- 12 a prescription for eardrops!

11 SPEAKING Discuss what personality and what qualities a doctor needs. Do you think a sense of humour is one of them?

I think a doctor needs to be patient and hard-working. Everybody should have a sense of humour, not only doctors!

GRAMMAR

Third Conditional

I can talk about hypothetical past results of a past action using the Third Conditional.

1 3.5 Read and listen to an incredible survival story.

What two decisions did Simon Yates have to make? Do you think he made the right decisions?

He had to decide (1) whether to leave Simpson with a broken leg and (2) whether to cut the rope.

DECISION TIME

In 1985, two young climbers, Joe Simpson and Simon Yates, were the first climbers to climb the west face of the Siula Grande mountain in the Andes. But as they were coming down the mountain, Simpson fell and broke his leg badly. Yates had to make a terrible decision – should he leave his friend or should he try to get him down the mountain. He chose the second option. If he had left his friend, Simpson would have died. Yates tied himself to Simpson with a rope and they slowly came down the mountain together. Then disaster 10 struck again. Simpson fell and was hanging over a cliff. Yates couldn't hold him. He found his penknife and decided to cut the rope. Simpson fell twenty-five metres. Yates returned to base camp alone. He was sure Simpson was dead. But he also knew that if he hadn't cut the rope, he would have fallen and 15 died too. Miraculously, Simpson didn't die. He pulled himself slowly along the ground with a broken leg for three days and nights. He arrived back at base camp just in time. Yates would have already left if Simpson had arrived a few hours later.

Exercise 2

- 1 If Yates had left Simpson with a broken leg, he would certainly have died.
- 2 If he hadn't cut the rope, he would have fallen to his death.
- 3 He had arrived just before Yates left camp.

2 Answer the questions about the story.

- 1 Why didn't Yates leave Simpson when he broke his leg?
- 2 Why did Yates cut the rope?
- 3 Why did Simpson arrive at base camp 'just in time'?

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and underline the three Third Conditional sentences in the story. Do you always begin a Third Conditional sentence with If? No

GRAMMAR FOCUS 26

Third Conditional

You use the Third Conditional to talk about the imaginary past result of an imaginary past event.

imaginary past event → imaginary past result if + Past Perfect, would/wouldn't have + Past Participle

... if he hadn't cut the rope, he would have fallen and died too.

(real past event: he cut the rope → real past result: he didn't fall and die)

4 Complete more Third Conditional sentences about the story.

- 1 If Simpson hadn't fallen (not fall), he wouldn't have broken (not break) his leg.
- 2 If Simpson hadn't broken (not break) his leg, the climbers would have come down (come down) the mountain without a problem.
- 3 If Yates had been able (be able) to hold Simpson, he wouldn't have had to (not have to) cut the rope.
- 4 Yates wouldn't have been able (not be able) to cut the rope if he hadn't found (not find) a penknife.
- 5 Yates wouldn't have left (not leave) Simpson on the mountain if he had known (know) he was still alive.

5 Read about three more incredible survival stories. Use your imagination and write Third Conditional sentences to describe alternative outcomes for each story.

- A In 2003, Aron Ralston went hiking alone in a canyon in Utah. He trapped his arm under a rock and couldn't move. He had a penknife. He cut off his own arm. Ralston survived.
- B In 1996, Pete Goss was leading a round the world yacht race. During a terrible storm, he got an emergency call. Another competitor – Raphaël Dinelli – was in trouble and Goss's boat was the only one in the area. Goss turned back. He saved Dinelli's life but lost the race.
- C In 1972, the pilot of a plane carrying a Uruguayan rugby team miscalculated his position and crashed 3,600 metres up in the Andes. The plane was white and the rescue teams couldn't see it. There was no food and the survivors had to eat their dead teammates. Only sixteen people survived.

A If Ralston had been hiking with a friend, his friend would have helped him.

6 SPEAKING Compare your sentences in Exercise 5 with a partner. Which story do you like best and why?

7 Use your imagination and write three Third Conditional sentences using three of the endings provided.

- 1 ... I would've been much happier.
- 2 ... I would've had a great weekend.
- 3 ... I wouldn't have felt so tired this morning.
- 4 ... I wouldn't have enjoyed it.
- 5 ... I wouldn't have bought one.

If I had got a bike for my last birthday, I would've been much happier.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- 1 What's your ideal time for going to bed?
- 2 How quickly do you fall asleep?
- 3 What things prevent you from falling asleep?
- 4 What do you do if you can't sleep?

2 3.6 Listen to a lecture on sleep. Which of the professor's tips do you think are the most useful?3 3.6 Match the sentence halves from the lecture. Then listen again and check.

- 1 Professor Turner carries out research (b)
- 2 You need to be relaxed in body and mind (e)
- 3 What can you do (g)
- 4 Your body temperature needs to drop by one degree Centigrade (f)
- 5 Make sure you have good curtains or blinds (c)
- 6 You can use an app (a)
- 7 You should go to bed at the same time every night (d)

- a to track the number of hours and quality of sleep.
 b in order to understand insomnia.
 c in order not to wake up when the sun rises.
 d so as not to upset your body clock.
 e in order to fall asleep.
 f so that your metabolism can start slowing down.
 g to fall asleep within ten minutes?

4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and complete the example sentences. How do you say the sentences in your language?

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Clauses of purpose

- You can use a to infinitive to say why somebody does something. You can also use in order (not) to or so as (not) to in a more formal style.

You can use an app to track ¹ the number of hours and quality of sleep.

Professor Turner carries out research in order to understand ² insomnia.

You should go to bed at the same time every night so as not to upset ³ your body clock.

- You can also use so that + subject + verb.

Your body temperature needs to drop by one degree Centigrade so that ⁴ your metabolism can start slowing down.

5 USE OF ENGLISH Use one word in each gap to complete the clauses of purpose in this extract from an article by Professor Turner.

We need to sleep eight hours every night in ¹ order to feel alert and well during the day, right? Well no, not necessarily. Different people need different amounts of sleep so ² as to be at their best during the day. Everyone is different. Some people can drink coffee before going to bed and sleep like a baby, while others avoid drinking coffee in the afternoon so ³ that the caffeine won't keep them awake. But there are certain facts about sleep that are true for everyone: in order ⁴ to get to sleep you need a relaxed body and a quiet mind. The way you get there depends on what works for you. Some people listen to music ⁵ to mask other noises such as traffic and other city sounds, others read until they fall asleep, and you can always count sheep so ⁶ as not to allow your brain to worry about the stresses of the day.

6 Complete the sentences about you and the things you do. Then compare with a partner.

- 1 I set the alarm on my phone in order not to oversleep.
- 2 I _____ to keep warm.
- 3 I _____ so as not to be late.
- 4 I _____ in order to make friends.
- 5 I _____ so that I can get fit.

7 SPEAKING Discuss why people do these things and complete the sentences. Use all the words in the box at least once.

(as in not order so that to)

- 1 People go on diets ...
- 2 Governments collect taxes ...
- 3 People climb mountains ...
- 4 People get tattoos ...
- 5 Teenagers use social media ...
- 6 People learn languages ...

WRITING

A factual article

I can write a simple article summarising key facts and using linking words.

1 SPEAKING Read the announcement below and discuss the questions.

- 1 What facilities and classes should a good youth centre offer?
- 2 How do young people benefit from such facilities and training?

LOCAL NEWS

HOME NEWS WORLD FINANCE CULTURE

Are you aged sixteen-eighteen and from the local area? If so, the city council would like to hear from you. Using government funding, we plan to invest in improving the lives of fourteen-eighteen year olds in our local community. What facilities should young people have access to in the place where they live and how would they benefit as a result? Write an article and send it to us at b_y_c@citycouncil.com. All ideas will be considered for investment and your article could be published on our website.

82

2 Read Harry's article. Which of your suggestions from Exercise 1 does he mention?

No more street corners! The value of youth centres.

"Go and make noise somewhere else!" Sadly, this is the type of complaint that many young people have to face far too frequently. Unhappy local residents are quick to complain about groups of teens hanging around the streets, but what alternatives do they have? "Go play outside your own house!" Unfortunately, that doesn't solve the real problem; there is often nowhere suitable for youngsters to go in their free time. What is needed are youth centres so teens can keep fit, learn new skills and socialise in a safe environment.

According to research, access to youth centres plays an important role in helping young people stay healthy. National statistics show that weight problems are increasingly common in the UK, and this is certainly visible in our community. Clearly, the opportunity to use a gym, or do yoga or dance classes at a youth centre could help solve this problem and improve lives. Additionally, according to experts, offering classes in things like fitness or martial arts is an effective way to encourage both health and self-discipline.

As well as this, centres for young people can provide training in a variety of practical skills. Most young people are very busy at school and as a result, they don't have time to learn things like first aid, cookery, or bike mechanics. Offering classes of this sort at a youth centre would certainly be a practical use of government money.

Finally, sometimes teens just need somewhere to relax. Although many youngsters do end up hanging out on the streets, street corners are obviously neither suitable nor safe places for them to spend time. In contrast, youth centres with facilities such as a café and games room provide warm, secure surroundings in which to spend time with friends.

Youth Centres greatly improve the lives of young people and having one in our community would benefit us all. It would probably make certain local residents and police officers much happier too.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Comment and opinion adverbs

You can use adverbs to show your opinion of the subject you are writing about. You usually start the sentence with the opinion adverb followed by a comma.

¹clearly, ²certainly, fortunately, hopefully, interestingly, naturally, ³obviously,

⁴probably, surprisingly, ⁵sadly, understandably,

⁶unfortunately

6 Read another article and choose the correct option.

Are you well? Wellness in our schools

What do you think of when you hear the word wellness? Well (ha ha!), like a lot of people you're ¹probably/ certainly picturing herbal tea, vegan food, yoga classes and meditation groups.

However, encouraging wellness in our schools ²hopefully/ sadly means promoting physical activity and thinking carefully about food consumption.

It is ³certainly/ naturally easy to live an inactive life as a teenager these days. Lifts to school, endless hours of homework, and hobbies such as gaming mean we end up sitting more than we move. ⁴Fortunately/ Understandably, there are simple ways to introduce more activity into our school days. These include building in regular outdoor breaks, with a strong focus on sports and encouraging movement in the classroom during lessons.

All machines need fuel, including the human ones! An important part of wellness in schools is attention to diet. ⁵Unfortunately/ Interestingly, meal times at school are often rushed and offer limited healthy options. ⁶Clearly/ Understandably, providing a healthy menu and allowing enough time to eat properly is important in ensuring pupils are refuelled and ready to learn.

⁷Interestingly/ Naturally, research has shown that when students have more time for eating, they make healthier choices and throw away less food. Similarly, let's not forget the liquids! Schools must encourage water consumption and, with the environment in mind, every student should be required to have a reusable water bottle.

Wellness in schools means looking after ourselves as we learn. As the old saying goes, "Healthy body, healthy mind".

7 Rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences with appropriate adverbs and add commas where necessary. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

- 1 We are very lucky that the countryside is easily accessible.
- 2 It's a shame that we don't do more outdoor activities at school.
- 3 Of course, there are also emotional benefits to being outside in the fresh air.
- 4 We're hoping that teens from urban areas will enjoy time away from the city.
- 5 We're surprised that trying risky activities can actually help us feel calmer in everyday life.

- discuss the range of outdoor activities available to teens living in your area
- describe some of the physical, social and personal benefits of taking part in these activities.

At the doctor's surgery

I can describe basic symptoms to a doctor and talk about treatment.

1 SPEAKING Look at the pictures and discuss the ways in which you might get these injuries.

- 1 A burn on your hand
- 2 A cut on your chin
- 3 A pain in your forehead
- 4 A sprained ankle

2 3.7 Listen to four patients in a doctor's surgery describing how they got the injuries in Exercise 1. What happened? Did they mention any of your ideas?

3 3.7 Choose the correct option to complete the extracts from the dialogues. Then listen again and check.

Dialogue 1

A: Do you 1 have / feel a temperature?

B: Yes, it's thirty-nine degrees.

A: Well, I'm afraid your hand is infected. I'm going to give you a prescription. You need to take 2 stitches / antibiotics. You also need to put a fresh 3 ice / bandage on it every day.

Dialogue 2

A: Okay, let me see. Hm, it's a nasty cut. I think you need a few 4 bruises / stitches.

B: Stitches?! Oh no, I think I'm going to 5 faint / bleed.

A: Okay, calm down. Take some deep breaths. It's not going to 6 hurt / twist.

Dialogue 3

A: Okay, I need to check your pulse and your 7 blood pressure / injection. Can you roll up your sleeve, please?

B: Do you think I'm going to be okay? Do I need an 8 infection / X-ray?

A: No, your blood pressure is fine and your 9 pulse / pain is normal.

Dialogue 4

A: Now, are you allergic to anything?

B: Yes, I'm allergic to needles. Please get that needle away from me!

A: I'm not going to give you an 10 injection / operation. But we do need to bring the 11 bleeding / swelling down. You need to take 12 painkillers / antibiotics to ease the pain and then you'll need to put some 13 ice / plaster on your ankle when you get home.

4 Complete the SPEAKING FOCUS with the verbs in the box.

You need a few stitches.

I need to 3 check your blood pressure/pulse, etc.

I don't think you need an X-ray/operation, etc.

I'm not going to 4 give you an injection.

We need to 5 bring the swelling down.

You need to 6 take painkillers to ease the pain.

You need to 7 put ice/ointment, etc. on your ankle.

5 Follow the instructions below to prepare a dialogue. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

Student A: You're a student. You're doing a language course in the UK. You had a minor accident and hurt yourself, and have to go and see a doctor. Tell the doctor what happened, what your symptoms are and answer any questions.

Student B: You're a doctor. Your patient is a foreign student. Find out about their injury and ask questions. Give advice.

6 SPEAKING Practise the dialogue and act it out. Take it in turns to be A and B.

Exercise 2

- 1 He burnt his hand baking a cake for his mum a week earlier.
- 2 She was dancing in her bedroom, tripped over and hit her chin on the side of the dressing table.
- 3 He walked into a bookshelf and now felt sick and dizzy.
- 4 He was doing a skateboarding trick when he fell off and twisted his ankle.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Before ex. 1, discuss the students' injuries: What happened? What did you do? Then compare with the pictures on p. 84 and the list in ex. 1.
- Students read the dialogues in ex. 3 again and role-play them.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Divide the class into teams. Call out a topic, e.g. health issues, injuries, body idioms, parts of the body, etc. The teams write down as many words as they can for that category. The team with the most words writes them on the board and gets one point for each correct answer. Other teams add any other words they have. Check spelling and pronunciation. Continue with more topics. At the end of the game, the team with the most points wins.

• Students play a memory game. On the board write: Doctor, I've got a problem, I... Student A completes the sentence in any way he/she wants. Student B repeats his/her answer and adds another problem. Student C repeats what they said and adds his/her own idea. Students who forget or can't add anything are out of the game. The winner is the last student left in the game.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

1 Choose the correct option.

- It is quite common for a sportsperson to dislocate / burn their shoulder during a game, but it's quite easy to put it back into place.
- It was so funny that we laughed our hearts / heads off.
- After the accident, Kelly had a broken / black eye from hitting her face on the steering wheel.
- Luckily, Henry only sprained / broke his ankle, so none of the bones were damaged.
- When Jim told me who was going to visit us, I knew he was pulling my hand / leg. It couldn't be true.

2 Complete the sentences with words from the unit. The first letter of each word is given.

- The first time Julie went on the underground she had a panic attack because she is so afraid of closed spaces.
- The rescue team arrived three minutes after the accident.
- Susan has an annoying food allergy. She can't eat cucumbers or melons, among other things.
- I've been feeling really tired, so I've made an appointment for a check-up at the local surgery.
- Would you like to take part in our effort to save the lives of giant pandas?

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

(can have not call sponsor not let)

- If I tried to text during the lesson, I'm sure my teacher wouldn't let me keep my phone with me.
- My mum always wants to know what I'm doing. If only she didn't call me so often.
- I want to go to New York to run the marathon. I wish someone would sponsor me.
- My school is very small and old. I wish it had a sports centre with a swimming pool.
- I hate cycling to school. If only I could get a driving licence at the age of sixteen.

4 Match the sentence halves. Then complete the Third Conditional sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

- We would not have helped (not help) so many families (d)
 - If you hadn't gone (not go) on such a strict diet, (e)
 - You would be able to help (help) the person with a cut (a)
 - If Andy had put (put) some ice on his head, (b)
 - Sally would have won (win) the singing competition (c)
- a if you had done (do) a first aid course.
 b he would have stopped (stop) the bleeding.
 c if she hadn't lost (not lose) her voice last week.
 d if we had not raised (not raise) so much money for the charity.
 e you wouldn't have felt (not feel) dizzy yesterday.

USE OF ENGLISH

5 Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use up to five words in each gap.

- It's a pity you can't take part in the first aid training.
If only you could take part in the first aid training.
- Mark reached the hospital on time only because he had left home very early.
If Mark hadn't left home very early, he wouldn't have reached the hospital on time.
- You should shorten your run so that you don't get so tired.
You should shorten your run so as not to get so tired.
- My brother never tells me when he's angry with me.
I wish he would tell me when he's angry with me.

6 Read the text and choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D.

VEGETABLES AND VITAMINS

I don't think I was a particularly fussy eater as a child. Like many children, I simply didn't like vegetables. After eating my meat and potatoes quickly, I would stare bitterly at the vegetables left on my plate. If they had simply disappeared, I¹ very happy. Instead, I had to sit at the table until my plate was clean.

At that time I didn't know that my mum wanted me to eat vegetables to make sure that I was getting all the vitamins I needed. She was so afraid that I would develop a serious² that, every now and then, she made an appointment at the doctor's and asked him to do a blood test on me. Blood tests were even worse than broccoli, as I've been afraid of needles all my life. Even today I wish my mum³ so concerned about me. After all, I'm a perfectly healthy adult.

A few days ago, I found a book about the history of science. I couldn't⁴ when I found a chapter explaining that some 100 years ago people didn't know anything about vitamins!

It was a Polish-born scientist, Kazimerz Funk, who formulated the concept of vitamins in 1912. It was a great discovery, but I keep thinking that if Funk⁵ vitamins, my mum wouldn't have made me eat all those vegetables.

SPEAKING

7 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 What do you do to get better when you have a cold?
- 2 What do you do to relax after a stressful day?
- 3 Do you ever worry about your health? Why?/Why not?

WRITING

8 Answer the questions.

- 1 Why is it important to know something about first aid?
- 2 What do you remember from the first aid quiz in lesson 6.2?

9 You have seen this announcement in an international students' magazine. Read the task and write an article.

Have you ever heard or read about a situation when first aid saved someone's life?

We're looking for articles about times when first aid really helped people.

Write an article about the experience, saying what happened and why knowledge of first aid was important. Your article could be in the magazine!

READING

10 Read the texts. Match the descriptions of people who want to get fit with the places that are most suitable for them. There are two extra places.

- 1 D  Adam isn't very fit, but he'd like to find somewhere to do some gentle exercise. He prefers cheap or even free places. He can only go in the evenings and wants to get there on public transport.

- 2 F  Margo broke her ankle and wants to do some easy exercises once or twice a week with someone who can give her expert advice. She's worried she might injure it again if she isn't careful.

- 3 B  Ben was bitten by a dog while jogging in the park and is worried that it could happen again. He wants to find somewhere where he can run in safety at weekends, both day and night.

- 4 A  Sandra doesn't have a weight problem, but she has some bad eating habits. She also finds it difficult to sleep because she's stressed. She would like to have a fitness holiday and combine exercise with improvements in her eating habits and general lifestyle.

A MANHATTAN fitness centre

We offer an amazing experience. You can stay with us from one week to one month. With our well-equipped gym, full-sized swimming pool and beautiful gardens, you won't be bored. As well as supervised fitness training and physiotherapy help after injuries, we have relaxation therapy sessions to reduce stress and can give you expert dietary advice. You'll go home feeling like a new person. There are cheaper places, but none which offer such great value for money.

B Xanadu Fitness

Xanadu Fitness is open twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. We have a large gym with modern machines for everyone, an indoor pool and our own, newly opened, private running track. We are situated outside the town centre but it is easy to reach us by car and we have our own, free car park for members.

C Babylon Health Centre

Babylon Health Centre is a great place to lose weight and get in shape. Our enthusiastic instructors use dance routines to really get you moving. It may look easy but you will come home after each class knowing that you have had a very good workout. Afterwards, why not treat yourself to a healthy snack in our cafeteria?

D Fit-4-all

We offer a great, well-equipped gym with something for everyone for an incredibly low price. Open 11 a.m.–midnight, seven days a week, you can find us in the town centre next to the bus station. We have running machines, weights, climbing walls and much more for fitness enthusiasts and total beginners. Go at your own pace or join one of our popular, and more demanding, classes.

E Fitness trail

Do you want to get fit and have fun free of charge? We have now completed our jogging and cycling tracks through the local park with exercise machines along the way. The fitness trail is open when the park is open, 8 a.m.–5 p.m. every day. There's a bus stop right outside the park entrance and it's only a short walk to the town centre.

F GO 4 IT

Go 4 it is a new gym with a difference. When you first join, we will create a personalised training plan just for you. No more worries about overdoing it on the first day! You can use the machines on your own or have your own, personal, medically-trained trainer to supervise you. We are situated in beautiful countryside and we are open Mon–Fri 9 a.m.–5 p.m.

GRAMMAR

Reported Speech – statements

I can talk about what other people have said using Reported Speech.

- 1 SPEAKING Discuss whether you like the painting. Is it possible for a three-year-old child to paint something like this? Read the text and find out.

They said she was a genius

When Marla Olmstead was three years old, a woman saw one of her paintings in a coffee shop and asked how much it cost. Marla's mother wanted to keep the painting so she told her that it cost $250. The woman bought it! After that a gallery owner started showing Marla's paintings. He told her parents that their daughter was a genius. Her paintings began to sell for thousands of dollars. But not all of the attention was positive. Art critics pointed out that a child could not produce those paintings. One critic suggested that her father had painted them.

A TV channel contacted Marla's parents and told them that they wanted to film their daughter the following week. They explained that they wanted to prove that Marla was not a fake. Marla's parents said that their daughter would be uncomfortable in front of the cameras, but the TV director told them not to worry. He added that he was going to use a hidden camera. Over the next few days, Marla did a painting, but it was not as good as her other paintings. Her critics claimed that this proved someone else finished her paintings. The customers replied that they didn't care who had done them – they liked them anyway.

Exercise 5

- He claimed that it was worth hundreds of dollars.
- He added that a three-year-old girl had painted it.
- I told him that a child couldn't paint like that.
- I suggested it was probably a fake.
- He replied that he didn't care and was keeping it.
- He added that it would look great in his office.

- 2 Match the people from the text with direct speech 1–7.

some art critics the TV director one critic
Marla's parents the customers a TV channel a gallery owner

- 'Your daughter is a genius,' said a gallery owner.
- 'A child can't produce these paintings,' said some art critics.
- 'Her father painted them,' said one critic.
- 'We want to film your daughter next week,' said a TV channel.
- 'Our daughter will be uncomfortable,' said Marla's parents.
- 'I'm going to use a hidden camera,' said the TV director.
- 'We don't care who has done them,' said the customers.

- 3 Underline the Reported Speech in the text that matches the direct speech in Exercise 2. Then complete the GRAMMAR FOCUS.

- 4 Look at the reporting verbs in blue in the text and read the note in the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then choose the correct reporting verb below.

- 'I've bought a painting,' Jim told explained me.
- 'It's worth hundreds of dollars,' he claimed told.
- 'A three-year-old girl painted it,' he told added.
- 'A child can't paint like that!' I pointed out told him.
- 'It's probably a fake,' I told suggested.
- 'I don't care, I'm keeping it!' he replied told me.
- 'It'll look great in my office,' he added told.

- 5 Rewrite the sentences in Exercise 4 as Reported Speech.

1 Jim told me that he had bought a painting.

- 6 Read REMEMBER THIS. Then complete Reported Speech sentences 1–6. Use time expressions from the box and make other changes as necessary.

REMEMBER THIS

In reported statements there may be other changes depending on the context. For example:

time: yesterday → the day before place: here → there pronouns: I/me → he or she/him or her possessive adjectives: my → his or her the month before the day before that day then the following day the following week

- 'I met her here last month.'
He claimed he had met her there the month before.
 - 'She gave us this painting yesterday.' They replied ...
 - 'We can't speak to you now.' They told us ...
 - 'I'm meeting my friends later today.' She explained ...
 - 'I'll see you here tomorrow.' He told her ...
 - 'We're going to fly to Paris next week.' They pointed out ...
- 7 SPEAKING Discuss your own attitudes towards art. What do you like/dislike? What pictures do you have in your bedroom/home?

Matching

I can follow an informal interview on a common topic.

- 1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY. Discuss how similar or different you think the situation is in your country.

In the UK

- over 77 percent of the population shop online.
- clothes or sports goods are the most popular online purchase.
- over 40 percent of all advertising is online.

Most UK homes have

- super-fast broadband connections.
- at least three different devices connected to the Internet (TV, laptop, tablet, smartphone, etc.).
- at least six different types of screen.

One in three UK teenagers

- spends at least six hours a day online.
- has experienced cyberbullying.
- uses their smartphone everywhere (including in the toilet!).

- 2 3.12 SPEAKING Discuss the questions. Then listen and check your ideas.

1 What is a 'viral video'?

A short video that becomes popular very quickly through the Internet.

2 Where can you watch it?

Online through social media or email.

3 What kind of videos 'go viral'?

Short, engage your emotions, have a story.

EXAM FOCUS Matching

- 3 3.13 Listen to four people talking about viral videos. Match statements A–E with speakers 1–4. There is one extra statement.

Speaker 1: C Speaker 3: E

Speaker 2: A Speaker 4: D

The speaker ...

- A gives an example of how an online video can help your career.
 B talks about his/her own experience of producing a viral video.
 C suggests a few reasons why some videos go viral.
 D has to watch online videos as part of his/her job.
 E enjoys watching videos of people doing silly things.

- 4 SPEAKING Discuss the questions and compare your ideas with a partner.

1 What is the ideal length of a viral video? Why?

About three minutes long.

2 What happened after the teenager's mother posted a video of him singing Paparazzi?

He got a recording contract.

3 Why do people laugh at videos where people have stupid accidents? It makes people feel better to see how stupid other people are.

4 Why does Nigel Brown spend so much time watching videos? It's his job.

5 How easy is it to produce a video that gets more than one million views? Not easy.

- 5 3.13 Listen to the four speakers again and check your answers.

WORD STORE 7D Collocations

- 6 3.14 Complete WORD STORE 7D with the words in the box. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 7 3.15 Complete the text with the correct forms of the verbs in WORD STORE 7D. Then listen and check.

An early viral video

Nobody knows exactly why online videos ¹ go viral, and which ones will be ² uploaded to social networking sites and shared millions of times. Often, not much happens in these clips, but they're short enough to appeal to the digital generation who ³ have short attention spans, and they ⁴ stir up our emotions. One of the first and most famous viral videos was the sneezing panda. It shows a mother panda eating bamboo with her baby asleep at her feet. Suddenly, the baby sneezes and ⁵ takes the mother by surprise. It's the mother's reaction which ⁶ makes you laugh. The video has been ⁷ viewed over 221 million times. Why is it so popular? Probably because the baby panda is cute and the simple story ⁸ contains an element of surprise.

- 8 SPEAKING Think about an online video you have uploaded, shared or viewed recently. Discuss the questions.

1 When, where and how did you see it?

2 What was it about? What happened?

3 How would you describe it? (funny? amazing? inspiring? ...)

Yesterday I watched a funny dog video on my phone. My friend sent me a link. It shows a dog ...

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

- 9 Complete the groups with nouns formed from the verbs. Then practise saying the words and mark the stress.

1 adapt/adaptation connect/connection compete/competition

2 explain/explanation inform/information produce/production

3 suggest/suggestion inspire/inspiration present/presentation

- 10 3.16 Which noun in each group has fewer syllables? Listen, repeat and check your answers.

1 connection 2 production 3 suggestion

READING

Gapped text

I can identify key information in an extended newspaper article.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions with a partner.

- 1 How much time do you spend reading for pleasure?
- 2 What kind of books do you prefer when reading for pleasure and which when studying: comic books, print books, e-books or audio books?
- 3 Do you prefer listening to music while reading or reading in silence?

2 Read the online article and the comments. Decide what you think about the new app and write your own comment. Compare it with a partner.

EXAM FOCUS Gapped text

3 Read the text again. Complete gaps 1–4 with fragments A–E. There is one extra fragment.

- A There's no information about their backgrounds, ages, reading experience, etc., but it seems reasonable to assume that they were people who don't spend a great deal of time in libraries.
- B But reading is a different way of consuming content. I'm not sure a soundtrack can do anything but distract from the reading experience.
- C In comparison with this traditional way of reading, one that engages all the senses, the digitally downloaded text can seem dull.
- D In other words, can an audio soundtrack help people to understand a book and memorise it? The results were interesting.
- E Some people were critical: they felt distracted by things that they would prefer to leave to the imagination.

4 3.18 Complete the phrases with an appropriate two-letter word. Then listen, check and repeat. How do you say the phrases in your language?

- 1 be based on
- 2 be critical of
- 3 be deeply engaging
- 4 enhance the reading experience
- 5 feel distracted by
- 6 find sth easy to follow
- 7 improve literacy rates
- 8 leave sth to your imagination
- 9 read in the old-fashioned way
- 10 review something positively

5 Use appropriate phrases in Exercise 4 to answer the comprehension questions.

- 1 What is the aim of the new app?
To enhance the reading experience.
- 2 What does the writer describe as 'sensuous'?
The experience of reading a book in the old-fashioned way.
- 3 What is the connection between the American launch of the app and Sherlock Holmes?
The launch was based on one of the Sherlock Holmes stories.
- 4 Why were some people critical of the app?
They felt distracted and prefer to leave things to their imagination.
- 5 How did the press react to the new app?
They reviewed it positively.
- 6 How does the writer describe the technology behind the app? As deeply engaging.
- 7 How are books with a soundtrack better than silent books, according to research?
They are easier to follow and remember.
- 8 How might the new technology help in schools?
It might help improve literacy rates.

WORD STORE 7E Word building

- 6 3.19 Complete WORD STORE 7E with nouns made from the infinitive form of the verbs in blue in the article and in Exercise 3. Add the suffixes -ment or -ion to verbs. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 7 Think of other parts of speech and note down any other words that form word families with the words in WORD STORE 7E. You have sixty seconds. creator, creative, creatively, ...
- 8 Complete these further comments about the Booktrack app with the correct form of the word in brackets. Which ones do you agree with?
- 1 'Music and sound effects would be a distraction. I don't like the idea.' (distract)
 - 2 'Adding sound effects is a great improvement on the traditional way of reading a printed book.' (improve)
 - 3 'Today's entertainment doesn't make you use your imagination.' (entertain)
 - 4 'Anything is good if it motivates schoolchildren to read – they need a lot of encouragement.' (encourage)
 - 5 'I can't see how an audio soundtrack can help you in the memorisation of things.' (memorise)

9 SPEAKING Most studies suggest that teenagers are reading less fiction than they used to. Discuss the questions and give reasons for your answers.

- 1 Is this a problem and, if so, what can be done about it?
- 2 Are there any advantages of reading more fiction?
- 3 Do you read more or less fiction than your partner?

I'm not sure it's a problem that teenagers are reading less fiction. They don't have time because they are doing so many other things like messaging, watching videos, listening to podcasts, etc.

Can a new app enhance the reading experience?

3.17

Reading a book in the old-fashioned way (holding an object made of paper) is a sensuous experience. Books speak. Pages rustle. They smell – sometimes delicious, sometimes of previous owners. Spines creak. And so on. ¹ C. It's convenient but does not engage all the senses.

Not until now. In America last year, a group of investors launched an app called Booktrack, a 'revolutionary new technology' that dramatically improves the e-reading experience. How? By creating a soundtrack for e-books including music and sound effects. A character knocks on the door: bang, bang, bang. Another puts a slice of bacon in the frying pan: sssssss. Someone kisses someone: well, no, perhaps not. And in between all these bursts of activity: sympathetic music, or weather noises, or (if it's a scene outdoors) a bird singing at the end of the garden.

The American launch was based on Sherlock Holmes: The Adventure of the Speckled Band. ² E. But it had a lot of fans too. In its first ten weeks on sale, The Speckled Band was downloaded more than 100,000 times. Since then, it has been downloaded in ninety-nine different countries and has been reviewed positively in the press: 'Phenomenal', 'Revolutionary', 'books without soundtracks could some day seem as old-fashioned as silent movies'.

The technology is entertaining and very impressive. How on earth does the page know which line of text our eyes are reading, and therefore when to do the knocking on the door, etc.? Reading in this way is a deeply engaging experience. And I believe that for every reader who prefers to use their imagination, there will be a reader who is grateful for the extra fun.

But it's not just about having fun. Booktrack hired the services of Liel Leibovitz, a professor of communications at New York University, to look into 'the cognitive advantages, if any, to reading accompanied by audio elements'. ³ D. The research found that when readers read books with a soundtrack, they not only found them easier to follow than 'silent' books, but also found them easier to remember.

People who took part in the research all came from New York and represented various levels of income and education. ⁴ A. This could suggest that the greatest benefit of the new technology will be to help improve literacy rates and encourage schoolchildren to read.

Our culture is becoming increasingly visual, but the success so far of Booktrack also shows that we're keen to live in an acoustic world. While it is common to complain that computers cut us off from reality, you could also argue that in some ways computers remind us how much we rely on our senses.

COMMENTS

Personally, I prefer reading in silence or with some background music.

I don't mind trying this. Why not?

I like listening to books on the radio and when I'm driving, so I think I'll enjoy this new experience.

I don't think sound effects can add anything to a book ... I'd hate it.

Reported Speech – questions and imperatives

I can talk about someone's orders and questions using Reported Speech.

Exercise 6

- whether she had seen her ex recently.
- where she had bought her dress.
- to help herself to tea or coffee.
- who was going with her to the Oscars the following week.
- why she was leaving so early.
- if they could interview her again the following month.
- not to leave before they had taken a photo.

- SPEAKING Name some popular magazines in your country. Discuss which magazines you read and what topics you like reading about.
- Darina Parfitt did an interview for a lifestyle magazine. Read the interview questions and guess what she does for a living.
 - a fashion designer
 - a film director
 - a model
 - a singer

Questions

- What are you going to wear to the Oscars?
- Who are you dating?
- Why did you split up with your fiancé?
- Have you put on weight?
- Are you on a diet?

Photo instructions

- Don't look too serious.
- Blow a kiss at the camera.

Exercise 8

- I: Do you think you can win?
D: Well, I'm very proud of my film and I think I've got a good chance of winning. But I haven't seen the other films yet.
- I: When did you start making films?
D: Only last year, but I've been in the movie business for ten years.
- I: What is your next project going to be?
D: I'm writing a screenplay but I hope I'll get the chance to direct another film.
- I: Who are you dating?
D: Please don't ask me about my private life ...

- 3.20 Listen to Darina talking to a friend about her interview. Check your answer in Exercise 2. Why is she so upset? Because the interviewer asked silly questions.
- Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then write Darina's reported questions and reported imperatives from the conversation. They asked me ...
 - what / wear / going to / to the Oscars / was / I what I was going to wear to the Oscars.
 - I / dating / who / was who I was dating.
 - had / why / split up with / I / my fiancé why I had split up with my fiancé.
 - if / put on / I / weight / had if I had put on weight.
 - was / I / whether / on a diet whether I was on a diet.
 - serious / to look / too / not not to look too serious.
 - a kiss / at / to blow / the camera to blow a kiss at the camera.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6.29

Reported questions and imperatives

- When you report questions, the subject comes before the verb. You use ask as the reporting verb. You don't use do/does/did. You use if or whether for yes/no questions.
- When you report imperatives, you use ask or tell sb (not) to do sth.

Direct Speech

→ Reported Speech

yes/no questions

- 'Do you live near here?' → He asked me if I lived near there.
'Are you happy?' → He asked me whether I was happy.

wh- questions

- 'What is your name?' → I asked him what his name was.
'Who wrote these?' → I asked him who had written those questions.

Imperatives

- 'Say "cheese".' → They asked me to say 'cheese'.
'Please don't move.' → She told me not to move.

- 3.20 Listen to the conversation again and check your answers in Exercise 4.
- Report more questions and imperatives from Darina's interview. Begin with They asked her ...
 - 'Did your fiancé end your relationship?'
They asked her if her fiancé had ended their relationship.
 - 'Have you seen your ex recently?'
 - 'Where did you buy your dress?'
 - 'Help yourself to tea or coffee.'
 - 'Who is going with you to the Oscars next week?'
 - 'Why are you leaving so early?'
 - 'Can we interview you again next month?'
 - 'Don't leave before we've taken a photo.'
- Read the report of another interview Darina gave. Which question did she refuse to answer? The one about dating.

Meet Darina Parfitt

We had the pleasure of meeting Darina Parfitt today and talked to her about her work. We asked her if she was excited about being nominated for an Oscar, and whether she thought she could win. She told us that she was proud of her film and thought she had a good chance of winning. But she added that she hadn't seen the other films yet. We asked her when she had started making films and she told us it had only been the year before but that she had been in the movie business for ten years. We asked her what her next project was going to be and she told us she was writing a screenplay but she hoped she would get the chance to direct another film. We asked her who she was dating, but she asked us not to ask her about her private life.

- Rewrite the report in Exercise 7 as a dialogue.

Interviewer: Thanks for agreeing to do the interview.
Darina: You're welcome.
Interviewer: So, are you excited about being nominated for an Oscar?
Darina: Yes, it's wonderful ...
- SPEAKING Act out your dialogue. Vote for the best dialogue in the class.

WRITING

An article reviewing an event

I can write an appealing description of a past event.

1 Read the announcement below and answer the questions.

- 1 What are you invited to do?
Write a review of a festival.
- 2 What could you win?
Two tickets to next year's Glastonbury Festival.

HOME FESTIVAL FAQ'S CONTACT

Have you been to a fabulous festival this summer? festivalwatch.org would love to hear all about it! Send us an article reviewing a festival that you attended this season and suggesting improvements for next year. The best article will be published on our website and the winner will receive two free tickets to next year's Glastonbury Festival.

2 Read the winning article and choose the most interesting and appropriate title. Title 1 or 3

- 1 Brilliant bands + fabulous food = unforgettable experience
- 2 Queuing, not singing, in the rain!
- 3 Smells, Smiles, and Sounds at Sunny Silverfest
- 4 What I did and didn't enjoy about Silverfest
- 5 What a load of rubbish!

Winner of this year's festival review competition

My friends and I, and the other lucky festivalgoers at this year's Silverfest festival, drank 25,000 bottles of water, created nearly two tonnes of rubbish and raised £20,000 for charity. We did this while listening to some of the most talented bands around and enjoying delicious food from all over the world. What an amazing experience!

We arrived early, but as we queued to get in, we could already hear the music and smell the food. The sun was shining on the colourful tents and a DJ had already begun to entertain the crowd. This year, the music was excellent; from the beats of The Chemical Brothers to the punk rock of Vampire Weekend. I'll never forget the sight and sound of 10,000 happy people with their arms in the air.

As all festivalgoers know, dancing makes you extremely hungry, especially when the air is filled with the fabulous smells of Thai, Indian, Mexican and many other world cuisines. To be honest, I was expecting terrible festival food, but I was wrong – it was absolutely delicious.

The only thing I'd suggest changing next year is the number of rubbish bins. There should be twice as many – by the end of the day there was litter everywhere.

If you are looking for a really friendly festival with fantastic bands and tasty food (and if you don't mind a bit of rubbish!), then try Silverfest next year. You won't be disappointed.

WRITING FOCUS

An article reviewing an event

- Begin with an interesting, funny or unusual title to attract the reader's attention.
- Hold the reader's attention with an introduction which asks a question or gives interesting facts.
- Describe the event using a variety of adjectives and modifiers.
- Make your descriptions interesting by describing what you saw, heard, smelled and tasted.
- Include personal opinions and suggestions.
- Finish with a recommendation for the reader.

5 Underline all the adjectives in the article and decide whether they can complete sentence A or B.

9 talented	brilliant
10 tasty	delicious
Modifiers: very, rather, really, quite, extremely	Modifiers: absolutely Note: really can also be used

7 Replace the underlined phrases with phrases in the LANGUAGE FOCUS to make the descriptions more interesting.

- 1 This year's Charity Fun Day was very good/absolutely fantastic and we raised lots of money.
- 2 The birds were singing and the weather was really good/absolutely amazing.
- 3 There were some extremely bad/absolutely terrible singers in the competition – that was the best bit!
- 4 The exhibition of old photographs was rather interesting/absolutely fascinating.
- 5 I'd recommend the rather tasty/absolutely delicious homemade ice cream.
- 6 If you're looking for a very good/absolutely fabulous day out, come to next year's Charity Fun Day.

8 SPEAKING Think about a time when you had either an absolutely fantastic or an absolutely terrible 'day out'. Use at least six extreme adjectives. Consider the questions below and then tell your partner.

- What kind of day out was it? (i.e. a music festival? a sports day? a school trip? a charity event? a family picnic? a day at the beach? etc.)
- When did you have this day out?
- Who did you go with?
- What happened during the day?
- What sort of things did you do?
- What were the high/low points?
- What is your best/worst memory?

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

9 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Your school recently organised a 'Charity Fun Day'. Local people were invited and a talent competition was held. Several student bands played and a variety of food was available. Write an article of to review the event and:

- describe and give your opinion on the various events of the day,
- make some suggestions for next year's event.

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to think about the last time they had to ask somebody for permission and how they did it.

7.8

SPEAKING

Asking for permission
• polite requests

I can give and refuse permission and make polite requests.

1 SPEAKING Look at the list of things you may want to do at school. Which things would you need permission for? Who would you ask?

- not do PE
- go home early
- open a window
- use your phone
- eat or drink in the classroom
- change your seat during a lesson
- use a dictionary in an English test
- leave the classroom during a lesson

2 Read the email and answer the questions.

- 1 What has Patty got permission to use?
- 2 What is she going to use it for?
- 3 What does she have to do next?

To: Patty Class 9

Subject: School Facebook page

Dear Patty,

You can use the school video camera on Thursday 4th April to film your class for the school Facebook page. You must ask your teachers POLITELY for permission to film their classes during the day. All students must sign a copy of the document attached.

3 3.22 Listen to three conversations. Which teacher doesn't give Patty permission to film the class and why?
Teacher 3 – Mr Osborne. He won't be there.

98

Exercise 2

- 1 The school video camera.
- 2 Filming her classes for the school Facebook page.
- 3 Ask teachers for permission and students to sign a copy of the document attached.

Exercise 5

- 1 A: Could you lend me your calculator?
B: Well, OK, I suppose so.
- 2 A: Is it OK if I use your phone?
B: I'm sorry but the battery is flat.
- 3 A: Do you mind if I open the window?
B: No, not at all, go ahead.
- 4 A: We were wondering if we could leave early.
B: Sure, I don't see why not.

4 3.22 Complete the conversations with words and phrases in the SPEAKING FOCUS. Then listen again and check.

- 1 Patty: Excuse me Miss Roberts. Is ¹ it OK if we film your class today? It's for the school Facebook page.
Miss R: Er, well, I'm ² sorry but I'm going to give you a test today, and that won't be very interesting on film. How about tomorrow?
Patty: We only have the camera today. ³ Could we do the test tomorrow?
Miss R: Well OK, I ⁴ suppose so.
Patty: Thanks, Miss Roberts – that's great.
- 2 Patty: Mrs Baker, Mrs Baker!
Mrs B: Yes, hello, Patty. What can I do for you?
Patty: Do ⁵ you mind if we film our Art class today, please?
Mrs B: No, ⁶ not at all, go ahead. Is this for a project?
Patty: No, it's for the school Facebook page.
Mrs B: Oh right, I'll go and tidy up the classroom then.
- 3 Mr O: Come in.
Patty: Excuse me, Mr Osborne.
Mr O: Yes, what is it?
Patty: Um, we ⁷ were wondering if we could film your class today. We're making a film for the school Facebook page.
Mr O: Oh, I see. Well, I'd like ⁸ to, but I'm afraid I've got meetings all day and Ms Marks is taking my classes.
Patty: Oh, OK, sorry to bother you, sir.

SPEAKING FOCUS

Asking for permission	Giving permission	Refusing permission
Can/Could I/we ...?	Well, OK, I suppose so.	I'm sorry but ...
Is it OK if I/we ...?	Yes, that's fine. No problem.	I'd like to help but I'm afraid ...
We were wondering if I/we could ...?	Sure, I don't see why not.	I'm afraid ...
Do you mind if I/we ...?	No, not at all, go ahead.	Yes, I do actually.

5 Rewrite the following exchanges using the language in the SPEAKING FOCUS. Begin with the words in italics.

- 1 A: Lend me your calculator. B: Right.
A: Could ... B: Well ...
- 2 A: Let me use your phone. B: No, the battery is flat.
A: Is ... B: I'm ...
- 3 A: I want to open the window. B: OK.
A: Do ... B: No ...
- 4 A: We want to leave early. B: Fine.
A: We ... B: Sure, ...

6 3.23 Listen and check your ideas in Exercise 5. Practise the exchanges with your partner.

7 SPEAKING You are going to write a dialogue asking permission for something. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

- Decide on the situation, why you need permission and who from.
- Use the information in the box in Exercise 1 or your own ideas.
- Practise your dialogue. Then act out your dialogue to the class.

ROLE-PLAY 31 32 33 Asking for permission

31 32 33 Watch the video and practise. Then role-play your dialogue.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Before students look at ex. 1, have them discuss when they last asked for permission and say what words they used. Write any useful phrases on the board for later.

- Students write three things they want to ask permission for, e.g. have a school disco, organise a charity day, make a film. Then they work in pairs and take it in turns to ask. Their partner should give or refuse permission.

Reality TV: A New Phenomenon?

For many people, reality television seems to be a fairly modern form of ¹ entertainment. For many years they have been the most ² engaging programmes with millions of people watching regularly. In fact, the very first programmes showing ordinary people in unscripted situations appeared in the 1940s and they've been with us ever since. One of the most influential programmes of this type was An American Family, a documentary-style programme showing the life of an ordinary family in the early 1970s. It managed to stir up the ³ emotions of many people when the parents on the show decided to split up. Thousands of Americans were fascinated by the show and wanted to ⁴ encourage the family to be together again by sending letters during and after the breakup. More than forty years ago, it was a groundbreaking programme, and it set such a high standard for reality TV that few others have managed to follow.

LISTENING

- 7 3.24 Listen to four people talking about the Notting Hill Carnival. Match the speakers with the statements. There is one extra sentence.

Speaker 1: B

Speaker 2: C

Speaker 3: A

Speaker 4: E

The speaker ...

- A has participated in the carnival as a performer.
- B says people need to protect themselves from injuries.
- C believes the carnival adds something to the city.
- D would like to avoid the crowds and noise of the carnival.
- E explains why some people don't enjoy it as much as others.

WRITING

- 8 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 Do you ever read blogs? Why?/Why not?
- 2 Is it a good idea for a teenager to write a blog? Why?/Why not?
- 3 Would you like to write one yourself? Why?/Why not?

- 9 Read the writing task and write a review.

You have recently taken part in a blogger festival in your town. Write a review of the most interesting blog written by somebody you met at the event, and describe the good and bad sides of writing a blog when you're a teenager.

SPEAKING

- 10 Do the task in pairs.

Student A

You are in a band together with five other students. You want to play a concert at your school gym. You'd like to record the event, take photos and also interview the audience. The materials would later be on your band's website and social media. You'd prefer to do the gig on Saturday, but other days are possible. Start the conversation to ask Student B for permission.

Student B

You are the school director. You can agree to the concert if Student A and his/her friends organise the equipment and clean the gym later. They can record the band and take photos of band members, but must always ask other people for permission. Some school staff always have to be present at such events, so the concert cannot take place on Saturday.

- 11 Look at the posters. You are taking part in a questionnaire on a new TV programme for teenagers. In pairs, follow these steps.

- Choose the programme which, in your opinion, is the most interesting for young people, and support your choice with some reasons.
- Explain why you have rejected the other options.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 Complete the UK TODAY fact file with the words in the box.

(capital crime elections population Minister) monarchy Head United

UK TODAY

- The ¹ United Kingdom: England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.
- The ² population: 65 million.
- The ³ capital city: London.
- Political system: Constitutional ⁴ monarchy.
- ⁵ Head of state: The Queen (of course!).
- Head of government: The Prime ⁶ Minister.
- General ⁷ elections: Every five years.
- Interesting fact: Nobody is further than 120 km from the sea.
- Surprising fact: It rains more in Milan than in London.
- Young people's worries: youth unemployment, the environment, ⁸ crime.

2 Work together to prepare a similar 'fact file' for your own country.

3 Read the text and answer the questions.

1 Which crimes are growing, falling or staying the same in number?

2 Which crimes are a problem in your country?

DO NOT CROSS

- 4 3.25 Listen to six dialogues and name the crimes.

- | | |
|----------------------|------------------|
| 1 shoplifting | 4 robbery |
| 2 murder | 5 arson |
| 3 vandalism | 6 mugging |

- 5 Imagine you are reporting a crime. Choose the correct option.

Hello, Police? I'd like to report a crime.

- 1 Somebody has robbed / stolen my phone.
- 2 My apartment has been stolen / burgled.
- 3 Some youths have set fire to / mugged a shop.
- 4 My sister has been vandalised / mugged.
- 5 There's a man in my store. I think he's shoplifting / burgling.
- 6 This website is pirating / dealing films, TV programmes and music.

UK CRIME TRENDS

In the past, burglars used to break into houses to steal TVs and DVD players. But electronic goods are so cheap now that burglary has become less common.

- 5 Thieves are more interested in stealing small personal items like mobile phones that people carry with them. So there has been a long term fall in the number of house burglaries and robberies but the number of muggings and mobile phone thefts has grown. Shoplifting and drug dealing crimes have grown, just like Internet crimes such as hacking and online piracy.

- Murder rates haven't changed much and although the number of car crimes fell, they are now rising again: one in seven reported crimes is a car theft. In the UK, a car is stolen every six minutes! Other crimes such as vandalism and arson have fallen.

WORD STORE 8A Crime and criminals

- 6 3.26 Complete WORD STORE 8A with the base form of the words in red in Exercise 3. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 7 SPEAKING Discuss which three crimes are the most serious and why.
I think murder, arson and drug dealing are the most serious, because ...

WORD STORE 8B People involved in a crime case

- 8 Read two crime stories. Why are the crimes described as crazy?

CRIMINALS COMMIT CRAZY CRIMES

A suspect was arrested for robbing a jewellery store on Saturday afternoon. He told police that he was innocent. He said that he couldn't be guilty of robbing the jewellery store because on Saturday afternoon he was breaking into a school and he had a witness to prove it. The police immediately charged him with robbing the school. The case goes to court next month.

An eighteen-year-old man was arrested for vandalising a campsite. During the trial, the judge heard how the police caught the accused. It was the easiest case we have ever solved, the detective said. There was no victim. We didn't have to interview any witnesses or collect any evidence. The criminal wrote his name on a wall! He was sentenced to three months in prison.

- 9 3.27 Complete WORD STORE 8B with the underlined words in Exercise 8. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 10 Test each other. Read the seven definitions from WORD STORE 8B to your partner in a different order. Your partner writes down the word. Check how many correct answers your partner has.

WORD STORE 8C The justice system

- 11 3.28 Complete WORD STORE 8C with the correct form of the highlighted words in Exercise 8. Then listen, check and repeat.
- 12 SPEAKING Imagine the sentences in Exercise 5 are the first lines in some crime stories. You are going to tell one of the stories.
- Choose an opening line 1–6.
 - Imagine what happened during the case.
 - Make notes based on your ideas.
 - Include at least twelve words or phrases from the lesson.
 - Tell your story to the class.

GRAMMAR

The Passive

I can use the Passive in a variety of tenses.

- 1 Read a text about Robben Island. How many different things has the island been used for?
four – prison, hospital, museum, tourist attraction

Robben Island is situated nine kilometres from Cape Town. From the seventeenth to the twentieth century the island was used as a prison. During World War II prisoners were sent to Robben Island, but at that time it was also being used as a hospital. Later, Nelson Mandela was imprisoned there for eighteen years. After a total of twenty-seven years in prison, Mandela was elected as the first black president of South Africa.

Robben Island isn't used as a prison any more. It has been made into a museum and at the moment is being promoted as a popular tourist attraction. There is a large African penguin colony there now, but Robben Island will always be remembered as the place where Mandela was imprisoned.

Nelson Mandela

- 2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and complete the table with the passive forms in blue in the text in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 35

The Passive

- You use Passive forms when it isn't important or you don't know who performed the action.
- You use by + person (or thing) if you want to mention who (or what) performed the action.

Tense	→ Example
Present Simple	→ Robben Island is situated
Present Continuous	→ is being promoted
Past Simple	→ Mandela was elected
Past Continuous	→ it was being used
Present Perfect	→ it has been made
future with will	→ Robben Island will be remembered

- 3 3.29 Read about another famous 'island prison'. Complete the text with passive forms of the verbs in brackets. Then listen and check.

Alcatraz is located (locate – Present Simple) in San Francisco Bay. It was a prison from 1933 to 1963 and during that time there were just fourteen escape attempts. The attempted escape in 1962 will probably be remembered (probably remember – will) as the most famous one. Frank Morris and the Anglin brothers dug a tunnel out of their cells and then disappeared. The three men may have drowned but their bodies have never been discovered (never discover – Present Perfect). Over the years, several postcards in the men's handwriting have been sent (send – Present Perfect) to their families. After the escape, a stolen car was found (find – Past Simple) and police believe it could have been used by the three men to escape. The case will be kept (keep – will) open until the 100th birthday of the three men. Today, Alcatraz island is being used (use – Present Continuous) as a recreation park.

- 4 Complete the sentences with an appropriate passive form of the verbs in brackets.

- The prisoners are locked (lock) in their cells at 9 p.m. every night.
- John looked back. He thought he was being followed (follow).
- Last time Tina went clubbing, her phone was stolen (steal).
- Police are investigating the robbery but nobody has been arrested (arrest) yet.
- As I'm writing this, three suspects are being questioned (question).
- A press conference will be held/is being held (hold) tomorrow.

- 5 Read these facts about crime. Cross out by + person or thing if it is not necessary.

UK and USA CRIME FACTS

- 500,000 crimes in the UK are committed by ex-prisoners.
- Each year in the USA, around 100 prisoners are sentenced to death by judges.
- In the UK, the death penalty was abolished ~~by the government~~ in 1998.
- Around 10 percent of murders in the USA are committed by women.
- On average, murderers are released from UK prisons ~~by the authorities~~ after sixteen years.

- 6 Rewrite the sentences below in the passive. Start each sentence with I and use by + agent if necessary.

- The head teacher has never told me off.
I've never been told off by the head teacher.
- People often invite me to parties.
- An old childhood friend has contacted me on Facebook today.
- People gave me money for my last birthday.
- My father taught me how to ride a bicycle.
- My mother is picking me up from school today.

- 7 Which sentences in Exercise 6 are true for you? Compare with a partner.

LISTENING

Multiple choice

I can follow an informal interview on a common topic.

- 1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY and discuss which facts you find most surprising. Do you think the situation is similar or different in your country?

- A 'young offender' can be anybody from the age of ten to seventeen (twelve to seventeen in Scotland) who commits a crime.
- Each year, almost 1,600 young offenders are sent to young offenders' prisons.
- The most common crimes are theft, violence and criminal damage.
- The average sentence is sixteen months.
- It costs over £140,000 a year to keep a young offender in prison.
- 54 percent of young offenders are aged seventeen.
- 97 percent of young offenders are boys.
- 88 percent of young offenders have been excluded from school.
- 68.1 percent of young offenders commit another crime within twelve months of leaving prison.

- 2 3.30 Listen to an interview with Daniel, an ex-offender, and answer the questions.
- 1 Why is the government worried about young offenders' prisons?
 - 2 What happens to young offenders at night?
 - 3 How do young offenders earn money to buy sweets and phone calls?
 - 4 Why do some offenders want to stay in prison?
 - 5 Who thinks young offenders should be punished more?

READING

Multiple choice

I can distinguish supporting details from the main points in a text.

1 SPEAKING Look at some acts of kindness. Discuss whether you have done them, might do them or would never do them. Give reasons for your answers.

- Pay for someone's cup of coffee.
- Give someone an umbrella on a rainy day.
- Buy a homeless person a hot drink or lunch.
- Stop and talk to a homeless person.
- Offer to help someone carry their bags.
- Give someone your seat on the train or bus.
- Give someone a compliment.

2 SPEAKING Text 1 is entitled 'Paying it forward'. Discuss the questions. Then read Text 1 and check your ideas.

- 1 What does 'paying it forward' actually mean?
- 2 What are some of the benefits of 'paying it forward'?
- 3 What is the main difficulty of 'paying it forward'?

3 Read Text 2. How did the restaurant owner 'pay it forward'?
By giving homeless people some food.

EXAM FOCUS Multiple choice

4 Read Text 1 and Text 2 again and choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D.

Text 1

- 1 A woman who lost her phone on the train
A accepted money the boy offered her.
B asked the boy to do an act of kindness.
C wanted to send the boy some money.
D gave back the phone to the twelve-year-old boy.
- 2 Michael Norton believes that
A people spend more on others than themselves.
B a large proportion of people are happy.
C long-term happiness depends on your income.
D kindness is a natural human characteristic.
- 3 The journalist was surprised
A when people refused her offer of a free coffee.
B that people were delighted with her offer.
C that someone finally accepted the free coffee.
D by the generosity of strangers.

Text 2

- 4 The restaurant owner invited the homeless person into the restaurant because
A she wanted to give the person some leftover sandwiches.
B she wanted to give the person some human dignity.
C she was upset that the person had knocked over her bins.
D she wanted to ask the person some questions.

Texts 1 and 2

- 5 The texts include examples of acts of kindness committed by people who
A expect something in return.
B wish to remain anonymous.
C want to help homeless people.
D want to make other people feel better.

Text 1

PAYING IT FORWARD

3.34

This week's lead article comes from journalist Amy Randall who tells us why she would like to live in a kinder society and explains the benefits of 'paying it forward'.

In today's cynical world, it's often difficult to give and accept kindness. The smallest acts of kindness are often met with suspicion, and yet there is plenty of evidence to suggest that being kind can make you healthier and happier.

5 So what sort of acts of kindness am I talking about? They can be big gestures, or just small everyday things that will make people smile. At one end of the scale, an anonymous person might pay for someone's expensive operation without expecting a thank-you. At the other, 10 there are the small gestures which might seem trivial, but are often extremely welcome.

One example of this is the story of a twelve-year-old boy who found a stranger's phone on a train. When he contacted the owner, she was so impressed by his honesty, that she 15 offered a small reward. He didn't accept the money, but he wrote a note and sent it with the returned phone. In the note he said that he didn't want the money, he just wanted the woman to do something nice for someone else.

This kind of gesture is known as 'paying it forward'. The idea is that if you do a good deed for someone but ask for nothing in return, they will then do a good deed for someone else, and kindness will multiply and create a huge wave of good feeling across the globe.

20 There are many benefits to being kind. Giving to others 25 can make you feel more connected to other people

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

• Before looking at ex. 1, students discuss what they think an act of kindness is before comparing with the list in the book.

• In teams, students write more multiple choice questions about the text. Teams take turns to ask their questions. They score 1 point for each correct answer.

WORKBOOK

pp. 106–107

and increase your sense of purpose in life. You feel you've made a difference and there's a reason to get out of bed in the morning. Taking time to help others may even protect you from disease. A thirty-year study has shown that women who 30 volunteered for a charity were sixteen percent less likely to suffer a major illness during that period – perhaps because it lowers stress levels.

I believe that people are naturally kind. This was also the conclusion of a study by Michael Norton at Harvard Business 35 School: he did research in more than 130 countries and found that people who spend a bigger proportion of their income on others were more fulfilled than those who spend it on themselves. He thinks the desire to give and share could be a basic human trait.

That's the theory anyway. But when I've tried out acts of kindness

40 on strangers, they often seem unsure how to react to me. In my local coffee shop, I tried to give away a cup of coffee. I thought people would be delighted, but instead I was met with suspicious stares. Then I realised why this was happening: we don't expect kindness from strangers – on the contrary, we expect them to trick

45 us or take advantage of us.

But don't let that put you off. I did find someone to take my coffee and when I saw how pleased she was, it made my day. We need to fight against the 'me-first' society we live in and start a kindness movement. It sounds cheesy, but I think we need it.

A woman who runs a sandwich bar selling peanut butter and jam sandwiches noticed that somebody had removed some food from her rubbish bins. When she realised that a homeless person was taking leftover food from her bins, she 5 was upset. She was sad to think that someone was so poor that they had to eat other people's leftovers. She typed a note and pinned it to her restaurant window.

The note was addressed to the person going through the rubbish for their next meal. She told this person that they were a human 10 being and worth more than a meal from a dustbin. She offered them a free peanut butter and jam sandwich, fresh vegetables and a cup of water and promised not to ask any questions.

The restaurant owner said she understands that everyone needs help at one time or another, and in this case, she was 15 happy to offer the homeless person a helping hand.

5 SPEAKING Discuss how much you agree or disagree with the three highlighted statements in Text 1. Change the statements so that they represent your own views.

6 3.35 Complete the verb phrases with an appropriate noun in blue in the texts. Then listen, check and repeat.

- 1 ask (for) nothing in return – positive
- 2 be met with suspicion – negative
- 3 offer a reward – positive
- 4 do a good deed – positive
- 5 give sb a sense of purpose – positive
- 6 make a difference – positive
- 7 take time to do sth – positive
- 8 take advantage of sb – negative
- 9 make sb's day – positive
- 10 offer (sb) a helping hand – positive

7 Translate the phrases in Exercise 6. Which ones are positive and which are negative?

8 SPEAKING Complete the questions with the correct verb in Exercise 6. Then ask and answer.

- 1 What could you buy that would make a real difference to your life?
- 2 How often do you give your mum a helping hand?
- 3 What good deed could you do on the way home today?
- 4 In what circumstances might you offer somebody a reward?
- 5 Is it always wrong to take advantage of people?
- 6 Can you think of one thing that would make your day today?

WORD STORE 8E Synonyms

9 3.36 Complete WORD STORE 8E with the underlined adjectives in Text 1. Then listen, check and repeat.

10 Complete the common collocations with the adjectives in WORD STORE 8E to describe these comments.

- 1 'Thank you so much for helping me with my shopping.' = A welcome gesture.
- 2 'Nobody does anything unless they want something in return.' = A cynical remark.
- 3 'Why are these people looking at me like this?' = suspicious stares.
- 4 'I hope you're coming to my graduation ceremony.' = A major event.
- 5 'Hey, this is my seat!' = A trivial matter.
- 6 'I'd rather not give my name.' = An anonymous donation.

11 SPEAKING Talk about the last time you helped somebody or somebody helped you.

Last weekend, my friend helped me to tidy my room. It made my day!

Have something done

I can use have to to refer to having things done by other people.

- 1 Read Burglary: The Facts and guess the correct answers.

BURGLARY: THE FACTS

According to statistics, the highest number of burglaries happen to ¹terraced / detached / semi-detached houses, ²halfway down a street / at the end of a street / in the countryside with a ³purple / brown / green door and the number ⁴eighty-eight / sixty-six / thirteen.

- 2 3.37 Listen to Judy and Mike's story and check your answers in Exercise 1. Are Judy and Mike going to move house? No
- 3 3.37 Listen again and number the changes made to Judy and Mike's house in the correct order.

Exercise 5

- We had a new door fitted.
- We've been having a bigger wall built.
- We've just had the front door painted.
- We're having new security lights put in.
- We're going to have a new burglar alarm installed.

A 2 Judy and Mike had a wall built.

B 4 They've had the door painted green.

C 5 They're going to have the house number changed.

D 1 They had the locks changed.

E 3 They had a sign about their dog put on the gate.

Exercise 6

- I've never had my ears pierced.
- My mother has her car serviced every year.
- I'd like to have my hair coloured.
- I'm going to have a tooth taken out the next time I go to the dentist.

- 4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and underline all the examples of reflexive pronouns and each other/one another in Exercise 2.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Reflexive pronouns, each other and one another

- You use reflexive pronouns myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves when the subject and the direct or indirect object of a sentence are the same person or thing.

You can only blame yourself.

Viruses update themselves all the time.

Verbs commonly used with reflexive pronouns: behave, blame, cut, enjoy, express, hurt, injure, introduce, prepare, protect, teach

Note: By yourself/myself, etc. means alone/on your own/without help.

- Each other and one another have the same meaning. You use them when the subject and object are different. Compare the following sentences:
Tim and Tina are looking at each other/one another. = Tim is looking at Tina and Tina is looking at Tim.
Tim and Tina are looking at themselves. = Tim is looking at himself and Tina is looking at herself.

- 5 Complete the sentences with a reflexive pronoun. Which sentences are true for you?
- My phone switches itself off if I don't use it for a while.
 - My father bought himself a new laptop recently.
 - When I go out with my friends, we always enjoy ourselves.
 - I hate it when people don't introduce themselves.
 - My mum is teaching herself how to play the guitar.

WRITING

An opinion essay

I can write an essay to express my opinion and support it with relevant examples.

1 SPEAKING Read the news report and discuss the questions.

- 1 What is your opinion of the politician's comments?
- 2 How frequently do you usually check your phone?
- 3 What do you think it means to be addicted to your phone?

Are young people enjoying life?

A politician has upset young people with the comments he made during a television interview this week. He said, 'Today's teenagers have forgotten the simple pleasures of life such as conversation with friends and family, and time spent outdoors in our beautiful country. If something isn't available in a three-minute YouTube video, or can't be 'liked' on Facebook, then it is of no interest to anyone under the age of eighteen. We live in a nation of lazy, phone-addicted young people who have no idea how to really enjoy life.'

2 After a class discussion on this news item, Oliver wrote an opinion essay. What do you think about the points he makes?

Oliver Gleeson, class 6C

It is not unusual for older generations to criticise younger people's lifestyles. For instance, a politician said recently that the young people in this country were lazy and did not know how to enjoy life. In my view, these comments are incorrect and unfair.

To begin with, I would like to point out that not all young people are addicted to their phones. Many communicate and share interests online, but most of us do not spend all our free time there. For example, my friends and I regularly meet and spend time doing and talking about the things we enjoy. In other words, we have real lives.

Next, as far as I am concerned, most young people are not lazy. For instance, like many of my friends, I am studying for my final exams and learning to drive at the moment. In addition, I play the guitar and go mountain biking most weekends. Put another way, we are too busy to be lazy.

Lastly, it seems to me that the majority of young people do enjoy life. Many of us have social lives which include a range of sports, hobbies and interests. Moreover, plenty of these activities involve spending time with friends and making the most of our beautiful country.

In summary, I do not think the politician who made these comments understands today's young people. I think he should visit some local schools, talk to some teenagers and find out what their lives are really like.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 41 An opinion essay (15 min.) pp. 214, 262
- Read the title of the first text and ask students what things they enjoy doing and how they would answer the question in the title.

3 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- How similar or different are you to Oliver and his friends?
- How would you respond if somebody called you 'lazy' or 'phone addicted'?
- What are the main differences between the way your generation, your parents' generation and your grandparents' generation 'enjoy life'?

- Conclusion
Include a ⁸summary of your main point of view. Use different words to the statement in the introduction.
Include a final comment which leaves the ⁹reader with something to think about.

5 SPEAKING Discuss what you think about three more comments made by older people criticising teenage lifestyles. How many arguments can you think of in response?

- Teenagers do not understand the value of things. They want all the latest fashions, the most expensive phones and laptops, and they want them all now. They don't seem to realise that these things cost money!
- Teenagers do not respect the opinions of adults. They think they know best and don't value our experience. They seem to forget that we were once teenagers too.
- Teenagers don't read anymore. They don't value the importance of books. As a result, their language skills suffer and they can't express themselves very well.

6 Choose one of the comments in Exercise 5 and prepare three detailed arguments in response.

- Decide on a logical order for your three arguments.
- Write the arguments up as three paragraphs.
- Use linkers to structure your work.

8 Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first, beginning with the word given.

- I think the celebrity's comments were extremely negative and unhelpful.
It seems to me that the celebrity's comments were extremely negative and unhelpful.
- My parents taught me to be well-mannered. In addition, we are expected to be polite at school.
My parents taught me to be well-mannered.
What is more, we are expected to be polite at school.
- In my opinion, there are many selfish people in the world and not all of them are young.
As far as I am concerned, there are many selfish people in the world and not all of them are young.
- For example, lots of young people do voluntary work or raise money for charity.
For instance, lots of young people do voluntary work or raise money for charity.
- In other words, most young people are aware of the importance of being a good citizen.
What I mean is that most young people are aware of the importance of being a good citizen.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

9 Do the writing task. Use the ideas in Exercise 8, the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

A celebrity said in a radio interview recently, 'Today's young people are unfriendly, selfish and have no manners. It seems they have not been taught to be good citizens by their parents or their schools'. Write an essay in which you:

- present your opinion on the celebrity's comments,
- give reasons and examples to support your point of view.

- 7 3.40 Read sections B and C in the SPEAKING FOCUS and complete the texts. Listen again and check your answers.

FOR

In my opinion, there are a lot of ¹advantages to doing voluntary work. ²One benefit is that it makes people think about other people who are less fortunate than they are. What I ³mean is that if you do voluntary work, you will understand the problems that exist in society. Another ⁴benefit of doing voluntary work is that you become a better person – less selfish and more generous.

AGAINST

First of all, I agree that there are a lot of advantages to doing voluntary work, but I think there are ⁵drawbacks too. One of the ⁶main disadvantages of voluntary work is that it can take up a lot of time. What I mean is, voluntary work could stop you helping your own family or friends, or take time away from your studies. ⁷Another disadvantage of voluntary work is that you don't earn money, so you are still dependent on your parents for everything. To be ⁸honest, I think we should learn to be independent from our parents as soon as possible.

- 8 SPEAKING Choose a topic. Student A: make notes on the advantages. Student B: make notes about the disadvantages. Discuss your ideas. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

- being an only child
- single-sex schools
- taking part in sports competitions
- wearing a school uniform
- being a man/woman
- owning a pet

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

Divide students into teams. Call out a word or expression for the first team. They have to explain the meaning and use it in a sentence. Give one point for the meaning and two points for using it correctly. Continue round the teams. The team with the most points at the end wins.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

- Complete the sentences with words from the unit. The first letter of each word is given.
 - The bank robber will have to serve a sentence of twelve years.
 - The witness was afraid to show her face in court, so she was allowed to describe what she had seen in a private room.
 - There are some criminals who take advantage of older people, getting their banking information and stealing their money.
 - I don't think this case will go to court because both sides seem to be willing to forget about what happened.
- Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in capitals.
 - It's hard to be a victim of a mugger because you never really feel safe in the streets after it happens. MUG
 - He was accused of the theft of a valuable painting, but he claimed he hadn't taken it. THIEF
 - Before criminals burgle a house, they make sure no one is at home. BURGLAR
 - It was shocking to learn that the arsonist who set the school on fire was actually a fire fighter. ARSON
 - We have reduced vandalism in our area by having the offenders repair the damage. VANDAL
- Complete the second sentence with up to five words so that it has a similar meaning to the first.
 - Next month the government will release five political prisoners.
Next month five political prisoners will be released.
 - A prison guard took John to his new cell.
John was taken to his new cell.
 - The lawyer's speech has impressed the jury.

 - Was John released (John/release) from hospital yesterday?
 - Jill was so nervous in court that she found it difficult to express herself clearly (express/clearly).
- Complete the text with one word in each gap.

CHRISTMAS JUMPER DAY

Christmas is traditionally a time of giving. Apart from looking for perfect gifts for friends and family members, or buying themselves new clothes so they can look good, a lot of people also think about those who are less fortunate and need to ¹ be helped in various ways.

At this time of the year, most charities ² raise money collected by volunteers so that they can help the homeless or the elderly and can ³ make a difference to these people's lives.

One of the most interesting campaigns in the UK is Christmas Jumper Day, which usually takes place on the second Friday of December.

The idea is that special Christmas jumpers should be worn on this day and that people should donate at least £1 to Save the Children, the charity which organises the event. Every year the donations ⁴ are used to help children in 120 countries by providing them with healthcare and food which they cannot afford to purchase by themselves.

Why do people support this campaign? ⁵ In my view, they do so because it's a fun and easy way of ⁶ doing a good deed! Almost everyone in the UK has got a Christmas jumper. Many people don't buy them – they are a popular Christmas present.

Caring for the community

How can a dog change your life?

Ever since I was quite seriously bitten by a dog when I was a young child, I had been terrified of those animals. When I saw someone walking a dog, I would immediately rush to the other side of the street. When I planned to visit friends, I always made it clear that their dogs had to be put elsewhere during my visit. I had told myself many times that my fear was silly, but I simply couldn't control myself. Every time I got close to a dog I started shaking. I didn't know how to free myself from my fear.

Then one day I read a short article in the local newspaper about a rescue shelter that needed volunteers for dog-walking and other duties, and it was as if a light came on in my mind. I suddenly realised that all I had to do was face my fear. I immediately called the shelter and made an appointment to visit the next day.

When I arrived, I introduced myself to Susan, the person who was going to train me, and then I explained my issues with dogs. She said that I wasn't the first person to come in with that problem, and she felt sure I would feel differently as soon as I had met a few of the animals. Then she led me to a kennel where a large brown dog, Buddy, was sleeping. He immediately stood up and looked at me, then walked over and put his nose close to my hand. At first, we looked at each other with suspicion, and I suddenly felt really scared. But as soon as I saw the look of hope in Buddy's eyes, I was convinced.

Susan explained that Buddy had been brought to the shelter by the police after they had arrested his owner on suspicion of drug dealing, shoplifting and other crimes. Buddy's owner was likely to spend a long time in jail, and Susan was certain that Buddy would need a new home. 'And look,' she said. 'He already likes you! You're actually the first man he's not been afraid of.'

I spent many hours with Buddy, walking and feeding him, and we became close friends. After several weeks, I announced that I was ready to take Buddy home. Some of my more cynical friends claimed that I had been pretending to be afraid of dogs all along, and others have said they were amazed to hear I was adopting a pet of any kind. But all I can say is that Buddy has introduced me to many of the small pleasures of life, and we are so close that now we are helping young offenders come back to life outside of prison by getting them to volunteer at animal shelters.

- 1 What was the narrator's relationship with dogs before he went to the shelter?
 - A He was ashamed of the way he felt about them.
 - B He did everything he could to avoid them.
 - C He had learned to tolerate his friends' dogs.
 - D He had made several attempts to get over his fears.
- 2 The narrator's first impression of Buddy was that the dog was ...
 - A dangerous.
 - C hopeful.
 - B ill and miserable.
 - D happy to be in the shelter.
- 3 What does the narrator's new idea involve?
 - A Adopting more pets.
 - B Helping young people who have committed crimes.
 - C Getting dogs away from criminals.
 - D Training dogs to work with young criminals.

SPEAKING

- 8 Look at the diagram. It shows advice about how people can protect their homes from theft. In pairs, follow these steps.

- Talk to each other about how useful this advice is.
- Decide which piece of advice is the most useful.

- 9 Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 In your opinion, what is the right thing to do when you suspect your house has been burgled? Why?
- 2 What can people do to make their neighbourhoods safer?
- 3 Do you think that a city monitoring system would make your town or city a safer place to live? Why?/Why not?
- 4 Some people say that there were fewer crimes in the past. Do you agree? Why?/Why not?

WRITING

BBC Distressing jeans

BEFORE YOU WATCH

- 1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.
- How many pairs of jeans do you have?
 - Where were your jeans made?
 - Which styles and colours do you like best? Why?
Suggested styles: baggy, bootcut, boyfriend, cropped, distressed, flared, skinny, slim, straight-leg, etc.
- 2 Put the adjectives describing jeans under the appropriate heading. Use a dictionary if necessary.

(destroyed distressed immaculate pristine second-hand vintage)

New/Good condition	Old/Bad condition
immaculate, pristine	destroyed, distressed, second-hand, vintage

- 5 How does the presenter sum up the difference between young people's and old people's attitude to jeans? Younger people want jeans to look older, older people want jeans to look younger.
- 6 1 Watch the rest of the video (02:01–03:16) again and put the stages of the distressing process in the correct order.
- The grinding machine 2
 - More washing with stones and bleach 5
 - Adjusting the crinkles by hand 6
 - Using sand paper to produce white lines 1
 - It's finished! 7
 - More sanding to produce holes 3
 - It's over to the wet processing area 4
- 7 How does the presenter react to his jeans being distressed?
*sanding – not happy (he grimaces) wet processing – he shouts out 'I don't want pink trousers!'
adjusting the crinkles – amused – no time to get a crinkle*

WHILE YOU WATCH

- 3 1 Watch the video and answer the questions about distressed jeans.
- Where are they made?
 - Why are they made?
 - How are they made?
- 4 1 Complete four extracts from the first part of the video (up to 02:01) with the adjectives from Exercise 2. Then watch again and check your answers.
- The worldwide market for denim jeans is enormous, and one of the most popular styles is distressed jeans.
 - We're in India, we're just heading towards a denim factory that distresses denim and makes it look second-hand.
 - Do you find it slightly strange that you take something that is immaculate and pristine and you totally destroy it?
 - Yes, mostly young people like garments with a more distressed look, more vintage look.

AFTER YOU WATCH

- 8 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.
- Why do you think people pay more for distressed jeans than normal jeans?
 - Do you agree that 'destroying denim is all about pretending that you've been through something that you haven't'?

Exercise 3

- Turkey, China, The Philippines, Mexico, India
- Because people like the older used look.
- In factories, by grinding, sanding, colouring etc.

Have you bought any new clothes recently?

- 1 Which of the clothes in the box do you own? Compare with a partner.

a beanie boots a hoodie fun socks a necklace a perfect-fitting blazer running shoes sandals shorts sunglasses swimwear a trench coat a waterproof jacket

- 2 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions.

- 1 Have you got a piece of clothing that you wear with everything?
- 2 Have you been shopping recently? What did you get? Is there anything you've been planning to buy but haven't yet?
- 3 What is your favourite place to go shopping for clothes?
- 4 Do you spend a lot on clothes? Why?/Why not?

- 3 4 Watch the beginning of the video (up to 0:48) and complete the text. What is Jason's problem?

I ¹ own one pair of jeans that I wear with everything. They're black, they're ² skinny and they're perfect for me. But they're so ³ old and tatty now, I need to find some new ones. I tried to go shopping the other day, but I just couldn't ⁴ find any that I liked.

- 4 4 Watch the second part of the video (0:49–1:39) and write down what the people have bought recently.

Holly	holiday clothes (T-shirts, shorts, sunglasses, swimwear)
Noah	clothes for his children
Laura	a trench coat

- 3 What does Laura want to buy?
A new pair of boots.
- 4 Why does Kristina need new sunglasses?
Because she lost hers.
- 5 What kind of running shoes does Peter want to buy?
Supportive for his feet.
- 6 How long has Lauren been looking for a blazer?
For two years.

FOCUS ON LIFE SKILLS

Communication • Creativity • Teamwork

- 6 Work in groups of four or five and create a 30–60-second advert for a piece of clothing.

- Step 1: Think of examples of clothing adverts you like or remember. Answer the following questions:
- Did the adverts make you laugh? Did they inspire emotions?
 - What do you particularly remember about these adverts?

TIP: Most successful adverts inspire positive emotions. Think what feelings you would like your viewers to have.

- Step 2: Select a piece of clothing or an accessory you want to sell. Choose an item from Exercise 1 or use your own ideas.
- Give it a name.
 - Answer the following questions:
What is most important about the product?
What makes it different?
Why might people want to buy it?
Then think how you can show this in your advert.
 - Create a short story (script) for your ad. Think about the action (what happens), the location (setting) and the characters. You may take notes or draw pictures to help you.
 - Write the advert's slogan(s).

- Step 3:
- Practise performing the advert.
 - Perform it to your class live OR record a video and show it to the class.

- 3 5 Watch the video and check your ideas in Exercise 2.
- 4 5 Watch the video again and answer the questions.
 - 1 What are the Brujas?
 - 2 Where do they meet?
 - 3 Who has started the group?
 - 4 Why have they created the group?
 - 5 How many members does the group have at the moment?
 - 6 What do the Brujas want?

5 Match 1–8 with a–h to make phrases. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- | | | |
|-----------------------|----------|---------------------|
| 1 settle | d | a belonging |
| 2 give you a sense of | a | b bond |
| 3 take you by | g | c of sth/sb |
| 4 be exclusive | h | d for sth |
| 5 degrading | f | e your comfort zone |
| 6 have a special | b | f comments |
| 7 be proud | c | g surprise |
| 8 out of | e | h to sb |

6 5 Complete the sentences with the phrases in Exercise 5. Then watch the second part of the video (00:45–02:46) again and check your answers.

- Ideally, the Brujas would like their own skatepark but in the meantime, they'd settle for one day a week when only girls were allowed.
- The Brujas have a special bond. They're proud of their heritage and being part of an all-female skater crew gives them a sense of belonging.
- Street culture, it's still exclusive to men. Just when you're at the park, like, it can be very uncomfortable sometimes to hear, you know, degrading comments or even just the way that some of these men talk about the women in their lives.
- Falling is, in its own way, one of my favourite things about skating, because it kind of takes you by surprise and knocks you out of your comfort zone, and you hit the ground, and you're like 'argh!' But then you feel invigorated by falling.

AFTER YOU WATCH

7 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- Which activities (if any) are better in boy-only or girl-only groups?
- What are the advantages of being part of a group?
- Do you belong to any groups or teams? What kind?
- What kind of activities take you out of your comfort zone? Do you enjoy it? Why?/Why not?

Exercise 3

POSITIVE:
 belonging to an all-female crew;
 falling; going fast

NEGATIVE:
 being called 'witches'; male comments;
 lack of female-only skate parks

Exercise 4

- 1 A skater crew.
- 2 At a skatepark in The Bronx, New York.
- 3 Three girls from Chile and Dominica, The Brujas.
- 4 Because there has never been a girl crew before.
- 5 Twenty.
- 6 Their own skatepark.

6 Make a timeline.

A timeline is a graphical representation of a period of time on which important events are marked. Look at the example below.

Choose a famous athlete. Research his/her biography, then prepare a timeline with the most important facts of his/her life.

TIP: It's best to use at least three different sources of information, e.g. an encyclopedia, an official website and newspaper articles.

Step 1: Research your topic.

- While reading and collecting information about the athlete of your choice, begin making notes about important or interesting events.
- Make a list of events to include (at least five).

Step 2: Create your project.

- Draw your timeline and label it with the project title.
- Put the most important dates on the timeline and write down a short description of each one.
- Use different colours or fonts to make your timeline attractive and to draw attention to its most important elements.

Step 3: Use the timeline to make a short presentation about the athlete of your choice.

2.6 USE OF ENGLISH

BBC Chameleons

BEFORE YOU WATCH

- 1 You are going to watch a video about chameleons in the wild. Which words or phrases in the box are you likely to hear? Use a dictionary if necessary. Compare with a partner.

hunting high tide targets prey stick insect weapon tongue matchstick jungle predator mountain range escape praying mantis die out lightning strike insect

WHILE YOU WATCH

- 2 19 SPEAKING Listen to the first part of the video (up to 00:52) without looking at the screen and discuss what you expect to see.
- 3 19 Watch the first part of the video (up to 00:52) and check your ideas in Exercise 2.

- 4 19 Watch the whole video and answer the questions.

- 1 How do the Parson's chameleon, the nasutum chameleon and the praying mantis catch their prey?
- 2 What extraordinary abilities do these animals have?

- 5 19 Watch the video again. Which three words or phrases in Exercise 1 are NOT used?

High tide, mountain range, die out.

- 6 Match 1–6 with a–f to make expressions. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- | | | |
|-----------------------|----------------------------|----------------------|
| 1 see and not | <input type="checkbox"/> d | a slow motion |
| 2 a never-ending game | <input type="checkbox"/> c | b as its stomach |

| 4 eyes as big | <input type="checkbox"/> b | d be seen |
| 5 its body moves in | <input type="checkbox"/> a | e still and blend in |
| 6 it pays to sit | <input type="checkbox"/> e | f its secret weapon |

- 7 19 Complete the text with the expressions in Exercise 6. Then watch the video again and check.

Hunting is ¹ a never-ending game of hide and seek .
 Here ² it pays to sit still and blend in . Because you just never know who's watching. The Parson's chameleon is an expert in the ³ see and not be seen business. It lets its eyes do all the work while the rest of ⁴ its body moves in slow motion so as not to scare possible targets. The problem is that he can only see prey if it moves. So, is this a stick insect or a stick? Aha. ⁵ Time to unleash its secret weapon : a tongue longer than its body.

The Parson's close cousin, the nasutum chameleon has the same weapon but in miniature. As small as a matchstick it needs to get much closer to its prey. But even with ⁶ eyes as big as its stomach this isn't the meal deal he was hoping for.

AFTER YOU WATCH

- 8 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- 1 Has anything in the video surprised you?
- 2 Do you think it is worth watching nature documentaries? Why?/Why not?
- 3 If you had the chance to make a nature documentary, what topic you would focus on? Why?

Exercise 4

- 1 The Parson's chameleon and the nasutum chameleon with their tongues. Praying mantis with its arms.
- 2 The Parson's chameleon and the nasutum chameleon – tongue longer than their body, extremely fast-moving tongue; Praying mantis – seeing in 3-D

Do you think London is an eco-friendly city?

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- How can we be eco-friendly?
- What can be done to make a city less polluted?
- Do you think the place where you live is eco-friendly?

2 21 Watch the beginning of the video (up to 0:48) and complete the sentences.

- My friend's just come back from Copenhagen and he keeps telling me how eco-friendly and green and clean it is. I think it might be the cleanest place in the world.
- I've lived in London all my life and it's never seemed that polluted to me. I mean, we recycle, the air doesn't seem too dirty and we have a congestion zone.

3 21 Watch the second part of the video (0:49–2:04) and match the statements with the names in the box.

(Alex Devesh Kes Noah)

- London has good access to green spaces. Noah
- Cycling is getting a little bit easier. Kes
- The use of diesel engines in taxis and buses makes the pollution very bad. Alex
- The Green Zone has cut down a lot of emissions. Devesh

4 21 Watch the rest of the video (2:05–3:20). Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)?

- Alex thinks the least polluted place in the UK is somewhere very rural. T
- Devesh has never been to Wales. F
- Kes thinks the least polluted place in the UK is a small Scottish island. T
- Noah says Durham is quite polluted. F

5 In pairs or groups of three, write a short speech (up to eight minutes) about what every teenager can do to help protect the environment.

Step 1: Develop your main idea. You should decide what you want to say and what you want the audience to learn from it.

TIP: In a speech or presentation, you usually say the same thing three times, just a bit differently each time. First you introduce your idea, then you develop it, and finally you sum it up.

Step 2: Decide on the details of your speech and what specific advice you want to give – this will be the main part of your presentation. You can use the solutions in the box to help you or your own ideas.

(buy less buy local food go vegan limit use of plastic packaging ride a bicycle or use public transport recycle save energy/water)

Step 3: Using your notes from steps 1 and 2, prepare an outline of your speech. Your main message should be the introduction, the details from step 2 should be the main/middle part and the summary should be what you want the audience to learn.

TIP: Remember to keep your ideas short and simple.

Step 4: Fill in all three parts of your speech until you have a complete text.

Step 5: Practise presenting your speech in groups and choose a representative to present it to the class.

Final step: Deliver your speech!

BBC Caffeine alternatives

BEFORE YOU WATCH

- 1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.
- Which caffeine-based drinks (coffee, tea, cola, energy drinks, etc.) do you drink regularly?
 - What effect does too much caffeine or not enough caffeine have on you, if any?
 - What do you eat or drink if you need to stay awake or stay alert for something?

- 2 Complete the table with the adjectives in the box to describe the different effects caffeine can have on people. Use a dictionary if necessary.

active alert anxious awake drowsy jittery sleepy
not enough caffeine	drowsy, sleepy
the right amount of caffeine	active, awake
too much caffeine	anxious, jittery

WHILE YOU WATCH

- 3 24 Match natural alternatives to coffee 1–4 with descriptions a–d. Then watch the first part of the video (up to 02:02) and check your answers.
- | | | | |
|---------------|----------|---------------|----------|
| 1 Sugar/fudge | c | 3 Chewing gum | d |
| 2 Sage | a | 4 Placebo | b |
- A herb that contains a chemical that helps the connection between brain cells.
 - A substance used to check that people don't feel different just because they're taking a pill.
 - A sweet snack containing glucose for an energy boost.
 - A food that research suggests could make us more alert.

- 4 SPEAKING Discuss which alternative you think is most likely to increase alertness and which to improve performance.
 Increase alertness: chewing gum.
 Improve performance: sage.
- 5 24 Watch the rest of the video (02:03–4:05) and check your ideas in Exercise 4. Which results do you find surprising?
- 6 24 Complete the sentences from the video with the correct form of the adjectives in Exercise 2. Watch again and check.

And, of course, there's the added bad side of the fact that if I have too much of the stuff, it makes me ¹ jittery and ² anxious, which is the last thing I want as a surgeon who has to hold a knife in their hands. So what are the alternatives if we want something to help us stay ³ awake and ⁴ alert?

I would've thought that if you have sugar at that point in the day where you're feeling a bit ⁵ sleepy and ⁶ drowsy, that that really perks you up. So it seems that sage could be the alternative we've been looking for to make us more ⁷ active in the afternoon. But are you sure you're ready to swap your cappuccino for a leaf of sage?

- 5 In small groups, prepare a 'Health and Fitness' questionnaire to research the habits of the students in your school. Then present your results to the class.

Step 1: In groups, create a list of at least eight questions for the questionnaire. Ask about the issues in the box.

(be ill do sport eat regular meals feel tired go to sleep at the same time have problems falling asleep spend time outdoors study at night use social media before going to bed)

For each question, prepare three possible answers, e.g.

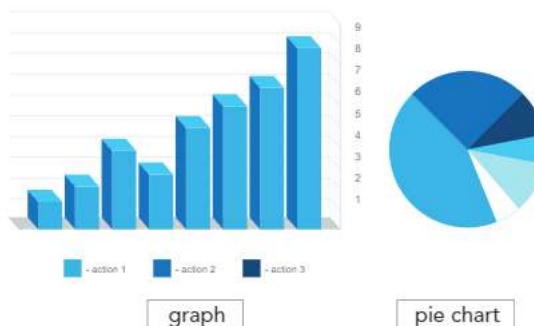

How often do you study at night?

- never
- only before exams
- regularly

Step 2: Do the questionnaire in your class, then visit other classes to ask your questions. Try to visit as many classes as possible, because the more data you have, the more accurate your results will be.

Step 3: When the questionnaire is complete, look at the results and draw conclusions. Do the students in your school have good or bad exercise/sleep habits? Why?

Step 4: Sum up the results in graphical form (e.g. a pie chart or graph). Look at the examples below.

Create a poster or a short computer presentation, then present it to your class.

- Step 5: Inform other classes about the results of your questionnaire. For instance, you could write an article for the school magazine or a post on the school blog, or you could prepare a poster giving advice.

Exercise 2

- Going vegan, exercising more/taking up a new sport, sleeping more.
- Not only do you need a certain amount of hours sleep, but you can also do things that will improve the quality of your sleep.

Exercise 4

- He reads a book and uses the right lighting.
- A white noise machine.
- He eats at consistent times.
- Hot milk.
- Just goes straight to bed and sleeps.
- He puts it away half an hour before falling asleep.

Focus Vlog About television

What is your favourite TV series?

1 SPEAKING Do you know any of the TV series below? Which ones would you like to watch? Discuss with a partner.

- The Good Place*: a fantasy-comedy about a woman who gets into heaven by mistake.
- Dr Who*: a science-fiction series featuring a time machine (TARDIS) disguised as a police telephone box.
- Friends*: one of the most popular sitcoms of all time.
- Gilmore Girls*: a comedy drama about family and relationships.
- Suits*: a legal drama.
- Dear White People*: a comedy-drama about racism in America.
- Still Game*: a Scottish sitcom about pensioners.

2 30 Watch the first part of the video (up to 00:40) and complete the sentences.

- Jason has spent the weekend watching his favourite TV series.
- He can't remember the last time he went to the cinema.

3 30 Watch the second part of the video (00:41–01:34) Complete the table with the titles of TV series in Exercise 1.

	What TV series do you enjoy watching?
Céire	Gilmore Girls, Suits, Friends
Shannon	Dear White People
Lauren	Still Game
Kes	The Good Place
Luda	Dr Who

4 30 Watch the rest of the video (1:35–2:57) and complete the sentences.

- In a TV series, there are mini-story lines, which is a lot more refreshing to watch than just watching one long film at once.
- People can see the development of their favourite characters and then get emotionally attached.
- It seems like all the talent is (working) on TV and not movies.
- I guess new technology is making it easier for people to choose which TV series they watch.
- I think TV series allow people to experience things without having to leave the safety and comfort of their homes.

5 SPEAKING Do you agree with the comments in Exercise 4? Discuss with a partner.

FOCUS ON LIFE SKILLS

Communication • Creativity • Teamwork

6 In groups of four, write one or two scenes for an episode of your favourite TV series.

- Step 1: Choose your favourite TV series and start exploring the main character(s), setting, genre, general plot and typical themes. Note down ideas and a few possible storylines. Decide if you want to use a continuation of an existing storyline or something new.

TIP: When writing, remember about your series genre. For example, a romantic comedy does not normally have elements of science fiction, and a crime story is not usually comic.

- Step 2: Choose how many scenes (one or two) you want to write. Decide on the main plot and number of characters. Do not use the name of the TV series: your classmates will have to guess what it is.

- Step 3: Write out each dialogue. You can also use visuals (drawings or photos) to help you order your ideas.

- Step 4: Practise acting out your scene(s).

- Step 5: Present your scene(s) to the class and have them guess the name of the series.

Focus Vlog About social media

How do you and your friends stay in touch with one another online?

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

- Do you use social media?
- What do you generally use it for? Which apps do you use?
- What are some of the pros and cons of using social media?
- How do things on social media impact your life offline?

2 37 In the first part of the video (up to 0:48), Jason uses the term 'cyber detox'. Complete the definition of cyber detox with the words in the box. There is one extra word.

(digital devices interactions state social media)

A cyber detox refers to a ¹ state when an individual gives up or suspends their use of ² digital devices to spend that time on social ³ interactions and activities.

3 SPEAKING What is Jason's opinion on cyber detoxes? Do you agree with him?

He can't imagine not using social media for longer than one day.

4 37 Watch the second part of the video (0:49–2:14) and match the speakers with the activities.

- | | | |
|-----------|-----|---|
| 1 Holly | (b) | a uses Facebook groups and Snapchat. |
| 2 Ruslan | (a) | b no longer sends texts. |
| 3 Alex | (c) | c contacts friends through WhatsApp. |
| 4 Shannon | (e) | d uses Snapchat and Instagram. |
| 5 Céire | (f) | e uses video calls. |
| 6 Peter | (d) | f says people can follow their friends' lives through social media. |

5 37 Watch the rest of the video (2:15–3:44).

Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)?

- Holly doesn't find social media addictive. (F)
- Ruslan found it easy not to use social media for a full year. (T)
- Alex used Facebook too much and deleted it. (T)
- Shannon never turns her phone off, even in a library. (F)
- Céire is bored by social media. (F)
- Peter is now more responsible after going on a cyber detox. (T)

FOCUS ON LIFE SKILLS

Creativity • Critical thinking • Collaboration

6 Technology has made it easier for people to work together to solve real problems or to support a cause. In pairs, prepare a social media campaign for a cause that you care about. Choose one of the following topics or use your own ideas:

(raising money for a local animal shelter donating clothes for the area's poorest families petitioning the town hall to keep the local bus service)

- Step 1: Choose the problem you want to solve or the cause you want to support.
- Step 1: Set the goal(s) of your campaign: decide what goal you want to achieve and what kind of people you need to address.
- Step 3: Decide how you could use social media to support your cause.
- Step 4: Create a social media plan. Answer the questions:
- How will you use social media? Alone or will your campaign combine social media and other strategies?
 - Which platform or social media apps will work best for your cause or project?
 - What specific message or strategy will you use in each social media site or platform?
- Step 5: Think of a slogan for your campaign.
- Step 6: Create a visual display to present your social media plan to your classmates.

1.2 Dynamic and state verbs

Dynamic verbs like do, work and play describe actions and can be used in both types of tenses – simple (e.g. the Present Simple) and continuous (e.g. the Present Continuous):

I often listen to classical music.

I'm listening to Mozart now.

State (or stative) verbs include:

- attitude verbs (describing feelings, emotions, preferences, etc.), e.g. hate, like, love, prefer
- mental/thinking verbs, e.g. believe, know, need, remember, think, understand, want
- sense/perception verbs, e.g. feel, hear, see.

State verbs are mostly used in simple tenses, even if they refer to something happening at the moment of speaking:

Do you understand me?

Does she want to go to a music festival?

Some state verbs can be used in the continuous form, but with a change in meaning (e.g. think, have, look):

Do I look good in this dress? (state)

What are you looking at? (action)

1 Choose the correct option.

1.5 Present Perfect Continuous

We use the Present Perfect Continuous to talk about:

- actions which started in the past and continue into the present:
I have been waiting for her since 8 o'clock.
- events which lasted for some time (and may continue into the present) and whose results can be seen now:
I'm tired because I've been painting all day.

Like the Present Perfect Simple, common time expressions used with the Present Perfect Continuous include for and since.

Affirmative			Negative
I/You/ We/ They	've (have)	been crying.	I/ You/ We/ They	haven't (have not)	been crying.
He/ She/It	's (has)		He/ She/ It	hasn't (has not)
Yes/No questions			Short answers
Have	I/you/ we/they	been crying?	Yes, I/you/we/they have . No, I/you/we/they haven't .
Has	he/she/ it		Yes, he/she/it has . No, he/she/it hasn't .
Wh- questions			Subject questions
How long	have has	I/you/ we/they he/she/it	been crying?	Who	has been crying?

Present Perfect Continuous or Present Perfect Simple?

- We use the Present Perfect Continuous to focus on an action or process (which may or may not be complete). Questions in the Present Perfect Continuous often begin with how long:
How long has she been writing books?
- We use the Present Perfect Simple to focus on an achievement or the result of an action. Questions in the Present Perfect Simple often begin with how many:
How many books has he written?
- We don't use when in questions in either of the two tenses.
- State verbs are generally used in the Present Perfect Simple only.

1 Write sentences from the prompts. Use the Present Perfect Continuous. Add since or for where necessary.

- I / study / art / 2018.
- How long / you / wear / your glasses?
- you / swim / all afternoon?

2.6 so, too, neither/nor, either

We use expressions so/too and neither/nor/either in short statements meaning (me) too or (me) neither. We use these constructions in reaction to somebody's statements to let the other person know that we are in the same situation.

We use so and too in positive statements. The form of an auxiliary or modal verb in short statements must be the same as the form of the main verb and the subject in the sentence to which it refers.

The structure of the short statement is the following:

- so + auxiliary/modal verb + subject (noun/pronoun):
Our football team has let us down recently. So has ours.
I should go jogging every day. So should I.
- subject (noun/pronoun) + auxiliary/modal verb + too:
Michael broke his personal record yesterday. You did too.

We use neither/nor and either to say something is the same or agree with a negative statement.

The structure of the short statement is the following:

- neither/nor + auxiliary/modal verb in a positive form + subject (noun/pronoun):
My coach isn't going to be pleased with my score.
Neither/Nor is mine.
Jerry will never give up running marathons.
Neither/Nor will I.
- subject (noun/pronoun) + auxiliary/modal verb in a negative form + either:
She didn't play for the school team last year. I didn't either.

In the Present Simple the auxiliary verb is do/does:
Rob takes part in tennis competitions twice a year.
So does Joan.

In the Past Simple the auxiliary verb is did:
Last week we qualified for the finals. So did we.

Using Really? and Oh, we react to other person's statement to say something is different, or to disagree with a statement.

The structure of the short comment is the following:

Really?/Oh + subject (noun/pronoun) + auxiliary/modal verb in a form opposite to the one used in the statement to which we are reacting:

I believe that some children should start training at a very early age. Really? I don't.
Most of our fans couldn't get tickets to watch the match.
Oh. Ours could.

1 Choose the correct option.

- Alex is a great tennis player. So / Too is Stefanos.

- Emma didn't go cycling. David didn't either / neither.
- We've got our tickets for the match. So do / have we.

2 Complete the sentences with so/too or neither/either and the correct auxiliary.

- To keep fit, Dan goes for a swim every Friday.
So does Pam.
- Martin has never played squash.
Neither/Nor have they.
- Sam is going to try out the new gym.
So am I.
- They shouldn't give up chess.
Neither/Nor should we.
- As a child, Olga wasn't very competitive.
Her sister wasn't either.
- Hopefully, Pete will talk his parents into doing Nordic walking.
Tina will too.

3 Complete the conversations with the words in brackets. Add verb forms where necessary.

- A: They have never let their coach down.
B: Neither have we. (neither/we)
- A: Their teammates are really ambitious.
B: Ours are too. (ours/too)

3.2 Present and past speculation

Speculating about the present

When speculating about a present situation, we use a modal verb + infinitive. We use:

- must, to express a strong belief that something is true:
John must be very happy working at the zoo.
- might, may and could when we think that it's possible that something is true:
The lions might/may/could be very hungry now.
- can't, to express a strong belief that something isn't true:
It can't be a domestic cat. It's too big.

Speculating about the past

When speculating about a past situation or event, we use a modal verb + have + the Past Participle form of the main verb.

We use:

- must have, to express a strong belief that something happened:
You must have lost your mobile at the zoo.
- might have, may have and could have, when we think that it's possible that something happened:
Lucy might/may/could have missed the train.
- can't have and couldn't have, to express a strong belief that something didn't happen:
Peter can't/couldn't have gone home.

3.5 Used to and would

We use used to/would (+ infinitive) to talk about past states or actions that happened regularly in the past:

- We use used to for states (e.g. be, have, believe, like, love, live) or actions:

I didn't use to like travelling by plane. (But I do now.)
She used to write travel guides. (But she doesn't any more.)

- We use would for actions (but not states), usually in affirmative sentences:

When I was a teenager, I would visit my grandma every Sunday.

Affirmative	I used to go backpacking every summer. I would go backpacking every summer.
Negative	I didn't use to buy flight tickets online.
Yes/No questions	Did he use to go on holiday in August?
Wh- questions	What did he use to eat?
Subject questions	Who used to go to the seaside on holiday?

When we talk about a single past action or when we don't want to emphasise the difference between the past and the present, we use the Past Simple instead of used to/would:

Two years ago they went on holiday to France.
I often travelled to China.

1 Write sentences from the prompts. Use would if possible. If not, use used to.

- Jill / get home / at 7 p.m. every day

3.6 Phrasal verbs

Phrasal verbs are expressions that consist of a verb or a particle (particles), thanks to which the verb gains a new meaning:

look – look up (=check)

Most phrasal verbs have their equivalents in formal language:

put up a tent = construct/erect a tent

The meaning of phrasal verbs may be:

- literal: Why don't you take off your coat?
- idiomatic: The plane takes off at 10 a.m.

We can divide phrasal verbs into two groups:

1) inseparable:

• verb + particle + object

There is always an object after the phrasal verb.

When I was running, I bumped into my form teacher.

We dropped our bags and made for the passport control.

• verb + particle

There is no object after the phrasal verb:

Fortunately, a lot of people turned up to the exhibition.

It was a long journey so we set off early in the morning.

• verb + particle + particle + object

There is always an object after the phrasal verb.

I look forward to travelling around America next summer.

It was very hot and we ran out of water very quickly.

2) separable:

There is always an object. If the object is a noun, it can come before or after the particle.

• verb + particle + object

Can you please pick up Laura from the airport?

Can you please pick up her from the airport?

We can't put off booking tickets forever.

We can't put off it forever.

• verb + object + particle

Can you please pick Laura up from the airport?

Can you please pick her up from the airport?

We can't put booking tickets off forever.

We can't put it off forever.

4.2 Future forms

You can use a variety of forms to talk about the future: Present Simple, Present Continuous, Future Simple (will/won't) and be going to + infinitive.

You use the Present Simple to talk about a fixed future event – on a timetable, a schedule or a programme:

Lunch break starts at 12:30 and finishes at 13:30.

You use the Present Continuous to talk about a future arrangement – you often mention a time, a date or a place:

They're giving prizes to the winners of the cookery competition tomorrow in the Town Hall.

You use the Future Simple (will/won't):

- to talk about a spontaneous decision made at the moment of speaking – you react to circumstances:
Wait for me. I'll help you peel the carrots.
- in questions with I and we, for offers and suggestions, you use shall (NOT will):
These bags look heavy. Shall I carry them for you?
Shall we have a barbecue this evening?
- to talk about a future prediction – based on your opinion, prediction or experience:
I can lend you this cookery book but I'll probably need it next week.

You use be going to + infinitive to talk about:

- a future intention – something you have already decided to do:
What are you going to prepare for dinner?
- a future prediction – based on what you can see or what you know:
This cake looks really sweet. Sue isn't going to have any of it.

When you are talking about the future, in complex sentences you use the Present Simple after the conjunctions if, when, as soon as, unless, before and after:

If you drink coffee in the evening, you won't be able to sleep.
Be careful. The biscuits will get dry unless you put them in a tin.

1 Choose the correct option, A, B or C. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.

4.6 Question Tags

Question tags are short questions added at the end of the sentence. They appear almost only in spoken English. We use them for confirmation or to ask a question.

Question tags used for confirmation have a falling intonation: *You know how to cook scrambled eggs, don't you? (↓ We are almost certain the person we are talking to knows how to do it.).

Question tags used to ask a question have a rising intonation: *Your sister is a vegan, isn't she? (↑ We aren't certain the person we are talking to is a vegan.).

You form question tags with an auxiliary verb (be, have, do) or modal verb (e.g. can, will, should) + pronoun (e.g. I, you, she). After a positive statement, you use a negative tag, after a negative statement – a positive tag.

Positive statement + negative tag

*You're going to use stale bread, aren't you?

Negative statement + positive tag

*You haven't eaten unripe bananas, have you?

Special cases

In sentences with I'm, the question tag is aren't I?:

*I'm a good cook, aren't I?

In imperatives, the question tag is will you?:

*Grate some Parmesan cheese, will you?

*Don't order too much food, will you?

In sentences with let's, the question tag is shall we?:

*Let's have a quick snack, shall we?

In sentences with the pronoun that used as a subject, we use the pronoun it in a question tag:

*That's pumpkin soup, isn't it?

5.5 Non-defining relative clauses

Non-defining relative clauses:

- give additional information about the person, thing, place, etc. we are talking about. The sentence still makes sense without this information:

Giant pandas, which are an endangered species, live in the mountains in central China. → Giant pandas live in the mountains in central China.

- are always separated from the rest of the sentence using commas,
- start with relative pronouns who, which, where or whose (but NOT that):

Last year we visited our friends on Aran Islands, where you can see lots of bird species.

We can't leave out the relative pronouns in non-defining relative clauses.

1 Complete the sentences with who, which, where or whose.

6.2 Second Conditional • wish/if only

Second Conditional sentences

We use Second Conditional sentences to talk about present situations or states which are impossible or very unlikely or about something that could happen in the future but is rather improbable:

If you had an accident, who would you call first?

Either of the two clauses can come first in the sentence. When the if-clause comes first, we use a comma after it.

If + Past Simple (condition),	would/wouldn't + infinitive (effect)
If he cycled to work every day,	he would feel healthier.
would/wouldn't + infinitive (effect)	if + Past Simple (condition)
He would feel healthier	if he cycled to work every day.

wish/if only

We use wish/if only + Past Simple to express dissatisfaction with a present situation:

I wish/if only people cared about their own health.

We use wish/if only + would + infinitive to talk about a present situation that we would like to be different, usually when we find it annoying. It usually refers to things we can't change or control:

I wish/if only my sister would hurry up!

If only expresses a stronger feeling of regret than the verb wish.

1 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use the Second Conditional.

- I wouldn't take up (not take up) jogging if I had (have) breathing problems.
- People in my city would do (do) sport more often if there were (be) more sports centres.
- What would you do (you/do) if your teacher asked (ask) you to play in the school basketball team?
- If my grandfather had (have) a dog, he would go (go) for walks more often.
- If you saw (see) an accident, would you be (you/be) able to give someone first aid?
- I wouldn't apply (not apply) for this job as a nurse in France if I didn't know (not know) the language.

6.5 Third Conditional

We use Third Conditional sentences to talk about possible events in the past that did not happen. We often use them to express regret or criticism.

If I had worn a helmet, I wouldn't have got hurt so badly during the fall.

Would you have reached the top earlier if you had chosen a different route?

We use the Past Perfect in the if-clause (describing the condition). In the main clause (describing the effect), we use would/wouldn't + have + the Past Participle of the main verb.

Either of the two clauses can come first in the sentence. When the if-clause comes first, we use a comma after it.

If + Past Perfect (condition),	would/wouldn't have + Past Participle (effect).
If I had cycled more carefully,	I wouldn't have broken my arm. would/wouldn't have + Past Participle (effect)	if + Past Perfect (condition).
I wouldn't have broken my arm	if I had cycled more carefully.

4 UNIT REVIEW Complete the text with one word in each gap.

Our busy lifestyles can put pressure on both adults' and teenagers' well-being. Experts claim that if teenagers ¹had/ate five portions of fruit and vegetables a day, they wouldn't feel tired so often. They should also choose water as a drink rather than soft drinks so ²as to avoid extra sugar. If teenagers ³had been shown how to choose healthy foods, they would ⁴have developed good eating habits in childhood. Another vital thing is getting enough sleep so that their bodies ⁵can rest properly. Young people should do physical activity on a regular basis in ⁶order to stay the right weight.

7.2 Reported Speech – statements

When we want to report what someone said, we can use Direct or Reported Speech.

In Direct Speech the speaker's words are not changed in any way:

'Your son draws well.' → They said, 'Your son draws well.'

In Reported Speech we often report the speaker's words using verbs like add, claim, explain, point out, reply, say, suggest, tell and the pronoun that (which can be omitted). The verb tell takes an object (me, us, John, my friend, etc.).

'I sell paintings.' → She told me/said (that) she sold paintings.

We make the following changes in Reported Speech:

- tenses:

Direct Speech	→	Reported Speech
Present Simple Ann: 'I paint pictures.'	→	Past Simple Ann said (that) she painted pictures.
Present Continuous Ann: 'I am painting a picture.'	→	Past Continuous Ann said (that) she was painting a picture.
Present Perfect Ann: 'I have painted two pictures.'	→	Past Perfect Ann said (that) she had painted two pictures.'
Past Simple Ann: 'I didn't paint it.'	→	Past Perfect Ann said (that) she hadn't painted it.
Past Perfect Ann: 'I hadn't painted before.'	→	Past Perfect Ann said (that) she hadn't painted before.
can/can't Ann: 'I can paint.'	→	could/couldn't Ann said (that) she could paint.
will/won't Ann: 'I won't paint anymore.'	→	would/wouldn't Ann said (that) she wouldn't paint anymore.
am/is/are going to Ann: 'I'm going to paint.'	→	was/were going to Ann said (that) she was going to paint.

- time expressions and words referring to places (depending on the context):

now → at that time/then today → that day yesterday → the day before two hours ago → two hours earlier/before tomorrow → the following day next → the following last → the previous here → there

- time expressions and words referring to places (depending on the context):

this/these → that/those
 I/we → he/she/they me/us → him/her/them
 my → his/her our → their

7.5 Reported Speech – questions and imperatives

Questions

To report questions, we use the verb ask and make the same changes as in reported statements (tenses, pronouns, time expressions, words referring to places, etc.)

- When we report yes/no questions, we use if or whether:
'Has Darina answered all the questions?' → Jan asked me if/whether Darina had answered all the questions.
'Do you often watch TV?' → I asked her if/whether she often watched TV.
- When we report wh- questions, we keep the question word (e.g. what, who, how, where, when):
'How old are you?' → The policeman asked the boy how old he was.
'When did John and Mary split up?' → Sam asked us when John and Mary had split up.

Imperatives

To report imperatives, we use the verbs ask or tell, an object (noun or pronoun) and (not) to + infinitive:

- 'Please stop talking!'* → *The director asked us to stop talking.
'Don't take any photos of me!' → *Darina told the reporter not to take any photos of her.

8.2 The Passive

We use the Passive when we are more interested in the action itself than the 'doer' (the agent) of the action:

This bank has been robbed three times.

However, if we want to mention the agent, we need to use the word by:

The bank was robbed by three men.

We form the passive with an appropriate form of the verb to be and the Past Participle form of the main verb:

The robbers will be arrested soon.

The robbers have been arrested.

The robbers were arrested last night.

Present Simple	Too many crimes are committed every year.
Present Continuous	Tony is being questioned by the police.
Past Simple	When was the money stolen ?
Past Continuous	The police station was still being built in 2005.
Present Perfect	A homeless shelter has just been opened in my town.
Past Perfect	Someone told me I had been seen at the crime scene.
will	He will be sentenced to at least ten years in prison.

1 Rewrite the sentences from active to passive forms. Use by where necessary.

- Somebody has stolen my bicycle.

Exercise 4

Charles Darwin, who was born on the 11th of February 1809, was an English naturalist and geologist. He was the first person to suggest that all species evolved from a single original form of life. He also suggested the theory of natural selection, which attempts to explain why there are now so many different forms of life on Earth.

In the Galapagos Islands, where Darwin studied local birds, he found strong evidence to support his theories. Natural selection, which is sometimes called 'survival of the fittest', is still the most popular scientific explanation for the variety of life found on our planet. Darwin, whose ideas were questioned at first, is now famous as one of the most important thinkers in human history.

5.7 Writing

Exercise 1

- 1 Countries often take pride in their cultural heritage and spend billions on protecting and promoting it.
- 2 However, is it really a good idea when they could use the money to improve the lives of their citizens?
- 3 On the one hand, it seems obvious that all cultures are worth protecting, since every country has something unique to contribute to the world.
- 4 For instance, there are a number of unique languages in central Europe which are spoken by few people. These languages are important to their regions, and they should be protected and promoted, along with the art, music and traditions of these areas.
- 5 On the other hand, the physical well-being of a country may have to be the main focus of its government. A country whose population lacks jobs, homes, medical care or education may not be able to afford to preserve or promote their cultural heritage because the population has more urgent needs.
- 6 Furthermore, countries which are engaged in conflicts may not be able to focus on cultural matters.
- 7 In conclusion, the current circumstances in a country may decide if they can protect their cultural heritage.
- 8 Personally, I hope that there will always be individuals who can give their time and energy to preserving culture until circumstances allow the government to take over.

Unit 1 A new look

1.2 Grammar

Coachella (the Coachella Valley Music and Arts Festival) is one of the largest, most famous and most profitable music and arts festivals in the world. It's held annually in April, in the Empire Polo Club in Indio, California, which is located in the Inland Empire's Coachella Valley in the Colorado Desert. During this three-day event, a lot of popular, established musicians, as well as emerging artists perform live on several separate stages. They play many different genres of music, ranging from rock, indie and hip hop to electronic dance music. Art performances, installations and sculptures are also presented. The festival began in 1993, when Pearl Jam, an American grunge band from Seattle, Washington, performed at the Empire Polo Club. The greatest star of the 2018 Coachella Festival was Beyoncé.

Kings of Leon is an American rock band formed in Nashville, Tennessee, in 1999. The group is made up of three brothers and their cousin, who decided to name the band in honour of their late grandfather, Leon. They started out playing a blend of Southern rock and blues, but through the years their music has evolved into a more alternative genre. They received four Grammy awards. Their best-known singles are Use Somebody and Notion.

Foo Fighters is an American rock and grunge band, formed in Seattle, Washington in 1995 by Dave Grohl – the former drummer of the legendary band Nirvana. Initially, the band was a one-man project and only later was joined by other musicians. The name 'Foo Fighters' comes from a term used by pilots during World War II to describe UFO sightings and other strange aerial phenomena seen in the skies. By 2018 the band had released nine studio albums, four of which won Grammy Awards for Best Rock Albums.

1.4 Reading

James Dean (1931–1955) was a charismatic American actor and a cultural and fashion icon of his generation, characterised by disillusionment and social estrangement. He started his career from shooting commercials. His big screen success came with three major movie roles in East of Eden (1955), Rebel without a Cause (1955) and Giant (1956). Since his acting career lasted only for two years, those were the only movies he made. In 1954 James Dean started racing cars professionally. While driving to a racing event at a great speed, he had a serious accident, got trapped in the vehicle and suffered fatal injuries, including a broken neck. He died on 30th September 1955, at the age of twenty-four. Giant, a film where he played a major role, was released after his death. He was also the first actor to receive an Academy Award nomination posthumously.

Marlon Brando (1924–2004) was an American actor and director, who had a major cultural influence on the 20th-century film industry. His career flourished mostly in the 1950s, when he received his first Academy Award for Best Actor for his performance in On the Waterfront (1954), and in the 1970s, when he won his second Oscar for the role of Vito Corleone in The Godfather (1972). In films he often portrayed bad boys, who led tumultuous lives and didn't care about society and its structure. In real life he behaved similarly. He was also an activist for civil rights and Native American movements. Towards the end of his life he was dangerously overweight and suffered from diabetes. He died in hospital on 1st June 2004 from respiratory and heart failure.

The Beatles were an English rock band, formed in Liverpool, England, in 1960. The members were: John Lennon (rhythm guitarist and peace activist, shot in front of his house in New York in 1980), Paul McCartney (bass guitarist, who still makes music), George Harrison (lead guitarist, who died in 2001) and Ringo Star (drummer, who still tours with his own band). They are the most influential and best-selling band in the history of music, with over 800 million physical and digital discs sold worldwide. They have received seven Grammy Awards and an Academy Award for the Best Original Song Score. Their music is characterised as 1950s rock and roll, rhythm and blues with classical, psychedelic and Indian influences. The band broke up in 1970 due to the pressures of fame and the fact that each band member wanted to follow their own path personally and artistically. They were the first band in history who had audiences screaming and shouting uncontrollably at their concerts.

The Ramones were an American punk rock group set up in New York City in 1974 by four musicians who all took different pseudonyms but added 'Ramone' to them, although they were not related. They became known for their short songs with simple melodies and two–three verse lyrics. Their two most well-known songs were Blitzkrieg Bop and I Wanna Be Sedated. Although they never had any big commercial success, their music is said to have had a major influence on punk rock bands. Musicians from Nirvana and Green Day listed the Ramones as a major source of influence.

The California Gold Rush was a period which saw a rapid influx of gold seekers into California between 1848 and 1855. It's said that when the builder James Marshall was building a sawmill for John Sutter along the river in Coloma, California, he discovered gold flakes in the water. The men tried to keep it a secret, but as soon as word spread, California was invaded by almost 300,000 fortune seekers from Asia, Europe and South America. Because of this invasion, John Sutter's property was destroyed and he soon went bankrupt. However, many people got very rich on finding gold. The Gold Rush led to many bigger cities of prominence being built in that territory, including San Francisco.

1.5 Grammar

The Mona Lisa, or La Gioconda as it is also called, was painted by the Italian artist Leonardo da Vinci between 1503 and 1506. It is a portrait of a woman, famous for her enigmatic smile. Nobody knows for sure who she is, but she is most probably Lisa Gherardini, the wife of a merchant from Florence. Leonardo never delivered the painting to the merchant, but instead took it with him to France, where King Francis I bought it. It has been on display in the Louvre Museum in Paris since 1804 and now around six million people visit it every year.

The Louvre Museum in Paris is one of the most famous and important museums in the world. It is in the Louvre Palace and was originally established as the private collection of King Francis I. However, it became a national art museum at the time of the French Revolution (1793). The Mona Lisa is one of its most famous paintings, but it has a collection of over one million works of art and around 35,000 of these are on display.

Unit 2 It's just a game

2.2 Grammar

Chris Stewart was a British middle- and long-distance runner who made his mark in the mid-70s to 80s. He moved to Los Angeles after his first few events and became American before his first big win in 1981 at the Baltimore Marathon.

Bert Trautmann (1923–2013) was a German professional footballer who played in over 500 games as the goalkeeper for Manchester City from 1949 to 1964. He arrived in Britain as a German Prisoner of War in 1945 and stayed after the war ended. He made his name (and ensured his everlasting popularity as City's goalie) in 1956, after he stayed to finish the game despite suffering a serious injury seventeen minutes before the end of the match. His injury was later discovered to be a fracture to three of the vertebrae in his neck.

The FA Cup, or Football Association Challenge Cup, is the oldest annual football competition in the world. It has been held in England since the 1871–1872 football season and is organised by the Football Association. Clubs of all standards can take part, providing they qualify, and the tournament has become famous for the fact that teams from the lower divisions get the chance to beat and eliminate top clubs from the tournament and could then theoretically go on to win the Cup. For example, in 2012–2013, 758 clubs took part in the FA Cup tournament and Luton Town beat Norwich City, but were unfortunately knocked out before reaching the final.

2.3 Listening

Serena Williams (b. 1981) is an American tennis player who revolutionised women's tennis. She is very athletic and has a very powerful style of play. By 2018 she had won a record twenty-three Grand Slam singles titles and was the women's number one. She has an older sister, Venus Williams, who is also a former number one female tennis player. Serena has also been a great role model for teenage girls, promoting a healthy, sporty lifestyle and positive body image.

Robert Kubica (b. 1984) is the first Polish racing driver ever to compete in Formula One (F1) races. He won his first and only F1 victory in 2008 in the Canadian Grand Prix in Montreal. In 2011 he was seriously injured during the Ronde di Andora Rally. While he was unable to return to Formula One, he focused on rallying instead and won the World Rally Championship-2 in 2013. He returned to Formula One in 2019.

Cristiano Ronaldo (b. 1985) is a Portuguese footballer who has played for the Spanish club Real Madrid, the Italian Juventus and the Portuguese national team. As a child, he was diagnosed with a heart condition, although after undergoing an operation, he began his career. He is officially recognised as one of the two best football players in the world, together with Lionel Messi.

2.4 Reading

Rafael Nadal (b. 1986) is a Spanish professional tennis player, who by 2018 had won seventeen Grand Slam singles titles: eleven French Open titles, three US Open titles, two titles at Wimbledon and one at the Australian Open. He's been ranked number one in the world and is regarded the best clay-court (a court covered with orange crushed minerals) tennis player in history. He plays with his left hand. His greatest rivals are Roger Federer, Novak Djokovic and Andy Murray.

Stephanie Rice (b. 1988) is an Australian former competitive swimmer. She won three gold medals at the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing. In 2009, Queen Elizabeth II also awarded her the Order of Australia, an order of chivalry to recognise Australian citizens' and other persons' achievement or meritorious service. She retired from swimming in 2014.

A balanced diet contains sufficient quantities of all the nutrients our bodies need. Everyone's bodies are different and may require different amounts or types of nutrients. A healthy diet should contain carbohydrates (e.g. potatoes, rice and pasta), fruit and vegetables, proteins (e.g. meat, fish and pulses), some milk and dairy foods and a little fat, salt and sugar. For a healthy diet, balance is very important. This means eating a wide variety of foods in the right proportions, and consuming the right amount of food and drink to achieve and maintain a healthy body weight.

Veganism is a philosophy based on the principle that people should not use animals in any shape or form. There are several types of veganism, but they all are against using animal products. Vegans do not eat meat, eggs and dairy products. There are those who don't consume honey and don't use any animal products, such as leather, feathers, bones, wool or pearls. Most vegans are against animal testing. Vegans can consume fruit and vegetables, beans, grains and seeds.

5.1 Vocabulary

The Great Barrier Reef is the world's largest complex of coral reefs, located in the Pacific Ocean, near the coast of Queensland, Australia. It's made of almost 3,000 coral reefs and 900 islands, which stretch over 2,300 kilometres. It's regarded as the largest structure made by living things and can be seen from outer space. Some corals are dated at half a million years old. The Great Barrier Reef is the home of thousands of species of animals and plants, many of which are endangered. In 1981 it was added to UNESCO's World Heritage List. Unfortunately it's in grave danger due to global warming, drilling for petroleum and commercial fishing.

Ferdinand Magellan (1480–1521) was a Portuguese sailor and explorer. He was the first European to cross the Pacific Ocean and is considered the first person to have sailed around the world. Magellan was raised at the Portuguese royal court, where he learnt map making and navigation. Then he sailed all over the world under the flags of Portugal and Spain. While trying to get to the Philippines in 1520, Magellan crossed a strait which was later named after him (the Strait of Magellan) and sailed into the Pacific Ocean. Magellan was stabbed and killed in a fight in the Philippines. The return journey was led by Juan Sebastian Elcano; it was he and not Magellan who actually sailed back to Spain, thus finishing the first circumnavigation of the Earth.

Humpback whales and blue whales are two species of giant marine mammals from the same family of baleen whales, which migrate from the polar regions to the Equator and the Pacific Ocean. Humpback whales are smaller (up to fifteen metres long) and weigh about thirty-five tonnes. Blue whales are up to thirty metres in length and weigh up to 200 tonnes. Humpback whales have a distinctive shape with a large pectoral fin and knobbly head. They are quite acrobatic and can jump out of water. Humpback whales 'sing' and are considered to be more intelligent, to have better communication skills and better hunting strategies than the blue whales. The blue whales, on the other hand, are the largest and loudest animals around: the noise they make is louder than the noise of a jet engine. They can swim fast, up to thirty-two km/h. Their heads are flat and U-shaped, with a prominent ridge going from the blowholes to the tip of the snout.

Solar panels are panels with photovoltaic cells – these are electrical devices which change light from the sun into electricity. The cells can work even on a cloudy day, they do not need direct sunlight. The electricity can then be used, for example, for lighting, heating water or household appliances. Many people want to use solar panels to power their houses because it is better for the environment.

Recycling is converting waste products into materials or things that can be used again. The main materials which are recycled are glass, paper, plastic, textiles and electronic products. It helps to prevent waste and to protect the environment.

In organic gardens, no chemicals, pesticides or man-made fertilisers are used on the vegetables, fruit and plants. Organic gardeners try to work in harmony with nature so they usually plant native species and also take into consideration the water they use and the wildlife in their gardens.

Low-energy light bulbs use around eighty percent less energy to give off light and last much longer than ordinary light bulbs. With ordinary light bulbs, the heat they give off wastes a lot of electricity. This does not happen with low-energy bulbs. A fifteen-watt low-energy bulb gives about the same amount of light as a sixty-watt ordinary bulb.

Renewable energy is produced using natural resources such as sunlight, wind or waves. These resources generate themselves and will never run out, unlike nuclear energy or fossil fuels. Renewable energy is environmentally friendly and more and more countries, businesses and industries are interested in using it because of the problems of global warming.

Climate change is the change in global weather and climactic conditions. The term is usually used to talk about the changes from the middle of the last century onwards that many scientists believe have been caused by the growing amount of carbon dioxide released into the atmosphere from using fossil fuels such as coal and gas. Many people are worried about climate change as they believe it will be dangerous for the future of the planet.

Bill Bryson (b. 1951) is a best-selling Anglo-American author of books on travel, the English language and other non-fiction topics. His writing is loved and appreciated for being witty, clever, entertaining and accessible. His best-known works are Notes from a Small Island, Neither Here nor There: Travels in Europe, A Walk in the Woods: Rediscovering America on the Appalachian Trail and A Short History of Nearly Everything, which was critically acclaimed for the accessible communication of science.

Skunks are cat-sized mammals native to North America. Their coat is black with white stripes going from the head to the tail. They can't climb, so they look for dens in the ground, mostly in old fields, meadows and rural woodland. They have also moved into urban areas, where they live under woodpiles, porches, etc. Throughout the USA and Canada the animals have become a real nuisance: they undermine constructions and make stairs sink. They also destroy lawns, as they dig looking for grubs and larvae to eat. Skunks give out a horrible odour, which can penetrate even a thick concrete wall and is almost impossible to remove. Finally, they carry rabies, an infectious disease. However, they are also useful, as they feed on insects which are a pest to humans. They eat mice and baby rats, which helps to regulate the rodent population. Skunks help to keep neighbourhoods clean too, as they eat carrion (the flesh of dead animals).

North America is the home of two major species of bear: the black bear and the grizzly (the brown bear). Both species are quite similar in size: they are up to two metres tall (standing on their hind paws), weigh up to 230 kilos and live for about twenty-five years. In the USA black bears mostly live in national parks such as Yellowstone. Although they suffer from loss of habitat and poaching, their population is stable and they are considered a species of least concern. Grizzly bears live mostly in the wild. Although they used to populate almost all of the United States, almost all of the current grizzly bear population lives in Alaska. Although they are called brown bears, their colour ranges from blonde to almost black. However, they have a characteristic hump on the shoulders, which allows us to distinguish them from black bears. Grizzlies are considered more aggressive than black bears when protecting their territory and offspring. In 2017 the Yellowstone grizzly population was removed from the endangered species list, only to be restored to it one year later.

Marla Olmstead (b. 2000) became famous when in 2004 the abstract painting she allegedly painted caught the attention of people and they started buying her pieces for tens of thousands of dollars. But her fame was short-lived. Marla went to school, then university, away from the spotlight. She has lived a quiet, normal life ever since. Not much can be said about her now. Marla is now a young woman and described online as a painter of abstract art from New York. On her website you can find several abstract paintings for sale, but absolutely no information about the artist.

The Adventure of the Speckled Band is a Sherlock Holmes short story by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, first published in 1892. The famous detective is hired by a young woman whose sister died in mysterious circumstances and who now fears for her own life. The title refers to the sister's last words, and their meaning is explained as the mystery is solved. Conan Doyle considered The Adventure of the Speckled Band his best Sherlock Holmes story. The author himself adapted it into a play.

Great British Bake Off (GBBO) is a British television baking competition, where a group of amateur bakers compete to impress the judges with their baking skills. In every episode one of the contestants is eliminated until three reach the final. The winner does not get any financial prize but gains media coverage. It's said that the show's popularity led to an increased interest in baking all over the UK. In 2018 the ninth series of the show was aired.

MasterChef is a competitive cooking show, which originated with the UK version in 1990. The format was updated by the BBC in 2005 and the show as we know it today was born. MasterChef has become an international phenomenon and is now produced in over forty countries all over the world. It has four main versions: the MasterChef series for amateur cooks, MasterChef: The Professionals for professional chefs, Celebrity MasterChef for well-known personalities, and Junior MasterChef for children. The winner gets a trophy and media coverage, as there is no financial prize.

Robben Island is an island near Cape Town in South Africa. It was used as a prison for many years between the seventeenth and twentieth centuries. Nelson Mandela was in prison there for eighteen years. The island is now a World Heritage Site and you can visit the prison museum.

Nelson Mandela (1918–2013) became the first black president of South Africa in 1994. He grew up there at the time of apartheid when the minority white population, mostly descended from Dutch settlers, ruled the country. Apartheid was a system of racial segregation – black and white people had to live in separate areas. Mandela trained as a lawyer and fought for black people's rights. As a result, he was sent to prison for life and spent a total of twenty-seven years in prison before being released in 1990. He became the leader of the African National Congress party (the ANC) in 1991. In the 1994 elections for the first time all black people were able to vote and Mandela won. Mandela always supported racial equality and won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993.

Barack Obama (b. 1961) became the forty-fourth US President and the first black president in 2008. He was re-elected for a second term as president in 2012. In 2009 he won the Nobel Peace Prize. He is known for reforming health care laws and for working to end US military involvement abroad.

The National Parliament of South Africa is in Cape Town making it the legislative capital of the country. The city was originally founded as a trading post by the Dutch East India Company. Today, it is a multicultural city with a population of over 3,740,000, making it the second most populous city after Johannesburg. It is famous for its beautiful harbour and landmarks such as Table Mountain and Cape Point.

Frank Morris (b. 1926) and brothers John Anglin (b. 1930) and Clarence Anglin (b. 1931) were all American criminals who were in prison in Alcatraz. They escaped together in June 1962 but it is not known if they survived the trip to the mainland. None of them have been seen since the escape. The 1979 film Escape from Alcatraz tells their story.

1.8 Exercises 2 and 4, page 7

P = Presenter J = Jenny F = Fraser

- P: Welcome to That's Life. Our topic for today is friendship, and we're gonna talk to two young people, and ask them what their friendships mean to them. So hello Jenny and Fraser.
- J: Hello.
- F: Hi.
- P: Jenny, let's talk to you first. You're sixteen.
- J: Seventeen.
- P: Oh sorry, seventeen. Jenny, how many friends do you have?
- J: Well, if you mean close friends, about five or six. But I've got 313 online friends.
- P: Let's talk about the online friends first, shall we? 313! That's a lot of friends. How well do you know them?
- J: Some of them I know pretty well, but I look at some of the names and think 'Who are these people?'
- P: Hahaha. It's so easy to make new online friends, isn't it? They ask to be your friend, and you accept. It's not as easy to make real life friends, is it?
- J: That's right. Making friends online takes a few minutes. But a real friend is somebody you get to know over a long period of time. You meet, you spend time together, you get to know one another – it takes a long time to become close friends.
- P: That's right. But some friendships don't last forever. Fortunately, in the online world, when you don't want to continue a friendship, you can simply de-friend people, can't you?
- J: I'm not sure I agree with that actually. I find it really hard to de-friend online friends. It seems really mean. I suppose that's why I've got over 300 online friends. In real life, if you fall out with a friend, you don't see them anymore. Or sometimes you decide that you no longer have much in common. You no longer like the same things or you've changed. Then you lose touch. You don't have to make the decision – it just happens naturally.
- P: Yes, I see what you mean. Fraser, what do you think? What's the difference between close friends and online friends?
- F: Well, all my close friends are also online friends. When we don't see one another, we chat online. But I'd say my closest friends are the ones I socialise with. We all have a lot in common – we support the same football team, we listen to the same music, and we go hiking and camping at the weekend. We get along really well together.
- P: Do you think there's any difference between friendship between girls, and friendship between boys?
- F: I don't know really. I don't go shopping with my friends and we don't paint one another's nails! But I think the important things are the same. I know I can rely on my friends in a crisis. A good friend is always there for you.
- P: Yes, I suppose that's right. What about friendship between girls and boys? Are any of your close friends female, Fraser?

- F: Um, yeah of course. There are three or four girls as well as boys in the group of friends I hang out with.
- P: What about you, Jenny?
- J: Yes, I get on well with boys. But I think it's different – girls understand one another better. And you're never sure if boys really want to be friends, or if they just fancy you.

- J: Hi Rachel.
- R: Oh, hello Janet.
- J: Um, I haven't seen you since that party.
- R: Yeah, that's right. You were really rude.
- J: I know, I'm really sorry. I was just ...
- R: Listen, I'm not going to forgive you, so forget it.
- J: Oh, right. Okay, well I suppose ...
- R: Goodbye Janet.

A = Amy S = Sarah

- A: Anyway I was just watching this thing on TV and the phone rang and ...
- S: It was him!
- A: Yes. It was him!
- S: Nooooo! What did you say?
- A: Well, you know me.
- S: Oh no, you didn't ...
- A: I did, I was so nervous!
- S: Oh you always do that. I've told you, take a deep breath and ...
- A: I know. But I was so excited ... Anyway ...

M = Max S = Suzy

- M: Hi Suzanna!
- S: Hi Max. You can call me Suzy if you want – that's what all my friends called me at my last school.
- M: Oh right. Yeah, Suzy suits you better. Is that your bike?
- S: Yes – it's getting a bit old now, but I've won a few races on it.
- M: Really? I didn't know you were into cycling. I'm a member of the school cycling club. You should join.
- S: I'd love that. What other clubs do you belong to?
- M: That's the only club, but I play guitar in a band.
- S: Wow, I play drums. When are you rehearsing next – I'd love to come and listen.
- M: That would be great. It's a grunge metal band.
- S: Oh. I'm not even sure what that is. I'm more of an indie rock fan myself.

A = Annie S = Sal

- A: Hi Sal, coming to the party tonight?
- S: Um, no, I don't think so.
- A: What's up? You don't look very happy.
- S: Sorry, I just ... well, I um. Things aren't very good at the moment.
- A: Has something happened?
- S: No. Well, yes. Not exactly.
- A: Come on, let's go and get a cola and have a chat.
- S: Oh thanks. I'd really like that. I'm afraid I'm not very good company at the moment.
- A: Listen, it doesn't matter. I'm too tired to go to the party tonight anyway. Let's stay in and watch something online.

History of Streetwear: the Hoodie

The first hoodie was produced in the 1930s in New York. The garment was developed by Champion as protective wear. Champion wanted to come up with a garment that would keep athletes warm before and after training. At first people called it the side-line sweatshirt because athletes wore it when they were sitting on the side line of an American Football field. At first the garment was just a sweatshirt, but in 1934 the hood was added to the sweatshirt to give better protection from the elements. In the mid-seventies, hoodies were part of hip-hop culture, which was developing on the streets of New York City. They were still serving a practical function – break-dancers wore them on the street to keep their bodies warm before they performed. But a new function was emerging. Graffiti artists were wearing them and not just to keep warm at night but they were keeping the hood up to hide their identity from the police. In the 1980s the hoodie gained cult status thanks to skateboarders. At that time, there were few skate parks, and so skaters were forced to practise wherever they could, whether it was legal or not. Once again, the hoodie was used for hiding the skaters' faces from the authorities. The hoodie was beginning to become a symbol of rebellion, worn by outsiders on the limits of society, and it has never lost that criminal edge. But at the same time, it moved into mainstream fashion with the streetwear movement, when sportswear became a fashion trend. The streetwear trend has lasted into the present. Dress codes have relaxed and people prefer to be comfortable. No one goes out on a Friday night wearing a suit any more. In fact, wearing a hoodie can be a kind of anti-fashion statement. When a high-profile social media boss wears a hoodie, it means that he's too busy with changing the world to worry about what he looks like.

1.16 Exercises 2 and 4, page 11

P = Presenter C1 = Caller 1 C2 = Caller 2
C3 = Caller 3 C4 = Caller 4 C5 = Caller 5
C6 = Caller 6

- P: Welcome to Friday morning phone-in. We're talking about Martha Jones this morning. Martha's school has put her in isolation because she's shaved her head and according to school rules, her hairstyle is unacceptable. But by shaving her head, Martha has raised an impressive £850 for a cancer charity. So what is more extreme – Martha's haircut or the school's reaction? We want to hear what you think – call us on 01632 960231.
- C1: This makes me furious! The priority of the school is to educate. But how can this school educate when it's so uneducated itself? It's not clever to isolate a girl when she's studying for exams – how is this helpful? The school should support the girl for finding a creative way to raise money for charity.
- C2: This is an outstanding school, and the reason it's so successful is that it has rules and regulations. It's very easy – this girl broke the rules and it's perfectly normal that she faced appropriate punishment.
- C3: The school's behaviour is outrageous. Shame on you Barlow College. Your rules are pathetic. The girl raised a large sum of money for charity and you treat her like a criminal! It's unacceptable.

- C4: I'd like to ask the school to clarify something for me – how does a girl's haircut affect her ability to study? Surely the school should focus on her academic achievements, and not her hairstyle.
- C5: I understand the school's point of view. School children must realise that their school has rules. The head of the school has shown leadership qualities and the girl should be more respectful.
- C6: It's just a haircut! I honestly think that it's absolutely ridiculous to make such a fuss about a shaved head.

The sports person I look up to most is Cristiano Ronaldo. He's always been a brilliant player, but he's also a caring and generous human being. He's given a lot of money to charities, and is especially passionate about children's charities. He's a real inspiration. He's made generous donations to Save the Children who provide food, clothing and medicine for children in Syria. Once he paid for a baby's brain operation and his most recent project is to build a children's hospital in Santiago Chile.

Serena Williams inspires me. She's been a champion for almost 20 years now and is still at the top of her profession. She's an excellent role model for girls and women. She's strong and powerful and has a good body image. She's spoken out about body image, and also about what it means to be a black woman in tennis. She's the most successful tennis player in history, but she's also supportive of one of her biggest opponents, her older sister Venus.

3

I think Robert Kubica's story is inspiring. He was the first Polish racing driver to win a Formula One Grand Prix, but then he had a terrible accident and he nearly lost his arm. In spite of his serious injuries, he has stayed positive and returned to racing. He inspires young people because he's so courageous and determined.

1.24 Exercises 5 and 6, page 21

P = Presenter J = Jackie

- P: Welcome back to the Sports Programme. The topic of today's programme is role models. We have sixteen-year-old Jackie Smith in the studio, and she's going to talk to us about the people who encouraged her to take up competitive sport. First of all, congratulations Jackie. Last month you became the world under eighteen windsurfing champion!
- J: Yes, that's right. Thank you.
- P: So, why did you take up windsurfing? Who inspired you?
- J: Two people really: my mum and my cousin, Rachel. I first went windsurfing with my mum. We lived near the sea, and we spent every summer on the beach. My mum had entered windsurfing competitions when she was a teenager. She didn't win anything, but she really enjoyed it. She started to teach me how to windsurf as soon as I could swim and I picked it up really quickly. I was only about seven years old.

My cousin Rachel was there too. She and her family lived near us. My mum gave us both lessons together. Rachel's two years older than me and I've always looked up to her. I still do.

- P: Was your cousin a good windsurfer?
J: Yes, she was good at a wide range of sports. But she wasn't big-headed about it – she's a very modest person. She was a really good example for me – I wanted to be sporty like her, but I also learnt a lot about being a better person.
P: So you grew up near the sea. What other water sports did you do?
J: All sorts. At first, windsurfing wasn't my favourite thing. I liked other water sports like swimming and sailing. Rachel talked me into joining the children's sailing club. We spent all our weekends there, even in winter. We did lots of sailing, and then Rachel thought we should try out rowing. I wasn't sure about rowing at first – I found it a bit boring and slow, which put me off. To be honest, I think I'm more of an individual sports person, and with rowing you're dependent on at least one other person. But my mum thought it was a good idea. Now I'm glad I did it because it made my arms strong, and that helped my windsurfing.
P: So when did windsurfing become your number one sport?
J: Well, it was thanks to Rachel. She went in for a windsurfing competition when she was fifteen – I always wanted to do the same as her so I entered the competition too. She came second and I came fifth! But I really enjoyed myself, and that was the moment when I decided that windsurfing was my sport. I'm quite ambitious as well as competitive and I wanted to come first, not fifth. When I set my mind on something, I never give up so I was determined to go in for more competitions.
P: Well, you've certainly succeeded! Are your mum and your cousin still your role models?
J: Yes, definitely. I think I take after my mum – I hope I have some of the same qualities anyway. And Rachel is like a big sister to me. They both come to all my competitions to cheer me on.

D = Dad M = Mum J = Jen

- D: I really enjoyed that match Jenny.
M: Yes, so did I darling. Well done.
J: But we didn't score a single goal.
D: Nor did they!
J: But we had so many chances.
D: So did they!
J: I wanted us to win.
M: I know. But listen, you played brilliantly. I think you're a fantastic goal keeper.
D: So do I. You really impressed me. Nobody can get past you and your stick. Now, I'm starving.
J: So am I. Let's go and get something to eat.

R = Robert K = Karen

- K: Ouch!
R: Sorry.
K: You serve so fast.
R: So do you!
K: I know but I don't aim at your head.

- R: Neither do I! Your head just gets in the way.
K: Come on, we'll never finish this game. I'm going out tonight!
R: So am I – but it's only 4 o'clock.
K: I know but I need time to have a shower and get changed.
R: So do I, but I don't need three hours.
K: Come on, hit the ball over the net but try not to aim at my head this time.

M = Maria J = Jamie

- M: I find this really boring.
J: Really? I don't – I love it.
M: But it's just cars going round in circles and it's always the same drivers – where are the women? I wish they'd come into the 21st century and have some women drivers.
J: Yes, so do I. It's strange – I don't understand it.
M: Nor do I. Women can drive as well as men. Driving doesn't depend on your strength.
J: You're right. I can't think of any women drivers.
M: I can't either and that's not right, is it? In other sports there are plenty of women – I think it starts early.
J: What do you mean?
M: Well, most professional drivers start go-karting when they're children. I never had the chance to do go-karting.
J: Oh, I did. But I didn't like it. I was more interested in swimming.

A = Anna E = Ed

- A: Do you know how much Harry Kane earns just for kicking a ball?
E: No, I've never thought about it.
A: Nor have I but I read an article about it recently. He earns £150,000 ... a week!!
E: Wow, that's a lot of money. But he is one of the best players in the country.
A: So is Steph Houghton.
E: Who's she?
A: The best female player in the country. And do you know how much she earns?
E: Probably not £150,000 a week.
A: No, £65,000 ... a year.
E: I thought that women and men were paid equally in sport nowadays.
A: So did I, but then I read this article and it says that 83% of sports have equal pay for men and women, but the exceptions are football, golf and cricket.

B = Ben R = Rachel

- B: Good luck! We'll meet you at the end.
R: That's if I get to the end!
E: Of course you will – it's just twenty-six miles. Good luck!
B: I couldn't do it.
E: No neither could I. I can't even run round the park.
B: No nor can I. But she's so fit. I'd love to be able to run properly.
E: I would too I think you just have to practise. Rachel joined a running club last year and look at her now. I think I'll join the running club.
B: Good idea. So will I! It's more motivating to do sport with other people. If it's just me, I can talk myself out of it easily.
E: So can I – I need a lot of encouragement! Anyway, we don't need to meet Rachel for a few hours – let's go and have something to eat.

B = Beth J = Jim

B: Hey, Jim. Where are you going with that heavy bag?

J: Oh, hi Beth. I've got a football match in ten minutes so I've got all the things I need with me! What about you?

B: I'm going to the shops. My running shoes are very old, and we have a big competition next month so I have to be ready.

J: Right! So, how's your training going?

B: It's going great. Our new trainer is amazing! She's always there for us even when we get discouraged, and her training really works! I've never run so fast before in my life! Of course, she makes us work hard.

J: Same here! We train five times a week. Our coach is demanding, but that's okay. We came first last year and we could be number one again this season.

B: You're really lucky, Jim. It must feel great to be the best.

J: Well, yeah, it's fantastic, but don't give up, Beth. I'm sure you'll start winning medals soon. As you said, you've got a great trainer and you're already doing better with her help. I'm sure it'll happen for you.

B: Thanks, Jim. I'll try to be as optimistic as you are, but it's not easy. By the way, there's a competition on Sunday and I'm running in the 100-metre race. Do you fancy cheering me on?

J: Well, I'm playing at ten, but I'll be free after lunch, at around one o'clock. When is your event?

B: It doesn't start until one.

J: Great, I'll be there!

Unit 3 On the go

3.1 Vocabulary

1.36 Exercise 4, page 33

Welcome to this week's Travel Podcast. My name's Brian Walker and in today's report, we take a look at some of the most difficult journeys to school around the world. In a village in Indonesia, twenty children have to cross a fast-flowing river to get to their classes, but after a suspension bridge collapsed in bad weather, they now have to cross the river on a wire, like circus performers. In another Indonesian village, children cycle to school. But their bikes are basic and without gears, so when they cycle uphill it's hard work. That's why they take a short cut by cycling across an aqueduct which wasn't designed for people to walk on. There's no room for overtaking here! Many mountainous villages in China are so remote that children have hard and often dangerous journeys to school. Some have to cross a valley hundreds of metres deep on a homemade cable car. Others ride donkeys along narrow winding paths to some of the most inaccessible schools in the world.

Teenagers who live on a small Scottish island usually get a ferry to Westray Junior High School on a neighbouring island. But while the ferry is being repaired, they have to get a lift on the world's shortest flight. After boarding the flight, they barely have time to fasten their seatbelts before landing in Westray, just two minutes after take-off. The school pupils prefer the flight to the ferry crossing because the sea can be so rough.

There's an area in the foothills of the Kenyan mountains in Africa which is famous for producing the best long-distance runners in the world. Here, children can't catch a bus as there are few cars and no buses – they have to walk or run to school. Roads are no more than dirt tracks and during the rainy season they turn to mud, making the journey even harder, especially as many of the children run barefoot. Thank you for listening to Travel Podcast. Please tune in for next week's report when we look at the most dangerous bus journeys in the world.

I: What do you think about the news that there's a lion in the holiday resort?

W1: I'm terrified! I heard it. I was just making the tea when I heard a loud roar – it must be a lion. I've never heard anything like that before. It's very frightening, but I'm pleased the police are looking for it. I hope they find it before it finds them!

I: And you sir?

M1: I don't really know what to think. Several people say they saw a lion, so I suppose it might have escaped from the zoo. There's a zoo about twenty miles from here.

I: How about you madam?

W2: Well, it's a bit worrying isn't it? I've got young children, and a dog. It's the dog I worry about – if the lion has escaped from a zoo, it could be very hungry by now. It might not have eaten for a while, and my dog would make a nice snack for a lion! I'm keeping the dog and the kids inside the caravan.

I: And you madam?

W3: It's exciting isn't it? I think it could have been somebody's pet. There are some strange people round here. I know that some people have snakes and crocodiles as pets – why not lions? They're cute when they're young. It may have grown too big, and they let it go.

I: Sir? What about you?

M2: I don't believe it. It can't be a lion, that's ridiculous. I think it's probably a cow.

I: And the roar?

M2: Cows make loud noises.

1.41 Exercise 6, page 34

MP = Male presenter FP = Female presenter

MP: And now the news from where you are.

FP: Thank you. This is Radio Essex. The search for an escaped lion has now been called off. Police were called to a popular holiday resort two days ago after receiving calls from worried residents. Several people reported seeing or hearing a lion. The local zoo has confirmed that no lion has escaped. The police found no footprints or any other signs that a large wild animal was in the area, and so they have concluded that it must have been a large domesticated cat. And now for today's sport ...

A: So, how was your family cruise?

B: Oh, it was okay. Pretty good really. We saw some amazing places, and considering we were with our parents, we all got on well most of the time. We didn't have any arguments. Well, not until the last day, and then I had a really big argument with my sister. It was stupid really. I wanted to get off the ship and visit Naples. I've never been there before and I thought it was a perfect opportunity to see somewhere new. But my sister was tired and wanted to stay on the ship by the pool. We tried to persuade her to come with us, but she always does what she wants, and she doesn't think of other people. I had to go to Naples on my own with our parents. It was really boring.

A: I just don't think we should stay here. It's not a very nice campsite and the weather's awful. I really think we should go and find a budget hotel.

B: A budget hotel? I can't believe you said that. That's so boring and this is supposed to be an adventure.

A: I know, and I've really enjoyed it so far. I want to have an adventure, I really do. But putting a tent up in this weather is horrible. Everything's going to be wet.

B: It's raining a bit, but we'll be lovely and warm in the tent. It's going to be more comfortable than a three-star hotel, I promise.

A: Yes, can I help you?

B: Er yes, I've booked a single room for two nights. My name's Baker. James Baker.

A: Baker. Yes, here you are. Two nights. Is it a business trip?

B: Yes it is.

A: Would you like breakfast?

B: Oh, yes please.

A: That will be an extra £16.

B: Oh, I thought it was included.

A: Did you book online?

B: Yes, I did.

A: Oh, right. We have an online special offer at the moment. Your first breakfast is free, so you just need to pay for the second day. Can you fill in this form please?

A: For today's ski update, we go over to Mary Eden in the French Alps.

B: Thank you. Yes, I'm here in the wonderful French Alps, beneath Mont Blanc. I'm in the village of Megève, one of the oldest ski resorts in the world. The weather is perfect today but last week we had a few warm rainy days when skiing was not much fun. But it's impossible to be disappointed with Megève – there are so many different things to do here. There are more than ninety restaurants and cafés. Fortunately, the rain has turned to snow. It's time to get out of the cafés and go skiing.

It's time to leave package holidays behind and take a trip that you will remember for the rest of your life. With Overland Tours you will see the real world. Overland Tours believe that travelling is not only about the destination. The bus journey is an important part of the experience. Come with us on one of our Overland buses and travel to places other travel companies don't reach. You will meet local people and learn about their culture. Our tour leaders will take care of you and make sure you have everything you need. Come and join an Overland Tour. You'll be in a small group, but we can guarantee that you'll have big experiences.

You're too young to go backpacking on your own. You've never been abroad before – you have no idea what to expect. You might not like it – you'll probably be lonely. And anything could happen – you could get ill, or somebody could steal your money. I know you want to get away and have new experiences, but I'd feel much happier if you were with friends. You could stay with your aunty Margaret in Canada, or your penfriend in France. I just don't understand why you want to go trekking in Nepal on your own.

1.49 Exercise 2, page 38

When my parents got their first car, we were really excited. There weren't so many cars on the road then, and nobody used to worry about pollution or the environment. There was plenty of clean air. We didn't use to have seat belts then either. I remember my baby sister would sit in the front with my mother. My father smoked a pipe while he was driving and the car used to be full of smoke! We used to go on holiday to France every summer by car. It was a bit boring because we didn't have computers or DVDs – we'd listen to the radio and look out of the window. In France, my father followed a map. We didn't have GPS then. We'd stop to look at the map, but we couldn't ask for directions because we didn't speak French, and nobody used to speak English in those days.

1.50 Exercise 5, page 38

Air travel didn't use to be very common when I was a young man. It was very expensive, so travelling by air was a luxury. I used to work for an American company and I would travel from London to New York regularly. Then, the flight was just four hours by Concorde. It takes eight hours now! On Concorde the cabin crew would look after you really well. They'd offer you food, drinks or even cigarettes. Lots of people would smoke ... It's funny – people would dress up to go on a plane. They'd put their best clothes on – men would wear suits and women would wear their smartest outfits. It used to be a glamorous way to travel. Not like now! It's so stressful. We didn't use to go through security at the airport. I would carry my Swiss army knife everywhere. That's impossible now. Are planes safer now? Probably, but travelling by air is a very different experience.

R = Ricky J = Jenny

R: Welcome to Travel Heroes. This week we have TV presenter Jenny James in the studio to talk to us about her Travel Hero. Hi Jenny!

J: Hi Ricky.

R: So Jenny, tell us about your travel hero.

J: Well, first of all, it's travel heroes. My travel heroes are a couple from Argentina who walked away from their day-to-day lives because they had a dream, and their dream was to go travelling before they started a family.

R: Okay, and did they fulfil their dream?

J: Yes and no! They set off from Argentina in 2000 and travelled in a vintage car all the way to Alaska. On the way, they went down the Amazon river in a raft, ran out of money, had problems with visas and had their first child! But they also met so many amazing people that they decided to carry on travelling. They ended up travelling around 100 countries for seventeen years in the same vintage car. The family of three became a family of six. They've brought all four children up on the road. The parents home school the children through an online service and they print off the latest lessons whenever they are near a computer. As the father says, 'what better way is there for my children to be educated than to see the world'?

R: That's an amazing trip. I'm sure many people would love to go away for a few months, but seventeen years? How could they afford it?

J: Well, when they run out of money, they work for a while. For example, after the trip to Alaska, they went back to Argentina and wrote a book about their travels. It's a best-seller. They also travel cheaply. Their car was their home for seventeen years. In many places, local people put them up. But in other places, they – up on the roof of the car and the children slept there while the car seats turned into a bed for the parents.

R: But this car – it's more than eighty years old. Did it ever break down?

J: Sure, it broke down a few times, but people were always happy to help. The car can't go faster than sixty-five kilometres per hour, but as their grandfather said before they set off 'If you want to get far, you need to go slowly'.

M = Markus S = Sophie

M: Hi Sophie. Can you do me a big favour? I really need your help.

S: Why? What's the problem?

M: You know I'm going to England to do an English course and stay with a family. Well, I don't know what to pack. Can you give me some advice?

S: Oh right. Don't worry! I had the same problem last year when I went to London. How long will you be there?

M: I'm going for a month.

S: Okay, the first thing you should do is check the weather forecast. I know it's summer, but the weather changes quickly in England. If I were you, I'd pack lots of T-shirts and a couple of pullovers. How big is your suitcase?

M: It's not very big. I don't want to check it in.

S: Hm, I think you should check it in – if you don't, you can't take shampoo and shower gel.

M: Oh, I didn't think of that. Right, I'll take my mum and dad's suitcase. How many pairs of jeans do I need?

S: You probably don't need to take more than two pairs of jeans. But you really ought to take some smart trousers for going out. Now, what about a present for the family? You mustn't forget to take them something.

M: Oh yeah, of course. What do you think I should take?

S: The best thing would be to get something at the airport, like a box of chocolates.

M: Good thinking.

S: Oh, just one more thing. It's a good idea to write a list of things you might forget, like your phone, tickets, money, etc.

M: Thanks Sophie. That's really helpful.

S: Ha ha. You're welcome. And don't forget your phone charger – I want to see lots of photos of England.

M = Man W = Woman

M: Excuse me, can I help you? You seem to be lost.

W: Yes, I am! I'm going to visit a friend in Great Ditley. I decided against driving because the roads are so confusing around here, and I thought public transport would be simpler, but I must have got off the bus at the wrong stop because everything looked strange. I asked someone for directions, but I evidently misunderstood because I ended up in the middle of a field, and now I don't know where I am!

M: Well, I'm happy to say that this IS Great Ditley. The village centre is just along this road.

W: That IS a relief! Thank you so much!

I've just come back from a package holiday to the Greek islands. Best holiday ever! First, we flew to Mykonos. That was a nonstop party and I met loads of great people there! Then, we went on a short cruise to Santorini. Wow! There are amazing traditional white houses, the famous blood-red sunsets, and we stayed in a great three-star hotel. After that, we took a flight to Crete, where we did a cycling tour and swam at some amazing beaches. Crete is a big place, so we did a bus tour around parts of the island too! I couldn't have had a better holiday!

M: Hello, Terence Jones speaking.

W: Oh, Terry, I'm so glad I caught you before you left the office.

M: Gina, hello. What's up? Aren't you on your way to New York?

W: I was, but the road is completely blocked. It's meant to be a thirty-minute drive, but nothing's moving.

M: There might have been an accident.

W: Maybe, but right now I need you to check what other flights there are for New York tonight. Just in case I miss mine, you know.

M: No problem. I'll find out and call you back.

C = Charlie L = Lianne

C: It's your birthday soon, isn't it?

L: Yes, it's the day after tomorrow.

C: Are you doing anything special? Shall I organise something?

L: Ah thanks, but my parents are taking me on a restaurant experience.

C: A restaurant experience? Oh, you mean you're going to the top of the Shard?

L: That would be amazing, but no, it's not that.

C: Are you going to that place where you eat in the dark?

- L: Hahaha, no, I don't think so. I've heard of that place – it sounds really strange.
- C: I'm going there with my mum and dad next week. I'm not sure I'm going to like it much because you can't see what you're eating. But I'm going to eat as much as possible because my parents are paying. So anyway, what's your experience about?
- L: Well, it's called Circus Restaurant. While we eat, trapeze artists perform above our heads and acrobats do tricks on the tables in front of you. Soon you won't be able to go to a restaurant without having an experience!
- C: Hahaha. What time are you going?
- L: It opens at 6:30 and it's a Saturday night so it's going to be crowded. Then we're seeing a show afterwards.
- C: Wow, that sounds great. Two shows in one night! Are you doing anything after the show? We could go out.
- L: Good idea. I'll message you as soon as I leave the theatre.

2.7 Exercise 3, page 49

I = Interviewer N = Nutritionist

- I: Good morning and welcome to the Food Programme. Today our guest is nutritionist Sandra Duffy. Hello and welcome to the programme, Sandra.
- N: Hello. Thanks for inviting me.
- I: Sandra, how do I know if my diet is healthy or not?
- N: Well, that's a good question, and the easy answer is: do you feel well? Do you have plenty of energy? And secondly, do you look well? Does your skin and your hair look healthy? If you don't feel or look well, your diet may not be healthy. I always say that a healthy diet is a balanced one. You need a bit of everything, but not too much of anything. Especially salt or sugar – a little salt and sugar is okay but you shouldn't eat too much. For instance, there is a lot of salt in crisps and fast food, and a huge amount of sugar in fizzy drinks. I don't think people realise this. If you have a balanced diet, you get enough protein and vitamins. One of the healthiest diets in the world is the Mediterranean diet, and that's because Mediterranean people eat a huge variety of fresh food. Their diet is rich in fruit, vegetables, cereals, pasta, olive oil and fish. Just think about all the different Mediterranean vegetables: green peppers, red tomatoes, lettuce, purple aubergines, yellow corn, black olives. A healthy meal is a colourful one. Even if you can't find Mediterranean vegetables, try to make your meals as colourful and varied as you can. Finally, one of the most important things about a healthy diet is that it must not be an obsession. Thinking about food is good – but if you become a very fussy eater, then your diet is probably not healthy.

I'm interested in having a natural diet, and so for the last two years, I've only eaten raw food. I believe that when you cook fresh food, you lose the goodness and vitamins in it. I eat raw vegetables, which takes care of the vitamins, but of course I also need protein. It's easy to eat raw vegetables and fruit, but not so easy to eat raw meat and fish. I think raw meat isn't good for you, and personally I don't like the taste of raw fish. So instead, I eat raw eggs. For dessert I eat fruit. I feel healthy and I have lots of energy, but I never have a hot meal. One of the main problems with my diet is that it's difficult to eat with the rest of my family.

I love desserts – cakes, puddings, chocolate – anything sweet. But one day I read an article about sugar, and how bad it is for you. I realised I was addicted to fattening food, and I needed to do something about it urgently. I thought about giving up desserts, but I couldn't do it – it's impossible! So I decided to divide the week into dessert days and non-dessert days. Now there are five days in the week when I don't eat desserts but at the weekend I can eat as many as I like. On non-dessert days I eat more fresh fruit, which is much healthier. I still wake up thinking about cakes and go to sleep thinking about chocolate ice-cream.

I only eat food that is grown or produced near my home. That means there's less choice because I don't live in a Mediterranean country! But the fruit and vegetables I eat are really fresh and they taste so good. I do eat a lot of vegetables, but I don't have a completely vegetarian diet. I tried once when I was about fourteen, but I missed meat, especially roast chicken. Now, my parents have hens in the garden and so we have fresh eggs every day. The best thing about eating locally produced food is that it's good for the environment – no planes or lorries are involved in transporting food for long distances. I think that's a good thing.

I'm a vegan. I respect animals and I don't want them to suffer. That means that I don't eat or use any animal products for any purpose. I don't eat meat, fish, dairy or anything that comes from animals. I don't wear clothes made from animals either, and I do my best to find shoes that aren't made from leather. When I was a child I ate meat and drank milk like most people. But then when I was thirteen I started thinking about where my food came from. I learnt about how animals suffer and I was shocked. I decided to become a vegan and I've become very good at cooking lovely vegan meals. When you're a vegan you don't often eat a heavy meal, and I sometimes feel hungry between meals. But then I eat a healthy snack – an apple or a carrot and some nuts.

4.4 Reading

1
My mum makes a fantastic bread and butter pudding. She gave me the recipe and it's very easy. You slice the stale bread and put butter on it. Put the slices of bread and butter in a dish. You can add some dried fruit too if you like. It's up to you. Oh, and if you have some bananas that are too ripe, chop them up and put them in the pudding. Then heat some milk in a small pan. Don't boil it. Mix three eggs with three large spoons of sugar and add the warm milk. Then you pour the mixture over the bread. Put it in the oven for forty-five minutes, and that's it! Delicious!

My favourite recipe for stale bread is French toast. It isn't really a recipe! You just need one egg and you mix it up in a bowl. Then you dip a slice of bread in the egg mixture, and fry it in a frying pan for a couple of minutes. I love it with sugar on, but I know I shouldn't.

I like baguettes but they don't stay fresh for very long. But when I was on holiday in France, I learnt a trick to recycle the old baguette instead of throwing it away.

You hold it under the tap and let cold water pour on the surface. Then you put it in a hot oven for ten minutes. When you take it out, it's nice and crispy again.

O: I am.

M: Are you? That's unusual, isn't it?

A: Hahahaha.

O: Okay, it's true, I'm always hungry, but I'm not the only one am I?

J: No, you're not. I'm starving. Let's order some pizzas, shall we?

M: Good idea. Jess, you've got the Food Delivery App, haven't you?

J: Er, let me see. Ah yes, here it is.

O: Make sure you don't order from Pizza Hub! They're rubbish!

J: Okay. We can choose another restaurant. You're the pizza expert Olly!

O: Yes, right ... Er ... we can use Regal Pizzas, can't we?

J: Just a minute – yes, they're on here.

O: Hang on – Maggie, you need gluten free, don't you?

M: Yes, thanks for remembering. I'll have a gluten free Margherita.

J: Okay, you'll have the spicy sausage Olly, won't you?

O: How did you know? We haven't had pizza for ages, have we?

J: Actually, we had pizza two days ago and you had a spicy sausage then.

O: Oh yes, mmmm... that was really good.

J: I'll have a normal Margherita. Right, all ordered. We're not having drinks, are we?

M: No, tap water's fine.

O: Yes, we did.

D1: Okay, that's one green curry, one red curry and two rice. That's everything, isn't it?

J: Er, no it isn't. We didn't order curry, we ordered pizzas.

D1: Pizzas? You are Mr and Mrs Whitecross, aren't you?

M: No we're not Mr and Mrs Whitecross. We don't look like Mr and Mrs anybody, do we?

D1: No, you don't. And this isn't 102 Corn Street, is it?

O: No it isn't. You've got the wrong address

D1: I'm really sorry.

2.20 Exercises 3 and 5, page 61

1

False. The colour of the sea depends on the sun. When the sun shines down onto the ocean, red, orange and yellow rays are absorbed quickly, while blue rays are not absorbed. They are reflected back, giving the sea a blue colour. When the seabed is stirred up by a storm the sea can appear brown and the presence of plants can give it a green colour.

True. Underwater rivers are similar to those you find on dry land – they flow along valleys in the seabed and they have currents and river banks on both sides. The only difference is they don't have trees on the river banks.

True. The blue whale is even bigger than the biggest dinosaurs. Blue whales grow up to thirty metres in length, and can weigh as much as 200,000 kilograms. In the twentieth century they were hunted until they almost died out. In 1966, blue whale hunting was banned.

True. Up to eighty percent of volcanic eruptions happen underwater. The lava can heat up the water to almost 400 degrees Celsius.

5

False. When Ferdinand Magellan sailed around the tip of South America in 1520 he came across another body of water. He called it the peaceful ocean, or the Pacific.

6

False. Humpback whales leave the icy waters around Alaska in autumn and swim for six to eight weeks to the calm seas of Hawaii where they mate and give birth to their young.

7

False. Hawaiian surfer Garrett McNamara surfed a monster wave measuring 23.8 metres at Nazaré in Portugal in 2011.

8

True. The Mid-Atlantic Ridge runs from Iceland to Antarctica beneath the Atlantic and stretches for roughly 16,000 kilometres.

9

True. The Great Barrier Reef stretches for 2,300 kilometres. It's made up of 2,900 individual reefs and 900 tropical islands.

10

True. It depends on the shape of the ocean floor and other factors, but when the tide comes in in the Bay of Fundy on the coast of Canada the water is 16 metres deeper than when the tide goes out. In the Caribbean Sea the change in depth between high and low tide is only ten centimetres.

2.25 Exercises 3 and 4, page 63

P = Presenter M = Michael

P: Hello and welcome to The Future is Green. Today we're talking about a special project to make schools more environmentally friendly. We have a pupil from year twelve, Michael James, to tell us about it. Hi Michael, and thanks for talking to us today.

M: That's okay. I'm missing a few lessons, so I don't mind at all.

P: Now, can you tell us about your project? How did it begin?

M: About a year and a half ago, one of our teachers started an after-school club called 'Friends of the Planet'. At first, it was just for pupils from our school, but then we contacted other schools in our area. Now our 'Friends of the Planet' group has members from six other secondary schools. We meet once a week and for the last six months, we've been working on this special project.

P: I see. What exactly is this special project?

M: Basically, we've designed an eco school of the future. We worked with a group of architects who are planning to build a school that is more environmentally friendly. The architects contacted our group because they wanted to involve young people and together, we've made a model of how this eco school will look.

P: It sounds very exciting. Michael has brought the model of the eco school into the studio with him. Can you explain it to our listeners, please Michael?

M: Sure. First of all, we have solar panels on the roof of the school – there are fifty panels altogether.

P: And will they provide power for the whole school?

M: Yes, that's the idea. It will save a lot of money on electricity.

P: Ah yes, I can imagine. Tell me about the garden.

M: Our eco school will grow vegetables, and we'll use them for school dinners. So our school dinners will be very organic and much cheaper than buying food from the local supermarket or even from a local farm. We'll also have chickens, rabbits and ducks.

P: And will they go into the school dinners too?

M: Ha ha, no. That would be terrible. They'll be pets and they'll be useful. They'll eat the leftovers from the kitchen and the chickens will provide eggs.

P: Very good. So what other plans do you have to make the school more environmentally friendly?

M: We'll use low-energy light bulbs in all the classrooms. We'll also have recycling bins in every classroom and in the school grounds.

P: And what about your lessons – will they be different from non-eco schools?

M: Most of our lessons will be similar to lessons in any secondary school. But in our Science lessons we'll focus more on environmental issues like climate change and global warming. Then, in our Technology lessons we'll learn about things like renewable energy and even how to make solar panels.

P: I see. Well, we've almost run out of time. Thank you for talking to us about your project. It's very nice to meet a teenager who is so concerned about the environment. In my experience, most seventeen- and eighteen-year-olds are only interested in gadgets and games.

M: Well, I like gadgets and games too, but I probably worry about the environment more than my friends.

P: We must stop there – thank you Michael. Your project sounds fascinating, and I'll look forward to visiting your eco school when ...

Then I sat for ages on my knees, facing the front of the tent, listening carefully, holding my walking stick like a weapon, and with my knife open and at hand in case I had to defend myself. The bears – animals, whatever they were – drank for perhaps twenty minutes more, then quietly left the way they had come. It was a happy moment – but I knew from my reading that they would be likely to return. I listened and listened, but the forest became silent and stayed quiet.

The surfer, the shark and the dolphins
It was a perfect day for surfing off the coast of California. Todd Endris, who lived next to the beach, was out on his surfboard. Without warning, something hit him from under the water. Todd knew immediately that it was a shark. He got back on his board but the shark, which was five metres long, bit him on the back. Todd's friend, who was surfing close by, saw the huge shark and at first thought it was a whale. Todd, who's right leg was now in the shark's mouth, was kicking the shark with his free leg, and didn't see the dolphins. Suddenly, the shark let go of his leg. The dolphins, which had been playing in the waves nearby, had surrounded the injured surfer and were protecting him from the shark. Three friends helped Todd get back on his board and reach the beach. A helicopter transported him to hospital, where surgeons managed to save his leg. Six weeks later Todd was back in the water.

J = John R = Rachel M = Martin

J: Welcome to Violent Earth, where we report on the extreme conditions some people live in. Last week we were in Vanuatu – an archipelago in the South Pacific Ocean. In one year, there was an earthquake, a volcano erupted, and a tropical storm flattened the crops which people rely on. We'll have an update from there, but first, we're going over to Rachel in the United States. Hello Rachel. Where exactly are you reporting from?

R: John, we're reporting from the state of California where several forest fires are spreading rapidly. The public services have been criticised for being ...

J: Sorry, we lost you there Rachel. What are the public services being criticised for?

R: For reacting slowly. But these situations are very difficult to deal with. The trees and bushes are so dry, and the strong winds make it even worse. There are so many fires that the firefighters don't know which ones to focus on.

J: Can they prevent fires from starting in the first place?

R: We think people started them and you can't stop somebody from doing this if they want to.

J: They must be very sick people. Thank you for your report Rachel. We'll talk to you again later. But now we're joining Martin in Florida. Martin, there are huge fires in the West of the United States, and in the South East, hurricane Camilla is gaining strength in the Caribbean. Which island is it heading for?

M: It's difficult to say, but the governor of Florida has given a deadline to people living in Orlando. He's wants a complete evacuation by 5 o'clock today.

J: Is that something that residents of Orlando agree with?

M: Yes, most people are closing their houses and leaving, but some people don't have anybody they can stay with.

J: And who are those people getting help from?

M: Florida State have provided them with emergency accommodation.

J: Thank you Martin. Now let's go back to Rachel ...

P = Presenter DC = Dr Clarke

P: Today our guest is Doctor Jenna Clarke. Doctor Clarke, who is a biologist, has studied the monarch butterfly. She's going to tell us about its life and why it may be disappearing. Welcome, Doctor Clarke.

DC: Thank you, it's good to be here. Let me begin by giving the listeners some basic information about the monarch butterfly. It is recognised by its unique orange and black pattern. And though it is found in Australia, New Zealand and Indonesia, the largest population is in the United States. The monarch is famous for its long migration in the late summer from the United States to Mexico, where it goes to spend the winter. Millions of butterflies go to forests there, where they are protected from rain and freezing cold temperatures. Otherwise they will die.

P: But there's a problem.

DC: Yes, there is. The monarch is in danger. A recent report said the number of butterflies that arrived in Mexico this year was sixty percent less than last year. In fact, numbers have been falling for the last seven years. If numbers continue to fall, the monarch butterfly will completely disappear from North America.

P: So, if fewer butterflies are reaching Mexico, does that mean the problem is in the United States?

DC: Partly, yes. You see, the monarch butterfly depends on a plant called milkweed to survive. It's the only food young monarch butterflies eat. In the United States, the chemicals that farmers use on crops are destroying the milkweed plant. So, if we want to save the monarch butterfly, we have to protect the milkweed plant.

P: What else is making it difficult for the monarch butterfly to survive?

DC: The monarch goes to a specific forest area in Mexico. Unfortunately, the growing number of farms in that area is reducing the number of trees. The trees, which are removed illegally and sold, are the homes of the monarch.

P: So, many are dying in the US because they don't have enough food and then the ones that manage to arrive in Mexico have a smaller area to live in.

DC: That's right. Finding a solution is hard because it involves two different countries and two different problems. If we can persuade farmers in the US not to use certain chemicals, that will be a big step forward. But if the destruction of trees in Mexico isn't stopped, the number of monarchs will continue to drop. Both problems are serious and must be solved at the same time.

P: Is there any good news for the monarch?

DC: Actually, there is. The monarch is becoming more common in Bermuda because people are planting milkweed in their gardens. And monarch butterflies born in Bermuda stay there all year due to the warm weather. Perhaps these island monarchs will save the species.

A: I've got tickets to see Little Mix!

B: Again! You're obsessed.

A: I know, I'm going to tattoo their name on my arm.

B: What? Are you crazy?

A: Ha ha ha! Don't worry. I'm pulling your leg.

B: Oh, very funny.

A: You know my uncle Tom was getting married to Sally, our neighbour? Well, they broke up.

B: Oh no! I'm sure she broke his heart.

A: No, she didn't. He's fine. I saw him yesterday, and he looked happy.

B: Oh!

A: Why does Pete wear sunglasses all the time, even when it isn't sunny?

B: He thinks it looks cool. The other day he walked into a door and hurt his nose. It was so funny. I laughed my head off.

A: Ha ha ha, oh dear. That's really mean.

A: Oh dear, this homework's really hard. Can you give me a hand?

B: Sorry, I'm late. Ask Mum to help you.

A: Oh, thanks ...

A: So what did you get for your birthday?

B: Well, you know that leather jacket I tried on downtown.

A: The red one?

B: Yes. Well, my parents bought it for my birthday. When I looked in the bag, I couldn't believe my eyes. It's the best present I've ever had.

A: You lucky thing!

A: I really want to go and see that film. What's it called?

B: I don't know. Who's in it?

A: Oh, you know. What's her name? Oh dear, it's on the tip of my tongue. It begins with K.

A: Um, Kristen Stewart?

B: No um ... Keira Knightley! Her new film.

M = Man DM = Dr Maxwell

M: Welcome to our online first-aid course. First of all, we'd like to check you got the right answers to the quiz. We gave you six minor accidents and asked you what you would do. Here's Dr Maxwell to tell you what she would do.

DM: Thank you. Okay, number one. If I had a nosebleed, I'd hold my nose and look down. If I looked up, the blood would go down my throat, and that would be horrible. Number two, if I burnt my hand, I'd hold it under the cold water tap. Cold water would take the pain away. Don't put oil or butter on the burn – this will make it worse. Number three, if I twisted my ankle, I'd put ice on it very quickly – ice is fantastic for ankles and other muscle injuries. You shouldn't put heat on a twisted ankle – that would make it worse. Number four, if I got a black eye, I'd put ice on it for the same reasons as number three. Eye drops won't help. Number five, if a bee stung me, I'd take some antihistamine tablets. I'm allergic to bee stings, so I always have antihistamine tablets with me. I'd put ice on the sting if I didn't have any tablets. It's probably not a good idea to put a plaster on because the sting might still be in the skin. Finally, number six, if I cut my finger, I'd wash it, dry it and put a plaster on. It's not a good idea to stop the blood flow to the hand, so don't tie something around your wrist.

M: Thank you Dr Maxwell. If you got those right, you're ready to move on to the next part of this online first aid course.

R = Ron F = Ron's friend

R: Atishoo! Oh no, I wish the cat wouldn't come into the house. I'm allergic to cats!

F: Why don't you close your window?

R: It's too hot in my house. I have to keep the window open. If only it wasn't so hot.

F: Are you tired?

R: Yes. I wish I could sleep, but the neighbours are so noisy. I wish they wouldn't play loud music at night. Ouch!

F: What's the matter?

R: Oh, I dropped a saucepan on my foot yesterday and it hurts. I wish I wasn't so clumsy.

F: Do you think it's broken?

R: The saucepan?

F: No, your foot!

R: Oh, I don't know, I haven't called the doctor. If only I had the doctor's phone number!

R = Rob A = Anna

A: Hi Rob!

R: Oh hi Anna. Listen, I need some advice.

A: Sure – what do you need to know?

R: Well, I'm taking part in the London to Brighton Cycle ride and I want to raise some money for charity. Do you know how I can do that?

A: Sure – I did the London Marathon last year. I raised £800 for Macmillan Cancer Research.

R: Wow, that's brilliant. Cancer research is an excellent cause.

A: It is. So, you have to ask your friends to sponsor you. In other words, they support you by giving you money. You have to set up a webpage first.

R: Okay, what sort of information do I put on the webpage?

A: You explain what event you're doing – so you're going to do the London to Brighton Cycle. Then you put some information about the charity you want to support. Which charity are you interested in?

R: I want to do it for the British Heart Foundation.

A: Okay, great – do you have any particular reason?

R: Yes, it was my grandmother's idea – my grandfather died from heart disease.

A: Okay, so you can say on the webpage that you're doing it in memory of your grandfather. Then you share the page with all your friends and family. It's a good idea to send it to all the adults you know because people our age don't have any money!

R: Okay, that's good advice. Do they pay by credit card?

A: Yes. Most people give between five and twenty pounds.

M = Mum R = Rob

M: Where are you going Rob? There's no time to go to the gym. Dinner's in half an hour.

R: I'm just going for a quick run. You know I'm training for the big cycle ... the London to Brighton Cycle next weekend.

M: Oh yes. I must get you a new helmet this week.

R: What for? I've already got one.

M: You've had that one for years – and you need a new, brightly coloured one.

R: Oh Mum!

M: Bright colours are safer on the road – cars can see you better. I know you don't think they're cool, but I want you to come back alive.

R: Oh, don't be so dramatic. My old helmet's fine and I'll be very careful. And there are thousands of people doing this cycle – don't worry about me! Okay, I'm off.

M: Don't be late. Take care on the road!

P1: Over to James Marsden at the start of the London to Brighton Cycle ride.

P2: Thank you. Yes, it's nine o'clock in the morning, and the London to Brighton Cycle ride is about to begin. This ride is eighty-seven kilometres long, and it has been going for more than forty years. Over the years it has raised more than sixty-five million pounds for charity. There are more than 25,000 people here and most of them are wearing red T-shirts. There are people of all ages here, starting from age sixteen, ready to get on their bikes and cycle to the coast. Most people will complete the ride in about six hours.

P = Presenter T = Professor Turner

P: Thank you everyone and welcome to our end of term lecture. We're pleased to welcome Professor Turner of the Sleep Research Foundation of Scotland. Professor Turner carries out research in order to understand insomnia in people of all ages. She's particularly interested in helping people to create the best conditions for falling asleep quickly. Here to tell us more about it, is Professor Turner.

T: Thank you. Well, I'm sure you're well aware of how important sleep is for your health. Unfortunately, we often find it difficult to fall asleep when it's most important for us to get a good night's sleep – just before an exam, or a big match, or some other event that's making us nervous and stressed. The thing is, you need to be relaxed in body and mind in order to fall asleep, and in times of stress and exam pressure, relaxation is the last thing on your mind. You don't fall asleep because you're worried, and then you get more worried because you know how important it is for you to be asleep, and you go round in circles, not falling asleep. So, what can you do to fall asleep within ten minutes of going to bed? Here are a few simple tips. Firstly, take a hot shower or bath before bedtime. The hot water will help your body to relax and when you get out of the bath or shower your body temperature will drop. This is important because your body temperature needs to drop by one degree Centigrade so that your metabolism can start slowing down. Secondly, make sure you have good curtains or blinds in order not to wake up early when the sun rises. Thirdly, try to avoid screens: the TV, computer and telephone in the hour before you go to bed, because they stimulate the mind. Having just told you to avoid your phone, there are actually some apps that can help you fall asleep. An app with breathing exercises is very effective, and if that doesn't work, you can use the Sounds of Nature App and listen to the sound of rain falling. You can also use an app to track the number of hours and quality of sleep in order to be more informed about how you're sleeping. Finally, you should go to bed at the same time every night so as not to upset your body clock. Now, I think that's all we have time for, but I'd just like to finish with my personal favourite method of falling asleep – when I can't fall asleep, I try to force myself to stay awake. It works every time!

P: Thank you Professor. Professor Turner will be taking questions ...

3.8 Exercises 4 and 5, page 89

P = Presenter L = Laura

- P: We're at the London Show Business Awards and we're talking to Laura Martinez, winner of the Newcomer Award. Laura you've already appeared in a TV series and you've had great reviews for an album you released last month. And you're only 17! How did you do that?
- L: Oh, haha, thanks, um I don't know. I'm lucky I guess. I've always wanted to be a performer and I put some videos online and that's how I was discovered.
- P: So would you tell other young musicians and actors to put videos online and wait to be discovered?
- L: It's one way to do it. Ed Sheeran did it that way. Ed is one of the most successful singer-songwriters of all time – his albums are always in the charts and his hit single Thinking Out Loud was the first song to be streamed half a billion times on Spotify. That's enormous.
- P: Very impressive. Ed Sheeran's great. He started doing live gigs when he was very young, didn't he?
- L: That's right, he moved to London when he was 16 and started playing small venues. He has a lot of fans and he had a hit single which reached number 1 before he even signed a recording contract.
- P: Let's talk about your acting. Who are your role models?
- L: I am inspired by Millie Bobby Brown – she plays the part of Eleven in Stranger Things. I love the way she plays that character.
- P: Oh yes, the audience love her too – Stranger Things had over 8 million viewers two weeks after it came out. Millie has that star quality, the kind of talent some actors can only dream of.

L: Exactly.

P: Did you see the cast of School of Rock collecting their award for best musical?

L: Yes! They're amazing – they're only twelve years old and they have to put on a show four times a week. I want the lead guitarist and the lead singer to play on my next album.

P: Well, Laura, good luck with that and thank you so much for talking to us.

L: Thanks!

3.12 Exercise 2, page 91

A viral video is a video that becomes popular very quickly through the Internet. People share the video through social media and email. The first real viral video came out in 2005, the year that YouTube was created. The video is unusual because it's not particularly interesting – it shows one of the founders of YouTube speaking to camera for nineteen seconds about the elephants in a zoo. There isn't a formula for a viral video hit, but the most popular ones have three things in common. Firstly, they tend to be short. People have short attention spans, especially when they're looking at websites, so the most successful viral videos are around three minutes long. Secondly, they engage your emotions – they may be funny, sad, shocking, entertaining or even extremely annoying, but they make viewers feel something. The third ingredient is story. Many of the most popular viral videos tell a story and the ones with an inspirational ending are the most memorable.

A viral video is a video that becomes popular very quickly through the Internet. People share the video through social media and email. The first real viral video came out in 2005, the year that YouTube was created. The video is unusual because it's not particularly interesting – it shows one of the founders of YouTube speaking to camera for nineteen seconds about the elephants in a zoo. There isn't a formula for a viral video hit, but the most popular ones have three things in common. Firstly, they tend to be short. People have short attention spans, especially when they're looking at websites, so the most successful viral videos are around three minutes long. Secondly, they engage your emotions – they may be funny, sad, shocking, entertaining or even extremely annoying, but they make viewers feel something. The third ingredient is story. Many of the most popular viral videos tell a story and the ones with an inspirational ending are the most memorable.

I have to tell you about this video I saw – somebody sent me the link yesterday and I think I've watched it thirty times. It's absolutely amazing! It's this boy, he must be thirteen or fourteen, playing the piano at a school concert. At first I thought why has she sent me this? Then the boy started singing. Wow, his voice! It really took me by surprise. He sings Paparazzi by Lady Gaga which is one of my favourite songs anyway, but he sings it soooo well. He's got the kind of talent other singers only dream of. I watched an interview with the boy afterwards and he's so sweet. He got a recording contract all because of this video that his mum posted on YouTube. He's soooo inspiring.

My favourite videos are the ones that make you laugh. It's usually because somebody does something stupid – for instance, there's a video of a man who dives into a frozen swimming pool. Well, I say he dives, but of course he hits the ice and slides across the swimming pool. How can you be so stupid? Then there's another hilarious clip of a girl walking along in a shopping mall. She's texting and she isn't looking where she's going. And she trips over and falls into a fountain. I couldn't believe it! I'm not sure why it's so funny to see people having silly accidents, but perhaps it's because it makes you feel better to see how stupid other people are. Also, these viral clips contain an element of surprise, something unexpected. I love the one where a baby bites his brother's finger. The little brother puts his finger in his baby brother's mouth, and surprise surprise, the baby bites it. I love the expression on the baby's face – he's very pleased with himself.

Hi. My name is Nigel Brown and I'm in advertising. I watch videos all day, especially videos that get more than one million hits on the web. These are the kind of viral videos that our clients want. I love my job, but when I was growing up, I dreamt of being a famous singer. My parents told me that you had to know somebody famous or you had to have famous parents. But that's all changed now. Anybody can post a video of himself on the web and any of you could be famous by next Saturday. Of course, it isn't that easy – there are over one hundred hours of video uploaded to the net every minute and only a few have more than one million views. So how do you predict the kind of video that will go viral? I'd like to give you some examples of successful ...

J: Yes. What's the matter – you sound upset?

D: Upset? I'm absolutely furious. That's it, I am never going to give an interview to that magazine again.

J: Oh dear, what happened?

D: They know I'm serious about my profession – I've done Shakespeare. I've made films with some of the best actors in the world. I've written a screenplay and I've just directed a film that's been nominated for an Oscar.

J: That's right – so what went wrong?

D: They didn't ask me about my work – they asked me what I was going to wear to the Oscars. They asked me who I was dating and why I'd split up with my fiancé. They asked if I'd put on weight and whether I was on a diet.

J: They asked you what?!

D: Yes ... And that's not all. They wanted to take photographs and they asked me to wear something feminine. Then they asked me not to look too serious and to blow a kiss at the camera. Blow a kiss! Who do they think I am? Marilyn Monroe?

P = Presenter M = Professor Moore

P: This week's media report asks the question 'Do young people watch television, and if so, what do they watch?' In the studio with us, we have Professor Moore of the Centre for Media Studies. So, Professor Moore, what did you find out about the viewing preferences of sixteen- to twenty-five-year-olds?

M: According to our research, the youth of today watch a lot of TV, particularly online series. The preferred genres of sixteen to twenty-five-year-olds are fantasy, science fiction, silly humour, cool vampires and cookery programmes.

P: Hang on – did you say cookery programmes???

M: That's right – the latest news is that food is the most popular new reality TV format – according to research, we spend more time watching food on TV than we do cooking it. And fifty percent of people watching top food programmes like the Great British Bake Off are sixteen to twenty-five-year-olds.

P: So sugar is the star of reality TV?

M: Exactly. The format of the Great British Bake-Off is so popular that it has been copied in numerous different countries all around the world – the Australians love it, as do the French, the Americans and the Poles. Another very popular series is Masterchef, a competitive cooking show that originated in the UK in 1990. Entertainment comes in many forms, but young people of today really love cookery programmes.

P: But do people actually make the cakes and dishes themselves?

M: Some do. A survey was carried out on how TV programmes influence people, and the information collected suggests that twenty percent of viewers admitted to making dishes at home just so they could take photographs and share them on social media.

P: The interests of young people are so difficult to predict! Surely they live on spaghetti, fast food and take-aways and life is too short to stuff a mushroom? What use is information about how to serve shellfish or ice wedding cakes?

M: Good point. I think there are three factors that explain their popularity. First, these programmes have excellent TV presenters. Then there's the fact that this generation is creative, and cooking is one way of being creative. And finally, there's the competitive element which made Bake Off and Masterchef semi-finals and finals the most watched TV programmes of the year.

P: Well, that's very interesting Professor Moore. Thank you for coming in. Now we're moving on to ...

Focus Review 7

3.24 Exercise 7, page 101

On the show today we'd like to hear your thoughts on the famous Notting Hill Carnival in London.

1

I love Caribbean culture and the festival is great fun, but you can enjoy it even more if you go well prepared, and believe me, I learnt the hard way! Most importantly, you need to wear comfortable shoes. Leave the high heels at home because you can't dance in them, and never ... ever ... wear sandals. You won't come across a bigger street festival in Europe, it's crowded, and I promise you other dancers will step on your toes. You don't want to spend the rest of the day with sore feet like I did.

2

What is absolutely fantastic about the Notting Hill Carnival is it changes the mood in London. There's an amazing party atmosphere and a lot of it is thanks to the parade. It looks like the Rio carnival in Brazil with the floats and the crowds of people dancing in the streets. And although everyone would agree that London is a great city, it isn't exactly famous for its vibrant colours. Well, for one weekend a year, it just explodes with every colour under the sun. The make-up and costumes of the performers are the brightest I've ever seen!

I love the crowds, the noise and the carnival atmosphere! Everyone's so happy and lively. Every year, our dance teacher makes us work hard and we practise until our feet are sore. When our families come to watch us in the parade, we want to make them proud. Mum always tells me that I'm the best dancer in the group, which probably isn't true, but that's okay, I enjoy it anyway! The Notting Hill Carnival was, and still is, a time for people to get together and have fun. I'm really glad someone came up with the idea!

I'm extremely lucky! I live in Notting Hill, so the carnival is practically on my doorstep. It gets fairly noisy here, but I don't mind all the performers and the Caribbean music at all. Of course, the streets are pretty crowded too with all the visitors ... apparently, over a million people attended this year. Some local residents told me that they found the carnival rather annoying because it made it difficult for them to come and go, but really, it's only on for three days. I love every minute and always look forward to it!

- A: Excuse me madam.
 B: Who, me?
 A: Yes, you. Can I have a look in your bag please.
 B: My bag? Why? I mean, yes, of course.
 A: I don't think you've paid for these items, have you?
 B: Oh dear, um, yes of course I've paid.
 A: Can I see your receipt madam.
 B: Receipt? Er. Yes, let me see. Oh dear, I was going to pay but I forgot ...

- A: I'm not guilty – honestly. I didn't kill him. I wasn't even there.
 B: Where were you at eight p.m. that evening then? It's important for you to have a good alibi.
 A: I was playing football.
 B: Can you prove it?
 A: Yes, I was with a group of friends. We played against a team from another town, and we won. I'm innocent.

B: Okay, give me some names and I'll contact them.

- A: What games have you got on your phone?
 B: Boring ones. Anyway, it needs charging.
 A: Got anything to eat?
 B: No.
 A: Oh. I'm bored.
 B: Why did you do that?
 A: Dunno. I felt like it. Come on, those buildings over there are empty. Let's break the windows.
 B: Yeah, okay.

- A: Hello, fire service.
 B: I want to report a fire. There are some empty buildings near here ... they're on fire. I saw two boys running away. I think they set fire to the building.
 A: Are you in immediate danger?
 B: I don't think so. But it's a big fire.
 A: Okay, what is your address?
 B: It's 24 ...

P = Presenter D = Daniel

P: This week our special report asks 'Are we doing enough to help young offenders to become better citizens?'. Today, three out of four young offenders who are released from prison, go on to commit another crime, and return to prison. These statistics suggest that young offenders' prisons are failing. The government are carrying out a review of the system. They say they want to improve young offenders' access to education, but some people believe that the prisons are already too soft. They think that you should make an example of teenagers who break the law. They want harder and longer punishments. To talk to us about that we have seventeen-year-old ex-offender Daniel Smith in the studio with us. Hello Daniel.

D: Hello.

- P: Daniel you've recently been released from a young offenders' prison. What's it like inside?
 D: Noisy. There's a lot of shouting and fighting. Fights happen every day and for silly little things. We're locked in our cells at eight fifteen at night and we can watch television until two a.m. If we do something wrong, they take our television away.
 P: I see. So, tell us about the opportunities for education.
 D: We could choose from about fifty different subjects. Everything from music production to gardening to cooking. I did about twenty hours of lessons every week. You're paid for each lesson you go to, and then you can spend that money on sweets or phone calls.
 P: You're paid to go to lessons?

- D: Yeah. Nobody would go to lessons if we weren't paid. It isn't much – 40p a lesson. But I was motivated because I knew it would help me to get a job when I came out of prison. This woman came into the prison and gave us all this information about qualifications and jobs. I chose the lessons that would help me get a job – basic subjects like English and Maths and then I did Accounting and Computer skills. I'm working now, and that makes a big difference.
- P: How many of the other young offenders were as motivated as you to learn new skills?
- D: Not many. A lot of them are happy the way they are and don't want to change.
- P: Is it true that some young offenders like being in prison because they have a better life inside than outside?
- D: Yeah. That's definitely true. One of my mates was homeless before he came into prison. He was worried about being released – in prison he got food and clean clothes and a warm cell. Outside, he was living in a box on the street. The day he was released, he walked into the prison car park and smashed the windows on five cars in the car park. He was back there in a few days.
- P: Hm, well that brings me to another point. The government want to improve conditions in young offenders' prisons. But some people say that this is wrong. They say that these are young people who have committed crimes and they should be punished. One prison guard said, 'They have education, they have a gym and television – it's like a holiday camp!' What do you say to that?
- D: But it's not a holiday camp – we can't see our friends or our family. Doors are locked. I don't want to go back there. If you want young people to change, you can't lock them in a cell and expect them to change. You have to educate them and make them believe that there is a better life in front of them. Simple as that.

Judy and Mike were living in a detached house halfway down a nice street. Their house looked like the other houses, but in fact it was the unluckiest house in the neighbourhood. In a period of five years, they were burgled thirteen times! After each burglary, they had something done to their house to make it safer and more burglar-proof. First, they had the locks changed. Then they had a new front door fitted. That didn't work, so they had a wall built. Nothing stopped the burglaries. After the seventh time, they bought a dog and had a big sign put on the gate saying 'Beware dangerous dog'. The dog was too friendly, and they were burgled again. After the thirteenth time, they were desperate. Finally, Mike found out on the Internet that, according to statistics, the highest number of burglaries happen to detached houses halfway down a street with a purple door and the number eighty-eight! They couldn't get the house moved to a different location, but they've had the door painted green and they're going to have the house number changed. Mike's sure that with a green door and the number 86B on it, they'll never be burgled again!

In today's podcast, we want you to ask yourself the question: Am I doing everything possible to protect myself online? If the answer is 'I don't know' I hope this podcast will help.

Here are our five top tips for staying safe online and not falling victim to identity theft.

Number 1 – Passwords. Let's begin with a weak password – 12345678 is weak – don't use it. Here are some more: password, football, iloveyou, starwars. If you use one of these, you can only blame yourself if a hacker gets into your account and steals your identity. Use strong passwords with a combination of symbols, numbers and letters. To save yourself some trouble, use a password manager – go to our website for links. A final word on passwords – keep them to yourself. Even with your best friends, don't tell one another your passwords.

Number 2 – Personal information. Hackers and identity thieves want your information. So when you're online, you should be careful when somebody you don't know asks you to provide information about yourself. It could be a fake email or message. Delete it. When you get a friend request on a social networking site from somebody you don't know, don't ask him or her to introduce him or herself, just delete it.

Number 3 – Viruses. Don't open files or attachments if you're not sure what they are because they may contain a virus. An email virus can send itself to all your contacts. If you let a virus into your computer, it then attaches itself to other programmes and each time you run your programmes, you run the virus too. For links to anti-virus software, visit our website.

Number 4 – Software updates. There is a simple way to protect your files – update regularly. When you get requests for updates on your apps, do it – when you update a file, you also download the latest security. Viruses update themselves all the time, so you need to update regularly too.

Number 5 – Your digital footprint. Be careful when you and your friends send each other videos and photos, remember they're likely to stay there for a long time. Don't post anything you wouldn't want your grandmother to see!

R = Robert S = Sonia

- R: I think I'm going to do voluntary work this term – how about you?
- S: Maybe. What are you thinking of doing?
- R: I'm not sure.
- S: You're really good at Maths – how about teaching younger pupils? You could help them with their Maths homework.
- R: Oh no, I'm not patient enough. Teaching isn't my thing at all. I don't have any younger sisters and brothers so I'm not used to young children. I'd rather visit an elderly person.
- S: Well, that would be a very good thing to do. I can't teach younger kids either. They annoy me, and to be honest, I'm not very good at any school subjects.
- R: That's not true. You're good at Art. Why don't you help pupils with Art projects?
- S: Mm, I don't know. I'm really into vintage clothes, so I suppose I could organise a second-hand clothes sale. Actually, I think that would be good fun.

Unit 1 A new look

1 BBC: Distressing jeans, page 116

N = Narrator P = Presenter M1 = Man 1
M2 = Man 2

- N: The worldwide market for denim jeans is enormous, and one of the most popular styles is distressed jeans. Distressed jeans are made in countries like Turkey, China, The Philippines, Mexico and India.
- P: It's incredible. We're in India, we're just heading towards a denim factory that distresses denim and makes it look second-hand. Busy, isn't it?
- N: Factory employees were very welcoming and happy to answer questions about the process of distressing jeans.
- P: How many jeans are you producing in this factory?
- M1: On a monthly basis we produce probably 100 to 150 thousand pairs of jeans.
- N: But Alex isn't here to see jeans being made. He's here to see jeans being destroyed.
- P: Do you find it slightly strange that you take something that is immaculate and pristine and you totally destroy it?
- M2: See, it's my hobby. It's my ... What do we call? Interest. We are doing some work which we like, so, and we find ourselves in doing that work. If you take any garment like this, you put it in your showroom, no-one will buy it like this.
- P: But they will pay extra for something that looks older.
- M2: Yes.
- P: And more second-hand.
- M2: Yes, mostly young people they like garments with more distressed look, more vintage look and once you go a little bit advanced in the age people will reduce ...
- P: Younger people want jeans to look older, older people want jeans to look younger?
- M2: Yes.
- N: Alex bravely donates his jeans to the factory worker for distressing. First, he uses sandpaper to produce white lines that normally appear after years of wearing and washing them. Next it's the grinding machine.
- M2: So, what they are doing here, they are grinding all the edges of the garment. So after wear the garment for one or two years, putting your hand, taking your hand, putting your hand – five minutes will give you the same.
- N: Then more sanding to produce holes. Next, it's over to the wet processing area ...
- P: No, not pink! I don't want pink trousers! ... for more washing with stones and bleach.
- M2: So, the operation what he's doing now, he is adjusting the crinkle by hand. The crinkles are created themselves.
- P: Every time you get into that position.
- M2: Yeah.
- P: I haven't got the time to sit in that position for year after year after year to get a crinkle - that's why this process is so important.

M2: It's finished.

N: It seems that destroying denim is all about pretending: pretending that you've been through something that you haven't.

J = Jason H = Holly N = Noah LA = Laura K = Kristina P = Peter LN = Lauren

- J: Hello Internet! I'm going to talk to you about clothes. I'm not usually good with putting outfits together, so I have one pair of jeans that I wear with everything, they're black, they're skinny and they're perfect for me. But they're so old and tatty now, I need to find some new ones. I tried to go shopping the other day, but just couldn't find any that I liked. So I need to go again tomorrow to try and find some more. What about you? Have you been shopping recently? What did you get? Have you bought any new clothes recently?
- H: I've bought lots of new clothes recently because I'm going on holiday next week. I've bought lots of T-shirts and shorts for my holiday, sunglasses, swimwear.
- N: I haven't bought any clothes for myself, but I have bought clothing for my children.
- LA: I have, I have bought a new trench coat online and it was second-hand and I really, really like it although it was a really good bargain as well.
- J: Nice!
- K: I actually don't even remember if I've bought anything recently. I don't think so, no.
- P: I have bought some new clothes. I bought a new shirt, some pants, a pair of jeans. I really like socks so I tried to get some fun socks as well.
- LN: Ah yes, I have bought several pairs of summer shorts.
- J: Is there anything you've been planning to buy but haven't yet?
- H: I've been looking for a new bag, but I can't decide what size to get so I'm not sure.
- N: I think I need a good rain jacket, something that is waterproof and will protect me when it's really pouring outside.
- L: I've been planning to buy a new pair of boots.
- K: And I've been planning to buy sunglasses because I lost mine.
- P: Yes, I've been trying to buy new shoes recently so I'm looking to buy a pair of sandals, cause it's summertime. Also looking to buy some new running shoes, just some that are more supportive for my feet.
- LN: I have been trying to find the perfect-fitting blazer for the last 2 years.
- J: And what about you guys? Have you bought anything recently? Or have you just been planning to buy something? Let me know.

Unit 2 It's just a game

5 BBC: The Brujas, page 118

A = Arianna G3 = Girl 3 N = Narrator S = Sheyla

- N: We're at a skatepark in the Bronx, New York City. Here, we meet three girls from Chile and Dominica who have their own girls' skater crew called The Brujas.
- S: Me and Arianna have been skating since we were, like, twelve. We are always around skater guys who have their own little crews, but there's never really, like, a girl crew in New York, so we decided to make our own.
- A: Brujas in Spanish means witch. The Brujas community at large there's, like, probably, like, twenty, you know. It's, like, a growing movement.
- N: Ideally, The Brujas would like their own skate park, but in the meantime, they'd settle for one day a week when only girls were allowed. The Brujas have a special bond. They're proud of their heritage and being part of an all-female skater crew gives them a sense of belonging.
- S: Being Dominican is everything, I mean, I feel like Dominican women are the strongest women there are, so without that I wouldn't be as driven as I am now to do Brujas and to, like, help girls to feel like they belong.
- G3: As I've grown up I've constantly been asking myself 'where do I come from?,' so actually being first-generation born here, and returning to Chile as often as possible.
Brujas to me is part of that reconquering of the spaces that we live in. You get to really feel what this city is made of, like, beneath ... beneath the skateboard, the different bumps and ... I don't know. It's different from just walking, it's conquering the city. We are witches and being proud of it and using it in this positive way.
- A: Street culture, it's still exclusive to men. Just when you're at the park, like, it can be very uncomfortable sometimes to hear, you know, degrading comments or even just the way that some of these men talk about the women in their lives. It's, like, it can be very upsetting and uncomfortable.
- S: We had to learn how to fall and things like that. But I like it, I like falling.
- A: My favourite moment is when I'm going fast down the street and I'm free. Falling is, in its own way, one of my favourite things about skating, because it kinda takes you by surprise and knocks you out of your comfort zone, and you hit the ground and you're like 'argh!' But then you feel invigorated by falling.

- J: Hi, everyone, and welcome back to my vlog! Can you hear that? There's a football match on next door and I think my neighbour's team's just scored. I love watching football, but I'm not really into playing it. My cousin's a lot better than I am, so I go and watch him when he plays. I'm also really into watching athletics. I love all the track and field events, especially at the Olympics. What about you? Are you interested in sports?

- I: Yes, I am interested in sports. I think they're fun, they're very enjoyable to watch and also to take part in.
- N: No, I'm not interested in sports. I'm more interested in art.
- S: Yes, I am interested in sports. I'm interested in football, rugby and basketball.
- J: I am, too.
- GE: I don't mind watching like things like tennis or stuff when it's on or the football if my dad has it on, but I wouldn't personally actually play sport, just because it's not really my thing. I don't really enjoy it. I just find it quite boring.
- E: Yes, I am. I love football, I play for a team back home in Lincoln. I enjoy watching sports, watching football, the athletics, things like that.
- GN: Yes, I'm very interested in sports. I like to stay fit, you know, I don't ..., I wanna stay active, I wanna be healthy.
- J: Do you prefer watching or doing sports?
- I: It depends on the sport.
- N: I think I prefer playing sports because it's a good form of exercise.
- S: I prefer playing sports because it's interesting, fun and exciting.
- E: I prefer playing, for the simple reason that it's quite hard to watch when you want to be involved.
- GN: I prefer playing sports, definitely.
- J: Oh, I don't!
- J: Is there any sport you can do really well?
- I: Yes, I can ride motorcycles really well, and I also play football really well.
- N: There's no sport I can do really well ...
- J: Neither can I.
- N: ... but I do dance.
- S: I'd like to think I play football really well. And I think I'm OK at rugby.
- E: I'm quite a fast runner, and I competed for the Air Cadets in long jump and 100 metres relay.
- GN: I actually do Olympic style weight lifting and I'm competitive in that and really love it, yes.
- J: Have you ever won a sporting competition?
- I: I have, I won the standing long jump for Kensington and Chelsea when I was fourteen years old. I have the record, I think I still do, yes, 2 metres 14 centimetres.
- N: I've never won a sporting competition ...
- J: Neither have I.
- N: ... but I have come second in an archery competition.
- S: I have, I've won a football competition.
- E: Yes, I've won silver for relay and 100 metres.
- GN: I've gotten top three, so I've got second place at ... was in Young Hercules, it's a competition in Canada for young people that are interested in Olympic style weight lifting.
- J: Did you watch the last Olympics?
- I: I didn't watch as much of the last Olympics as I wanted to because I was very busy.
- J: I didn't either!
- N: I didn't watch the last Olympics. I don't have a TV.
- S: I did watch the Olympics, but only certain events such as the sprints.
- G: Ah yeah, I did watch last Olympics. I like watching the swimming and gymnastics, but that's what I would really watch.
- E: I watched a lot of the athletics, lots of the running, Usain Bolt.
- J: So did I.

- GN: Yes, I did. I was really interested in actually figure skating, cause I think it's so beautiful and graceful. And compared to weight lifting it's very different, you know.
- J: How about you guys? Are you interested in sports? Are there any sports you can do particularly well? Let me know in the comments.

Unit 3 On the go

10 BBC: A hotel in the clouds, page 120

G = Giles Ma = Marc Mo = Monica

N = Narrator R = Roque

N: Giles and Monica are in the South American country of Ecuador on the way to visit a private reserve and a hotel called Mashpi Lodge.

Ecuador is situated on the West coast of South America and the equator goes across the country. Mashpi Lodge is located in Mashpi Reserve, in the middle of the cloud forest, three hours' drive from the capital Quito.

Ma: Hey! Welcome to Mashpi!

Mo: Hi!

N: Giles and Monica are greeted by General Manager Marc Berry.

G: What a mad place to build a hotel.

Ma: It is, isn't it? Right in the middle of a cloud.

N: Mashpi Lodge is a luxury hotel with twenty-two rooms costing up to $1,500 a night. There are two members of staff for every guest.

Mo: Look at that view.

G: Wow!

Mo: That is amazing.

N: The hotel was opened a few years ago. It's an eco-hotel with breathtaking views from every window. It's like a giant treehouse.

The hotel is totally sustainable, and big efforts are made to respect nature. Mashpi is deep in the cloud forest. People travel from all over the world to experience the extraordinary animal and plant life. Giles wanted to meet the man behind the hotel. He is Roque Sevilla, who used to be the Mayor of Quito.

G: So why on earth would you build a hotel here? Why did you want to do that?

R: Basically, because I wanted to show other people the beauty of this place.

N: Roque takes Giles to his observation tower which stands twenty metres above the hotel, and the forest. When he bought it he had no plans to build a hotel, only to conserve the forest.

G: Yeah, I don't really like heights. I wish you'd bought a lower bit of forest, frankly. Right ...

R: You see there ... there you can see ...

G: Is that it there?

R: That's the hotel.

G: Wow!

R: Everybody thinks I'm completely crazy. Because ... to build a hotel in a place like this one.

N: Roque wants his guests to engage with nature, and so he has created an amazing invention. This is Roque's latest project: a jungle cable car called the dragonfly. Gondola baskets float for almost a mile through the treetops, 200 metres from the ground. The cable car gives guests a unique view of the forest and the animals which live in it.

Today Monica and Giles are helping Marc to do safety checks.

Ma: It has to be very smooth. It has to be very safe, it has to be very comfortable. And to do that right in the middle of nowhere is a real, real challenge.

Mo: Oh my word. Yeah. This is so cool. I could stay up here all day. I just wish my daughter was here with me, she'd love it.

N: And if there's a power cut and the cable car stops, there is a rescue procedure. It's called a rope.

Ma: The thing is that you never know what can happen. Better be safe than sorry.

Mo: That's so high.

N: Today, Monica is going to test the rescue procedure.

G: Are you going out?

Mo: Yeah, I will.

Oh! Don't look down.

Ma: Don't look down. Slowly sit back.

Mo: Sit back?!

Ma: Trust your equipment.

Mo: Oh, don't do that! This is so cool.

This feels awesome. Just sitting in a swing really.

N: It's not just for fun – the rope has to be tested.

Mo: So awesome. Shall we do it again?

Argh, wet foot. After doing that and managing to ... to get myself down here in one piece, the system is really safe.

N: Taking Roque's cable car is a great way to see the cloud forest and to appreciate how huge and dense the forest is.

J: Hi, guys, and welcome to my vlog! I found a photo earlier today of me and my brother when we were really young on holiday in Cornwall. We used to spend all day at the beach swimming and surfing. It was brilliant. There's no way I'm going to show you that photo because I have such a terrible haircut. But, what I wanted to know was what were some of your past holiday experiences? Where did you use to go on holiday as a child?

LA: When I was younger on holidays we would take road trips because we have a very large family, so we can't really afford to go elsewhere so we just kind of drove around the country.

A: I used to go on holiday to the west coast of Scotland, place called Lochinver and Oban and then sometimes the Lake District in Northern England.

LN: I grew up in Dallas, Texas and we would camp all over the state. Mostly like in this southern part of the state.

N: Primarily to visit my two sets of grandparents, so to California to visit my grandmother or to Arizona to visit my grandparents.

R: When I was younger I used to go on holiday to Maine and Cape Cod and Black Island, Martha's Vineyard, places close to New England.

LY: Cyprus quite a lot. My nan and granddad had an apartment out there so we'd go stay, stay there and meet the rest of the family and stuff.

J: What sort of things did you use to do on holiday?

LA: We would stop by my family. So my family lives all across the country, so we would drive down to meet them, and just kinda go state by state to visit them on holiday.

- A: We used to go camping, we used to go walking, and snorkelling, just walking the hills really.
- LN: We always went camping. It's all we could afford, so we'd just pitch up a tent in random national parks.
- N: Well, my grandparents lived in a retirement community, so we would go to the pool, or pick grapefruit or oranges from their citrus trees, ride around on their 3-wheel bicycle.
- R: I used to walk around, go shopping, read, go to the beach, go swimming.
- LY: I'd just go to the beach. Sunbathe, chill. Go out for dinner.
- J: How about you guys? Where did you use to go and what did you use to do? Let me know in the comments.

Unit 4 Eat, drink and be healthy

15 BBC: Umami, page 122

N = Narrator M = Michael

- N: Flavour makes our food delicious. Each flavour is a combination of smell and taste. When you get that combination right, food tastes amazing. But what is taste? Thai food is particularly good at combining a wide range of different tastes in one dish.
- M: So this is a Thai stir fry and I'm very fond of Thai. There is a bit of fried chicken, lemon, garlic, onion, a real sort of explosion of taste. It's really strange to think that all these sensations which are going on in my mouth at the moment are generated by five simple tastes.
- N: In the cups there are liquids containing these five tastes. Michael has no idea which is which.
- M: Salty, that's definitely salty.
Sweet.
That is sort of bitter, or a bit like coffee.
And this is similar, but more lemony and makes the mouth pucker up. This is sour.
And this one is really hard to describe. This is the taste that's been most recently discovered. This is umami.
- N: The word umami comes from a Japanese word meaning 'a pleasant savoury taste'.
- M: And it is very, very strange to think that every taste sensation you ever have will consist of one or more of these tastes.
- N: To learn more about this fifth unusual taste, Michael's come to a Spanish festival to celebrate a popular fruit, which is rich in umami: the tomato.
- M: I'm here in southern Spain with about 20,000 other people to celebrate the tomato. Welcome to La Tomatina, the world's biggest food fight!
- N: La Tomatina started with a street fight. Local people had so much fun that they decided to do it again the next year. And the next. Tomatoes are perfect for food-fighting and they also contain plenty of umami. But what exactly is umami? And why do we like it so much? The answer is inside the tomatoes. To extract the umami, Michael goes through a long process of mixing, spinning, filtering and boiling.
- M: After all that boiling down this is all that's left and it no longer smells tomatoey at all because those volatile flavours have been boiled off. And this stuff doesn't taste tomatoey either. It tastes salty, earthy, meaty.
- N: That unusual taste is a chemical called glutamate. It's a molecule that comes from the protein in the tomato. Whenever you get a glutamate molecule in food, it gives that umami taste. It's our love of glutamate in tomatoes that has made them such an important crop for this region in Spain, and so popular worldwide.

I'm hoping not to make too many mistakes. I'm thinking of cooking some pasta and tomato sauce, because it's quick and simple. What about you? Are you going out to eat tonight? Where are you going? And what will you have? Where are you going to have dinner this evening?
- S: I'm probably going to cook it myself and eat at my flat, nothing exciting.
- C: Hopefully, my mum will cook me dinner when I get home. Cause I've just been out for lunch, so I'll have dinner at home.
- P: I'm gonna have dinner somewhere in London, maybe near the Gloucester underground station, that's near my hotel.
- H: I'm going to have dinner at home this evening.
- LA: This evening I'm going to Chinatown to have dinner.
- J: Can I come too?
- KS: I'm going to have dinner at home. I've got a couple of friends coming over, so I'm gonna cook for them.
- KA: I'm going to go to a restaurant.
- J: What do you think you'll eat?
- S: I think I'll eat a ready meal because I can't cook.
- J: No, thanks.
- C: I think I'll have pasta or potatoes or something like that.
- P: I think I will eat either a burger, maybe some Pad Thai, maybe fish and chips.
- H: I'll probably have a salad, because salad is nice in hot weather, and maybe some chicken with it, and some orange juice.
- LA: We're gonna have dim sum, I heard it was good in London.
- KS: We're going to have like a bean chilli and some rice, a bit of avocado on the side.
- KA: I'll have pasta with salad and a glass of water.
- J: What about you guys? Where're you going to eat this evening? Let me know in the comments.

Unit 5 Planet Earth

19 BBC: Chameleons, page 124

N = Narrator

- N: Hunting is a never-ending game of hide and seek. Here it pays to sit still and blend in. Because you just never know who's watching. The Parson's chameleon is an expert in the see-and-not-be-seen game. It lets its eyes do all of the work, while the rest of its body moves in slow motion so as not to scare possible targets. The problem is that he can only see prey if it moves. So is this a stick insect ... or a stick? Aha! Time to unleash its secret weapon: a tongue longer than its body. The Parson's close cousin, the nasutum chameleon, has the same weapon but in miniature. As small as a matchstick, it needs to get much closer to its prey. But even with eyes as big as its stomach, this isn't the meal deal he was hoping for. In the jungle, it's hard finding the right-sized prey when you're a tiny predator. Promising opportunities can quickly turn to disappointment. Spotting any kind of prey in this dense green world is hard. If you do find something, you want to make sure it doesn't escape. The praying mantis has arms that can strike ten times faster than a blink of the eye. And it's the only insect known to see in 3D. Perfect for judging strike distances. But, like the chameleon, her problem is seeing prey when it freezes. She needs some movement to be sure it's food. Just the tiniest sign of life.

Yep, that's done it.

A lightning strike has given her the edge over her insect prey, but it doesn't pay to be complacent. In the jungle arms race, only too often, there is someone else with a more powerful weapon.

J = Jason A = Alex D = Devesh KS = Kes
N = Noah

- J: Hi, everyone, and welcome back to my vlog! My friend's just come back from Copenhagen and he keeps telling me how eco-friendly and green and clean it is. I think it might be the cleanest place in the world. Trouble is, now he keeps saying how bad and how polluted London is, and I don't think that's fair. I've lived in London all my life and it's never seemed that polluted to me. I mean, we recycle, the air doesn't seem too dirty and we have a congestion zone. So, I wanted to find out what you thought. Do you think London is an eco-friendly city?
- A: I think London is eco-friendly in some parts. The recycling from councils is good, but the use of diesel engines and taxis and buses makes the pollution very bad.
- J: Still love you London.
- D: I think it's getting there. There's still a lot of pollution around and I recently started cycling so I kind of notice it more. But with the introduction of the Green Zone, I think that's helped a lot, it's cut down a lot of emissions coming from older vehicles, especially large trucks and I quite like that about London.
- KS: Probably not at the moment, I think some things are improving. I like to cycle and I think cycling is getting a little bit easier as time goes and people get more used to it. And I'm seeing more of the eco buses and cars around, which I think is a big, big plus, but I don't think it's an eco-friendly city at the moment, but I hope it will be.
- N: In general, I'm impressed by the access to recycling facilities, a kind of general attitude of trying to not be wasteful and in addition I think it's important to have access to green spaces, so I find that London is quite good for that.
- J: Where do you think is the least polluted place in the UK?
- A: The least polluted place in the UK I'd imagine is by Orkney or the Shetland Islands or, you know, the Highlands of Scotland, or somewhere like that. Somewhere very rural.
- D: So my recent adventures led me to a place in Wales, a place called Penwyllt Castle Inn surrounded by sort of lovely fields, farms and parks and that would probably be the least polluted place I've been to in the UK.

KS: The least polluted place in the United Kingdom is probably somewhere really remote, like I'm picturing maybe a small island off of the north coast of Scotland with the population of one.

J: I think I need to move there.

N: So I've spent a bit of time in Durham and I guess my general impression was it's not polluted at all there. So less industry, so perhaps, but I ..., but I don't know, I would guess outside of major cities where there's less industrial kind of production.

J: And how about you guys? What is it like where you live?

Unit 6 Good health

24 BBC: Caffeine alternatives, page 126

AJ = Dr Andy Johnson GW = Gabrielle Weston
N = Narrator

- N: Gabrielle Weston is a surgeon. She's a regular coffee drinker, but today she's taking part in an experiment to find a natural alternative to coffee.
- GW: The long and short of it is that my body's got used to coffee and what that means is if I have coffee, I'm just functioning at my normal level, but if I don't have it, I'm going to underperform. And, of course, there's the added bad side of the fact that if I have too much of the stuff, it makes me jittery and anxious, which is the last thing I want as a surgeon who has to hold a knife in their hands. So, what are the alternatives if we want something to help us stay awake and alert?
- N: To find out, we're going to test three caffeine-free alternatives to coffee. Our first alternative is sugar. Our brain cells run on glucose and many of us eat sweet snacks when we need an energy boost. Our second alternative is sage. This kitchen herb contains a chemical that enhances the connection between brain cells. Our third alternative is chewing gum: research suggests it could make us more alert. Dr Andy Johnson ran some tests to find the best way to avoid feeling sleepy in the afternoon. He tested volunteers every day for one week. He gave them one of the following substances: fudge, chewing gum, a sage pill or a placebo pill to check that they don't feel different just because they're taking a pill. Now we're going to hear the results of the experiment. Did any of the substances make the volunteers feel more alert in the afternoon? The placebo pills didn't: the volunteers who took the placebo pills felt much less alert. But what about the fudge?
- AJ: Our participants had quite a lot of fudge, I mean, serious amount of fudge.
- GW: Were they allowed to just nosh away until they felt sick?
- AJ: Yes, pretty much. So this is our glucose fudge condition. As you can see, alertness drops as well ...
- GW: It drops! Which is quite interesting, isn't it? Because, I mean, I would've thought that if you have sugar at that point in the day where you're feeling a bit sleepy and drowsy, that that really perks you up.
- N: So, what about the sage?

- AJ: We predicted that this would produce a benefit but in fact here we found a reduction in alertness in the afternoons. So not really terribly different to the placebo condition.
- N: Next up: the chewing gum.
- AJ: What we find is an increase in self-rated alertness for the chewing gum.
- N: The chewing gum made our volunteers feel more alert. But there's a big difference between feeling more alert and actually performing better. When we gave our volunteers some brain-stretching tests, the gum did not improve their performance at all. But this time, the sage pill was a surprising success.
- AJ: The final task is a sustained attention task. It's an incredibly monotonous task, so over ten minutes we expect performance to drop massively as they sort of lose the will to live. So we can see with the placebo condition accuracy drops in the tenth versus the first minute.
- GW: And what about the sage?
- AJ: And then sage. We get the opposite effect, where performance improves in the tenth minute.
- GW: Wow, look at that! To the same extent!
- AJ: Yeah.
- N: So, it seems that sage could be the alternative we've been looking for to make us more active in the afternoon. But are you sure you're ready to swap your cappuccino for a leaf of sage?

- J = Jason JN = Justin A = Amber N = Noah
H = Holly R = Ruslan P = Peter
- J: Hello, friends, and welcome back to my vlog! So, my friend keeps telling me that I need to be more healthy, all I eat is junk food and I never exercise. I go to bed really late and sometimes I get up really early in the morning, so I could definitely do with a few more hours. I need to find out things that I can do to stay more fit and healthy. Do I become a vegan? Do I exercise more and take up a new sport? And also, what about the sleep? I've heard that not only do you need a certain amount of hours sleep, but you can also do things that will improve the quality of your sleep. So, how do you guys get a good sleep and what do you do to stay fit and healthy? What do you do in order to stay fit and healthy?
- JN: In order to stay fit and healthy, I cycle a lot around the New Forest and I often climb the French and Italian Alps on my bike.
- A: I take a lot of walks, that's about it.
- N: I love to ride my bicycle, so typically I ride that to work, to and from work, but then also because it's hard to fit exercise into one's busy day, I take the stairs. We work on the eighteenth floor and I like to go up and down.
- J: You must be joking!
- H: I have a gym membership, but I don't go as often as I should. But I try to go to the gym a couple of times a week.
- R: I go to the gym three, two–three times a week, sometimes on Sundays, so, just to stay fit.
- P: In order to be fit and healthy, I really like to swim, there isn't a pool close to me so that's why I'm thinking about running more. I also really like to bike.

- Other than that, I like to lift weights to stay in shape.
- J: What do you do in order to sleep well?
- JN: I read a book in order to sleep well. I find that it helps my brain to relax. And if I use the right lighting, it can help me get to sleep.
- A: Well, I usually have to have background noise, so I have a white noise machine that helps me fall asleep. It's pretty much all.
- J: Must try that, too.
- N: I think exercise helps one sleep better. Also, just try to stay on a regular schedule to try to eat at the consistent time so that when it's time to go to bed, you're tired and ready to sleep.
- H: In order to sleep well, I like to have a shower before bed and maybe have some hot milk, and read a book.
- R: I just go home and sleep, straight to bed.
- P: In order to sleep well, I take a shower before I go to bed, make sure that I clean my sheets often, and put my phone away so I don't look at my screen like thirty minutes before I fall asleep.
- J: What about you guys? What do you do to stay fit and healthy? Let me know in the comments.

Unit 7 Entertain me

BBC: Shakespeare's avatars, page 128

AB = Prof. Anna Bloom C = Colin
M = Michael Witmore N = Narrator P = Presenter
S1 = Student 1 S2 = Student 2 S3 = Student 3
S4 = Student 4

- S1: Oh trespass sweetly urged!
- N: These students are performing a scene from a Shakespeare play. But the audience is not watching the performers: they're watching a screen. The performers are in fact playing a virtual reality game, which allows them to control 3D avatars. Their gestures and voices are recorded so that they can produce an animated film. According to Professor Anna Bloom, the big dramatic gestures are in fact very Shakespearean.
- AB: This in fact was ... is an old style of acting. It's a declamatory style of acting that was used during Shakespeare's time and came from an older oratorical method of delivering speeches. So, I think it's really interesting that the technology is bringing back this older style of acting.
- N: This kind of virtual reality game is really good fun. You choose your costume, your stage and of course your Shakespeare play. Welcome to a new production of Macbeth.
- P: This is the bit where Lady Macbeth realises everything's gone horribly wrong and starts to have a nervous breakdown. Colin is the doctor who will be charting my mental disintegration. Here we go.
- P: What need we fear when none can call our power to account.
Yay, who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him.
This is actually really difficult.
- C: What is it she does now? Look how she rubs her hands ...
- N: This game was created as a teaching tool to make Shakespeare more accessible in the digital age.

- S2: When you're looking at the screen, then you're not thinking about your classmates, you're not thinking about the teacher, you're thinking about, 'I am Falstaff'.
- S3: Maybe they don't really understand the language yet, but they want to because it's part of a game.
- S4: You get a better feel for what's going on as you're performing it because you have to think about the body language.
- M: So here we are in the first Elizabethan theatre in North America. It was built in 1932.
- N: Michael Witmore of the Shakespeare Library in Washington USA, is interested in how new technology can be used to promote Shakespeare.
- M: Pretty much every media form since the printed book has experimented with Shakespeare, whether that's radio, television, film. Now we've got virtual reality and it's not surprising that one of the first places we go to see what this technology provides is to Shakespeare.
- S1: Cleopatra!
- N: If technology can help students to understand Shakespeare better through playing games, that must be a good thing. As Shakespeare himself said, 'all the world's a stage' and today that must surely include the virtual world.

J = Jason C = Céire S = Shannon LN = Lauren
KS = Kes LA = Luda

- J: Hello, friends on the Internet! I have a confession to make. This weekend I watched two whole seasons of my favourite TV series back-to-back, without moving from the sofa. Come to think of it, I can't remember the last time I even went to the cinema. What are you guys watching at the moment and why do you think TV series are so on demand right now? What is your favourite TV series?
- C: I have a few favourites. One of favourites is Gilmore Girls but I'm watching Suits at the moment and I really like that, and Friends of course I love.
- J: Love it, too.
- S: I'm currently watching Dear White People, I started it yesterday and I'm already ... only got two episodes left of two seasons, so I guess I enjoy that because I've watched eighteen episodes already.
- LN: My favourite TV series is Still Game. Still Game is a Scottish TV show about pensioners in Glasgow.
- KS: I just started watching The Good Place, which is quite fun. It's just sort of like a silly comedy about a woman who gets into heaven by mistake.
- LA: When I was in high school my favourite TV show was Doctor Who, so coming here and seeing all the red phone boxes is bringing back a lot of nostalgia. So, I'm kind of wanting to watch Doctor Who because of all the phone boxes in London.
- J: Why do you think TV series are so popular?
- S: I find it hard to watch films and stuff because it's very long-winded, whereas TV series ... there's a lot of different episodes and there's different points in each episode. Like it's the same story line but there's mini-story lines, which is a lot more refreshing to watch than just watching one long film at once.
- C: I think people like to invest time in characters and storylines and with a TV series if it's long-running, they can see the development of their favourite characters and then get emotionally attached and get sad when it finishes. Also, I've liked Netflix as well. So many episodes are available straight away, so people like to watch it and see what happens, instead of waiting for like the next week.

- LN: There used to not be a lot of effort put into TV in the last like five to ten years. It seems like all the talent is working on TV and not movies.
- J: Haven't thought about that.
- KS: I guess new technology is making it easier for people to choose which TV series they watch and yeah, a good TV series is very easy to keep watching and end up bingeing.
- LA: I think TV series are very popular because I think they allow people to like experience things without having to like leave the safety and comfort of their homes.
- J: How about you guys? What do you think about TV series? Let me know in the comments.

Unit 8 Modern society

34 BBC: Coffee stalls, page 130

Ab = Abraham Ad = Adam M1 = Man 1
M2 = Man 2 M3 = Man 3 N = Narrator
P = Presenter T = Tom

- N: Tom works on a coffee stall just outside Borough Market, in London. A lot has changed since he left America and arrived in the UK, alone and homeless.
- T: No money, nobody I knew lived here. I'd never been here. I'd nowhere to go. I didn't know what to do.
- N: An organisation called Change Please has helped him to gain the skills to build a career.
- T: When I got this job it really changed everything for me. I was kind of an angry person. I was really upset. This changed me 100 per cent.
- N: Today, Tom is training Adam. Along with thirty-five other homeless people, Adam is now working on a coffee stall and this has helped him to get off the streets.
- Ad: It means I got a little dignity back. I've got pride back, I sleep in a bed.
- N: Change Please provides housing and a regular wage to its employees. Two of the people behind the project explain how it works.
- M1: Going from asking somebody for something to being asked for something, in our case coffee, helps to change that dynamic in how they see themselves and how they feel about themselves.
- M2: We are giving people time management skills, people management skills, money-handling skills, so that gets them into the basics.
- N: The project has been extremely successful. A major supermarket chain is selling the coffee with Tom's face on the packet.
- T: That's pretty amazing actually, really. I didn't think my face was good-looking enough to put on there.
- N: But recent figures suggest homelessness is a growing problem.
- M3: Until the government and the local mayor here look out ways in which we can get more young people into work, get them away from benefits and really break that cycle of homelessness, I think we're just gonna see the problem continue to increase.

- N: Abraham used to be homeless, but now runs his own business. He has these words of encouragement for people who are thinking of training with Change Please.
- Ab: Know what you wanna get into and ... yeah, you can do it. If I can do it, anyone can do it.
- P: Are you proud?
- Ab: I'm really proud.

J = Jason H = Holly R = Ruslan A = Alex
S = Shannon C = Céire P = Peter

- J: Hi, everyone, and welcome back to my vlog! Today I want to talk to you about your online activity. A friend of mine has decided that they want to go on a cyber detox, not using social media apps for a month. I think that's really weird because I can't imagine not using social media for longer than one day. I have friends all over the country and we don't get to see each other that often, so the only way to communicate is online. What about you? How do you and your friends stay in touch with one another online?
- H: Me and my friends mostly Facebook message each other or sometimes we WhatsApp, but we never text anymore.
- J: No way!
- R: We use Snapchat most of the time, Facebook groups, little Facebook groups and that's all online for me.
- A: My friends and I keep in contact with each other mainly through WhatsApp and through applications on the phone. We don't really, at my age, don't really contact much each other on social media, but WhatsApp it the main one really.
- S: Um, through social media, so now there's like a lot of services that we can video call and there's like numerou ... numerous of us in one video call. So, there can be like eight of us all video call. And especially going to university we're all far away now, so it's a lot easier to use that and we can all see each other and communicate at once rather than phone calls where it's just between two people. So, we use social media to stay in contact like that.
- C: Same social media as well, Facebook as well, Instagram. I think even if you don't talk to them every day, you can still see what everyone's doing through social media, so you kind of know what's going on in everyone's lives without speaking to them every day.
- P: I would say most definitely with Snapchat. It's how me and my friends stay in touch the most online. That or Instagram.
- J: Have you ever cut yourself off from social media?
- H: Yes, I've deleted my Facebook and my Instagram a few times, but I've always got it back. I felt like having a cleanse and a break and not being on my phone so much, but it's quite addictive.
- R: Yes, I have last year for a full year, see if I could do it, mostly. Then it was really easy, just text friends, that's it.
- J: Wow!
- A: I have cut myself off from social media. I used to use Facebook quite a lot, but now I deleted it cause it was taking up too much of my spare time.
- S: I've tried to even like when I'm revising I'll try to for like I'll go to the library and be like I'll do six hours, I'll turn my phone off, but it's quite hard to it do with all the notifications and things. It's quite addictive, so I haven't tried. I probably should, but no, not yet.
- C: I've tried to cut myself off from social media a few times by deleting it, but then I just get bored and go back to it and redownload it or something. And I think because it's such a big part of life now, it's hard to take yourself away from it.
- P: Yes, I have. I cut myself off from social media in August and I went, I think, six months without any form of social media, just as a way to cleanse from the addiction of it, I would say. But now I'm back, but I'm more responsible this time.
- J: How about you guys? Do you use social media to stay in touch? Leave a comment.

Instructions

Unit 1 A new look

1 What are they wearing? (1.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to clothes and accessories.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activity: Describing and drawing.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. (2) Give Students A their worksheet and Students B their worksheet. (3) Explain that students should NOT look at each other's worksheets. Student A has to describe the clothes and accessories that Sam is wearing for their partner to draw on their blank model. Then Student B describes the clothes and accessories that Lucy is wearing for their partner to draw on their blank model. (4) Choose a strong Student A and demonstrate the activity, e.g. B: So what is Sam wearing? A: He's wearing shorts and ... (5) At the end of the activity, students compare pictures and check they got all the details right.

Optional follow-up: Bring different pictures of people from magazines and stick them on the walls. Students take turns in pairs to describe one of the people's clothes and accessories for their partner to identify the person they are describing.

Answers: Sam is wearing jeans, trainers, a sweatshirt, sunglasses, a necklace and he's carrying a tie in his hand. Lucy is wearing ankle boots, a beanie, a denim jacket over a dress or blouse, a leather belt, sunglasses and two bangles on her left arm.

2 Test yourselves (1.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise dynamic and state verbs.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

3 Busy people (1.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise Present Perfect Continuous.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activity: Completing information.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. (2) Give Students A their worksheet and Students B their worksheet. (3) Explain that students should NOT look at each other's worksheets. They should first look at the pictures and complete the gaps with the verbs using the Present Perfect Continuous. (4) Students then work in pairs. They ask and answer questions using How long ...? in order to complete the times in the boxes. Choose a strong Student B and demonstrate the activity, e.g. A: How long has Matt been cooking? B: He's been cooking all morning. (5) If you like, elicit the question form and write examples on the board: How long + has/have + subject + been + ... ing? How long has Jane been working? How long have they been studying?

Optional follow-up: Students write sentences about themselves, some true and some false, e.g. I have been learning Chinese for a year. I have been going to this school for six years. I've been wearing this watch for ten years, etc. They work in pairs or groups and read out their sentences. Their partner or the others in the group guess if the sentences are true or false.

Answers: 1 Jane and Sarah have been running for forty minutes. 2 Matt has been cooking all morning. 3 They have been waiting for a bus for nearly an hour. 4 Katie has been learning Spanish for three years. 5 Mike has been riding his bike all day. 6 Debbie has been listening to music for two hours. 7 Sam has been going to the same hairdresser's for six years. 8 Dan and Maggie have been playing video games all afternoon.

4 Describing a person (1.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a personal email with a description of a person, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are five mistakes.

(4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one incorrect word form, one wrong preposition, one wrong adjective, missing information on Anna's interests, one instance of wrong tense.

5 How do I look? (Focus Review 1, Speaking)

Aim: To practise describing photos.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs/Groups.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 7 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheet and tell them to take three minutes to fill in the gaps in the text. (2) Then ask students to check the task in pairs. (3) Check the answers with the whole class. (4) You can expand the task by getting students to add more information about the photo.

Answers: 1 shows 2 in the background 3 silk
4 is commenting 5 as if 6 their late teens 7 hair
8 medium height 9 imagine 10 comes across
11 is wearing 12 matches

Unit 2 It's just a game

6 A sports crossword (2.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to sport.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activity: Crossword and guessing game.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. (2) Give Students A and Students B their worksheets and ask them not to show them to each other. (3) Students look at the pictures and individually complete their part of the crossword. (4) Students work in pairs. They take turns to define the nouns they already have in their crosswords so that the other student can complete the missing words, e.g. A: It's a place where you can play a game with a ball and a club. It's big and it's got a lot of grass. B: Is it a golf course? A: That's right! (5) When everyone has finished, check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:

Across: 1 golf course 5 referee 7 athlete 8 pitch
9 match 10 training

Down: 2 opponent 3 spectator 4 skiing 6 fan

7 A solitary triathlete (2.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise narrative tenses.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Ordering.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per pair.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work in pairs. Give each pair one set of cards, cut and shuffled. (2) Ask students to put the story in the correct order, by reconstructing eleven sentences about a triathlon race. Each sentence consists of three cards. At this point you may want to ask students what disciplines a triathlon consists of and what the order of them in a race is (NB. It's: swimming, cycling and running). If necessary, explain the terms: wetsuit and transition area. Point out that the story starts with the card I jumped into the lake and began. Set a time limit of seven minutes. (3) Get students to compare the answers with other pairs. (4) Check the answers with the whole class.

Optional follow-up: With stronger groups you can take advantage of the slight absurdity of the story. Ask students to discuss if the athlete really won the race and who his fans might have been. You may give a hint by writing the title of the exercise on the board and explaining its meaning.

Answer: An explanation of the story might be that the triathlete only imagined competing with others. The fans were probably some birds.

8 Test yourselves (2.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise verb patterns.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

9 A story (2.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a story.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the story, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: two instances of wrong tense, one incorrect word form, one incorrect linker, one missing punctuation, one wrong verb form.

10 Family sports day (Focus Review 2, Speaking)

Aim: To practise words related to sport and functional language of disagreeing, asking for clarification and suggesting.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Gap filling and classifying.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to prepare for two different roles in the speaking task from Focus Review 2. (2) Divide students into two groups: A and B. Give worksheet A to students from Group A, and worksheet B to students from Group B, one worksheet per student. (2) Tell students to work individually. Students from Group A complete the missing elements in the mind map. Students from Group B complete the missing words in the sentences using the box and then put the sentences into the right category in the grid. (3) Now tell students to work in AB pairs to check each other's answers.

Answers:

Students A: 1 play 2 do 3 go 4 indoor 5 outdoor

Disagreeing: b, c, f Asking for clarification/more detail: d, g Suggesting an alternative: a, e

Unit 3 On the go

11 Travel thrills (3.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to means of transport.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activities: Gap filling and information exchange.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Tell students that at first they are going to work individually and hand out the worksheets. Tell them to take three minutes to fill in the gaps with the words from the box. (2) Check the answers with the whole class. (3) Tell students to mark the sentences that are true for them and the ones they think are true for their partners by ticking the appropriate boxes. (4) Students work in pairs and say which sentences they think their partners marked as true, e.g. A: I suppose you'd like to take a ride in a cable car with a glass floor. B: No, I wouldn't. I'm afraid of heights.

Answers: 1 short 2 track 3 car 4 winding 5 bridge
6 tour 7 downhill 8 river 9 bus 10 stuck

12 Test yourselves (3.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise present and past speculation.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

13 True or false? (3.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise used to and would.

Interaction: Groups of four.

Type of activity: Gap filling and information finding.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Divide students into groups of four. (2) Give each student a worksheet. Ask them to complete the sentences with used to or would. If both are possible, they should write both. (3) Check the answers with the class. (4) Then students guess if the sentences are true or false for their group and complete the first column with their guesses. (5) When all the group members have written their guesses, they check to see if they are correct. To do this, each person says a true sentence about themselves for each of the sentences, e.g. I didn't use to go skiing when I was a child. I would visit my grandparents every summer. I used to have long hair, etc. The others listen and note down if each sentence is true/false for that person. Then they complete the final column to say if the sentence is true or false for the group. (6) When everyone has finished, ask different students to report to the class about what they found out.

Optional follow-up: Students interview each other in pairs to find out different things they used to do/didn't use to do when they were younger.

Answers: 1 used to/would 2 used to/would 3 used to 4 used to 5 used to/would 6 used to/would 7 used to 8 used to/would 9 used to/would 10 used to 14 A personal email (3.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a personal email, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: three wrong verb forms, wrong paragraph order, one wrong spelling, one missing punctuation mark.

15 Holiday with a difference (Focus Review 3, Speaking)

Part 1

Aim: To revise phrases related to travelling.

Interaction: Individual.

Type of activity: Gap filling and matching.

Time: 5 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets and tell them to take two minutes to fill in the gaps in the expressions in 1 and 2 with the correct words from the boxes. Explain that in each box there is one word they do not need. (2) In categories 3 and 4 get students to match items from columns A and B to create correct expressions. (3) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers: 1 reach, travel, catch, board, arrive
2 youth, four-star/budget, ski resort, cottage, campsite
3: 1c, 2e, 3a, 4f, 5b, 6d 4: 1c, 2e, 3a, 4b, 5d, 6f

Part 2

Aim: To practise asking questions.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Question formation.

Time: 7 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to ask questions connected with travelling and hand out the worksheets. (2) Explain that first they have to read the answers taken out from a conversation in which two people are talking about a hiking trip. (3) Now ask students to write one question for each answer beginning with the word given in bold and including the word given in brackets. (4) Give students some time to compare their questions in pairs. (5) Check with the whole class.

Sample Answers: 1 Would you like to join me?
2 How can I get there? 3 What clothes should I take?
4 Do I have to be very fit? 5 Where are we going to stay?

Unit 4 Eat, drink and be healthy

16 Odds and ends from the fridge (4.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to food.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Jigsaw dictation and information exchange.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. Give each student their worksheet. Tell them not to look at each other's worksheets. (2) Students take turns to dictate the words in bold to each other and fill in the gaps. (3) When a pair has finished, ask them to compare their texts. (4) Ask students to tell each other what they would choose from each fridge if they were very hungry (or thirsty) and didn't have other options. Encourage students to justify their choices.

17 Test yourselves (4.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise future forms.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

18 A kitchen race against time (4.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise the Future Perfect and Future Continuous.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Information exchange.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Students A and Students B. (2) Give students their worksheets. Tell them that they must not look at each other's worksheets. (3) Explain that each pair has five minutes to answer all ten questions using the information from each other's worksheets. Students may use any strategy to complete the task provided they don't show their worksheets to each other. Draw students' attention to the key information about the opening hours for the kitchen. You may want to point out that the pace of this exercise resembles the fast-paced work in a busy restaurant kitchen. (4) Say Ready? Go! to start the game. After four minutes, remind students that they have one minute left. Say Stop when the time is up. (5) Check the answers with the whole class. Tell students that every correct answer is worth one point. Ask each pair about their score.

Answers: 1 Twenty-four kilos of vegetables.
2 No. (He'll have peeled them all by 8 p.m.)
3 500 plates. 4 No. (Orders are taken until 10.30 p.m.)
5 Thirty coffees. 6 Ten kilos of rice. 7 No. (She'll have chopped them all by 7.30 p.m.) 8 Forty-eight loaves.
9 Yes. 10 Forty-five eggs.

19 A formal email asking for information and clarification (4.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a formal email asking for information and clarification, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are seven mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: incorrect greeting, one contraction, one incorrect word form (singular instead of plural), one wrong verb form, one wrong phrase, one wrong tense, incorrect ending.

20 You are what you eat (Focus Review 4, Speaking)

Part 1

Aim: To practise describing photos.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 7 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheet and tell them to take three minutes to fill in the gaps in the text. (2) Then ask students to check the task in pairs. (3) Check the answers with the whole class.

Optional follow-up: You can expand the task by getting students to add more information about the photo, or/and you can get students to practise time clauses. Ask: What are the women in the background going to do when they finish their meal? Put students in groups of three/four and get them to answer the question creating a chain story. They should use as many conjunctions (when/as soon as/unless/if/before/after/as long as) as possible. Set a time limit, e.g. When they finish the meal, the woman on the left will move to the right. As soon as she moves to the right, she will ...

Answers: 1 group 2 probably 3 are standing 4 side
5 seems 6 fussy eaters 7 allergies 8 waiter
9 is chatting 10 as if

Part 2

Aim: To practise sentence formation.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Ordering.

Time: 3 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Ask students to create correct sentences connected with the photograph in Part 1. (2) Check with the whole class and explain that they should expect to get similar questions during the Matura exam.

Optional follow-up: Students discuss the Matura-like questions they have just formed.

Answers: 1 Why do you think the people in the photo are standing? 2 Would you like to organise a party for a large group of people?/Would you like to organise a large party for a group of people? 3 Tell me about a time when you or somebody you know attended a large party.

Unit 5 Planet Earth

21 Fishing for words (5.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise word formation and words related to geographical features.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Board game.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet and one set of cards per pair.

In class: (1) Give each pair a worksheet, one set of narrow cards with word formation questions and one set of wide cards with vocabulary questions. Explain card categories clearly. Tell students to put the cards face down in two respective columns. (2) Tell students that they are going to play a game. The aim of the game is to catch four fish of any type in one horizontal, vertical or diagonal line. To catch a 'word formation fish' (WF) or a 'vocabulary fish' (VOC) students have to answer a question from the respective pile. Each question may be asked only once. (3) Students take turns. One player chooses a fish on the board and asks the opponent to read them a question. If the answer is correct, the player colours in their fish on the board. If the player makes a mistake, their opponents can try to catch the same fish when it's their turn. (4) When everyone has finished, ask students about the results of their games.

22 GeoQuiz (5.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise a/an, the and no article.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Gap filling and quiz.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Divide students into small teams of three to five students. (2) Give each student a worksheet. Ask them to fill in the gaps with a/an, the or no article (Ø). Check the answers with the class. Award 1 point for each correct answer. (3) Teams then decide on the answers to the questions. Do the quiz as a class and give points for each correct answer. Questions 1–5 are worth 2 points each and questions 6–10 are worth three points each. The team with the most points at the end is the winner.

Answers: Articles: 1 the, Ø 2 the 3 the, the 4 the, the 5 an 6 an, a, the, the 7 the, the, the, the 8 the, Ø 9 Ø, Ø 10 Ø

Quiz Answers: 1a, 2c, 3a, 4c, 5c, 6a, 7b, 8a, 9b, 10a

23 Test yourselves (5.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise non-defining relative clauses.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

24 Test yourselves (5.1 Vocabulary, 5.3 Listening and 5.6 Use of English)

Aim: To practise vocabulary from lessons 5.1, 5.3 and 5.6.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

25 A 'for and against' essay (5.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a 'for and against' essay, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are five mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one unnecessary article, one contraction, one incorrect linker, one instance of informal language, one piece of missing information.

26 If I were to choose ... (Focus Review 5, Speaking)

Aim: To practise comparing, contrasting, choosing one option and explaining the reasons for rejecting the others.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Ordering and classifying.

Time: 7 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Hand out the worksheets. Tell students to work individually and unjumble the sentences. Make it clear that the beginnings and endings of each sentence are in bold. (2) Get the students to compare their sentences in pairs and check the answers with the whole class. (3) Tell the students to put each sentence in the correct place in the grid. (4) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:

Describing, comparing, contrasting:

6 Picture X is much more ... than the other pictures.

7 Picture X is not as ... as the other pictures.

Choosing one of the options and justifying:

1 To my mind, the best option would be X because ...

3 Frankly speaking, I would definitely go for picture X because ...

4 Well, out of these three pictures, I would choose X because ...

Explaining reasons for rejecting other options:

2 Well, the reason picture X doesn't appeal to me is that ...

5 Personally, I do not like picture X because ...

8 The problem with picture X is that ...

Unit 6 Good health

27 All about the body (6.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise body idioms and words related to body parts and injuries.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activity: Gap filling and interview.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B, and give each student a worksheet.

(2) Students complete the questions using the words in the box. Point out that there are extra words they do not need. (3) Check the answers with the class.

(4) Students answer the questions for themselves.

(5) Students interview their partner. (6) When everyone has finished, check the answers with the whole class.

Answers: 1 head 2 shoulder 3 leg 4 ankle 5 heart
6 hand 7 thumb 8 tongue 9 eyes 10 fingers

28 Just imagine! (6.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise the Second Conditional, wish and if only.

Interaction: Groups of three.

Type of activity: Board game.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet, one dice and three coloured counters per group of three.

In class: (1) Divide students into groups of three. (2) Give each group a worksheet and a dice. Each student places a different coloured counter (or small object, e.g. a rubber, paper clip, pen top, etc.) on the START square. (3) Explain that they have to make sentences using the words in brackets – they should be sentences with the Second Conditional, wish or if only. Students take turns to throw the dice. The one with the highest score starts, throws again and moves the counter forward the number of squares shown on the dice. When they land on the square, they must make a sentence using the correct form of the words in brackets. E.g., a student lands on square 2: If I had a black eye, I would put some ice on it. If the rest of the group agree that the sentence is correct, the student stays on the square and it is the next student's turn. If the sentence is not correct, the student moves back to the START or five spaces if they are further along in the game.

Optional follow-up: Groups write an example sentence for each square, or choose ten squares to write sentences for.

Sample Answers: 1 I wish the neighbours wouldn't make a lot of noise. 2 If I had a black eye, I'd put some ice on it. 3 If only I understood my Maths homework. 4 I wish I was good at football. 5 If I burnt my hand, I would go to hospital. 6 If a bee stung me, I'd take an antihistamine tablet. 7 If only I wasn't allergic to strawberries! 8 I wish I had a laptop. 9 If only there wasn't a mosquito in the room. 10 I wish I didn't live in the mountains. 11 If I cut my knee, I would put a plaster on it. 12 If only I didn't have a lot of homework. 13 I wish my brother wouldn't borrow my MP3 player. 14 If I got sunburnt, I'd put some cream on it. 15 If I had the flu, I'd stay in bed. 16 I wish I wasn't clumsy. 17 If only I was good at singing. 18 I wish my parents would let me stay out late. 19 If I had a nosebleed, I would hold my nose and put my head forward. 20 If I wasn't allergic to dogs, I would buy one. 21 If only I had some money. 22 If I had hay fever, I'd take an antihistamine tablet.

29 Test yourselves (6.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise the Third Conditional.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line.

(2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets.

Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

30 A factual article (6.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a factual article.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the article, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one incorrect linker, two wrong phrases, one incorrect word form (noun instead of adverb), missing expert opinions or official data, one missing preposition.

31 A few words about myself (Focus Review 6, Speaking)

Aim: To revise phrases related to health and ways of spending one's free time.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Gap filling and classifying.

Time: 7 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets and tell them to take three minutes to fill in the gaps in expressions 1–22 with the correct word from the box. (2) Get students to compare their answers in pairs. (3) Check the answers with the whole class. (4) Get students to match the expressions to the relevant question (1–3). Point out that for question 3 they need topics for discussion rather than direct answers. (5) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers: 1 in 2 listen 3 herbal 4 remain 5 prescribe 6 delicious 7 from 8 down 9 get 10 have 11 go 12 diet 13 full 14 out 15 appointment 16 enjoy 17 see 18 for 19 take 20 bed 21 allergic 22 pills

Unit 7 Entertain me

32 Taboo words (7.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to TV shows.

Interaction: Groups.

Type of activity: Defining and guessing game.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: Two–three sets of six cards for Group A and Group B.

In class: (1) Divide the class into two groups: A and B. Tell them they are going to compete in inventing definitions. (2) Each group gets together in one place. Tell the students they have eight minutes to write six definitions of the words on their cards. Explain that in these definitions they are not allowed to use the three words given below, e.g. AUDIENCE: These are the people who go to the cinema or theatre to see a play or film. (3) When both groups are ready, start the guessing game. Group A reads their first definition. If Group B guesses the word straightaway, Group A gets a point. Then it is Group B's turn to do the same. They take turns until all the definitions have been read. If any of the prohibited words appears in the definitions, groups get penalty points. The group with the most points wins.

33 Tall stories (7.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise reported speech.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Information exchange.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Students A and Students B. (2) Give students their worksheets. Remind them that they must not look at each other's worksheets. (3) Tell students they should verify the information they have in their worksheets and note down any differences. At this stage students should assume that the information that comes straight from the horse's mouth is correct. Student A starts and tells Student B what Natalie said about Jack. Student B corrects the information by saying what she/he was told by Jack himself. Remind students that they both have to use reported speech, e.g. A: Natalie told me that Jack had appeared in one episode of a soap opera. B: But Jack said that he'd appeared in five TV series. Write different reporting verbs on the board, e.g. Natalie added ..., Jack claimed ... and encourage students to use them. Students swap when Student A has verified all the information. (4) When everyone has finished, ask students what they think of Natalie or Jack and why they think Jack tends to embellish stories.

Optional follow-up: Explain to students the meaning of Tall stories. Ask them if they often embellish their stories.

34 Test yourselves

(7.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise Reported Speech – questions and imperatives.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

35 Test yourselves

(7.1 Vocabulary, 7.4 Reading and 7.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise vocabulary from lessons 7.1, 7.4 and 7.7.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

36 An article reviewing an event

(7.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing an article reviewing an event, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one piece of missing information, one wrong verb form, incorrect paragraph order, one wrong quantifier, one incorrect adverb, one wrong phrase.

37 What shall I watch?

(Focus Review 7, Speaking)

Part 1

Aim: To practise words related to TV.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.

Type of activity: Matching.

Time: 5 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Hand out the worksheet. Tell students to work individually and decide what programmes the pictures show (choose the right options from the box). (2) Get students to compare their answers in pairs and check the answers with the whole class. (3) Tell students to look at the list of arguments, choose the ones that match the pictures and put them in the grids. (4) Get students to check the answers in pairs and then check the answers with the whole class.

Answers: 1 soap opera For: f, l Against: c, i
2 documentary For: d, h Against: a, k
3 news bulletin For: e, j Against: b, g

Part 2

Aim: To practise comparing, contrasting, choosing one option and explaining the reasons for rejecting the others.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activity: Guided speaking.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students to work in pairs and decide which of the three TV programmes in Part 1 would be the most suitable for an elderly lady and why they would reject the other two programmes. Encourage them to use the arguments from the grids.

Sample Answers: 1 If I were to choose the most suitable programme for an elderly lady, I'd definitely go for a soap opera. To my mind, it offers an escape from our own daily lives because you can identify with the characters and follow their lives. Another plus is that it can teach you a lot about people's motivations. I think that a news bulletin wouldn't be the best choice because there's too much politics and sensational news there and news bulletins tend to be biased so they might be quite misleading. Wildlife documentaries could be a bit risky because they might include too much violence and some people tend to find the narration rather boring.

2 If I were to choose, I'd probably opt for a wildlife documentary as this kind of programme can be quite educational and informative so an elderly lady could learn a lot of interesting facts about the environment. What's more, wildlife documentaries are pleasant to watch because they have brilliant photography of landscapes. Unlike documentaries, soaps tend to be rather silly. They have banal, unrealistic plots, which makes them just a waste of time. That's why I don't think it would be a good option for an elderly lady. When it comes to a news bulletin, it seems to me there's too much politics and sensational news there so an elderly lady might find them irritating or even stressful. And besides, news bulletins tend to be biased so they might be misleading, too.

3 To my mind, the best option would definitely be a news bulletin because such programmes address local, national and global issues. As a result, elderly ladies can be up-to-date with what's going on in politics, economy and other spheres of life. They won't feel alienated from the world. Wildlife documentaries are a worse choice because they might include too much violence and some people tend to find the narration rather boring. I wouldn't recommend soap operas either because their plots are usually banal and unrealistic so watching them is just a waste of time.

Unit 8 Modern society

38 In legal terms (8.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to crime and criminals.

Interaction: Pairs.

Type of activities: Concept check questions.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per pair.

In class: (1) Tell students they're going to work in pairs. Give each pair one set of cards and ask them to put the shuffled cards face down in a draw pile. (2) Students take turns to pick up one card at a time. They ask each other the questions. It's important that the questions are read out and not shown (and neither are the answers!) (3) Students get one point for every question they answered correctly. In order to get a point, however, students must justify their answer, not just answer Yes or No. (4) Ask students about the result of their games.

39 Test yourselves (8.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise the Passive.

Type of activity: Gap filling.

Time: 10 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

40 Can you help me? (8.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise have something done.

Interaction: Groups of eight.

Type of activity: Mingling and asking questions.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per group.

In class: (1) Divide students into groups of eight. (2) Give each student a work card (the things they need to have done). (3) Students read their work cards. They silently practise saying what they need to have/get done. (4) Then give students their role cards (the things they can do). The numbers on both cards should be the same – the student with work card 1 should have role card 1 and so on. (5) Students mingle in their groups and try to find someone who can do the things they need to have done. To do this they say what they need to have done and then ask Can you help? When they find someone who can help, they find out how much it will cost and note that down. If you like, demonstrate with a strong student, e.g. A: I need to have my hair cut. Can you help? B: Yes, I'm a hairdresser. I can cut your hair. A: How much does it cost? B: It costs 20 euros. (6) At the end of the activity, students report back to the class if they found someone to do the jobs and how much it cost.

41 An opinion essay (8.7 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing an opinion essay, following a checklist.

Interaction: Individual, pairs.

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as missing information, incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all mistakes. Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: two pieces of missing information, one incorrect linker, two wrong verb forms, one wrong spelling.

42 Crime prevention (Focus Review 8, Speaking)

Aim: To practise words related to crime, choosing one option and explaining the reasons for rejecting the others.

Interaction: Individual/Groups of three.

Type of activity: Matching and discussing.

Time: 15 minutes.

Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Put students into groups of three and tell each person in the group to choose one picture. (2) Tell students to work individually and prepare arguments to convince the other two students in the group that their method of securing the house against burglary is the most effective. Encourage them to use relevant vocabulary from the box and the beginnings of the sentences below the photos. Set a time limit of five minutes. (3) Get students to present their arguments within their groups. (4) When all the arguments have been presented, tell students to choose the best option. (5) Get students to present their choice to the rest of the class.

Sample Answers: 1 If I were to choose, I'd definitely opt for the guard dogs. The reason why the picture with the dogs appeals to me the most is that they look really aggressive and scary. I think they might put potential burglars off so they wouldn't try to break into the house. The dogs seem to be much more effective than, e.g. barred windows because if the dogs sense danger, they might bark and in this way alert the neighbours. The problem with the barbed wire above the fence is that it is quite easy for a fit person to climb over it so I don't think it is likely to discourage burglars from entering the property.

2 Out of these three options I'd choose barred windows. First of all, they are likely to discourage potential burglars because it would take some time to remove them and thieves are always pressed for time. What's more, someone would probably see them dismantling the bars and call the police. I don't like the idea of guard dogs as they are not as effective as the barred windows. You can easily put dogs to sleep or 'bribe' them with some delicious dog food. The idea of a barbed wire above the fence doesn't appeal to me either because it is quite easy for a fit person to climb over it so I don't think it is likely to discourage burglars from entering the property.

3 In my view, the best option is shown in the picture with a barbed wire above the fence. The fence looks high and scary and I believe climbing over it might pose a threat to health and potential burglars could risk getting injured. I don't think that guard dogs can protect the house well enough. You can easily put them to sleep or 'bribe' them with some delicious dog food. The problem with the barred windows is that they make you feel trapped inside your own house.

You're expecting a visit from your teenage cousin from the UK. She's preparing a photo project about teens in different countries and their interests. One of your friends would like to take part.

Write an email including the following points:

- Describe your friend's appearance and character,
- Give information on her interests,
- Express your certainty your cousin and your friend will get on well.

In my email:

- I have started with a friendly greeting, e.g. Dear James or Hi Gemma.
- I have said why I am writing.
- I have described my friend's appearance (hair, eyes, face, height, build, clothing), personality and interests.
- I have used contractions (e.g. I'm/aren't/that's).
- I have perhaps used some emoticons (☺) and abbreviations (info/CU/gr8) – but not too many!
- I have finished with a friendly ending, e.g. Bye 4 now, All the best, Lots of love, etc.
- I have checked my spelling and punctuation.
- My text is neat and clear.

Hi Sally,

It's great you're coming here! I know somebody here who would love to take part in your project. Let me tell you about her.

Her name's Anna and she's my age, but she looks a bit older. She's quite short and slim, and has wavy dark hair. She dresses artistic: long skirts, beanies and huge earrings.

She's the sort of person you love to be around. She's cheerful and easy-going so she often comes off as absolutely carefree. But she's actually a very down-to-ground person, who knows what she wants.

I'm thinking you'll get along well.

CU soon,

Julia

I jumped into the lake and began	to swim as soon	as I heard the whistle.
Because the water was cold, I was	wearing	a special wetsuit.
When I got out of the lake, I	put on a helmet	and got on my bike
Halfway through the race, when I was	cycling downhill, I saw	a group of my fans.
They were	sitting on a tree and	cheering me on so I waved at them.
Because I didn't want to let them	down, I sped up and	got to the transition area in no time.
After I got off	the bike, I changed	my shoes and started to run.
While I was running, I felt that I'd	burnt all my energy	and I needed a snack.

How to ruin a great day!

What's the best way to enjoy the sea? By boat, of course! Last summer, when my older cousin Lena and I went to an island, we were renting a small motorboat. We were so excited! The sky was blue, the sun was shining and the sea was calm. What could possibly go wrong?

We chatted and relaxed on the boat. After a couple of hours, we stopped near a tiny island and jumped into the water. It was deep, but incredible clear, so we could see the sandy bottom and little fish. The first, we swam and then we decided to explore the area more, so we got back on the boat.

That's when we suddenly realised we had a huge problem! Why didn't the boat start? We'd run out of fuel! Call the boat company I said to Lena. We tried and tried, but we weren't able getting a signal. So we sat on the boat all day in the hot sun, waiting for someone to see us.

Eventually, as the sun was setting, another boat arrived. It was the man from the boat company, who had become worried and decided to look for us. We explained what had happened; he had looked at us and shook his head. We felt so stupid!

How to ruin a great day!

What's the best way to enjoy the sea? By boat, of course! Last summer, when my older cousin Lena and I went to an island, we ~~were renting~~ rented [1] a small motorboat. We were so excited! The sky was blue, the sun was shining and the sea was calm. What could possibly go wrong?

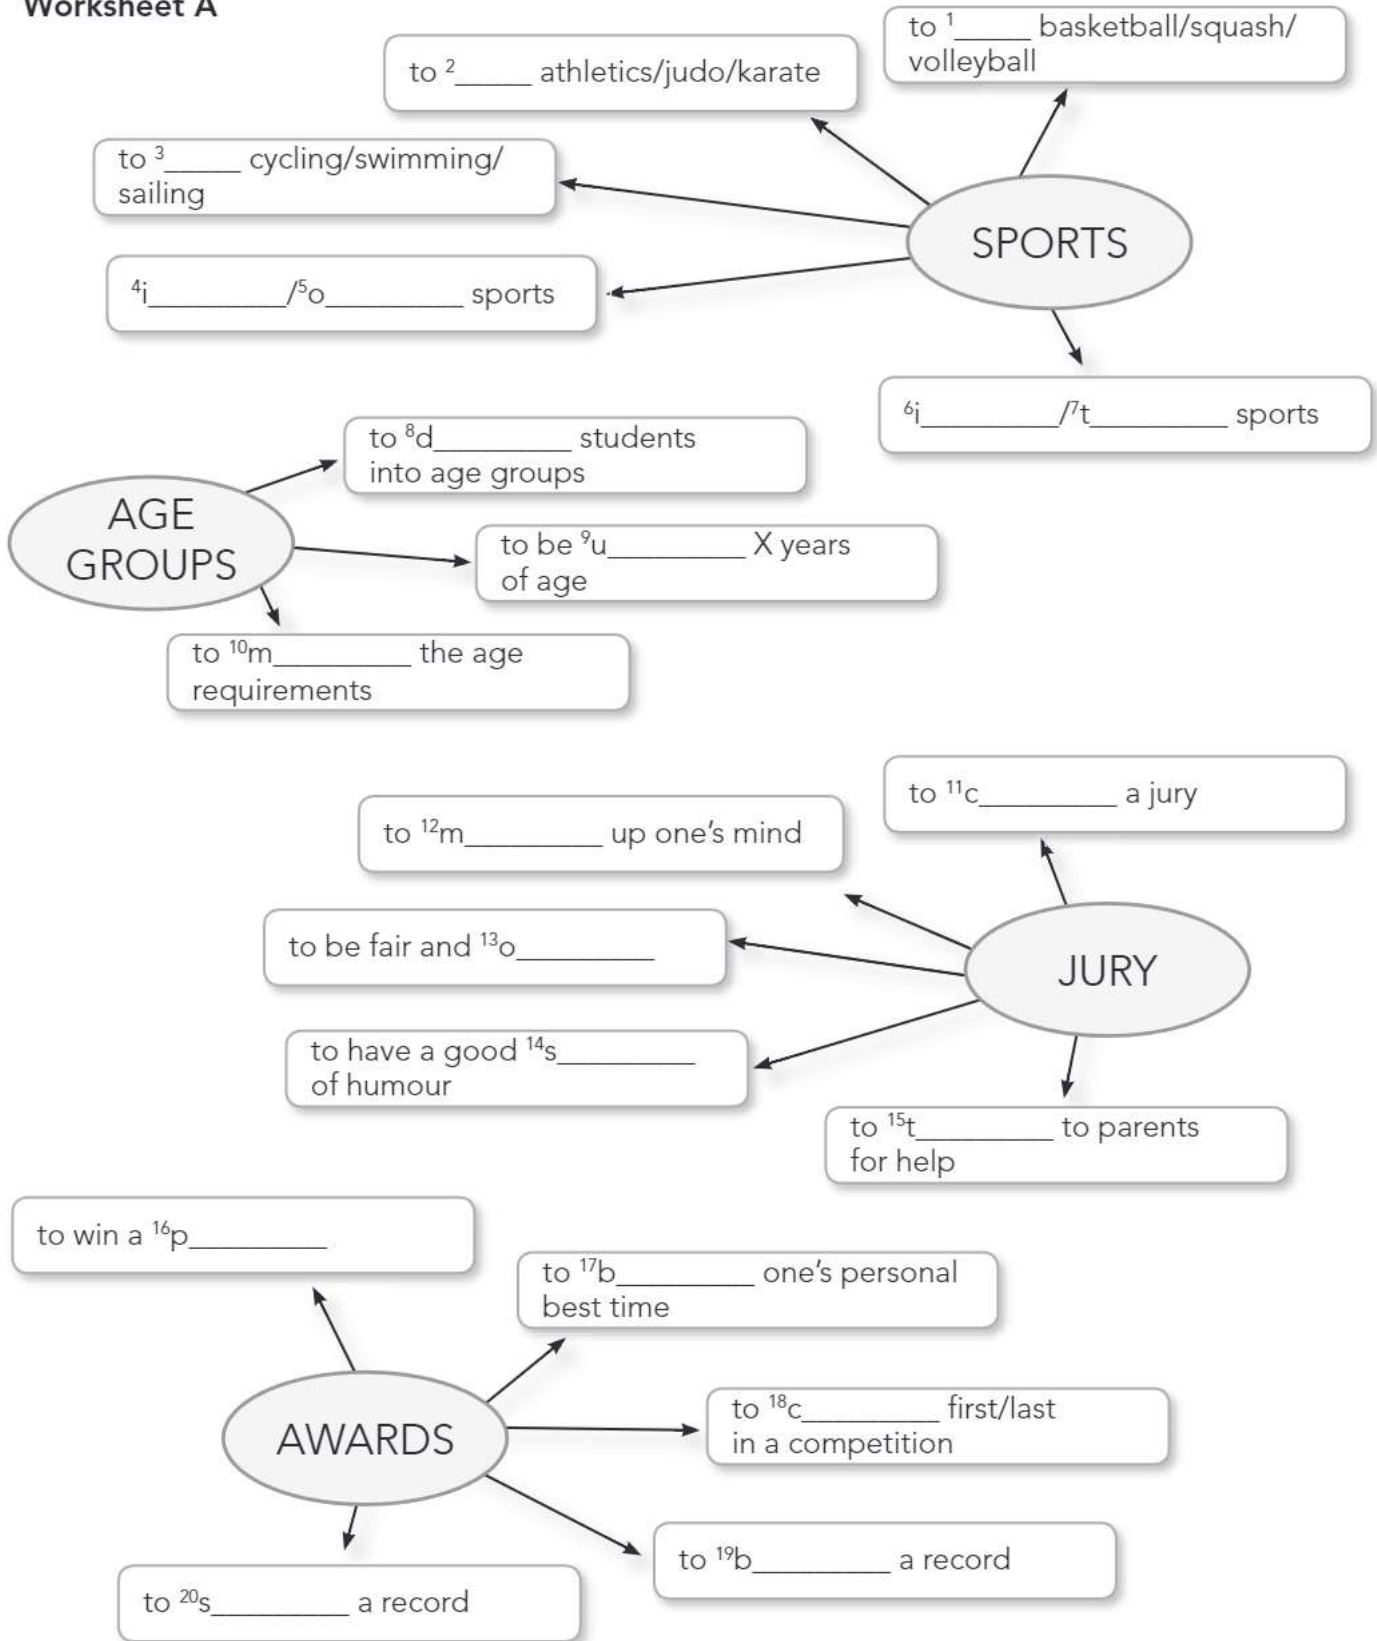

We chatted and relaxed on the boat. After a couple of hours, we stopped near a tiny island and jumped into the water. It was deep, but ~~incredible~~ incredibly [2] clear, so we could see the sandy bottom and little fish. ~~The first~~ At first [3], we swam and then we decided to explore the area more, so we got back on the boat.

That's when we suddenly realised we had a huge problem! Why didn't the boat start? We'd run out of fuel! ~~Call the boat company~~ 'Call the boat company.' [4] I said to Lena. We tried and tried, but we weren't able ~~getting~~ to get [5] a signal. So we sat on the boat all day in the hot sun, waiting for someone to see us.

Eventually, as the sun was setting, another boat arrived. It was the man from the boat company, who had become worried and decided to look for us. We explained what had happened; he ~~had looked~~ looked [6] at us and shook his head. We felt so stupid!

Your teenage cousin from the USA has written to you asking for advice. Three months ago she adopted a dog from an animal rescue shelter, but it keeps misbehaving. Her parents say she will need to find it a new home if the problem is not solved. Your cousin has asked for your help, because you also adopted a dog two years ago. Write an email of reply including the following points:

- Express sympathy for your cousin's situation,
- Offer advice,
- Mention another, more cheerful topic,
- Once more, show support and reassure your cousin.

In my personal email:

- I have used a friendly greeting, e.g. Dear Sam or Hi Charlotte.
- I have started with some general news and/or a reference to what my friend wrote in their last email.
- I have included everything in the bullet points in the question, i.e. expressed sympathy, offered advice, changed the subject and given some positive news, and reassured my friend at the end.
- I have used contractions (e.g. I'm/aren't/that's).
- I have perhaps used some emoticons (☺) and abbreviations (info/CU/gr8) – but not too many!
- I have checked my spelling and punctuation.
- My text is neat and clear.

Hi Samantha,
 I'm so sorry to hear that Dingo's behaviour hasn't changed :(I can't see why you're upset. I know having a dog which barks at everyone is difficult. But you must fight for him!
 By the way, I'm coming to visit you this summer! I can't wait. And I might be able to help. My dog, Chichi, also would be aggressive in the beginning. But now – she's an angel <3.
 Have you tried going to special dog training with him? Or maybe hiring a dog behaviourist might be a good idea. If I were you, I search for some info on the Internet and also try working with him at home.
 Just find Dingo some professional help. Everything will be OK – you'll see

Dear Mr or Mrs,
I am writing in response to the advert of your food-sharing programme. I want to help. I'm planning to collect food waste from the neighbourhood and donate it to people in need through your foundation. There are seven household interested in this project. However, I have some questions. Could you clarify if there is a chance you can pick the food up or do we have to arrange the transport? Also could you confirm the address of the Community Fridge we should deliver the food to? I would also like to know can we donate only unprocessed food or also meals that have already been cooked. I am looking for your response and hope we will have done some good together.

It is estimated that every year over 500,000 animals are tested on worldwide. Some people believe it is necessary, as this way new medicines, cosmetics and other substances can be approved for human use. Others object to these procedures because of the incredible pain and distress most animals suffer. So is animal testing really necessary? On the one hand, testing medicine on animals has led to many scientific breakthroughs, for instance the discovery of insulin or the polio vaccine. Furthermore, a scientists claim that animals also benefit from such tests, as they've led to the development of a rabies vaccine. Supporters of animal testing also say that since animals have no rights and are similar to humans, it would be unethical not to use them for scientific purposes. On the other side, even though there is some law regulating humane test procedures, the vast majority of animals suffer unbearably during badly conducted experiments. And it's very bad when you just take poor animals and do tests on them – it's just wrong! Finally, opponents of testing say it is not as beneficial as the proponents claim, as most of the substances which passed animal tests were not approved for human use. In conclusion, animal testing is not easy to judge as it is often connected to saving human lives.

An online teen magazine has asked for articles on the importance of getting enough sleep and how this benefits young people's health, academic progress and general well-being. Include and develop these points:

- Give your factual article a catchy title.
- Include experts' opinions and official data.
- Use direct questions and different words and phrases to make the article interesting for the reader.
- Finish your factual article with a summary.

In my factual article:

- I have included a catchy title.
- I have given experts' opinions and/or official data, e.g. According to research ... Statistics show ...
- I have asked direct questions to engage the reader, e.g. But what do we really know about it?
- I have used a range of linkers to make my text clear and logical, e.g. Additionally, As a result, In contrast
- I have used a range of vocabulary and synonyms to avoid repeating words, e.g. teenagers/young people.
- I have ended the text with a summary.
- I have divided my work into paragraphs.
- I have checked my spelling and punctuation.

Sleep: what is it good for?

It may seem obvious that we need sleep, but why is it so important? Sleep makes us healthier, smarter and ready for all of life's challenges. In contrast, to get all the benefits, you need to get enough sleep.

Good sleep is necessary for good health. Sleep helps your body to fight bacteria and viruses that you don't get sick as often. Addition, sleep reduces stress, and that's important because stress can damage your heart.

What is as well as interesting is the effect of sleep on learning and memory. Without enough sleep, we can't think clearly. As a result, it becomes more difficult to learn and to remember new information. In fact, students who don't sleep enough have worse grades than those who sleep more.

Naturally, you don't need to be told that if you sleep better, you'll feel better. You're happier and enjoy life more. As well as that, good sleep can help you to be more creative or become a better athlete.

Hopefully, more young people will realise that a little more sleep can lead good health, better academic performance and improved quality of life.

Last weekend you attended a dance competition in another town with your friends. Review this event for the school website. Describe the competition and express your opinion.

In my article reviewing an event:

- I have begun with an interesting, funny or unusual title to attract the reader's attention.
- I have held the reader's attention with an introduction which asks a question or gives interesting facts.
- I have described the event using a variety of adjectives and modifiers.
- I have made my descriptions interesting by describing what I saw, heard, smelled and tasted.
- I have included personal opinions and suggestions.
- I have finished with a recommendation for the reader.
- I have checked my spelling and punctuation.
- My text is neat and clear.

Confused crowds, crackling loudspeakers and the smell of dirty socks – that's what I experienced at Future of Dance, a street dance competition I attended last week.

That's not all. There was so few space in the temporary changing rooms that most of the 900 dancers had to change on the floor of the bathrooms, the state of which was simply dreadful. And the greatest surprise: a sporting event with no catering services! All the very exhausted dancers could buy were sweet snacks – no nutritious food at all.

First of all, the venue was a misunderstanding: a gymnasium at a local school, with a sound system which sounded like a gramophone. The announcements the presenters made were unclear and many dancers missed their turn. They were assured that they will get another chance, but they didn't. Why? Because the horrible organisation caused delays, and there was simply no time for retakes.

I have a request for the competition's organisers: find a better venue and hire a catering company, because next time there will be only a handful of dancers. It's just common sense to take care of the needs of the participants, who pay high entrance fees.

If nothing changes, I definitely do not recommend going to Future of Dance next season. The event calls itself a national competition, but it sounds like a joke to those who took place.

State school head teachers are introducing compulsory uniforms in their schools more often. Write an opinion essay on the issue for the school paper, expressing your ideas and taking teenagers' self-image problems and freedom of expression into account.

In my opinion essay:

- In the introductory paragraph I have introduced the topic and clearly stated my point of view.
- In the body of the essay I have included two or three paragraphs with more detailed personal opinions and supported these with reasons and examples.
- In the conclusion I have included a summary of my main point of view and used different words to the statement in the introduction.
- In the conclusion I have included a final comment which leaves the reader with something to think about.
- I have used a variety of linkers to help the reader to follow my essay.
- I have used formal language and have avoided abbreviations (info/CU/gr8) or contractions (e.g. I'm/aren't/that's).
- I have checked my spelling and punctuation.
- My text is neat and clear.

More and more state schools are deciding to introduce school uniforms. They claim this will stop unjust 'fashion wars', where more affluent students appear to be better dressed than poorer ones. Uniforms are also said to help young people focus on education. Furthermore, telling students to wear the same uniform seems to me a violation of their freedom of expression. In my opinion, we all have the right to manifest our personalities and clothes are a way to do this. Adolescence is a period when students' true selves are shape and if we do not let them show that through clothing, their transition to adulthood may be delayed. Next, teens often struggle with self-image issues. They do not feel pretty or strong enough. They try too find ways to feel better in their own skins. I am afraid school uniforms may slow down this process greatly. Lastly, recent studies have suggested that students who wore uniforms were not more committed to learning than students wearing whatever they wanted. So it seems to me that teenagers do not turned into model students by the uniforms. In summary, I am of the opinion that unflattering school uniforms are quite oppressive and limit young people's freedom to show their true colours.

EXERCISE 1

THE WRONG CLOTHES

My friend's wedding reception was definitely a memorable event for me. Expecting a lavish party, I bought a fabulous evening dress with a pair of shoes to ¹_____. I was terribly determined to make a good impression and I felt it was important to be dressed properly for such an occasion.

On the big day, I turned up at the hotel where the reception was ²_____ held. I knew I looked gorgeous. However, the moment I stepped into the reception room, I couldn't believe my eyes. ³_____ was wearing any formal clothes. The guests were dressed in Hawaiian shirts and skirts or shorts with garlands of flowers around their necks. I looked at the invitation again and realised that I hadn't read it properly. ⁴_____ the bottom of the invitation, in small print, the hosts clearly stated what type of clothes we were expected to be wearing on that occasion.

EXERCISE 2

COLOUR YOUR HOME

When we think about doing ¹_____ our home, we usually concentrate on the furniture, carpets and curtains, but we tend to ignore the need to choose suitable colours for the walls in ²_____ of the rooms of the house.

Most interior designers agree that the choice of colours should always be the starting point when it comes to decorating. But they also say that since the days of having so ³_____ choice are gone, making the right decision which colour to choose for which space seems an incredibly difficult thing to do. That's why, before you attempt to decorate any of the walls, you ⁴_____ better learn some basic rules. For example, red is good for a dining-room; but if you use it in the bedroom, it may actually stop you from sleeping. Another example might be to apply yellow to cheer a place up, especially one that doesn't get much sunlight.

EXERCISE 3

A CHOCOLATE TASTER

Being a chocolate taster sounds like a dream job, especially for a chocoholic like me. I ¹_____ probably enjoy staying at work all day long if my job just consisted of tasting chocolate every single day. So what do you need to become a taster? The job hardly requires any formal qualifications but many tasters usually obtain a university ²_____ such as a BSc or MSc in food technology. They attend many workshops to develop their skills. However, you can't do the job effectively ³_____ you have an acute sense of taste and smell, as they are crucial in assessing the product. Large companies have several tasters whose job is to taste the chocolate in ⁴_____ to determine whether it's too bitter or too sweet and also to comment on texture and the visual impression. So, if you think you're good at tasting different flavours, you might be wise to consider it as a career.

EXERCISE 4

TWINNS

It was great fun having an identical twin sister at school. We used to dress in the same way, which ¹_____ our teachers feel cross because they would mix us up and we rarely bothered to correct them. On the other ²_____, we were never that harmonious at home. As very independent girls, we used to argue at least once a day and we even had fights with ³_____ other.

We exhibited the worst behaviour on our birthday and at Christmas. Most people either bought us identical presents or one to share between us and it used to infuriate us. Once we even told our aunt that we would ⁴_____ have received no present than the same one. It took us a long time to understand that we shouldn't have behaved like that. We all laugh at it now but then we were dead serious about that problem.

Read the gapped texts and complete each gap with the correct form of the word given in capital letters so that the texts are logical and grammatically correct.

EXERCISE 1

FOCUS ON ADHD

For many years, ADHD (attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder) has been the favourite catchphrase of all those whose children are loud, ¹_____ (OBEY), hard to control and awkward in social situations. But scientific research of the brain actually confirms that people suffering from this disorder have lower levels of dopamine – a hormone responsible for feeling good. They also have slight changes in the composition of the brain, as they have a less-developed part of the brain responsible for ²_____ (ATTEND) span, response control and emotional regulation. That's why those teens seem less stimulated, less interested and often unable to ³_____ (CONCENTRATION). They often seem more ⁴_____ (CONNECT) from the outside world, as they simply lose interest in everything around them easily. This, in turn, may lead to problems with ⁵_____ (SOCIETY) with peers. If we do not want the problem to ⁶_____ (DEEP) we should help teens by introducing some structure and routine into their lives and teach them to break up tasks into smaller pieces, which are more manageable.

EXERCISE 2

TOUGH BEGINNING

LeBron James, one of the all-time best NBA basketball players in history, is one of the greatest examples of how far you can get if you have a strong will and unbelievable ¹_____ (RESILIENT). When he was born, his mother was only sixteen. They suffered real poverty and had to move house frequently. Luckily, pretty early on, LeBron was noticed by a ²_____ (TRAIN), who saw potential in the little boy. When James was only nine, he moved in with the coach because the man wanted to offer the boy some stability in life. That was a smart decision, as the neighbourhood James lived in would ³_____ (AVOID) lead to him coming into conflict with the law. And we all know what happened later. LeBron ⁴_____ (SUCCESS) in becoming an NBA star. He has ⁵_____ (ACHIEVEMENT) such spectacular success because he told himself that ⁶_____ (FAIL) was not an option. And it wasn't.

EXERCISE 3

TINY TITANS

I'm a football coach to a bunch of kindergarten children, and, believe it or not, I find it the most ¹_____ (REWARD) job there is. It's hard to find a group of more motivated and focused players, who treat every word you say as the absolute truth. They are a team who know why they are on the pitch and who never question my decisions – that's incredible for five-year-olds. We have been meeting twice a week for the past ten months and it's unbelievable what a great ²_____ (IMPROVE) they've made. They are faster, more precise and psychologically stronger than when we started out. After every ³_____ (LOSS) match they were so ⁴_____ (DISAPPOINTING), they cried, they were angry. It took hours of talks, exercises, coaching and showing massive ⁵_____ (ENCOURAGE) to turn them into the winners they are. They rarely lose now, but even if they do, they congratulate the ⁶_____ (OPPOSE) team and leave the pitch proud.

EXERCISE 4

COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE

There are many theories on how to self-develop and get better at a task we are still ¹_____ (HOPE) at. One of them suggests that we should start to ²_____ (COMPETITOR) with those more proficient at a subject as early as possible. But why? Isn't it frustrating and demotivating? Apparently not. Competition makes you a quicker and better learner. Competition sets you a 'visible' goal you want to reach as fast as possible. It's often impossible to ³_____ (IMAGINATION) how quickly you can improve at a subject when you try to beat somebody at it. It's a great motivating factor. Being competitive also opens your mind and makes you more ⁴_____ (CREATOR). It ⁵_____ (BREADTH) your horizons and lets you see options you didn't see before. That's why coaches and teachers strongly ⁶_____ (ADVICE) getting a study partner who is more advanced at a subject than you are and to do your best to catch up with them. You'll be shocked with the speed of your progress!

Read the gapped texts and complete each gap with the correct form of one of the words from the box so that the texts are logical and grammatically correct. There are two extra words in each exercise.

EXERCISE 1

(GET HOPE HOT REACH WEAR WET)

WATERPROOF CLOTHING

There's nothing worse than feeling bitterly cold and wet, especially when you are sailing because the chances of ¹_____ a warm and dry place quickly are usually pretty thin. However, there is good news. There have been new developments in the materials used to make waterproof clothes which ²_____ will put an end to the misery of those who work outdoors in wet conditions.

The new fabric, which is made from polyester fibres with some silicone elements, makes the clothes more water-repellent. It helps you to keep warm and dry and can ³_____ comfortably for several days as it is very durable. Unlike previous designs, clothes made from this type of material do not leave you feeling hot and sticky even after a massive amount of action. The fabrics used allow the clothes to breathe which means that excess ⁴_____ can escape while you stay warm and dry.

EXERCISE 2

(ACCEPT DEPENDENT ENTER GET MAKE TRUE)

STUDENT LIFE

As soon as my brother ¹_____ by the university in a town 200 km away from home, he had to decide whether to request university accommodation or share a flat with friends. He talked to other people who had studied away from home and they all recommended ²_____ a flat because of the greater freedom he would have. After moving, he embarked on a new life in which he suddenly became fully responsible for himself.

The ³_____ is that at first I didn't believe he would manage on his own for very long. I thought he would be coming home every weekend with loads of washing and the flat would end up really filthy. How surprised I was when I went to visit him and realised that gaining ⁴_____ from our parents was doing him good. It made him a mature person able to cope with everyday chores perfectly well.

(BIG COLLECT INFLUENCE KEEP LONG TAKE)

DICTIONARIES

Dictionaries – whether on paper or online – are one of the most important tools for learning vocabulary.

A Dictionary of the English Language, published in 1755, is still regarded as an incredibly authoritative and ¹_____ reference book. Surprisingly, this dictionary was the work of one man, Samuel Johnson. Defining the meanings of some 40,000 words ²_____ him busy for about seven years!

Nowadays, most dictionaries are put together by teams of lexicographers who work from a large ³_____ of written and spoken examples, which is known as a corpus. The authors also have to refer to articles and books about language and they need to ask experts in particular subjects about more specialised words and expressions.

Although contemporary work is done more quickly than in the past, it is still a ⁴_____ process which requires a great deal of time and effort.

EXERCISE 4

(ABLE DISTRACT GET MANAGE STRONG TAKE)

A GOOD BOSS

Since leaving school, I ¹_____ on a number of short-term jobs, and I know how important it is to have the right sort of person directing your work. What I learnt is that a good boss must definitely be knowledgeable and bring energy to the job. At the same time the person in charge must be able to decide on important issues without ²_____ by other things. What's more, a responsible leader must be good at creating an environment in which others can shine. Employees need to be provided with feedback about their ³_____ and weaknesses are and how to work on them so that they develop their full potential. I also think that what really matters is the ³_____ to bring people together and focus them on a common goal. It's definitely a real challenge to lead well but when it's done properly it can be very rewarding for both employees and employers.

Read the gapped sentences and complete each gap with the correct forms of the words given in brackets. Do not change the order of the words. You can add other words if necessary. The sentences must be logical and grammatically correct. Use up to six words in each gap, including the words given in brackets.

EXERCISE 1

- Jeremy (always / talk / he) _____, which annoys me a lot.
- The young boy (think / steal) _____ from a local grocery for a long time but the footage from CCTV didn't provide any evidence.

LIFE SKILLS

How to take part in a debate

1 In pairs, discuss the questions.

- 1 Describe a situation when you took part in a debate at home or at school.
- 2 How do you think debating skills can be useful
 - a) at school
 - b) in future jobs?

2 Read the announcement. Would you like to join the club? Say why.

Roundhills Debating Club

Do you like taking part in discussions?
Are you looking for a chance to broaden your horizons?

If yes, don't hesitate and join Roundhills Debating Club!

We meet every Thursday at 15.30 in the School Hall. We discuss topics that are important to young people, which last year ranged from the best pizza topping to how to take exams. Still not sure you'd like to join? Here's why it's useful to learn how to debate.

- 1 It boosts your confidence. You won't feel scared the next time you have to give a presentation.
- 2 You can also improve your communication skills.
- 3 You learn to look at both sides of complex questions and think critically. This will help you do better at school and write excellent essays.

And finally, debating is just great fun!
Come and find out for yourself!

3 Read the text What is a debate? with rules for members of the debating club. Are the statements below about a debate true or false? Explain why the false ones are incorrect.

- 1 Every debate has two sides.
- 2 All the speakers speak for and against the debate statement.
- 3 In a debate, the speakers try to persuade the second team to accept their point of view.
- 4 A timekeeper may extend the time limit for a speaker.
- 5 The audience may decide on the outcome of a debate.
- 6 The speakers in both teams take turns to talk.
- 7 Rebutting means finding additional arguments to prove a team is right.

4 Work in pairs. Read the debate statement below and make a list of arguments for and against a vegan diet.

Everyone should become a vegan.

5  Listen to part of a debate on the statement in Exercise 4. Answer the questions. Are the students' arguments similar to yours?

- 1 What two arguments in favour of the statement does the first speaker give?
- 2 What two arguments against the statement does the second speaker give?
- 3 Who do you think has stronger arguments and should win the debate? Say why.

What is a debate?

A competitive debate is an argument with some rules. It involves two teams of two or more people. The teams are given a controversial statement to discuss and a set period of time to prepare.

Proposition and opposition

The team which argues in favour of the statement are called 'proposers'. The team which argues against the statement are called the 'opposers'.

Goal of the debate

The goal of a debate is for the teams to prepare a good argument in a short time. The speakers in a team must work together to convince the audience and judges that they are right.

Length of speeches

Participants can only speak for a specified period of time, for example 3–5 minutes.

Chairperson and timekeeper

A chairperson opens the debate, introduces each speaker and makes sure everybody follows the rules. The timekeeper checks the time and gives signals to speakers to show that they will soon run out of time.

Judges and audience

Usually a panel of judges gives points to the teams and decides who should win. Sometimes the audience votes to choose the winner.

Structure of the debate

A typical debate has the following format:

- Teams hear the topic and take positions (for and against).
- Teams discuss their topic and come up with arguments.
- The speakers for the proposition and opposition present the main arguments.
- Teams discuss the arguments of the opposing team and try to 'rebut' them, that is explain why their arguments are wrong.
- Speakers from both teams present their rebuttals.
- This continues until all speakers have spoken and the last speakers sum up their points.

- 6  Study the Speaking box. Then listen again and tick the expressions you hear.

SPEAKING Debating

Presenting the motion and the speakers

- We are going to speak in favour of/against the motion that ...
- Today I hope to persuade you to agree that ...
- This morning we have the easy task of convincing you that ...
- First, I will talk about ... I shall also argue that ... The next speakers will explain why ...
- I, as the first speaker will be talking about ... My colleagues will later discuss ...

Presenting your arguments

- My first/second argument is ...
- Let me come to my first/second/next argument.
- Let the facts speak for themselves.
- Perhaps I should also mention that ...
- To begin with, ...
- In addition, ... What's more, ...

Stating a strong opinion

- I firmly believe that ...
- We are convinced that ...
- It is our belief that ...

Supporting an opinion with examples/evidence

- New studies confirm that ...
- Recent research has shown that ...

Summarising

- So, to sum up, ...
- All in all, ...
- To conclude, let me stress that ...

- 7 Read the advice. Why do you think these points are important when debating?

LIFE SKILLS How to take part in a debate

- Be calm and confident.
- Speak clearly and slowly.
- Prepare well. Use logical arguments to support your point of view.
- Don't get personal. Challenge what someone says, but don't attack the person saying it.
- Pay attention to the time.
- Be polite at all times.
- Work as a team and support each other.

- 8 DEBATE Read the statement. In small groups, make a list of arguments for and against that you could use in a debate.

It's better to spend holidays in your own country than abroad.

- 9 Do the task below.

LIFE SKILLS Project

Work in two teams and prepare for a debate in the next class. Use the tips from the lesson and the language from the Speaking box to help you.

- Use the statements in Exercise 4 or 8, or choose a topic on page 283.
- Discuss points and examples for your side of the debate.
- Decide who will present each point.
- Research information online and prepare your speeches.
- Debate the statement against another team in class, in front of other students.
- The class votes on the winner of the debate. Use the checklist on page 283 to assess the participants.

1 In pairs, discuss the questions.

- 1 Compare the colourful and black and white photos. What goals did the people have? Have they achieved them or failed?
- 2 How important do you think it is to set yourself goals for the future?
- 3 What are some of your educational and personal goals for this year?

2 Do you have plans to achieve the goals you mentioned in Exercise 1? What are you going to do and when?

3 Read the forum entries about failed goals. Match statements 1–4 with entries A–C. There is one extra statement.

The speaker ...

- 1 failed to achieve a goal because of a lack of preparation.
 - 2 wasn't sure which goal he/she wanted to achieve.
 - 3 did not do enough research to achieve a goal.
 - 4 chose a goal that was impossible to reach.
- 4 Work in pairs. Why did the people fail to achieve their goals? What didn't they do? What advice would you give them?
- 5  Listen to an expert talking about setting goals. What is she talking about? Choose the correct answer.
- a Where to get advice on what our goals should be.
 - b How important it is to have big ambitions.
 - c How to make our goals easier to achieve.
 - d What to do if we fail to achieve a goal.

Nick04

A I'm finishing my first year of English at uni soon and it definitely hasn't turned out as I'd hoped. When I was at school, I joined a student drama club. It was my passion to act and I dreamt of a career on the stage. But everyone told me it was too challenging and I should choose a more traditional job. So I thought I could study something to do with languages because I was pretty good at English and I thought maybe I could be a teacher. Both of my parents are teachers and they seem to enjoy their jobs. My favourite subject at school was History though, but I just didn't think there'd be many jobs available. So I went for English in the end. Most universities have English courses and I didn't think too much about what was on the course as long as I got a degree. But the course is boring, and I often skip classes. I may not come back next year ...

Charli3

B When my friend suggested we take part in the City half-marathon which takes place once a year, I thought it was a great idea. I have to admit I'm not that fit really – I don't do a lot of sport. But you see marathons on television with thousands taking part so I thought I could manage it. After all, I wasn't out there to break any records! Of course, I had these great plans to train regularly and I went running after school with my friend for a couple of evenings – but then school work got in the way so I didn't really do much. The result is that I did the half-marathon last Saturday – but my legs went to jelly after a couple of kilometres and I had to stop. It was a bit embarrassing – but I guess I'm just not built for running long distances. I shall stick to exercises at home in the future!

Buster56

C Just got back from my trip to Spain, France and Italy and I have to say it wasn't a success. I went with my Spanish friend and the idea was to travel by train and buses along the coast, stopping off at interesting places on the way. Sounds a cool idea, doesn't it? Well, we thought so. I cut down my spending a bit in the month before we left so I'd have enough money and we checked out the route which looked definitely doable. The problem was that the fares and accommodation were more than we had thought and I ran out of money pretty early on. It's a pity we didn't check how much these things cost and didn't plan a budget or how much time we needed to save enough money. We didn't enjoy ourselves nearly as much as we'd hoped to. I stayed in Barcelona at my friend's house for a week, but we were both disappointed.

6 Listen again. Complete the gaps with the words from the box. There are two extra words.

{ deadlines easy how important possible what when }

LIFE SKILLS How to set SMART goals

S (SPECIFIC) Define exactly ¹ what you want to achieve.

M (MEASURABLE) Think about how and ² _____ you'll know that you've achieved your goal.

A (ACHIEVABLE) Set goals that are ³ _____ to achieve.

R (RELEVANT) Choose a goal which matters and is ⁴ _____ to you.

T (TIME-BOUND) Set yourself ⁵ _____ for achieving the goal.

7 Would you now give the same advice to the authors of the forum entries? Say why.

8 Match statements a–e with questions 1–5 from the SMART diagram.

- a I want to reach my goal by the end of the term when we have a big test.
- b I will do the following to help me achieve the goal:
– record new words after each lesson in a notebook,
– draw mind maps and pictures,
– ask my friends to help me revise vocabulary before tests,
– write an article in English for the school's website.
- c I will keep track of the marks I get in English tests to check if I get higher scores. I'd like to improve my average score by 10%.
- d I want to improve and expand my English vocabulary. I usually get lower marks in my English tests because I find it difficult to learn new words.
- e I want to pass my exams in English well. I also need English to chat with my friends online.

Make a SMART goal

Your goal: improve my English, learn new vocabulary

S Specific What do you exactly want to achieve? ¹ _____

M Measurable How will you know when your goal is met? ² _____

A Achievable What steps can you take to achieve your goal? ³ _____

R Relevant Why is your goal important to you? ⁴ _____

T Time-bound How long will it take you to reach your goal? ⁵ _____

LIFE SKILLS Project

- Think of a goal related to education or your personal life.
- Follow the tips from this lesson about SMART goals and answer the questions in the SMART chart in Exercise 8.
- Present your SMART goal to the class in the next lesson.
- Discuss each other's goals. Do you think they are easy to achieve? Can you think of other steps to reach them?

1 Look at the photos above. Which of the activities do you think requires more creativity than the others? Which of them could you do easily? Say why.

2 In pairs, discuss the questions.

- 1 Who is the most creative person you know? Say why.
- 2 Do you think a person can train to become more creative? Say why.
- 3 Give an example of a situation in which you had to find a solution to a difficult problem.

3 In small groups, choose one of the problems below and brainstorm possible solutions. Be as creative as you can.

- A The benches in the park get wet when it's raining. People often do not realise the benches are wet so they sit down and get soaked.
- B When you put a bag over the back of the chair in a café, it falls off or the chair falls over.
- C When you go shopping, assistants come up to you all the time to ask if you need help. Sometimes you do, sometimes you don't.

4  Listen to people describing creative solutions to the problems in Exercise 3. What are they?

5 Draw an image of each of the solutions described in the recording. Check on page 283 to see if you were right. Then compare in pairs and discuss whether these solutions are good or bad.

6 In pairs, discuss the statements below. Which statements do you think are true about creativity? Say why.

- 1 Only those people who are born with artistic talent can be creative.
- 2 Before you can create something perfect, you have to fail.
- 3 To be creative, we need to wait for a special moment of inspiration.
- 4 Constantly learning new things helps us to develop creativity.
- 5 Innovation often comes from formulating the problem in a new way.
- 6 When you have a new idea, it is best to keep it in your head.
- 7 Creative innovations require more luck than effort.

WHAT DO WE MEAN WHEN WE TALK ABOUT CREATIVITY?

Creativity means different things to different people. Many of us think that a creative person is someone with a good imagination and a particular talent – usually artistic, for example a writer, painter, musician or an engineer. We also tend to think that creativity is something we are born with. It turns out, though, that these common beliefs are often wrong. Psychologists believe that anyone can develop their creativity and become good at coming up with new ideas. Here are some surprising insights from research on creativity.

It turns out that in order to be creative you need confidence and determination. We all often have some valuable new ideas, but do not have the courage to share them with others. This is because we are afraid of being judged or making mistakes. How many times have you not raised your hand in class because you didn't think your idea was good enough? However, failure is actually necessary for eventual success. Some people say that Thomas Edison made around 1,000 failed trials before he invented the light bulb! To be creative, you need to take risks and be prepared to fail.

We also tend to think that creativity involves a moment of sudden inspiration. However, creativity rarely comes from one brilliant idea. Professor Keith Sawyer describes the creative process as a 'zig-zag' path in which one smaller idea that we have leads to another one with some unexpected changes of direction. A great invention can begin with one idea, which is not necessarily very good, but which then sparks another idea that is amazing.

Research also suggests that creativity is a skill that can be trained. For example, being open to new ideas and experiences is quite important. Creative people are very curious about the world and keep asking lots of questions. They always go beyond what they've learned from teachers and books. The enemy of creativity, on the other hand, is to continue in our old routines and use the same logic as we have always done. We need to develop what psychologist Edward De Bono calls 'lateral thinking' and learn to look at problems in different ways. For example, think about a student drama society that has problems with funding. A logical solution to the problem might be to try to cut costs. However, if you use lateral thinking, you might think of various solutions: a new idea to raise money, finding a company to sponsor the society or an unusual way to attract new members.

Finally, it's not enough just to have some good ideas, you need to put them into practice, too. The best way to boost your creativity is to make things. If you enjoy writing, start writing a regular blog. If you're into music, play or create a piece of music every week. In this way, you can reflect on your ideas to make them even better. It's important to enjoy doing what you do as it takes a lot of time and preparation before you'll be ready to come up with something truly innovative.

So, don't think you're not a creative person; you can learn to be one! Don't wait for a sudden flash of inspiration, though. Creativity is for everyone, but it's not easy!

- 7 Read the article and check your answers to Exercise 6. Explain why some of the statements are incorrect.
- 8 Study the Life Skills box and match the tips for developing creativity 1–5 with examples a–e.

LIFE SKILLS How to be more creative

- 1 Learn new things.
- 2 Notice more things.
- 3 Share ideas with others.
- 4 Make something out of your ideas.
- 5 Try approaching problems in a different way.

- a When you're working on a school essay, ask others what they think of your ideas.
- b Take a language or music course.
- c When you have a new idea, write it down, draw a picture, or build a model.
- d When you go to school, switch off your phone and look around. Try to observe as much as you can.
- e Think of a new way of doing things. For example, for a school project, instead of just researching information online, conduct some interviews.

- 9 DEBATE How far do you agree with the opinion that technology is improving young people's creativity? Discuss in groups. Think about the points below:

- amount of time spent in front of computers,
- using new programmes and applications,
- interacting with others,
- using imagination.

- 10 Do the task below.

LIFE SKILLS Project

- Work in pairs. Think of as many different uses for an umbrella as you can (apart from protecting you from the rain).
- Choose your best idea and present it to the class.
- Prepare a presentation, poster, draw a diagram or build a real-life model.
- Compare ideas and vote for the most innovative solution.

Next class

After students hold their debate, get them to discuss their experience in groups or as a whole class. Did they use language from the Speaking box? Did they follow the tips from the lesson? Were they helpful? What did they find easy/difficult? What do they think went well? What would they do differently next time?

1 A strict vegan diet doesn't contain all the important nutrients, especially proteins and some vitamins. A healthy diet includes plants as well as animal products.
2 A vegan diet may also have some negative impacts on the environment. This is because the exotic foods vegans buy are transported from different parts of the world. It is more eco-friendly to eat meat products produced locally.

S1 = Speaker 1 S2 = Speaker 2

S1: Today I hope to persuade you to agree that becoming a vegan is definitely a good idea. I, as the first speaker, will be talking about the health benefits of such a diet as well as the damage meat production causes to the environment. My colleagues will later discuss animal rights and ethics. To begin with, we'd like to point out that many people now suffer from various health problems because of a poor diet full of fat, and low in fruit and vegetables. It is our belief that going vegan is actually the optimal way to improve your health and live a longer life. It contains only super healthy and nutritious foods, such as whole grains, beans, nuts, oils, fruit and vegetables that we need to feel well and be full of energy. What's more, recent research has shown that vegans are generally thinner and at lower risk of heart disease than people who consume meat products. Let me come to my second argument. If we continue to produce so much meat, we shall damage the environment further. Raising animals requires using a lot of resources such as vast areas of land, energy and water. Also, when cows digest plants, they produce methane – a toxic greenhouse gas that contributes to global warming. Let facts speak for themselves: no other human activity has such a harmful effect on the environment! So, to sum up, a vegan diet is not only a healthier option. It is clearly better for the environment to eat less meat.

S2: We're going to speak against the motion that a vegan diet is beneficial for everyone. First, I will talk about the dangers to our health. I shall also argue that a vegan diet is not necessarily good for the environment. The next speakers will explain why it is also impractical and rather unnatural. To begin with, a strict vegan diet is hardly a healthy way to eat, so it's difficult to imagine that it's an eating plan we should all adopt. It is almost impossible to get all the important nutrients, especially proteins and some vitamins, on a diet that is based on plants alone. New studies confirm that vegans often suffer from various health problems such as memory loss, dry skin, or tiredness. They also need to take lots of supplements and plan their meals very carefully. We are convinced that what we need to be healthy is a balanced diet which includes plants as well as animal products. My second argument is about the environmental impact of a vegan diet. More and more people go vegan because they are concerned about the environment. However, they rarely ask the question where all the exotic fruit and vegetables they buy come from. The problem is that many of these foods such as avocados, mangoes, goji berries or quinoa need to be transported from different parts of the world, which increases CO₂ emissions. So, in fact, buying a burger which comes from a local farm is much better for the environment than eating an avocado that travelled from another part of the world! To conclude, let me stress that a vegan diet can not only be dangerous to human health, it also has some environmental costs.

Audioscript

H = Host S = Sally

- H: Today Sally, a life coach, is with us to talk about setting goals. Hi, Sally. It seems that achieving the goals we set ourselves can often be a problem?
- S: Hi! Yes, that's true – we all make plans and then for some reason fail to stick to them. How many times have you said things like, 'I've got to learn a new language' or 'I need to get fitter. That's my New Year's resolution!' Think carefully – did you actually achieve those goals or not?
- H: To be honest? Not really. So, why might that be?

- S: Well, there are several reasons. Perhaps our goal is too big and impossible to reach, or maybe it's just too vague. Sometimes we start working towards it and then give up, demotivated by a lack of progress. What is important is that we think carefully about how we can achieve our ambitions. There is, however, one clever way of creating personal, educational or career goals that leads to success. You simply need to make sure your goals are SMART – S-M-A-R-T.
- H: SMART? I haven't heard that acronym before. What does it mean?
- S: You're right, it's an acronym – that is, the letters stand for different things that we should consider when setting goals.
- H: That sounds interesting. Let's start with the letter S. What does it stand for?
- S: OK, so 'S' stands for 'specific'. A goal should be clear and you need to know exactly what you want to accomplish. Think about this example: I want to get fitter. OK, but how much fitter, what exactly do you want to do, etc.? So maybe your goal should be 'I want to run my first three kilometres without walking!' Or perhaps: 'I want to take part in a school cycling competition?' It's also a good idea to break your bigger goals down into smaller, doable steps.
- H: Steps like planning to go running or cycling twice a week?
- S: Yes, for example. Then we've got M – 'M' stands for 'measurable'. It's important to keep track of your progress. You need to think about how and when you'll know you've achieved your goal. In our case, it's clear. You can just use a fitness tracker to check if you can run the three-kilometre distance.
- H: OK. What about A?
- S: Well, 'A' stands for 'achievable'. Your goal must be something which is possible to reach – you need to make sure you have the time and skills to achieve a goal. Can you train twice a week or go to the gym regularly? If your goal is 'I want to win a school running competition,' and you've only just started running – then maybe it's a non-starter! As a rule, I think we should choose challenging but realistic goals. In other words, it's not a good idea to set goals which are too easy or too difficult, because this can be demotivating.
- H: I think you're absolutely right!
- S: Ok, so next, we have an 'R' for 'relevant', important that is. Think how achieving this goal will help you, is it worth the time and the effort? Is it something that matters to you, and not just something that is suggested by other people?
- H: I guess it's not a good idea to work towards a goal that you don't care about, right?
- S: Exactly. And finally, we have a T.
- H: Right – 'T' must have something to do with time?
- S: Correct! 'T' is for 'time-bound'. We need to give ourselves a time limit for achieving this goal. Can you set deadlines so you can check your progress? Will you achieve it in a month, a year, by the end of the school semester? So, let's see – what are the things you'd like to achieve this year, Bob?
- H: Well, I guess ...

Extra activity in class

- As an extension to Exercise 2, ask students to give an example of a situation when they or someone they know had to be creative.
- As preparation for the task in Exercise 10, put students in pairs or small groups and ask them to choose an object and think of as many uses for it as they can (apart from its common use). Elicit ideas around the class.

Answer key

Exercise 4

- 1 rotating bench: after it rains, you can turn it around so as to sit on a dry surface
- 2 a chair with a V-shaped cut for your bag
- 3 coloured shop baskets that customers can choose depending on whether they need help

Exercise 7

- 1 False: 'anyone can develop their creativity and become good at coming up with new ideas.' 'So don't think you're not a creative person, you can learn to be one.'
- 2 True: 'failure is actually necessary for eventual success.'
- 3 False: 'We also tend to think that creativity involves a moment of sudden inspiration. However, creativity rarely comes from one brilliant idea.' 'Don't wait for a sudden flash of inspiration.'
- 4 True: 'creativity is a skill that can be trained. For example, being open to new new ideas and experiences is quite important.'
- 5 True: 'The enemy of creativity ... is to continue in our old routines and use the same logic as we have always done.' 'We need to develop ... 'lateral thinking' and learn to look at problems in different ways.'
- 6 False: 'it's not enough just to have some good ideas, you need to put them into practice, too.'
- 7 False: 'it takes a lot of time and preparation before you'll be ready to come up with something truly innovative.'

Audioscript

P = Presenter S1 = Speaker 1 S2 = Speaker 2

S3 = Speaker 3

P: There are some small everyday problems that make our life a little more stressful. We often don't realise how much easier things could be until someone comes up with a genius solution. The answers to these problems often lie in creative thinking. A slight change to an existing product often makes a huge difference. Here are some surprising ideas that make you wonder: why haven't I thought about that myself?

S1: It's difficult to keep park benches dry. Someone would need to go round all the time wiping them with a cloth. To solve the problem, a rotating park bench was designed. If you go to a bench after the rain and it's wet, all you need to do is just turn a handle and the bench rotates giving you a nice dry surface to sit on. Sounds great, doesn't it?

S2: One problem we often have is not knowing where to put your bag when you sit down on a chair, for example in a cafe or a restaurant. When you try to put it over the back of a chair, the bag often slips off or the balance of weight is wrong and the chair tips over. So, someone came up with a clever answer to have a V-shaped cut-out in the back of the chair so you can just put your bag strap into this. Simple but effective!

S3: It can be very annoying when shop assistants ask you if you need any help when you're fine and are just looking or know exactly what you want and don't need any help. So one shop decided to offer its customers two types of baskets to carry. One has a colour that means, 'I'm fine, and don't need any help.' The other means: 'Please, help me.' All you need to do is choose a basket and no one will bother you when you're shopping!

A boxing success

Women have always had a more difficult time in sport ⁰ than men. However, female boxers ¹ have found following their sport particularly hard. The 2012 Olympics in London were the first games that allowed women boxers ² to compete and that was when Nicola Adams became the first female gold medal winner.

Nicola started ³ boxing when she was just thirteen. She went to classes at a gym ⁴ while/when/where her mother was doing aerobics classes and discovered that she loved the sport. Success, however, wasn't easy for Nicola as ⁵ there were very few competitions for women. In fact, women's boxing was banned by the Amateur Boxing Association ⁶ until/till 1996.

Then, ⁷ after lots of discussions, women's boxing became an Olympic sport. Nicola qualified for the British team although she wasn't on top form. She ⁸ had fallen down the stairs a year before and her back was still giving her a lot of pain. But Nicola is a real fighter and the rest is history!

I think that travelling to ⁰*unfamiliar* (FAMILIARISE) places and staying in completely different surroundings can be very ¹ rewarding (REWARD). When we do things we earlier saw as ² unthinkable (THINK), this can help us deal with our fears and worries. For example, when I was on a ³ trekking (TREK) trip in Vietnam last year, my friends and I stayed in a small guesthouse far away from any town or village. To get there, you had to walk down a long ⁴ winding (WIND) path to a river. Then, you had to go across to the other side on an old suspension bridge. The ⁵ crossing (CROSS) was a big problem for me. I was sure the bridge would collapse, but it was easier every day. I was also surprised I didn't have a problem with being ⁶ disconnected (CONNECT) from all my friends and family (there was no Wi-Fi) and in fact it was a very ⁷ pleasant (PLEASE) break. This winter we're going on a ⁸ skiing (SKI) holiday and staying in a hut high up in the mountains. I can't wait!

Time to make changes

We all know that environmental problems are getting worse and we need to solve them or ⁰ the planet will be in big trouble in the future. But what can we do? Can individual people really make a difference? Or ¹ should we leave it to governments and politicians?

There are ² a lot of ways we can help. ³ For instance, we can recycle things and save water and electricity. However, one of ⁴ the most important things to do is to find different ways of getting power. Scientists have developed clever ways to do this. We can get power ⁵ from the sun and the sea as well as the wind. The trouble is that local people, ⁶ who don't want to look at ugly wind farms or solar panels, often object to the plans. Because of this, we don't have enough alternative sources of power.

Perhaps soon people ⁷ will learn that our way of life needs to change. After all, ⁸ unless we do something now, we won't have any lights or power in a few decades' time, will we?

Help for the youngest

Staying in hospital is hard for anyone, but it's ⁰ particularly (PARTICULAR) hard for children. They are in a strange place and surrounded by strange ¹ frightening (FRIGHTEN) equipment. Some children need to go to hospital for an ² operation (OPERATE) or for a blood test. Others may have a long-term ³ disability (DISABLED) and need to stay in hospital quite ⁴ regularly (REGULAR). Now, in our hospital, groups of ⁵ volunteers (VOLUNTARY) are helping to make those hospital stays less scary. These people spend time entertaining and helping young patients, ⁶ hopefully (HOPE) letting them forget about their health problems for a while. When children feel they are in a safe and friendly place, their condition becomes more stable and they often ⁷ recover (RECOVERY) more quickly. To sum up, they are happier patients and ⁸ naturally (NATURE) this is something we all support.

Are you missing The Missing?

The popular thriller series The Missing finished last night ⁰ after eight weeks. The story is about a young boy who disappears ¹ while he's in a park with his dad in France. The eight episodes show the parents' search for Olly when he disappears and also over the ² next six years. His dad keeps going back to France to ³ look for his son.

The series has been very successful ⁴ because of the excellent script and the very good acting of ⁵ the main characters. The story is about normal people ⁶ who suddenly experience a terrible tragedy. The awful thing is that it could happen to anyone.
